

CURRENT NOTES

Ohio has one saloon to every 223 people. Washington, D. C., has a population of 100,000. There are 58,000 more men than women in Canada. The United States imported 40,000 tons of fish last year. A healthy baby at Elgin, Illinois, has one eye and four ears. Utah is the potato garden of Colorado and California. Florida had mellow "harvest" apples in the middle of April. A Georgia man has papered his house with Confederate bonds. Two hundred varieties of grapes are now grown in the United States. The London sewerage system costs $50,000,000, and is said to be fairly effective. A list of forty-two cures is published which have taken the road this season. There was $10,000,000 worth of barbed wire fences built in this country last year. Cotton is in full bloom at Galle, Florida, and the plants are from three to four feet high. A bed of soft coal underlies the whole southern portion of the State of Kansas. Next to rice, Indian corn is used by a larger number of people than any other grain. The census of Canada shows that 77,000 natives of the United States live in the Dominion. There are eighteen acres of floor in the store occupied by A. T. Stewart & Co. on Broadway. Old sails are made into the paper used for bank notes, and old ropes reappear as known paper. A New York clergyman is reported to have received $850 for marriage fees in one week recently. A pew in Grace Church, New York, with a ground rent of $78 on it, has just been sold for $3,000. The medicinal leech is found only in central Europe, Asia Minor and part of the northern coast of Africa. It is estimated that there are 62,100 miles of submarine telegraph cables in the world, whose value is $200,000,000. A Vermont man has made a ton of mule-sugar this spring, and he is down on his knees for bearing the market. Street-car tickets are the only small change in Galveston, Texas, and there is a loud cry for the nickel and the cent. Chinese dentists attribute toothache to the gnawing of worms, and profess to extract them from decayed teeth. There are in Boston 284 natives of the Atlantic Islands, 22 of the Pacific Islands, 27 of the Sandwich Islands and 40 Chinese. The American Colonization Society appeals for aid for at least 500,000 negroes, who are willing and ready to emigrate to Liberia. The negroes of Chattanooga, Tenn., are accumulating property, and several of them are building houses to cost from $2,000 to $4,000. Last year the gambling houses of New Orleans paid $30,000 to the city for licenses, which sum was devoted by the city to public charities. Mississippi was admitted in 1817. Her population of the preceding census was 1,040,000, and at the next census she had 1,544,000. The figures of the nationality of New York's population, just completed, shows 2,000,000 of Irish birth, and 1,050,000 Germans—one-third of the total population. There was more oleomargarine than ever exported from the United States last year, the figures standing at 25,000,000 pounds, or 1,250,000 barrels, respectively. In less than seventeen years, or since the first of August, 1865, our national debt has increased in amount of more than $1,000,000,000, or at the rate of about $50,000,000 annually. The cotton worm, according to Professor Riley, the Entomologist of the Department of Agriculture, prevents the addition of $15,000,000 to the wealth of the country every year. Six members of a Methodist church in New York State withdrew from the church because the Minister went upon the scaffold and told a murderer that he had only to repent and go to heaven. J. M. Swank, in his report for the United States census, states that in 1817, at Plumock, in Fayette county, Penn., the first rolling mill in the United States for the production of bar iron was erected. One hundred and forty-eight thousand four hundred and eighty-one Germans came over here during the nine months preceding the 1st of April, against 102,000 during the same period the year previous. Augusta, Me., with a population of only 8,000, stands fifth in the list of postoffices, collecting the largest amount of postage on second-class matter, surpassing Baltimore, Cincinnati, San Francisco or St. Louis.

The Loved One.
A young lady at the opera in Washington the other night, sitting in front of a young spy and a girl in a Galborough hat, having captured a delicious trout, narrates the following scene, more full to them any make-believe business on the stage:
The girl—Oh I wrote such a long letter home to-day—seven pages.
He—What! seven?
She—Yes, and the postman didn't come, and I opened it and wrote seven more.
He—I wish you would write me a letter.
She (tenderly)—Willy, what could I write?
He—You need not write but three words.
She—Three words! What can they be?
He—Three nice little words.
She—Oh, my! Ain't you strange.
This knock, the young man out of time for a minute, and during that period the music had a chance. But he comes up again smiling, a little disheveled, but still in the ring.
He—Oh! you know.
She—No; indeed I don't.
He—Well, I'll tell you some other time.
The chorus comes down towards the foot-lights with an unmistakable intent to howl, and during the preliminary fiddling the hot-to-curious-but-just-careless-enough young girl says with a sweetly shrinking timidity:
"Can't you tell me while they're singing?"
Then a fiendish yell from the chorus breaks off shorter than could possibly be anticipated, and his voice is heard with startling distinctness—
"I love you, couldn't you write that?"
"Oh! my, yes, and ever so much more."
And then the tenor clutches the prima donna by the back hair and yells bloody murder into her right eyebrow, and the young man and the young woman lean so hard on the arm of the orchestra chair that her vaccination blouses like an aurora borealis.

The Lion That Taught Singing School.
[The following quaint and charming little story is from the "Letter-box" of St. Nicholas for May. It is by a little girl five years old, and just as she told it to her mamma, who wrote it down for her.]
A Lion wanted to teach singing school. They asked him what he could sing? And he said, "Ro-o-o-o."
They asked him what else could he sing?
And he said, "Ro-o-o-o."
They said they didn't want a singing teacher who couldn't sing nothing 'cept just one song.
The lion went to a horse race. All the other animals were there; the mouse that squeaked, the kitten that mewled, the puppy that how-wowed, the lamb that ba-ed, the pig that yi-yied, the colt that ha-ha-ed, the wolf that boo-ed, and the bear that ur-ur-ed. The prize of the horse race was a russet apple.
The mouse that he'd exprixe the other animals, so he ate the apple up. Then all the other animals hoiered out, "No fair! No fair!" And the mouse was scared and ran around the track, and the kitten that mewled ran after and ate the mouse up; and the puppy that how-wowed ate the kitten up, and the lamb that ba-ed ate the puppy up, and the pig that yi-yied ate the lamb up, and the colt that ha-ha-ed ate the colt up, and the wolf that boo-ed ate the colt up, and the bear that ur-ur-ed ate the wolf up—and the Lion ate the bear up.
Then the Lion came around again and wanted to teach singing school. They asked him what he could sing? And he sang: "Squeak squeak, mew mew, how how, ba ba, yi yi, La ha, boo boo, ur ur, and roo ooo!"
Then they said: "Your voice has improved."
And they all let him be their teacher.
—Mama M. C.

An Appalling Thought.
During the second year of the war a grocer in an Ohio town scaled his prices by reports from the front. One day a defeat would cut the price of butter four cents, the next day a victory would raise the price of eggs a penny a dozen, and a victory or defeat was certain to hit even the jar of nutmegs on the top shelf. One day a farmer who had some butter to sell entered the store and asked the going price.
"I am paying sixteen to-day," was the answer.
"But only two days ago you paid twenty."
"Yes, but you see Pope has been defeated since that, and there is a back action."
The farmer sold out and wanted the most of it in sugar, and the grocer remarked as he made ready to weigh it:
"Sugar has advanced a cent a pound since Monday." "But why is that?" "Because the rebels got licked in Tennessee."
The old man sat down on a nail-key and thought it all over, and presently looked up and said:
"My friend, if a federal defeat cheapens what you buy, and a rebel victory enhances the value of what you sell, what a blank of a fix you'd be in if there should happen to be a drawn battle!" —Wall Street Daily News.

A Hint as to How Not to Talk to Children.
One day I sat in a car seat on the Saugus Branch of the Eastern Road beside a pale, care-worn lady who was taking a little boy from Boston to Malting. As the little boy was of a very inquiring mind, and everything seemed to attract his attention, I could not help listening to some of his questions.
"What is that, auntie?" the little boy commenced, pointing to a stack of hay on the marsh.
"Oh, that's hay, dear," answered the care-worn lady.
"What is hay, auntie?"
"Why, hay is hay, dear."
"But what is hay made of?"
"Why, hay is made of dirt and water and air."
"Who makes it?"
"God makes it, dear."
"Does He make it in the day time or in the night?"

How to Take Care of Harness.
Boston Journal of Chemistry.
A harness that has been on a horse's back several hours in hot or rainy weather becomes wet; if not properly cleaned, the damage to the leather is irreparable. If, after being taken from the horse in this condition, it is hung up in a careless manner, the harness and reins will become stiff, and the leather when dried retains the shape given it when wet, and when forced into its original form damage is done to the stitching and the leather. The first point to be observed is to keep the leather soft and pliable. This can be done by keeping it well oiled with oil of sweet almond, or with a mixture of oil and grease; water is a destroyer, but hard and the saline moisture from the animal are even more destructive. First, in drying, absorb the steam and opens the pores of the leather, making it a prey to the perspiration from the animal injures the leather, stitching and mountings. It therefore follows that, to preserve a harness, the straps should be washed and oiled whenever it has been moistened by sweat or soiled by mud. If a harness is thoroughly cleaned twice a year, and when unduly exposed and treated as we have recommended, the leather will retain its softness and strength for many years.

Value of a Wife.
The inhabitants of the Solomon Islands have a curious system of decimal currency. A coconut seems to be the unit. But the circulating medium consists of strings of white and red shell beads, dogs' teeth and porpoise teeth. One string of white money is equivalent to ten coconuts or one flat stick of tobacco. Ten strings of white money make one string of red money or one dog's tooth; ten dogs' teeth make one "ba" (or fifty porpoise teeth), and ten "bas" are equivalent to one "good-quality" wife. So that a wife in good society is worth 10,000 coconuts.

THE ROCK ISLAND ROUTE
A nearly absolute safety as a route to be attained. It is the only route that offers the advantages of a direct line to the great cities of the United States, and the fact that it is the favorite route of the great assemblages, political, religious, educational and benevolent that assemble here time to time in the great cities of the United States, as well as tourists who seek the pleasure of a journey to the great cities of the United States, the Yellowstone and the Grand Canyon, and who desire to visit Colorado for health, pleasure or business, in the most beautiful season of the year, the summer season and months of September and October, the route is the most desirable one.
