The inhabitants are flocking to the city by hundreds for shelter, many on foot. The prohibition act was in force in the county when the village is situated, but when the fire reached the drug store two barrels of whisky were rolled out on the street and members of the village and the fire brigade all got drunk, and were helpless otherwise the fire might have been controlled in its first stages. Insurance small.

An order was issued yesterday to appoint Samuel Gregg to a thousand dollar clerkship in the postoffice department. Gregg was recommended by a member of Congress from Iowa. To-day when the gentleman applied to take the office he was asked if his residence was in Iowa, to which question he replied in the negative, adding that he lived in Virginia.

The matter was referred to the postoffice department, who declined to make the appointment on the ground that Virginia's quota is now filled and that he did not think it proper to appoint a resident of Virginia to the State of Iowa, notwithstanding the application was endorsed by an Iowa Congressman.

First Comptroller Lawrence, of the Treasury department, today rendered a decision upon the following case: In 1880 J. Pullian, a citizen of Tennessee, employed a Washington lawyer to prosecute claims against the government. The claim was allowed and in 1882 the Treasury department made to Pullian and delivered to the lawyer. The latter claimed a fee of $1,500. This claim he assigned to the German American National Bank, which failed and the receiver made to Pullian and delivered to the bank.

Pullian died in Tennessee. An administrator was appointed to administer upon his affairs, and an administrator was also appointed in the District of Columbia. The bank receiver applied to the First Comptroller to instruct the Treasurer to pay the draft on the endorsement of the district administrator. This was refused, because the Supreme Court had decided that in such a case payment should be made to the Tennessee administrator. The receiver then filed a cross bill in equity in the district against the district administrator's attorney, and by a published notice attempted to make the Tennessee administrator a party defendant. The decree was made that the receiver should endorse and collect money on drafts and retain $1,500, and pay the residue in court for the Tennessee administrator. The decree was presented to the First Comptroller with the request that he instruct the Treasurer to make payment on the draft. He decided that the legal title to the draft is vested in the Tennessee administrator. This was decided by the Supreme Court in the Peters case.

The legal title of the Tennessee administrator has not been divested because he could not be sued in the district even if he was found here and hence can't be by notice published in this District. It was decided also by the Supreme Court that the decree here could not take away the right of the Tennessee administrator, nor give it to the Receiver here. Possession of the draft here does not change the result. Judge Lawrence adds that this conclusion is required by public interests. Citizens in the States committed to the debt with the Government if creditors may come from all parts and prevent them from receiving payment of money due them so that they may pay all creditors alike and not permit such as come to Washington to bring suits. The Treasurer will be informed that he can only lawfully pay the draft to the Tennessee administrator.

CHICAGO, March 18.—The Apollo Commandry has asked the Grand Commander of Illinois for a dispensation to leave the State, also the Grand Master of the United States to leave the U. S. in contemplation of a European trip in place of attending the convocation at San Francisco. Their decision in this matter was caused by the action taken by San Francisco hotel keepers, as published in the San Francisco paper of March 28 relative to hotel rates. Upon receiving this published information the Commandry at once issued a decision to abandon the contemplated western trip without waiting for the report of Doctor Collister, their representative.

FOREIGN FLASHES.

Curley's Trial. DUBLIN, April 18.—Attorney-General Porter, on behalf of the Crown, declared the evidence in the trial of Peter Curley, a man accused of murdering a man, and conflicting, though Peter Curley protested that he was in Curley's company four hours, covering the time the assassination took place, and claimed that during that time he met various persons. The defense produced but one of these persons. One witness swore that Curley was in a saloon the same time that Hanlan testified that Curley was in another place. The judge then delivered the charge to the jury. He spoke strongly against the reliability of the evidence in this case. He pointed out that there could not be the slightest doubt but that the murders were perpetrated at the instigation of Curley, who was indisputably connected. The charge was completed at half past two, and the jury retired immediately, and after a short absence returned to the court room, finding Curley guilty as charged in the indictment. The prisoner was asked if he had anything to say in way of mitigation before he was pronounced. He said he had no expectations of mercy from the court. It was very unfortunate that the Irish bench was never without a member of the Invincibles, but was not in Phoenix Park on the evening the murders were committed. He had no money and could not pay for her. The witness for the Crown perjured themselves. Curley also said he was a Fenian. After the prisoner finished he was sentenced to death, and the court adjourned for her. The witness for the Crown perjured themselves. Curley also said he was a Fenian.
