Horrible Tale of Distress.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 29.—H. Loomis, the traveling representative of a New York firm, is in the city to-day, having just returned from a trip through the plague-stricken districts of Eastern Kentucky.

He was four days in Martin county without disposing of a single article. The people are absolutely crazy. They have no use for anything but opium. A great deal has been printed in the newspapers about the situation in Martin and adjoining counties, but it has been out an imperfect reflection of the existing deplorable condition. I know instances where a family of five died within a week. Whole neighborhoods have been swallowed up in the grave, where one man has survived to bury his family and friends and then been found dead, with no living creature near him except in some cases a faithful dog. Flocks of sheep and drives of cattle that used to browse on the hillsides and along the range of the Cumberland now lay dead and rotting. White pebbles glisten in the bottom of creek beds; wells and streams have been drained to the bottom and springs are no longer to be relied upon for a supply of water. The ground is literally parched, and the vegetation formerly bloomed luxuriantly there is nothing but decay. Thousands are said to have died within the past few weeks.

"What, in the opinion of the natives is the cause of the fatal calamity? It is very evident that the chief agent of death is starvation. The people in those districts are almost without communication with the outside world. An occasional drum beating is heard among them once a year and the few most prosperous visit some large cities once in a life time. A good season brings with it beautiful crops. Wool and other native products are raised in abundance and the people are content with the crops fall them the order of things is reversed. I am speaking now of backwoods neighborhoods, where the plague has raged with the greatest fatality. It is learned that the crop yield for two successive seasons had been a failure. The natives are without money and without means to purchase bread. The shutting off of the water supply has brought to the surface a poisonous fluid. Forlorn for water, the people drank, and the consequence was death.

The first symptoms are violent gripings and after this rapid onset the most frequent cause of death is the usual usages of two days, suffering mental agony before death. I understand several physicians have been commissioned by the State to make a careful analysis of the water and to describe the poisonous ingredients. Relief has recently been dispatched to Martin from neighboring counties. Before I left there was a light rain fell with prospect of a change for the better. The opinion prevails the plague has passed through its most dangerous stages and is now on the wane. During the last few days of my stay I heard of very few deaths.

Compromise Attempted—Letter From Schurz.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Bernard Colledge, is endeavoring to arrange a compromise with F. M. Adams, barrister, to whom the jury lately awarded a verdict for $5,000. Colledge has offered to pay the costs of the prosecution and $5,000 cash to Adams to finally settle the matter.

San Francisco, Nov. 29.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company to-day the report of the special committee appointed to determine the means of paying the company's indebtedness of $1,000,000 was adopted. The report instructed the directors to issue $1,000,000 of bonds payable in ten years. A reserve fund to be created for the gradual redemption of these bonds. Claus Spreckels, late president of the company, who holds a majority of the stock, offered to take all the bonds.

Reception to Logan.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Several hundred residents of Washington, headed by General and Mrs. Logan, called at their residence this evening to welcome the senator and his wife back to the capital. The affair, though informal, was under the management of a committee of arrangement.

Butte Daily Miner

BUTTE, MONTANA, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1884. WHOLE NO. 592

Local News.

Encouraging reports are coming in from nearly all the mining districts. The matinee at Renshaw Opera House yesterday afternoon was well attended.

The pugilists are trying to excite an interest in the many art among the people of Helena, but it doesn't work very well.

F. J. Bliss & Co., proprietors of a produce store on West Park street, were attacked yesterday and the establishment closed up.

A social dance will be given at Boggs's Garden by the Meaderville band, Wednesday evening, December 3, to which all are invited.

The Montana Mining and Smelting Company will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening at the office of Curtis & Majors for the purpose of arranging preliminaries.

Thomas's Amphitheatre is fast approaching completion, and will be opened sometime between the 10th and 15th of December with a grand masquerade ball.

Street crossings are now in place on all the principal thoroughfares of the city. One is being put down on West Broadway, which will be greatly appreciated by pedestrians.

Mr. H. J. Blume is engaged in fitting Mr. Ed King's new two-story brick hotel on Granite street with heating apparatus.

A raid was recently made on the opium dens of Virginia City, and four of the almond-eyed Celestials engaged in hitting the front of the house were each fined $25.00, which being unpaid they ornamented the chain gang.

Mr. George Newkirk, city treasurer, has been quite ill for some time, and is unable to attend to the duties of his office.

W. S. McCormick, the Salt Lake banker who was in Butte a short time since, said to a Herald reporter "Butte is the liveliest town I have seen. Everything was rushing there, and the general business was a relief to the dullness I saw every where else."

Messrs. Ed. Koster and A. E. Gade leave this morning for Tidal Wave district, where they will put in their best time until the end of the year. The Fusadine mine, on which they have taken a year's lease. Ed has thrown aside the paint brush and will now swing the pick for a change.

Successor of the late Judge Eddy discharged yesterday afternoon while Captain Wm. Clymo, an old Pacific coast pioneer, was sitting in the Wasatch beer hall talking with a friend, he was suddenly seized with a violent convulsion of the lungs and died within a few minutes.

Friday last Mrs. Johnson had her legs rolled, Joseph Johnson (colored) arrested, charging him with threatening to kill her. The case was tried before Judge Eddy yesterday, and evidence adduced to the effect that the threat consisted of the statement that he would pin her to the wall with a table fork.

At a dinner party given at the mansion of Colonel Percy Yergor, on Austin avenue, Colonel Curtis got into a row with the hostess, and the latter, who he thought of him, the remarks being far from flattering.

"That insult, sir," replied the Doctor, who is something of a blow-hard; "is not something of a blow-hard?"

"Why, Doctor, you talk as though you were my family physician."—Teezee Sifting.

He Couldn't Stand It. "Why are you home so early?" asked a wife of her husband. "Is the singing school exhibition this afternoon?"

"No; not more than half out," he replied. "Why didn't you stay to the close? Weren't you interested in the singing?"

"I was until a sixteen-year-old boy attempted to kiss me on the cheek, Wally." "Then I thought I would come home to bed and try to forget all about it."

AGASSIZ once said about the jelly fish: "In some incomprehensible way God Almighty has created these beings, and I can not doubt of their immortality any more than I doubt of my own."

The Psychological Journal gives the increase of the number of insane persons in the United States, from 1850 to 1880, 8,432; 1880 to 1870, 13,990; 1870 to 1860, 54,565. The whole number of our insane is given at 91,997; idiots, 76,895. More than one-half are not under hospital treatment.

The faith of eighteen is that society exists for its sake. Middle age is generous and tolerant, and does not care to tell the young that they are valued mainly for their future, and at the same time that the world is done by men who have ceased to be ornamental.—Anelia Barr.

We mortals, men and women, devour many a disappointment between breakfast and dinner time; keep back the tears and look a little pale about the lips, and in answer to inquiries, say: "Oh, nothing." Pride helps us, and pride is not a bad thing when it only urges us to hide our own hurts—not to hurt others.—George Eliot.

TRIFLES make perfection, but perfection itself is no trifle.—Michael Angelo.

CHEERFULNESS is just as natural to the heart of a man in strong health as color to his cheek; and wherever there is perpetual gloom, there must be bad air, unwholesome food, improperly severe labor, or erring habits of life.—Ruskin.

Some people seem to have been born without conscience. You can no more teach them to do right than you can teach a crab to crawl straight ahead.

TRAINING up your children in a better way than you have followed, dear father or mother, is the best way for you to lead a different life.

Reynolds Wins the Race.

The pedestrian contest at the Pavilion last evening terminated very abruptly. A little before 8 o'clock, by Swift, who was the favorite, fainting and falling over onto the hard concrete floor, incapable of making a movement.
