Blaine's Testimony.

WASHINGTON, April 26.--Ex-Secretary Blaine continued his testimony before the Shipherd committee this morning, quoting from the late President Garfield's memorandum book of every day transactions, to show that he had no cognizance of the Shipherd Peruvian company or Cochet claim.

NEW YORK, April 26.--The Washington correspondent of the Mail-Express says: It was Blaine's day, the mile post in his eventful history, at which he stopped long enough to create the most remarkable scene.

WASHINGTON, April 26.--The Denver Tribune's Santa Fe special gives the following account of Col. Forsyth's battle with Loco's band Sunday: Forsyth was proceeding from Dry Camp on the road from Richmond to cross the Gila, and Lieut. McDonald with Indian scouts started out on a scout on Col. Forsyth's left.

CHICAGO, April 27.--Dispatches received this morning at Gen. Sherman's headquarters from Capt. Woodruff, dated at Lordsburg, confirm the news that Gen. Forsyth struck the hostile Apaches yesterday and killed six of them.

WASHINGTON, April 27.--At the close of Belmont's cross-examination of Blaine a most exciting and unusual scene occurred. Blaine stated that as Belmont, after being warned on Monday, persisted in entirely misquoting his dispatches and putting upon them a construction utterly foreign, he was compelled to change his opinion of him, which had heretofore been that he was a gentleman.

WASHINGTON, April 27.--The Tribune's Santa Fe special says: Captain Tupper, of the Sixth Cavalry, engaged the Indians at Steins Peak, on the 26th inst. They killed six Indians and lost four scouts. The Indians were routed and took to the mountains. The troops were unable to follow.

WASHINGTON, April 27.--The Gazette's El Paso special says: General Fuero, the Mexican commander-in-chief across the river, telegraphs General McKenzie at Santa Fe: "I am just informed by General Keyes that he is dividing the line and near the frontier a battle ensued on the 19th with a number of Indians from Arizona Territory. Several Indians were killed and a number of horses recovered. Eight sections of my command are in pursuit of the Indians. I commend this to you as they may cross over into New Mexico."

CHICAGO, April 27.--A Washington special says: The scene between Belmont and Blaine is the principal topic of conversation at the Capital. The general impression is that it is a fitting climax to a long farce, whose intention was to injure Blaine, and that he came out a brilliant victor in spite of the united efforts of his political opponents in and out of the party.

WASHINGTON, April 27.--Blaine's friends are highly pleased over his course before the investigating committee. It is felt that he has finally succeeded in putting his administration of the State Department in the proper light, an opportunity he had not before had.

WASHINGTON, April 28.--There have been several rumors as to Belmont's belligerent intentions towards ex-Secretary Blaine. A press reporter has ascertained from close personal friends of Belmont that he has no such intentions. He did consult his friends as to what he should do, and they advised him not to take any steps towards calling Blaine to a personal account, as that would be out of place. Belmont has assented and agreed to abide by their advice. The report that Belmont intended to resign from the Foreign Affairs Committee is not true. He is determined to go ahead with the investigation.

CHICAGO, April 26.--The Commercial's Washington special says: An official of a South American Legation said today that the Chileans still hold Peru, but that they are their advices they would be glad of a chance to withdraw and make themselves whole for the losses incurred. They feared to withdraw now because Peru was in such an unsettled condition that they were sure to follow. Chile wished to avoid this excuse for foreign intervention for the protection of alien property.

WASHINGTON, April 27.--A message from the President to Congress this afternoon recites that great lawlessness exists in Arizona; that the Governor reports that violence and lawlessness reign; that robbery and murder are common; that the citizens are alarmed, and that the cow boys cause all this trouble. To suppress this the President recommends that the army be permitted to be employed in that Territory as a posse comitatus. Referred.

WASHINGTON, April 27.--A Tombstone dispatch says: A meeting was held by the citizens of Bowie and a minute club organized for self-protection against the Indians.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.--A Lordsburg dispatch says: The burning of the town of Gaylorville, reported in yesterday's dispatches, has been confirmed. The number killed is reduced, however, from thirty-five to thirty. Parties just in from the Burrow mountains report all quiet in that section. Great fears are entertained for the safety of the miners and prospectors occupying the numerous small mining camps in the Chiricahua range where these Indians are known to have taken refuge after their escape from Stein's peak.

DENVER, April 26.--The Denver Tribune's Santa Fe special gives the following account of Col. Forsyth's battle with Loco's band Sunday: Forsyth was proceeding from Dry Camp on the road from Richmond to cross the Gila, and Lieut. McDonald with Indian scouts started out on a scout on Col. Forsyth's left. As Forsyth reached Gila one of the Indians announced that four of the scouts were killed by a large band of Chiricahua, and that Lieut. McDonald and the other two were defending themselves against them. Forsyth galloped for sixteen miles to them and found the Indians strongly entrenched in Stein's Peak range and attacked them at once and drove them from their entrenched position. They fell back and occupied two impregnable positions, which were from six to eighteen feet high. Forsyth found it impossible to dislodge them without great loss, and gave up further operations at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Forsyth again started for Richmond. Four Indian scouts and one private of troop C were killed, and one sergeant and four privates wounded. It is certain that two of the enemy were killed and a number wounded. Forsyth has been joined by Captain Chappel with two companies of cavalry, and expects to strike the Indians again in Hatchet mountains tomorrow, and will keep right on and follow them into Mexico. The whole population of the settlement of Gaylorville, in Chiricahua mountains, numbering thirty-five, were killed, and twenty people killed at Clifton and on the road from Clifton to Gaylorville.

CHICAGO, April 27.--Dispatches received this morning at Gen. Sherman's headquarters from Capt. Woodruff, dated at Lordsburg, confirm the news that Gen. Forsyth struck the hostile Apaches yesterday and killed six of them. The fight occurred in the south-eastern corner of Arizona in the vicinity of old Camp Rucker. The Indians were being pursued when the dispatch was sent. Gen. McKenzie which approves of the operations thus far. Gen. Sherman says that the length of time which will be required to restore peace and safety to that section will depend whether or not the Apaches get over the line into Mexico where the troops are not at liberty to follow them. The country is extremely rough in that section and it is almost impossible to get at the hostiles. Gen. Sherman fully sustains Col. Forsyth in his movements of this campaign.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.--A Lordsburg, N. M., special says: A fight occurred yesterday afternoon at Stein's Peak between the Indians and Captain Tupper, of the Sixth Cavalry, and his Indian scouts. Four of the latter are reported killed. It is claimed that six of the hostiles were killed. Many wild rumors are afloat here, but no other authentic information has been received.

LITTLE ROCK, April 27.--The Gazette's El Paso special says: General Fuero, the Mexican commander-in-chief across the river, telegraphs General McKenzie at Santa Fe: "I am just informed by General Keyes that he is dividing the line and near the frontier a battle ensued on the 19th with a number of Indians from Arizona Territory. WASHINGTON, April 27.--A message from the President to Congress this afternoon recites that great lawlessness exists in Arizona; that the Governor reports that violence and lawlessness reign; that robbery and murder are common; that the citizens are alarmed, and that the cow boys cause all this trouble. To suppress this the President recommends that the army be permitted to be employed in that Territory as a posse comitatus. Referred.

BOSTON, April 27.--Ralph Waldo Emerson died at his home in Concord, Massachusetts, at 9 o'clock this evening.

WASHINGTON, April 28.--A Lordsburg dispatch says: A courier arrived this evening from Gathrie's ranch, on the Gila. He brings news that a large body of Indians are on the Gila, destroying everything left on the raid through that section on Friday and Saturday last. Newton and a large party are strongly fortified and are hourly expecting an attack. They send here for a supply of arms and ammunition, but none are available. The party report having buried thirty bodies, making a total of over fifty buried on the Gila and Clifton during the past week.

BOSTON, April 28.--There is a steady demand for wools, the sales of the week amounting to 1,804,000 pounds of all kinds. Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have been sold at 41@42 for XX, with choice selections at 43@44. Ohio X is comparatively choice and sells quite as high as XX, sales having been made 42@43. Michigan X fleeces are very scarce, and good lots of X have been sold at 41@42, but other lots not up in condition have been sold at 39@40. Unwashed fleeces remain unchanged, and have been selling principally from 24@30 for fine and medium grades, with some lots of choice medium at 33@34. Choice old Kentucky combing has been sold at 27@28, and these are considered extreme prices for this grade. California wool has been quiet and it is a surprise to the trade here that the new clip can find purchasers at the high prices demanded in San Francisco. Pulled wools have been in demand at 25@28 for common and good sellers. The best Eastern and Maine are selling at 45@48.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.--Wool is steady, with more inquiry. New Mexican and other grades are unchanged. Oregon mediums, 33@34.

DALLAS, April 28.--A violent wind, hail and rain storm visited northern Texas this evening, being especially destructive in the communities surrounding Dennison, Sherman, Whitesboro and Van Alstine. In these portions the fruit is reported to be ruined, and it is said that in many places the cotton, corn and oats will need replanting. Heavy loss of live stock is reported. Many houses are reported to have been blown down. A citizen of Whitesboro named Day was killed. Hail stones nearly as large as eggs fell, and the glass in buildings was generally broken.
