

Men's Suits In Hennessy's Clothing Dept.

Hennessy's late sale of men's clothing was a veritable surprise and the bargains offered were simply phenomenal. A 25 per cent. discount was not in it with these values. The hundreds of suits then shown have dwindled down to about as many dozens, and these are selling like the proverbial hot cakes.

J. D. YANCY.

The subject of this sketch is well known to almost every citizen of this state. Yet being a young man his friends and acquaintances are unlimited. James, as he is familiarly called, by every one who knows him, was born in Minnesota 23 years ago, and was brought here by his parents when a mere babe. He has mastered the art of music and is now leader of the famous Silver Bow band. His daily occupation is messenger for W. A. Clark & Bro., bankers.

E. D. WASHINGTON.

The above sketch is that of Mr. E. D. Washington, who came west several years ago from Chattanooga, Tenn. He spent four years in Kansas City, Mo., and devoted a great deal of his time while in that city to secret society work. He filled the office of chancellor commander of the Knights of Pythias, was captain commander of the uniform rank of the K. of P., junior warden of the Masons, patron of the order of the Eastern Star chapter, Joshua of the Court of Heroines of Jericho, went to Colorado Springs, Colo., in 1897 and whilst in that city took up the study of the bible and devoted much time in scriptural study and gave bible reading lessons. From there he came to Salt Lake City, Utah, which is his present place of abode.

CAPITAL CITY NEWS.

Things in a social way has taken on new life this week. There were three sets of marriage licenses executed during the week, and yet there are rumors of more on the slate. One of the first to join hands in the holy bonds of matrimony were Corporal James E. Polk, of the Twenty-Fourth infantry and Miss Belle Chapman, of San Francisco, which took place Friday night at the residence of Mrs. Alice Palmers, Rev. J. P. Watson officiating at the ceremony. Those present besides the contracting parties were: Mesdames E. Simpson, C. H. Owens, S. Hays, Alice Palmer, L. M. Williams, W. Mason, Miss Julia Palmer and Messrs A. Palmer, W. C. Francis, Sargeants, Brice, Anderson, Johnson, Corporal Bouncer and F. Fitzgeard, of Fort Harrison. When the nearly congratulations were over and the bride and bridegroom had received the best wishes in their new life by all present, all retired to the spacious dining room and partook of refreshments, after which Miss Julia Palmer rendered some sweet strains of vocal selections. Among the visitors to the city this week are Mrs. Smith and daughter, Miss Edna Sappington, who expects to spend the winter visiting their sister and auntie, Mrs. C. P. Grove. Miss B. Woodson, of Bozeman, is a welcome visitor to the city and is visiting Miss Constance Ross.

Mrs. B. J. Falkerson, who has been indisposed for the past three weeks, with rheumatism, continues to improve. We hope to see her out again soon.

Mr. Meeks is able to be out again after a brief illness.

THE MANHATTAN CLUB WAS BURGLARIZED.

Early Sunday morning some thief secured an entrance through a back window in the club rooms occupied by the Manhattan club and took about $100 worth of goods, consisting of wines, liquors and cigars. Among the booty were several bottles of champagne. Mr. H. Simmons, steward of the club, had left the place about 2 o'clock, as is his custom, and returning to the rooms at about four for the purpose of looking after the fires, which he leaves to keep the place warm, found that burglars had entered during his absence and carried away all the liquor and cigars in the place. In a private letter addressed to the Age, Mr. Simmons, the steward, states that the club has been restocked and a cordial welcome is extended to all visitors.

TUTTLE WATCH TALK

Watches are not like wine—they do not improve with age. As well give a calendar for 1899 as a Christmas present in 1902 as a watch that is as much out of date as the calendar. Ours is positively the only entirely new, high-grade stock of Watches in the city—it is large and covers a wide range in values. Investigation will prove that for accurate movements, in new and beautiful cases, our prices are the lowest. In fact, they are really lower than the out-of-date kind can be bought for elsewhere.
