ROUTE OF NEW ROAD.

Line is Practically Settled for Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul.

Contracts for the building of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, from the Bitter Root Mountains to the Columbia river have been let to H. Henry of Seattle.

The route follows down the St. Joseph river from the Idaho-Montana line to a point below Farrell, or St. Joe, Idaho, then goes on to Tekoa, Wash., passes on to Rosalia, goes along the south side of Rock lake and then reaches Lind, on the Northern Pacific.

From Lind the line will practically follow the survey of the old Northern Pacific cutoff from Lind to Ellensburg.

At Tekoa the St. Paul would connect with the O. R. & N. If, as reported, the St. Paul should come under the Harriman influence, the St. Paul might use the O. R. & N. for getting into Spokane, pending the completion of its terminal line into here. Tekoa is 45 miles from Spokane.

North Yakima, apparently, will not be on the route.

From Ellensburg west the line strikes through Snoqualmie pass, a little north of the Northern Pacific's pass through the Cascades, and then goes on into Seattle.

The route will traverse the great wheat fields of the Spokane country, and will give the Big Bend district an entirely new route.

The distance across the state will be much the shortest of any of the transcontinental roads.

VICE PRESIDENT FAIRBANKS AT IRRIGATION CONGRESS

His Address to the Congress Was a Feature of the Opening Day—Roosevelt Sends Word.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 4.—Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks on Monday was the guest of the city of Boise and the national irrigation congress, which convened here for its 14th annual session. The convention received a letter of greeting from President Roosevelt which provoked hearty applause, and later he resolution of the congress an expression of thanks was telegraphed to the president at Washington.

Vice President Fairbank's address was fraught with encouragement for the irrigators, and the good wishes which he bespoke were fully appreciated.

The delegates, who number more than 1000 and represent more than half the states of the Union, were welcomed in brief addresses by Mayor James A. Pinney of Boise; Governor F. H. Gooding and Senator Dubois. Speeches in response were delivered by United States Senator Thomas H. Carter of Montana, Governor George E. Chamberlain of Oregon and Cyrus Happy of Spokane. 500 SHOTS FIRED

BATTLE TOOK PLACE BETWEEN ITALIANS AND TROOPERS.

Fight Took Place at Florence Mill Near Punx Suawney, Pennsylvania—Sergeant Logan Had Been Ordered to Arrest a Member of Crew—House of Refuge Besieged.

Punxsutawney, Pa., Sept. 3.—In a bloody battle Sunday evening between foreigners and 20 members of Troop D, state constabulary, in which 500 shots were fired, two troopers were killed and one fatally wounded, while three other persons received bullet wounds. The murderers were surrounded in a house at Florence mine, seven miles from here, and at daylight the attempt to capture them will be renewed. Further loss of life is feared, for the besieged Italians are well supplied with arms and ammunition.

The trouble began when Sergeant Logan went to Florence to search for Leopold Searlet, who is charged with shooting his brother in law.

Salvatore Walzoch, who is said to be one of the most desperate members of the "black hand," started a street fight with a countryman and Logan placed him under arrest. An Italian made an ineffectual lunge at Logan with a stiletto, when another Italian opened fire on him with a magazine shotgun. Logan returned the fire and the two emptied their weapons at each other. Logan received one buckshot wound in the foot and one Italian was perhaps fatally wounded.

Logan, believing he had a "black hand" man to deal with, telephoned to the barracks at this place and a detachment of five privates was detailed to go to his assistance. The detachment arrived at Florence at 4:30 o'clock.

Private John Henry immediately started for the Walzoch house, where the trouble had taken place, but when about 20 feet from it was shot down. Chambers and Mullen, in attempting the rescue of their comrade were shot down before they reached him.

A telephone call was sent in for the entire force and 15 additional troopers were hurried to the scene. When the second detachment arrived at 6:30 o'clock and while 12 of the constabulary kept firing into the windows and front doors, six policemen made a rush for the side door, which they battered in. Three of the officers, Zehringer, Gross and Cummings, dashed up the stairs, but were confronted by three of the desperadoes, who opened fire. Zehringer fell at the first volley, but the other two escaped. Realizing that lives were being sacrificed uselessly and the storm and darkness coming on, the troopers sent for carbines and prepared to keep the house surrounded until morning. The wildest excitement prevails in Punxsutawney and nearby town. Fifteen troopers and several policemen, together with many citizens, heavily armed, are on guard.

The besieged Italians evidently are preparing to sell their lives dearly. Many citizens have brought the building to atoms, but Lieutenant Eggle is determined to capture the murderers of his troopers by lawful means. The police have arranged powerful searchlights so that the entire building is in plain view.

NELSON LOST TO JOE GANS

THEIR FIGHT AT GOLDFIELD LASTED FOR 42 ROUNDS, BATTLE FOULED

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 4.—Batting Nelson deliberately fouled Joe Gans in the 42d round of the best and longest fight seen here in many years. Both men were tired when the fight ended, but Gans was apparently the stronger.

He was away ahead on points, and had smashed and cut Nelson all through the fight without being badly hurt himself.

Shortly after the 42d round commenced the men were in their usual clinch. Nelson had his head on Gans' shoulder and his arm down. Several times he hit Gans below the belt, apparently feeling for a vital spot. At last he drew back his right arm and hit Gans a vicious blow square below in the groin.

The colored boy sank to his knees and rolled over on his back. Referee Siler without hesitation ordered Nelson to his corner and awarded the fight to his corner on a foul. Siler's decision received almost unanimous approval.

The foul was so obvious that even the men who bet on Nelson could not say that it had not been committed.

All through the long contest Nelson had employed rough tactics. He repeatedly butted Gans and had to have his head hauled away by the referee. Referee Siler stated to the press that while he would not say that the foul was intentional there was no doubt but that it had been committed.

Nelson, he said, had used his usual tactics all through the fight, and while he knew that Nelson was butting when ever he had an opportunity he did not disqualify him for that, because he saw that it was not hurting Gans, and as no other referee had ever disqualified Nelson for doing the same thing he did not feel like doing so. Besides, the people were there to see the fight and he did not want to disappoint them.

Siler was loudly cheered as he left the ring, as was Gans, who was carried to his dressing room. Nelson and his seconds were hissed as they departed. Billy Nolan, Nelson's manager, made a disconnected statement in which he said that Gans had promised not to claim the decision on a foul and yet he jumped at the very opportunity to make such a claim. All Nelson would say was that Gans was tired and quit.

Gans, in many ways, put up a most remarkable battle. Of course, his skill as a boxer was expected to be shown, but his endurance surprised everyone. His work was the more wonderful when it is known that in the 33d round he broke his right hand. Never after that did he strike a blow with it, with the exception of a few short arm jolts while clinching. He did all his work with his left hand and put it all over Nelson.

Gans' generalship was shown when he broke his hand. In the 33d round he landed a hard right hand punch on the side of Nelson's face. A bone in the hand snapped, and Gans stepped back with an expression of pain. He limped around as if he had stepped on his foot or turned it, and no one realized that he had badly injured his right hand, although it was suspected that it might have been injured.

Gans stated after the fight that Nelson intentionally fouled him. He said he knew he could have finished Nelson, as he was comparatively strong and Nelson was growing weaker all the time.

"Larry" Sullivan announced for Gans that he would meet Nelson in two weeks in another fight, as he was sure he could whip him and did not want to take any advantage of the foul. It is hardly probable, however, that the men will meet again in that time.

OTHER LABOR DAY FIGHTS.

Joe Thomas the clever California welterweight knocked out Bill "Honey" Mellody, at one time a great Spokane favorite, at Chelsea, Mass., in the 11th round. This is Mellody's first defeat for nearly two years. Honey is evidently going back.

Freddie Weeks of Butte knocked out Monte Attell of San Francisco at Victor, Col., in the fifth round. Attell's seconds claimed foul.

Mike (Twin) Sullivan knocked Jack Dougherty out in the 19th round of what was scheduled to be a 20 round contest at Butte for the welterweight championship of the world.

FIRST CLASH OCCURS

STRIKE BREAKERS TO 'FRISCO MET TROUBLE IN NEVADA.

Union Miners Met Train and Hurdled Stones Through Windows—Shooting Followed—Cars Still at Standstill in Frisco—600 Men Arrive in City—Some Say They Were Deceived.

Hazen, Nev., Sept. 3.—Serious trouble occurred here this afternoon at the junction of the Southern Pacific and Goldfield & Tonopah railroads when the second section of a train carrying strikebreakers to San Francisco arrived. A number of union miners met the train and hooted the strikebreakers. Finally a stone was hurled through a car window and it was answered by a shot. A number of the men on the train jumped off. The conductor gave the go ahead signal, but the strikebreakers stopped the train and delayed it 30 minutes. A hundred or more dismounted and brandishing revolvers hurled defiance at the union men. Fifty or more delegates to the republican state convention at Tonopah and a crowd on their way to the Goldfield prize fight took to the sage brush.

When the train was finally started a crowd with revolvers stood on the rear platform. As they passed several miners the latter hurled stones at them. Fully 50 shots were fired from the train. One hat was struck, but no one was hurt. A number of shots struck the depot and several struck a freight car on a sidetrack. Not a shot was fired by the miners, who were the only ones left about the depot excepting employes when the strikebreakers dismounted and advanced on the crowd.

More trouble is feared when the next section arrives.

There was no change today in the street railway strike in San Francisco. No attempt was made by the United Railroads to operate cars. Prospects for an early settlement of the strike are growing less, as neither side to the controversy seems inclined to make any further concessions. Six hundred men were brought into the city by the United Railroads Sunday morning between 2 and 3 o'clock. The men have been held at nearby points for a favorable opportunity to bring them in without the knowledge of the carmen's pickets. These men are, it is asserted, not motor men, but construction men. President Calhoun of the United Railroads says that he was patiently awaiting the arrival of enough motormen. He expected to be able to start the cars some time this week.

Referring to a city ordinance that motormen must have one week's training before being permitted to run cars, President Calhoun said that it would not be regarded.

Fifteen strikebreakers, electricians and linemen, recruited in Tampa, Fla., also arrived. Edward Benson, one of the party, deserted at Third and Townsend streets and was taken to the carmen's headquarters by union sympathizers. Benson stated that he and the others were hired for the United States Railroads by an agent of James Farley, who provided them with railroad and Pullman transportation. Benson declared that he was promised $6 a day, but that Farley's agent did not inform him that there was a strike on the United Railroads. Not until they entered California did he learn of the strike, from the trainmen, and he decided to desert. He did not know what became of the rest of the men. According to Benson, there was no one in charge of the party, but no one was engaged who did not have considerable baggage, the checks for which were kept by Farley's agent, who instructed the men to report to the office of the United Railroads for their baggage.

RANIER, OREGO BANK ROBBED

Two Bandits Gagged and Tied the Cashier—Stole All the Gold.

Rainier, Ore., Sept. 4.—While Cashier P. W. Van Aucher lay bound hand and foot, gagged and tied to table in a back room, two bandits leisurely looted the State Bank of this place in broad day light Monday afternoon.

It was two hours before their unfortunate victim was able to free himself sufficiently to give the alarm, and in the meantime the robbers had made good their escape, taking with them between $2000 and $2500 in gold coin. Silver and bank notes lying on the counter were untouched.

Van Aucher had taken advantage of the fact that the day was a holiday to work on his books, and was alone in the bank. The men on entering covered him with revolvers, after which they bound him. The bandits did not molest the vault, which was locked, and took no bills, evidently fearing betrayal through them. When Aucher got away he alarmed the town. He says that one of the men was an American, dark complexioned, with small, dark mustache, and apparently about 30 years of age. He says that the other was a Swede, sandy hair and complexion, and about 45 years of age.

Secretary Root and party have arrived at Santiago, Chile, and were given a warm welcome at the station. Later Secretary Root drove to the palace in a state coach, escorted by cavalry and infantry. Here he was given another ovation, the bands playing "Hail Columbia," and the crowds that almost blocked his way cheering him and the United States.

MONTANA NEWS.

W. B. Taylor, a well known citizen of Bozeman, and a soldier named Charles Allen of Cincinnati lost their lives by drowning. With three women, Taylor and Allen took a boat ride, and when out but a short time the boat began leaking so badly that it capsized. Taylor and Allen both tried to swim to shore, but were seized with cramps and sank. The women clung to the boat and were rescued after great efforts. The men's bodies were not recovered.

The annual reunion of the Spanish War Veterans of Montana opened in Butte last Saturday and adjourned Monday of this week.

The secretary of the Interior has awarded the contract for the construction of the lower Yellowstone dam of the lower Yellowstone irrigation project in Montana, to the Pacific Coast Construction company of Portland, Ore., for the sum of $142,825. This dam is to be a rock filled timber cribbed structure across the Yellowstone at the head work of the canal, about 18 miles northeast of Glendive and according to the terms of the contract, will be completed February 1, 1909.

From Glenham the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road will pass through Borman and Schnasco counties in South Dakota, and will cut through the southwestern corner of North Dakota in Nettinger and Bowman counties. From there it will run into Custer county, Montana. The road crosses the Northern Pacific at Terry and parallels that road and the Yellowstone river to Miles City and Forsythe, then it strikes off in a westerly direction to the Musselshell river to Yellowstone county, following the river to Harlowton and Lombard. Here the Montana railroad in operation from Lewiston to Harlowton will connect as a feeder. From Lombard the main line will cross the mountains to Butte.

A chain of strange fatalities seems to be connected with C. O. Mosler, a ranchman living some miles west of Red Lodge. Mosler fell off a haystack Friday and was instantly killed. Two years ago his oldest son, Oliver, was involved in a murder and holdup and is now a fugitive from justice. Some months after this a son in law was killed in the railroad yards at Billings. His widow gave birth to twins less than a month after his death, and the little ones died during the epidemic of smallpox that raged in Billings a year ago.
