BOWLES TELLS STORY OF OIL

OPERATOR SAYS MONTANA IS WHERE OKLAHOMA WAS 20 YEARS AGO.

Montana Has Gotten Into Two Million Barrel Class in Six Years, Feet That Took 19 Years for Wyoming; Montana Should Double Production Next Year.

Charles E. Bowles is a prominent Oklahoma operator who recently came to Montana to take over the management of the Gladys Belle Oil company, the concern which recently brought in one of the largest producers in the Kevin-Sunburst field.

Mr. Bowles came to Montana from Tulsa, where he had long experience during the 20 years within which the petroleum industry reached the present large proportions in Oklahoma.

He briefly told the story of how the city of Tulsa had grown in 20 years from a little place of 60 people to its present proportions, with a population of 75,000.

In his analysis of the oil industry, Bowles divided it into four parts, namely: Production, transportation, refining and marketing.

The information under these heads was outlined with instructive tables. Under the head of production, the number of producing wells in the United States was given as 258,000.

These statements are proved by the fact that the average production of all wells in this country is only 4.7 barrels a well a day.

Under the head of transportation it was shown that there are 34,000 miles of main pipe line in the United States. There is to be added to this 11,500 miles of gathering lines.

There are 415 refineries in the United States ranging all the way from the capacity of such plants as the one at Casper, Wyo., having a capacity of 60,000 barrels a day, or the one at Tulsa, having a capacity of 35,000 barrels a day down to much smaller ones.

The sum total of petroleum production since 1857 has been 8,000,000,000 barrels—a figure that can hardly be grasped.

There has already been invested about $3,000,000 in this state by the various oil companies.

There has already been invested about $3,000,000 in this state by the various oil companies. There will probably be invested, during next year, $5,000,000 or $10,000,000.

So we easily arrive at the importance of the oil industry in the state. Bowles closed his remarks with a plea for

THE STATE

Butte—Three daylight robberies have occurred in Butte recently. Great Falls—The American refinery just completed here expects to be refining oil in a few days.

Scobey—More than 2,000,000 bushels of wheat will be shipped out of the Scobey district this fall.

Butte—Bill Dunn, former Butte labor leader, and now soviet candidate for governor of New York, is in Butte for a few days.

Miles City—A district pure seed display will be held in connection with the Montana corn show here November 18 to 18.

Butte—For stealing $330 from his grandmother, a 16-year-old Butte boy, was sentenced to the Miles City reformatory until he reaches his majority.

Dr. J. W. Richardson, deputy state veterinarian, has been conducting a series of tests for tuberculosis in the dairy cattle of Hill county.

Great Falls—Injuries received by Della Viola Dawson, 18-year-old Belt high school girl, when she was kicked in the head by a horse proved fatal. The girl died in a local hospital.

White Sulphur Springs—Twenty-seven cars of cattle and two cars of sheep were loaded out of here last week for the Chicago market.

Poplar—Another big step towards more stable farming took place this week when Lowe and Powers, breeders of purebred cattle, distributed to farmers in the district more than 40 head of foundation breeding stock.

Harlem—P. G. Payne, who lives 12 miles north of Harlem, is the possessor of a very rare relic. It is an old Hebrew manuscript, and, according to the Rev. J. H. K. Moffett, who is able to interpret it, it must be at least 800 years old.

Great Falls—The price of crude oil from the Kevin-Sunburst field has been set at 70 cents a barrel, according to an Associated Press dispatch from the headquarters of the Ohio Oil company at Findlay, Ohio.

Helena—Every teacher in Montana who fails to attend the annual meeting of the Montana State Teachers' association to be held in Helena on November 27, 28 and 29, will be doing herself, her pupils and her fellow teachers an injustice.

Great Falls—There probably has been little or no loss of wheat from lack of storage facilities although nearly every elevator in northern Montana is filled to overflowing and the car shortage is one that is worrying grain dealers and elevator men.

Great Falls—The Kevin-Sunburst field is holding a large place in the thoughts of oil operators, not only of the Rocky Mountain district but of the mid-continent fields as well.

White Sulphur Springs—A sale of calves, which is practically the first cattle sale of this season here, was transacted this week when John L. Carlson of Lingshire purchased 300 head of calves of weanable age from William J. Buckingham at a price of $17.50 a head.

Wolf Point—Radio dances are the latest things in the Vida community. Ed Krebsbach of the Vida State bank owns one of the best receiving sets in eastern Montana and radio music may be heard as much as three blocks from the instrument.

Bees Make Money for Farmer Demonstrating that practical application to any line of endeavor is bound to bring success, Frank Kelsey, former state representative from Powder River county, residing at Moorehead, announces that his 200 stands of bees have produced 12,000 pounds of honey during the past season at his ranch.

This total production represents both strained and comb honey, he says, and that it is a blended extract from both alfalfa and sweet clover. The honey is in much demand locally, he asserts, and he is even finding a market to more distant points than his immediate locality.

Kelsey is a successful rancher and his location is declared to be one of the show-places in the south country. Reasonable taxation and state encouragement of new capital coming into a new industry and brought out the fact that Great Falls has an opportunity equal to that of Tulsa 20 years ago, when its enterprising men went out and attracted to that city a centralization of oil producing activities.

ASK SHIPPERS FOR RATE FIGHT DATA

STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION WILL PRESENT EVIDENCE IN WASHINGTON HEARING

Express Shippers of Montana Can Help by Forwarding Information for 30-Day Period as to Shipments; Hearing Will Probably be Held Later in Montana.

Appeals have been made to Montana express shippers to aid in the preparation of data to be presented by the state railway commission to oppose a proposed increase in rates, according to notices sent out to the commercial clubs of Montana.

The hearing will open in Washington on November 20, and will be an investigation of interstate rates and charges for the transportation of express traffic in and between express zones for the purpose of determining whether such rates and charges, or any of them, are unreasonable.

The letter sent out reads in part: "Several days ago we received from the attorney for the American Railway Express company, a copy of the petition for an increase in express rates filed with the interstate commerce commission on October 20.

The petition does not state the amount of increase wanted, but it does mention the fact that for the year 1922, a deficit of approximately $13,000,000, not including return on investment of the express or railroad companies, is anticipated. It is very probable that this petition will be consolidated with the case set for hearing November 20.

May Bring Hearing West "The fact that hearings are to commence in Washington does not indicate, we are informed, that all are to be held there.

"Express shippers in Montana generally are aware that this board did not, after a formal inquiry, grant the petition of the express company in November, 1920, for an increase of 26 per cent in Montana intrastate rates and in this connection we might add that the discrimination proceedings brought by the express company before the interstate commerce commission in November, 1921, have not yet been decided by the commission.

"The cases pending before the interstate commerce commission will require the support of all Montana express shippers to prevent an increase in the present rates, and to obtain a continuance of those rates or a reduction therein.

Appeal for Data "Through you and with your kind assistance, we hope to obtain certain data which we believe to be essential to a proper presentation of the case for the Montana shipper.

"We desire information for a 30 day period showing the number of shipments received by express, points of origin and weights, and the same information for shipments forwarded, also whether such shipments were delivered and picked up by the express company, or whether this service was performed by the consignee or consignor in Montana.

First State Engineer Dead Following a long siege of illness, principally due to heart trouble, John W. Wade, pioneer citizen of Helena and Montana's first state engineer, died at his home, 700 Cole avenue, Helena.

Wade was born in Missouri 70 years ago and was a graduate of the state university of Missouri. He came to Montana in the early 70's and later assisted in surveying the right-of-way for the Northern Pacific railway through western Montana.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. W. L. Fitzsimmons, Helena; Mrs. O. F. Hughie, San Diego, Cal.; and two sons, Preston A. Wade, now at Cornell Medical School, New York, and John R. Wade, Helena; two brothers and a sister in California and a sister in Missouri.

London—Stanley Baldwin, new chancellor of the exchequer, in his first speech here stated that the first duty of the British government was to pay its debt to the United States.

Binghamton, N. Y.—Elmer Washburn, 14-year-old boy, is held here for the murder of Cyrus Payne, 75-year-old recluse. The boy confessed and led the officers to a shed where he had hidden $3,400 taken from the murdered man.

Washington—Business generally throughout the United States has been better for the last month than at any time during the past two years. More factories are busy, more workmen employed today than at any time since the industrial depression began. More goods are being produced.
