Helena, Dec. 12.—John Kennedy, a quarter breed, who shot Gus Lienbach on the Blackfoot reservation in March of last year, fled to Canada and was subsequently captured and indicted by the grand jury, was acquitted in the United States court today of the charge of assault with intent to kill.

The shooting occurred during a drunken row at the house of one John Miller. Leinbach and Kennedy were struggling for the possession of a weapon when it went off, hitting Leinbach in the leg.

Frank Baker pleaded guilty today to the charge of illegally bartering on the Crow reservation, and Judge Knowles fined him $50, which he paid.

How to Cure Croup.

Mr. R. Gray, who lives near Amenia, Dutchess county, N. Y., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine I have ever used. It is a fine children's remedy for croup and never fails to cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough has developed, it will prevent the attack. This should be borne in mind and a bottle of the Cough Remedy kept at hand ready for instant use as soon as these symptoms appear. For sale by Thos. B. Magee.

Like Jesse James.

Canal Dover, Ohio, Dec. 13.—Four masked men held the town of Shanesville, four miles west of here at bay before dawn, while they blew open the safe in the private bank of John Doerschuck. The explosion aroused the citizens, who turned out, but were held off by the determined burglars until the wrecked safe had been looted. Then amid a fusillade of bullets, the four escaped on a Wheeling and Lake Erie coal car carrying with them between $2,000 and $4,000. That some of the bullets took effect is evident by a trail of blood. The conditions surrounding the robbery are the same as those at Shanesville days ago and the belief is general that the same men did the work. The robbers abandoned the car before reaching Baltic, five miles distant and a posse is now in pursuit with blood hounds.

When you have cold feet, sore throat, head ache, or chills chasing each other up and down your back, and you want to make things look as hot as dollars call for the Quack saloon, get a drink of that old grand old brand, Bond and 1000 brand.

W. F. Mellick's Condition.

The brother of W. F. Mellick, the former well known cattleman of northern Montana, who was recently found in Chicago in a crazed condition, and was sent to New Jersey asylum, has charge of the insane man's effects, and writes to Dr. Charles C. Thompson of Butte about his brother. Dr. Thompson, who formerly lived in Great Falls, had prescribed for Mellick some time ago and a prescription found among Mellick's papers led to the inquiry. The letter is written from the assembly chamber of Trenton, New Jersey, and says:

Dr. Charles C. Thompson, Butte, Mont.—Dear Sir: My brother, Mr. W. F. Mellick, of Pocatello, Idaho, was found in Chicago two weeks ago with his mind unbalanced. We now have him here in an asylum.

I find from his papers, which I have charge of, that you treated him, as he had a copy of your prescription on one of your blanks. Can you give me any information as to whether he was in his usual good mental condition when you treated him? How was his health generally? Also, can you give me any information relative to his business affairs, which I am endeavoring to ferret out. Respectfully yours,

P. W. MELLICK, JR.

As has been published heretofore, the relatives of Mellick claimed that his insanity was due to his being sand bagged in Chicago, but it was known by his friends in this end of the state, and in Butte that he has not been right for some time past. Mellick used to make his home in northern Montana at one time; and was a familiar figure about Great Falls, although his home for the greater part of the time was in Benton, where he traded a great deal in cattle, and at one time was said to be worth about $50,000. A hard winter of about seven years ago cleaned out a good portion of his cattle, and later he became addicted to the gambling habit, and his finances grew steadily worse instead of better until at last he put in the most of his time about the faro tables of different cities of the state. His unfortunate finale was not unexpected by his friends here, and to gambling more than to any other reason, can his misfortune be attributed. Bright, of pleasing address, and a shrewd business man, he wooed the Goddess of chance at the gaming table until at the last money, friends and even reason was gone and the man of whom a few years ago, the brightest business and social future would have been predicted, today wears his life away in the New Jersey mad house, and figures on the wall of his white-washed cell, the different combinations by which he can "beat the turn," and gather back the wealth that vanished into the drawer behind the green cloth!—G. F. Leader.

Marcus Daly's Brother

Hot Springs, S. D., Dec. 9.—Rev. R. P. Daly, who has been a member of the soldiers' home for the last few years was reading the biography of the late Marcus Daly yesterday and discovered that they were brothers. Mr. Daly knew that he had a brother, but they were separated when they were young. Mr. Daly says that he has often read of the multi-millionaire Daly, but never for a moment thought that it was his little brother, who left home, ragged and penniless. Mr. Daly belongs to the Free Methodist church, in which he served as pastor at Eastern places during a number of his active years. He has never corresponded with his brother nor ever heard a word from him, and supposed him dead long ago.

The Best Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bount to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with lame back or pains in the side or chest, give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism. One application gives relief. For sale by Thos. B. Magee.

Percy DeWolf's Record.

The Fergus County Argus, in its last issue, reprints a story from the Leader giving an account of the arrest of Percy DeWolfe recently by Deputy United States Marshall Wall, and in commenting upon his arrest, says:

"It would appear that Percy DeWolfe is likely to be out of harm's way for a time. The officers who caught him realize they have a bad man and appear to be taking precautions to put him behind the bars for a long period.

"He is up to his old game of cattle and horse stealing; in fact, that seems to have been his trade for many years. His name appears several times on the court records of this county, and June 15, 1893, he was sent to the penitentiary for one year, since which he has kept out of these parts, although he passed through Fergus county last year and stopped over in Lawistown to shake hands with a few old acquaintances.

"His first arrest in Fergus county was early in the spring of 1891. (On May 7 of that year he was indicted for grand larceny. Bail was fixed at $500, and this was forfeited when, on the 12th of the same month, his case was called and he did not appear.

"DeWolfe was arrested again in the winter of 1892-3 and indicted March 23 of that year for grand larceny. This time the officers propose to keep him and bail was fixed at $2,500, which he could not furnish. He was tried and convicted, the jury fixing the penalty at one year in the penitentiary, and an additional fine of $100. Judge DuBose passed sentence June 15 of that year. The jail walls were covered with drawings and comments made by DeWolfe while he was incarcerated, and he is remembered by the officers as a natural criminal and a hard man to handle. It would be well were he to be tried under the habitual criminal act and sent to the prison for a long term—or for life. He is beyond reformation."

Were Filing Gold Coin.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Chief Wilkie, of the secret service, received a telegram today announcing the arrest in San Francisco of William Benton Fritch and Emmett Benton Fritch, father and son, on a charge of counterfeiting. Last Tuesday a workman high up in the new postoffice building at San Francisco, noticed two men at work in a back room in a building some distance from them. Occasionally one of the men came to the window and intently looked at an object in his hand. The workmen grew suspicious and came to the conclusion that the men were counterfeiters and reported the facts to George Hazen, of the western division of the secret service. Mr. Hazen procured a field glass and on Wednesday went up to the top of the building where he watched the operations of the two men. His observations confirmed the conclusions of the workmen and with a search warrant he went to the place and found the two men engaged in "filing," ten dollar pieces. The men were arrested and $3,200 in coin captured.

Nine to Three.

Eldorado, Kan., Dec. 14.—Jessie Morrison's trial for the murder of Mrs. Olin Castle, whose life she is charged with having taken because of her love for Castle, ended today at noon in a hung jury. Although the jury did not agree on a verdict the result of their deliberations came near being an acquittal. Almost from the start, and before the case had been discussed by them, nine of the jurors voted for acquittal and three for conviction, the three holding out for manslaughter in the fourth degree, the punishment for which ranges from six months in jail to two years in the penitentiary. The jurors had been out since Tuesday morning, and for the last three days, realizing that they could not reach a verdict, they had waited patiently for their discharge.

The case will now go over to the spring court. In the meantime Miss Morrison's lawyers will make application for her release on bond, which, it is believed Judge Shinn has already made up his mind to grant. It is not believed that another jury could be secured in the county to try the case.

Miss Morrison, who is a frail little woman, 29 years old, has undergone a terrible strain, not only during her five months' imprisonment, but also during the tedious three weeks' hearing of the case. She showed little anxiety or nervousness when she appeared in the court room today, and after the jury had been discharged walked quietly with her relatives to her cell. There she threw herself upon her cot and wept violently. Later when seen by a newspaper man she would not talk of her case.

"I don't want to say a thing," she pleaded.

Former Probate Judge Morrison, the prisoner's father who has attended his daughter daily through the trial, said that he was very much encouraged.

"It shows that there is not much doubt of Jessie's innocence," he said. Then he added: "I hear a good many folks say if the county attorney does the right thing he will dismiss the case."

County Attorney Brumback is quoted as saying this afternoon:

"It was all a farce. I knew that there were three jurors unfavorable to the state and that would hang the jury. I will begin at once to investigate and arrests for perjury are pretty sure to follow. Perjury has been committed in the testimony of the defense."
