LOCAL NEWS.

The merchants are all receiving goods daily.
We publish this week several new advertisements.
Col. James L. Platt visited Roseman this week on business.
The festive cowboy made things lively in Red Lodge last Sunday.
A picnic party will be given soon by the young people of Red Lodge.
Mrs. Martha Kearns is teaching school at Elton, Park county, Montana.
Keyser Brown is putting up a neat cottage almost opposite to the depot.
George H. Heywood has ornamented his lighted establishment with a fine gilt sign.
Dr. J. H. Rinehart, mayor of Billings, and Miss Jennie McKeller, are to be married soon.
Inspectors and miners inform us that the snow up in the mountains is going off terrible slow.
Coal inspector Kesselstyn has been confined with a severe cold and was in bed most of the time this week.
A. Farrell took a spin to the magic city this week and reports things in Billings quite lively.
Mrs. Thomas Mallon returned home from Billings whether she has been attending to business.
Mrs. Charles Macomber was in town this week and informed us that she had good mining property in Cooke City.
E. H. Gagnon, a contractor and builder, of Billings came in on the train Thursday and stopped over a day in the city.
The copious rains make the stockmen grin like a sagebrush widow when giving guff to a Rocky mountain dude.
Robert Philpot contemplates a trip to Clark's Fork canon the latter part of this month and has invited us to go with him.
Dan L. Morse came down last Sunday. He has located a mining claim and named it Joseph K. Toole in honor of our governor.
Mrs. Polly Slack and her son Jay Slack, of Corvallis, Montana, left on the Rocky Fork train Monday evening for home.
Gilbert Patterson and Dan Brand are working on a mining claim above town. It is the intention to sink a shaft 50 feet deep.
Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Dick are the happy parents of a new baby that was ushered into this world at their home Monday evening.
Read the change in Babcock and Miles advertisement this week. This firm carry an immense stock of first class hardware.
M. Watson was sent as a delegate from the Red Lodge Knights of Pythias of this place to the convocation held at Livingston Tuesday.
Parties having honest claims against the government of any description should confer with Maj. H. J. Armstrong of Red Lodge.
Morris Powers was kicked on the hand this week by a cayuse and was compelled to have his little finger amputated by Dr. F. H. Nusser.
William Langdon an old time mountaineer, will leave for Cooke City in a few days to look after his mining interests at that camp.
Baldwin Bros. have just received a large stock of general merchandise and have been kept busy the past week opening up new goods.
James Campbell was bitten in the face Wednesday night by his pet canine. Mr. Campbell did not kill the dog but was as angry as a wet hen in fly time.
The high rollers among the knights of the green cloth have been betting blues this week and in some instances piling the checks up almost to the ceiling.
Miss Maggie Philpot has just returned from Clark's Fork canon this week with some views that are too pretty for anything except the gaze of femininity.
Dan O'Shen, the clever young accountant of the Rocky Fork Coal company returned home this week from a business trip to Roseman the future capital of Montana.
"Shorty" Martin came down from his mining claim on Rock creek and informs us that he has run a tunnel in twenty feet. The claim lays four miles this side of the Iron Chief mine.
The case of Huns Thompson against Henry Renneberg came up before the alcalde known as Eli, Tuesday morning. It was a case of debt and dismissed by the motion of the attorney for the defendant.
People say that we are trying to put on airs because we attend church occasionally and wear a cayuse shirt that cost sixty cents on the Bitter Root country where good clothes are high and hard to get.
E. E. Batchelor, W. A. Lewis and Chas. Huxley, were out on a few days at Maj. H. J. Armstrong's ranch this week on a hunting and fishing expedition. The young gentlemen report having a royal time.
S. C. Hunter and Al Flager got no mussy from their claim above town of $15. This is a pretty good showing for top rock and should the lode improve with depth it may prove to be a good mine in time.

We graciously acknowledged the receipt of an invitation to attend the wedding of Miss Annie L. Brown and Mr. Patrick F. Hanley at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Egan in this city, Tuesday evening, May 27th, 1890.
The PICKET office printed some nice wedding invitations this week for the marriage of Patrick F. Hanley and Miss Annie L. Brown who are to be united in marriage next Tuesday night by a Catholic priest.
Mrs. Nelson McGillen of this city and Miss Mary Chaffin, of Park City, were welcome visitors to the banquet of the RED LODGE PICKET Monday morning. We are always pleased to have our friends call to see us when in the metropolis.
The silk umbrella with satin lining has become a fad in Red Lodge among blue-blooded aristocracy. We purchased one this week to keep from being ostracized in a social sense. We will keep up our end of fashion if we have to go hungry to church.
The people of Red Lodge will meet at Blackburn's hall Monday night for the purpose of making arrangements to celebrate the Fourth of July in this place. At this meeting the necessary committees will be appointed to superintend the affair throughout.
A friend of ours has an overcoat that looks as dainty as though it might be slobbered over by Cleopatra when she was trying to capture Mark Anthony. The overcoat could not be laid on a rail fence without leaving the imprint of a slab of grease on the rails.
Tuesday was pay day in Red Lodge and several thousand dollars was disbursed among the miners. The Rocky Fork Coal company management claim that each pay day will increase from now on and of course when fall and winter comes the out put of coal will greatly increase.
Rev. Jacob Mills, presiding elder of the Methodist church, will hold divine service in the burg next Tuesday evening and will also preach Friday evening. It will be his first visit to the metropolis and it is the request of Rev. George Comfort that the people come out on both occasions.
Mr. and Mrs. John L. Burns and children left on the Rocky Fork train Thursday afternoon for Glendive to attend the wedding of Mrs. Sarah M. Beckus. Mr. Burns promised us he would visit the banquet of the Glendive Independent and have a talk with our esteemed friend J. H. Widemyer.
The people of Red Lodge are determined to celebrate the Fourth of July in this place and will begin to organize and select committees probably next week. It is about time that the people were getting a move on themselves if they are going to have a jollification and good time generally.
A. S. Davis, a mining man of Red Lodge, has applied for a patent to the patent office at Washington city for a patent to save flower gold. Mr. Davis seems to be confident that it will work like a charm and save the fine gold. Should this patent prove what Mr. Davis thinks it will it will save millions of dollars worth of gold on Snake river.
Two kind-hearted Sisters of Charity were in town this week soliciting alms for the human race. We met the kind sisters—dug up the last white dollar we had, and tried to give it in that careless, nonchalant manner, in which kings bestow millions—although at the same time our heart was breaking—because we were parting with the last of our earthly possessions.
The firm of Tinkcom & Tinkcom are in receipt of an excellent spring and summer stock of military and wish to invite the ladies of Red Lodge and vicinity and northern Wyoming to call at their store on Hanner avenue and examine their varied stock of goods. The Hannerbox makes a specialty in the ladies' hats and also keeps a style of ladies' hats that are more moderate in price. In addition to stylish hats the Hannerbox keeps all kinds of laces, frills and ornamental head-gear decorations worn by fair femininity.
The citizens of Red Lodge are to be congratulated on the spirit of enterprise that they possess and never let an opportunity pass to exhibit this enterprise. It was thought a good way to give a ball to raise money to help pay for the building just constructed by the Hook and Ladder Fire company. We must say that the people responded most graciously and the ball given under the auspices of the fire department was a brilliant success both socially and financially and all who attended enjoyed the dance hugely. At 12 o'clock the merry dancers were informed that supper was ready to be served at Ballard's hall. The guests retired to the supper room and were served with a splendid supper by the ladies—who constitute the Ladies Aid society of the Congregational church. Elaborate preparations had been made for supper. The young ladies and gentlemen selected to wait upon the table and serve the guests to dainty delicacies with the appointment of politeness and worthy of wearing the diadem of queen or king when it comes to dining superbly.

visiting Red Lodge for the purpose of attending the Hanley-Brown nuptials.
Thomas Murphy and Charles Conners were arrested yesterday for horsestealing and lodged in jail here. It is claimed that the horses were stolen from A. W. Chadbourne. The preliminary examination is going on now before justice of the peace A. P. McAnelly.
Provisions were donated in such profusion for the supper last night that a large amount of food remained. To utilize it all, the ladies have determined to serve supper at the Ballard building again to-night from 6 o'clock until 8 o'clock. The charge will be only ten cents for adults and ten cents for children.
The Ladies of the Aid Society desire to extend their gratitude and appreciation to all those who so generously assisted them in giving their supper last night. They make special mention of many—so many in fact that none in Red Lodge are left out. There will be as general a satisfaction in the fact that the enterprise proved entirely successful and the ladies will have their organ.
