General Local News.

L. BARRETT, LOCAL EDITOR
WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, 1876

MISS LOLLIE HARDWICK of this city is visiting friends and relations in McLean county.

W. R. HAYNES, of the law firm of Robbins & Haynes, Litchfield, Ky., is in town attending our Circuit Court.

The dinner given by the ladies of the town and country last Monday at the church was quite a success the proceeds amounting to $115 which is to be donated to the church to assist in the completion of the same.

Last Monday was the first day of our Circuit Court and quite a large crowd of people were in attendance. The candidates for Sheriff were on hand and made speeches, each one urging his claim to the office.

A freight train on the L. P. & S. W. railroad ran over and killed a mare belonging to J. Wesley Duke, last Wednesday morning just before day. She was run over near Elm Lick.

A fight occurred last Monday between Frank Peyton and a young man named T. Ylor, in which both were considerably scratched up. The parties were promptly brought before F. P. Morgan Police Judge, for trial, which resulted in the former being fined $10.

Mr. W. H. Barnes, of the firm of Taylor and Barnes, Beaver Dam, Ky., left yesterday for Louisville, where he will purchase a large stock of Spring and Summer Dry Goods. Messrs. Taylor & Barnes are clever gentlemen—wide awake merchants—and those wishing anything in their line would do well to await the arrival of their new stock.

Tobacco Plants Killed.
We have made diligent inquiry of farmers from all parts of the county, and the universal report is that the bugs have destroyed nearly all the tobacco plants. In some neighborhoods all the plants have been eaten up. Nothing like a full crop can be set now, as it is too late to sow and have plants in time to set. The prospects are that not a half crop can be planted.

The following gentlemen compose the Grand Jury:
Adam Luter, foreman, Henry Whiteley, Davage Hoeker, E. G. Render, Jos. T. Benton, George Rowe, Jno. Barnes, J. C. Turm, J. H. Collaway, Jno. L. Rock, Frank Robertson, Jas. R. Rummage, Elijah Miller, Thos. Massie, Obed Lile and John R. Wade. The above are all worthy gentlemen.

ERRATA.—We are always glad to give credit to whom credit is due, and last week in our locals about the dinner and supper to be given this week, we spoke of it as being gotten up by the ladies of town. We thought this was the case then, but we learn since that many ladies in the county freely added their might in getting up the affair, and the success and large receipts are in a great measure attributable to the ladies living outside of town. We hope no one will think this omission was intentional on our part, as we certainly would have included all the ladies connected with it if we had known it.

County Grange.
The Ohio County Grange will meet at Walton's creek the first Saturday (3d day) in June, at ten o'clock a. m. All Sub. Granges in the county, not having united with the County Grange, are requested to send delegates and attach themselves at the above time and place. Done by order of the Grange at Goshen, April 17th, 1876.

R. P. HOCKER, Sec'y. pro tem.

Peabody House—Centennial.
The Cincinnati Daily Star says we are sorry to learn that we are to miss the presence of one of our well known hotel proprietors. Col. James Watson, for twenty-one years proprietor of the Henri House, has leased the Peabody Hotel, corner of Ninth and Locust streets, Philadelphia, immediately in the center of the business part of the city, only two squares from the Centennial and Girard Hotels, and the theatres. It is connected with street cars from depots—saving carriage hire. Mr. Watson still leaves the Henri House in charge of his old corps of clerks and servants. Owing to the popularity of Col. Watson with the West, his adopted residence, and with the South, being a native of Virginia, there can be no doubt of his success. He informs us that he will reserve rooms for his friends in his hotel; or if he has no rooms, upon application by letter he will be pleased to secure them at other quarters for them. His charges are reasonable—$3 per day.

Mr. Wm. D. Coleman living in Cool Spring precinct this county brought to our office a few days ago a sample of wool of his own raising which measured eleven inches in length. His sheep are of the Spanish Merino and Cotswold breed, and averaged ten pounds and one ounce of wool at shearing time this spring. The wool is of a very fine texture and purely white. Can Wm. Foster beat it? He also presented a sample of wool from T. W. Samuels & Son of Nelson county which measured fifteen inches in length, these sheep are of pure Cotswold breed. Mr. C. has purchased two of these sheep from Samuels & Son at a cost of $120. Mr. Coleman is a fine farmer and a good stock raiser.

At a Stockholders' meeting of the Reader Coal Company, held at Hartford, Ky., on Saturday the 6th day of May, 1876, the following officers were chosen to serve one year, to-wit:
R. S. MOSELEY, President.
Wm. J. BERRY, SIMON JONES,
Jas. F. COLLINS, E. D. WALKER,
Directors.

Good Templars' Convention.
The Ohio county I. O. G. T. convention will meet with Mount Pleasant Lodge, at Rosine, Ky., on Friday and Saturday, 2d and 3d of June, 1876. All Lodges in the county are requested to send delegates, as a full meeting is desired.
BENJ. NEWTON, Pres.

For a First Class Suit.
Go to a first class House J. Winter & Co., Louisville. are the acknowledged Headquarters for a fashionable outfit. Their New Spring stock embraces every variety, prices moderate, and you are always sure of a good fit.

When a Brooklyn woman wants a new dress and feels a little delicate about asking for it direct, she presents her husband with a nice beaded shaving-paper-case, filled with tissue from an old paper pattern. The first time he uses it he notices the little round holes in the paper and naturally inquires the reason, which gives her the chance to say with a regretful sigh that it's only a "Domestic Paper Fashion" that she would have used some time ago but for the reason that she saw he was poor just then and felt as if she ought to economize to help him along. Noble self-denial like this usually fetches things.

Muhlenberg Democratic Convention.
A Convention of the Democratic party of Muhlenberg County, has been called to meet at the Court House, in Greenville, Ky., on Saturday the 20th day of May, 1876, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Democratic State Convention, to be held at Louisville, Ky., on the 25th day of May, 1876. Also to take proper steps for a thorough organization of the Democratic party, in Muhlenberg County. Every Democrat in the county is requested to be present on that day.

County Correspondent.
No. 8 OHIO COUNTY KY.
April 25th, 1876.
EDITOR HERALD—I have neglected writing for so long, I fear my name has been forgotten.

News is very scarce just now. A few items that would have been of interest to the public are stale now, and forbear giving a detailed account of them.

I refer to the fires at Paradise and Rochester. But an incident that is connected with each, I will notice.—I read an erroneous statement not long since, regarding the burning of Dr. Jackson's property at Paradise. The article referred to, among other things stated that the Doctor was absent, at the time of the burning, and that nothing whatever was saved. The contrary however was the case for he was not only at home but saved a large portion of his property. The landlord of the Rochester hotel at the time it was burned (Mr. Shackleford) was dumb, having been unable to speak for a number of years, while attempting to save a child which he supposed to be in the building was badly burned, and since his recovery has been able to "speak as other men".

The farmers of our locality are very busy just now getting ready for and planting corn. Wheat looks well and promises a large yield. Some little trading in real estate, the most important being between Mr. Tolbert Robinson, a retired merchant of Paradise, and William James, of our neighborhood. It is with much regret we part from our neighbors the James', and we hope they will find friends as genial as they, themselves will prove to be to all with whom they associate.

G. C. Westerfield, Prof. of Penmanship and champion scribe of the county has located in our midst. May your stay with us, Prof., be attended with as much pleasure to yourself and family as it is with profit and pleasure to your many pupils and friends.

Q. S. Taylor, druggist and apothecary of White Plains Ky., was with us recently on a visit to his parents. We wish him and his friend Dr. James much success. Come again Quint, you will always receive a hearty welcome to No. 8.

Beaver Dam News.
BEAVER DAM, KY., }
May 8, 1876. }
The recent rains have greatly increased the growth of vegetation; everything of a verdant nature seems to be in a prosperous condition.

A diversity of opinion exists in regard to tobacco plants, some say the bugs have devoured the almost entire crop, while others contend that an abundance will be left. From time immemorial such reports have been exaggerated, and it is difficult to form any correct opinion.
A very heavy rain fell at this place last Saturday night, the same was accompanied by a somewhat destructive wind. A large number of fences were blown down, and before they could be re-laid, stock entered, and to some extent injured crops. A large locust tree, standing in front of the residence of Mr. P. Hoeker, was hurled by the gale across the center of his front row, but luckily did no serious damage.

Rev. E. M. Crow delivered an excellent sermon at Liberty church on yesterday, subject, "Resurrection." In the afternoon he delivered a lecture to the children, who, doubtless, as well as the older persons in attendance, were greatly benefited.

Hon. George W. Ray and Hon. John Allen Murray, both candidates for criminal judge, were in town last week. We were glad to see them, and doubt not but either would make a good judge, but then we feel that Judge Gregory will be the choice of the district. Why had not Ohio county as well elect a judge as any other? especially where the candidate is as competent.

We were pleased to meet our friend Banner of the Monitor, in town the other day.
We would like to mention the names of "Misses So and So," as the Grayson county correspondent terms it, that are visiting our town, but as he is a good friend of ours, we'll not weary him by having to read their names. I would suppose from his item about the "tick with a white speck on its back," that ticks are numerous in this county—we do not have any in this county—but musical(?) frogs, are in abundance.

Business prevented my attending the dinner prepared by the ladies of Hartford today, but those who partook thereof report that sumptuous fare was on hand, and feel well paid for their investment. The supper to-morrow night will be well attended, should not inclement weather prevent.

I trust all those in this community who are not subscribers to the HERALD will report their names to the agent at this place inside the next two weeks. A paper cannot live without the support of the people. The cost of a year's subscription is a trifle compared to the information you will receive, and in aiding your paper you better the condition of your county, and greatly benefit yourselves.

CONSUMPTION CURED.
An old physician, retired from active practice, having placed in his hands by an East India Missionary the formula of a simple Vegetable Remedy, for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a Positive and Radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having thoroughly tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, feels it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive, and a conscientious desire to relieve human suffering, he will send (free of charge) to all who desire it, this recipe, with full directions for preparing and successfully using. Sent by return mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper.

Poetry and Prose of Spring.
The glories of spring time has ever been a favorite theme of the poets. They glow with rapture when describing how "Spring unlocks the flowers to paint the laughing soil," but forget that "Death rides on every passing breeze, and lurks in every flower." Yes, the vernal season however bright and beautiful it may seem is fraught with perils to the human race. In our climate it is the most dangerous to health of any portion of the year. The sudden changes of the weather produce Colds, Coughs, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Rheumatism and Neuralgia, while the poisonous exhalations arising from the earth, induce deadly fevers. At this perilous season the greatest care should be exercised, and the SEVEN SEALS or GOLDEN WONDER, that speedy, certain and effectual cure for all ailments brought on by variable weather, or by inhaling miasmatic vapors, should be kept where it can be brought quickly into requisition.

THE Courier-Journal.
For the Centennial Year.
1876!!

During all the century of our national existence, no one year has perhaps engendered so much of interest and importance as will be comprehended within the twelve months of the Centennial Anniversary. The year 1876 witnesses in the popular Congressional body the return to power of the great National Democracy, which will be watched with intense interest by every citizen of the Republic. The great Centennial Exposition, illustrating and emphasizing every phase of the nation's progress, side by side with the developments of universal civilization, will afford a constant fund of incident and information, which, to the great mass of the people, can only be reflected by the newspaper of broad scope and commanding resources. The Presidential contest of the year, with the great diversity of interests and opinions, and the anomalous alignment of men, and parties, and sections, will be fought with a skill, energy and weariness only equaled by the momentous results depending upon the great struggle.

An era so full of interest signifies the extraordinary need of all the people for means of information and instruction, and stimulates the press to its highest possibilities. Conscious of this need, and in ready response to it, the management of the

is determined that its Forty-sixth year shall more than maintain its supremacy as the great newspaper of the West and South.

THE COURIER-JOURNAL combines the experience, ability and material resources of three old-time Louisville newspapers of national repute—the Louisville Courier, Louisville Journal and Louisville Democrat—and is fortified in the respect and confidence resulting from nearly half a century of their individual and combined success. Its thoroughly independent Democratic position will be fully maintained, and all its departments will be most carefully prepared. It gives, in the course of a year, several attractive serial novels, romances, &c., written expressly for its columns; its telegraphic summary faithfully reflects all the news of the world; able special correspondents write from all the great capitals; the financial and commercial reports are copious and trustworthy; the agricultural department is becoming more and more complete and interesting; the Patrons of Husbandry have in the Courier-Journal the advantage of a great newspaper published in the city of their National Headquarters, with a grange department written by a member of the order, whose devotion, ability and prudence are universally acknowledged; wit, satire, gossip and paragraph pungency are represented in many varied departments.

THE COURIER-JOURNAL is submitted to the people as embracing a combination of all the conservative elements which have joined hands over the altar of the Constitution in forming a great national, Democratic party. It is also presented as the largest, liveliest and cheapest newspaper in America. No other paper published in the South or Southwest can approach it in these respects.

For the truth of these assertions, the reader is simply requested to compare the COURIER-JOURNAL, line by line and column by column, with any other newspaper south of the Ohio river. If the result is not found to leave a balance in its favor, we will not urge the point. Our aim is to produce the best article on the market and to sell it cheapest. The law of trade applies not less to newspapers than to other articles of every-day life. We look to the prevailing rule of this great common law for our success.—By giving the public the largest, liveliest, fullest, freshest, cheapest and most representative press, the COURIER-JOURNAL expects to surpass all rivalry in circulation and influence.
