When thinking of visiting Louisville there should be one thing made up in your mind, and that is that you will stop at the Standford Hotel. Everything is new and nice about the house, and is kept in the best of order. No better table is set anywhere; no better and more polite attendants can be found anywhere, and the fare is only $2 per day. Be sure to go to the Standford.

Old Jack Spratt could eat no fat and his wife could eat no lean, but between the two they saved enough money for the "old man" to buy a new coat. He will sell to the trade, establish agencies, &c. The Goodrich is a good rich machine and gives satisfaction. Each machine is warranted for five years.

There is no doubt that Cate's goods are the best for the money ever offered to the public. Any one certainly act very unwisely in buying any other goods when they can get Cate's at the same price. A big lot of jeans, yarns, blankets, flannels and skirts will be received next week at Anderson's Bazaar. This is the only house handling these goods in this county, and they do it on the shortest kind of profits, the reputation these goods give the house being a sufficient remuneration.

E. F. Forbes, undertaker at Forsville, has just finished a painting of the grave of Edger Wilson. The painting is on paper and executed with water colors. The painting represents other graves in the Jones' graveyard, and in the distance is seen a portion of Clark's mountain. Mr. Forbes has a book of portraits he has painted from Washington, at the age of 49, to Capt. George P. Ryan, of the U. S. Navy, who was drowned November 24, 1877; also, the Battle of Shiloh, Death of Gabriel McDonald, Napoleon, Prince Napoleon, Thomas H. Benton, Louis Kosuth, Rev. William Hickman, and a humorous military painting entitled, "Sol, or you much hurt, or only broke of your night's rest." Two of his paintings are in Hartford: the portrait of Gen. Dix, owned by W. C. Morton, and the portrait of Capt. Peter A. Howard, owned by Capt. S. K. Cox. Some of our citizens will remember Mr. Forbes many years ago as the lay artist of Hartford.

What every one says must be true, that "Dr. Selzer's Cough Syrup" has no equal for coughs and colds. Try it. Price 25 cents.

It is the strangest thing in the world that men will buy Eastern boots when they can get custom-made goods at Anderson's Bazaar.

80 cents saved is that much made. You save this much on each 100 pounds of flour you get at the Water Mill, and get fully as good, if not better quality. Try it and see.

Why pay five cents per pound for flour when you can get the best quality of choice family flour at $1.25 per 100 pounds at the water mill of Jno. R. and Wm. Phillips?

While in Rockport, Monday, we were the guests of mine host Jacob Anthony, of the Green River Hotel, and complimented the culinary department by partaking of a good square meal.

While in Rockport, Monday, we met our new County assessor, Mr. Luther Duke. He invited us to a sumptuous dinner at the Duke House, but, having just accepted a similar invitation, we had to decline with regrets.

Mr. James A. Weatherford, of Springfield, Ohio, says: "Brown's Iron Bitters cured me of the worst case of dyspepsia I ever had. The muscles of my stomach, liver and bowels now seem so strong I believe I could almost digest petrified cheese! I recommend it to all who suffer as did I."

The Nimrods of town are having considerable success in hunting. Messrs. Clarence Handwick and Jerry Williams were out one day last week and killed two turkeys and a large number of squirrels. The next day Messrs. Ellis Thomas and Dick Williams went out and killed two turkeys and several squirrels. Quail hunting is also good.

Thanks to the good people of Hartford who kindly gave a mile to the Primary Department last session, as we had only ten dollars - not enough to buy a carpet. We have bought nice shag for our windows and invite you to come to see them. Respectfully,
THE LITTLE PEOPLE.

A card from John S. Haycraft appears elsewhere contradicting the report that there have been five indictments made out against him in this county in the past. It was certainly reported that such was the fact, and we published it accordingly, but on examination we find, as he says, that there is but one. That one was for disturbing public worship, and was dismissed.

Mr. John W. Mahian, of Rockport, has been appointed traveling salesman for the Goodrich sewing machine. Mr. Mahian has been selling this machine to citizens of our county for some time, and his success has caused his promotion. He will sell to the trade, establish agencies, &c. The Goodrich is a good rich machine and gives satisfaction. Each machine is warranted for five years.

We had the pleasure of a visit to Rockport Monday last and find the citizens of this little long wide-awake and busy city.

Trade seemed to be very good. Boutwell's, James' and Young's stores were all doing a good trade. Rockport is one of the last towns in the county or Green river country.

One of the main sills of the bridge across Roubidoux creek at this place broke last week and crossing on it now is attended with danger, especially to heavily-laden wagons, etc. The attention of the County Court is called to the condition of the bridge, and while it is under consideration we think it would be proper to canvass the advisability of erecting an iron bridge. Already has enough money been paid out on the present bridge to build two iron ones, and if a new wooden bridge is built in place of the old one we may expect to be, to be like the old one, a continued drain on the county for repairs.

We visited the thriving little village of Rosine last Saturday in the interest of the HERALD fire insurance, &c. We were the guest of the Van North House while there. Rosine is one of the finest places of its size on the P. & E. road. Saw logs, staves, heading, spikes, ax handles, flour, and in fact, almost anything the market wants is shipped from this point. The citizens of Rosine are moral, religious and refined. We cannot close without speaking of the Rosine Flouring Mills, owned and conducted by J. W. Lewis & Sons (Thomas and H. W.). This is an enterprise that any town should be proud of.

Some of the best boys of town got on a rampage Monday night and tore things up in a general manner. The wheels were taken off of Vaughn's express wagon and carried almost out of town, a wounded owl was put into Pendleton's law office, and a few other little acts of meanness were perpetrated. One night last week the pump in front of Anderson's Bazaar was sawed in two and a very great inconvenience to citizens and others was the result. It is a pity that these marauders should be caught up with, and we should be happy to help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters - the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and ray checks in them. They cost but a trifle. - Christian Recorder.

The close confinement of all factory work gives the operatives pallid faces, poor appetite, languid, miserable feelings, poor blood, inactive liver, kidneys and urinary troubles, and all the physicians and medicine in the world cannot help them unless they get out of doors or use Hop Bitters - the purest and best remedy, especially for such cases, having abundance of health, sunshine and ray checks in them. They cost but a trifle. - Christian Recorder.

So great has been the popular demand for the celebrated remedy, Kidney-Wort, that it is having an immense sale from Michigan to California. Some have found it inconvenient to prepare it from the dry compound; for such the proprietors now prepare it in liquid form. This can be procured at the druggists. It has precisely the same effect as the dry, but is very concentrated so that the dose is much smaller. - Lowell Mail.

Rescued from Death.

The following statement of William J. Coughlin, of Soumeville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for the attention of our readers. He says, "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I bought at my friends, thinking that my case was incurable, but I got a bottle to satisfy that when, to my surprise and gratification, I commenced to feel better. My hope, once dead, began to revive, and today I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years.

I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one afflicted with diseased lungs will be induced to take Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs and be convinced that consumption can be cured. I have taken two bottles, and can positively say that it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness. My cough has almost entirely disappeared, and I shall soon be able to go to work." Sold by druggists. 75-81

Anxious to Rise.

"There's plenty of room up stairs," as Daniel Webster said to the young lawyer anxious to rise, but dependent on his chance to do so, but no one need figure himself either in climbing the stairs of fame or those of his own house or business place. The following is to the point: Mr. John A. Hutchinson, Superintendent Downer's Kerosene Oil Works, Boston, Mass., writes: Mr. Patton, one of our foremen, in walking up stairs last week sprained his leg badly. I gave him a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil to try. He used it and an almost instantaneous cure was effected. - La Fayette Daily Journal.

Claytonian Society.

The Claytonians assembled in College Hall on Friday night, October 28th, 1881, without a single member being absent. Each anxious to be victorious in the impending conflict, which was to decide the question: "Resolved, That the Indians were justly driven from the soil." B. D. Rings was captain on the affirmative and E. M. Hackett on the negative. The debate was short and lively, but it lasted long enough for E. M. Hackett to lead his colleagues to victory.

This was the meeting for the election of officers, and every one who ever belonged to a debating society knows that this is the time for a great deal of fun. We never saw more interest taken in an election, and when all was over and the votes counted, the result was: W. J. Dulin, President.

E. A. Stowers, Vice President. J. C. O'Donnell, Secretary. J. J. McGuffey, Treasurer. B. D. Rings, Prosecuting Attorney. J. S. Glem, Marshal. J. B. Horn, Door-keeper.

Get out Door.

Be of Good Cheer.

There is one remedy which has proved itself to be a priceless boon and a true friend to suffering humanity. It has saved thousands of nervous, debilitated, and exhausted mortals to lives of usefulness and the full enjoyment of robust health. If you are weak, nervous and debilitated, or suffer from indigestion and dyspepsia, you make a serious mistake and do yourself great injustice if you fail to try this excellent medicine. You will find it a perfect panacea for all your troubles. In a few weeks time your shattered nervous system will be restored to a natural and healthful condition, all symptoms of dyspepsia and indigestion disappear, and the possibility of paralysis, apoplexy, and other disorders that lead to sudden death, will be removed forever. This meritorious compound is a preparation of iron and essential vegetable tonics. It is the only preparation of iron that does not give headache or blacken the teeth. It is called Brown's Iron Bitters. Demand it of your druggist, and take no substitute. It will give the greatest satisfaction for its effects are lasting, and not temporary, as is the case with alcoholic preparations. Brown's Iron Bitters contains no alcohol. - Enquirer.

A Great Bank.

Is the "LIFE AND WORK OF GARFIELD, embracing an account of his struggles in childhood, his career as a soldier; his success as a statesman; his elevation to the Presidency and his dastardly assassination; by John Clark Ripshart, the well-known historiographer, and published by Jones Brothers & Co., Cincinnati, Chicago, Philadelphia and Kansas City. This is a reliable work by the first historical writer of the day, and a copy of it should be in the house of every reading man in the United States.

The firm of Jones Brothers & Co. is one of the largest publishing houses in the country, and the mere fact that they publish the book is a guarantee that it is valuable. They advertise for agents in this issue of the HERALD, and some live men can make a good thing by taking the agency of the Garfield book while it is new.

Attention!

I must again request all persons indebted to me to give me a settlement of their accounts. I am in need of money, and unless attention is given this, I will be compelled to take more urgent measures. C. M. Pendleton has charge of my books.

Respectfully, JOHN E. PENDLETON.

The unprecedentedly late fall will go far to lighten the consumption of fuel during the coming winter, as the pastures which usually give out long before this time, are now in full verdure and seem likely to continue so for several weeks yet. This is a great boon to the farmers of the county, as many would be reduced to extremities during the winter if the feeding season had commenced at the usual time.
