

A Drop of Ink
Makes Millions Think

THE HARTFORD HERALD.

"I Come, the Herald of a Noisy World, the News of All Nations Lumbering at My Back."

HAVE YOU PAID THE GATE FEE?
Fifty-two Entertainments
ADMISSION, - - $1.25 PER YEAR!

VOL. XX.

HARTFORD, KY., WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1894.

NO. 29.

Do You Expect to Become a Mother?

"MOTHER'S FRIEND"

Makes Childbirth Easy.

Analgesic, Laxative, and Sterilizer.

"My wife suffered more in ten minutes with her other children than she did all together with her last, after having used four bottles of 'MOTHER'S FRIEND,' says a customer.—HENDERSON DALE, Druggist, Carmi, Ill.

Sent by express, on receipt of price, 50¢ per bottle, charges prepaid. Book of 50 Mothers' mailed free containing valuable information, sent by all druggists.

BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO.,
ATLANTA, GA.

B. L. KELLEY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HARTFORD, KY.

WILL practice his profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties and in collections. Office with County Attorney.

H. F. MATTHEWS,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
FORDSVILLE, KY.

WILL practice his profession in Ohio and adjoining counties. Special attention given to collections. Office over Carson & Co's.

W. H. BARNES,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HARTFORD, KY.

WILL practice his profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties and in collections. Office over Carson & Co's.

Glenn & Wedding,
LAWYERS,
HARTFORD, KY.

WILL practice their profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties and in collections. Office in Court of Appeals. Special attention given to original practice and collection.

Massie & Hayward,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
Hartford, Kentucky.

WILL practice their profession in all the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties and in collections. Office North side of public square.

James A. Smith,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HARTFORD, KY.

WILL practice his profession in Ohio and adjoining counties. Special attention given to collections. Office north side of public square.

Guffy & Ringo,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
Hartford, Kentucky.

WILL practice in all the Courts of Ohio county, Court of Appeals and Superior Court. Office 325 West Market street.

F. L. FELIX,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
Hartford, Ky.

WILL PRACTICE in the courts of Ohio and adjoining counties. Special attention given to Criminal Practice, Settlement of Estates and Collections. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

J. EDWIN ROWE,
COUNSELOR AND ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HARTFORD, KY.

WILL practice his profession in Ohio and adjoining counties. Special attention given to Criminal Practice, Settlement of Estates and Collections. Prompt attention given to all business entrusted to me.

J. B. WILSON,
COUNTY SURVEYOR
And Notary Public for Ohio County.

SPECIAL ATTENTION given to Mine Surveying, Mapping, etc., a specialty. Office with Ringo & Felix, Hartford.

J. R. PIRLLE,

They're Completely Dissolved—all of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—with a sugar-coating which makes them so palatable. You do not get the taste. This means more that the pellets are not dissolved in the stomach. They're easy to digest. These Pellets help digestion. They're tiny, hence easily swallowed. They're easy to use, and after using them you feel well instead of bilious and constipated; your Sick Headache, Dizziness, Indigestion, etc., disappear.

Good nature belongs to an active liver; irritability to a morbid liver. Take Pleasant Pellets that you may cultivate good nature, happiness, and health.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, because guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

It's a permanent cure, that you get with Dr. Sage's Cathartic Remedy. The makers offer $500 reward for an incurable case.

DENTIST
HARTFORD, KY.

IS PREPARED to do all kinds of dental work on short notice, at reasonable prices. Satisfaction guaranteed. Office over Williams & Bell's drug store.

J. H. WHITE
DENTIST,
HARTFORD, KY.

IS PREPARED to do all kinds of dental work at most reasonable prices. Office over the Red Front.

A "NEW JERUSALEM"

TO BE BUILT ON THE SOUTHWESTERN COAST OF FLORIDA.

A Bowling Green Land Company's Property Adjoins It--To be Peopled by Eight Million Happy Souls.

A MORNINGSTAR "FAKE"

(Bowling Green Democrat.)

The Estero Land Company composed of Bowling Green gentlemen own a large tract of land in Lee county, Florida. Messrs. C. G. Smallhouse, D. F. Kerr, M. R. Gosson, J. G. Covington, George Mitchell, W. T. Spalding, James Jenkins, Dr. C. Brown and J. C. Sims compose the company. Since the friends of the gentlemen named have learned of the New Jerusalem project, they have been much speculating as to the intent of the Bowling Green company. The scheme is this: Dr. Cyrus Teed has turned up with a scheme that stamps him a most magnificent dreamer. He proposes to raise $20,000,000, build a great city and gather into it 8,000,000 souls. The story of Teed, his religious and his schemes, is an amazing one. He first became known through his fishing for the wealth of the Economite society in Germany, a society called the Harmonites was organized by George Rapp. The aim of its members was to live so far as possible as did the primitive Christians and according to the letter of the teachings of the apostles. They were driven out of Germany and settled in America about eighty-five years ago, buying land and building a village which they called Harmony. At first they married and gave in marriage, but man and wife could only live together for forty days and forty nights once in seven years. This rule was broken so many times that Rapp (whose power was absolute in the community) repealed it and decreed complete celibacy instead. Many deserted, but those who held their faith in Rapp moved with him to Indiana, where a new Harmony was founded. Disease and death wrought great havoc among them in their new home, and they moved back to Pennsylvania valley not far from Pittsburgh, where they again founded a village. They called it this time Economite and changed the name of their sect to Economites. They numbered in 1825, when this new town was built, about 1,000, but as there have been many deaths among them, no births and only one adoption, there is left now only a little band of less than 400 people—men, women and children—are employed about the village, and they seem to be very happy. The Economite society is undoubtedly the richest organization in the world, being worth at the very least calculation $150,000,000. This vast property was accumulated because of the queerest phase of their faith. They believe that before the last Redeemer has passed away Christ—the Redeemer for those coming they have waited so long and with such child-like confidence—will begin his reign as the ruler of the world. All their wealth they purpose to lay at the feet of the Son of God to aid him in the salvation of their fellow men. It was this money that Teed attempted to get hold of.

It was about 1870 when Teed founded a sect called the Koroeshans, after he had known what he called a "revolution." This "revolution" taught him first of all that Cyrus Teed was by far the greatest man on earth. He said he had been taken up into heaven and had learned that "God becomes incarnate once in each era of the world's history"—that he had lived on earth in the persons of Adam, Enoch, Noah, Abraham, Moses, Elijah, Jesus and others, Teed being presumably the latest divinity. Sexless immortals were to be born who would rule the earth for 75,000 years. He himself was immortal, but he was to be translated to heaven some time in the future. He explained his complicated doctrine to the Economites and tried to convince them that he was the holy being to whom they were to give their gold. In fact, it was thought for a time that he had proved it to their satisfaction, and that the care of the $150,000,000 had been entrusted him. But a few days after 1891 had joined the years that have passed (January 3), Father Heaven denounced Dr. Teed and all doctrines. "The Economites waited to see whether Teed's claim that he would be translated in 1891 would be fulfilled. When New Year's day came and left him still on earth they decided that he was an impostor. So sure was Teed that he could bend the Economites to his will that he announced what he intended to do with their money. The construction of a six-track railroad across the continent from San Francisco to New York and the building thereon of a chain of cities was among his plans. Now, in a few months, he purposes to launch out on a grand scale to build the New Jerusalem and to gather thereon the southwestern coast of Florida—the army of his followers and the legions of new converts he has made. His converts in New York, in Chicago and vicinity and throughout the rest of the United States, number now some 4,000, and another thousand or two have been sufficiently influenced by his writing and words to be reckoned among his sympathizers and supporters, and it is on record that not long ago this man called a public meeting of all the people he knew of, made an impassioned and eloquent address, setting forth his scheme and within an hour secured subscriptions to the tune of $300,000. A number of sensational law suits have been brought against him for alleged defractions of sundry wives and mothers and some of these are still pending.

Some time ago an elderly German, Gustav Damkoehler, a convert to the Koroeshan faith and a man of some wealth, ceded to the Koroeshan Unity a tract of 340 acres of land at Estero, Lee county, Fla., lying along the Estero creek, and two miles from Estero bay, on the southwestern coast of Florida, under the twenty-sixth degree of latitude. Other members of the sect furnished enough money to buy up adjacent land to make it an even 1,000 acres. The exact point where this property is located is seventy miles below the railroad terminus of the Southern Florida line, sixteen miles southwest of Fort Myers, and about the same distance due south from Punta Rassa. On this large tract the New Koroeshans is to be established under the name of the New Jerusalem. They, at least, in the intention of Dr. Teed, provided, of course, he can find enough believers to settle there. His ultimate project is to buy up a tract six miles square, or thirty-six square miles all told, on which he means to have a city of 8,000,000 faithful Koroeshans.

On this tract of 1,000 acres and on the land which they expect to own later on the New Jerusalem is to be built according to the plan which is published herewith. The shape of the city is to be octagonal. In its center is to rise the most magnificent temple the world has ever seen—the great fane of the Koroeshans. Around this temple is to run in a circle a placid sheet of water, and around that the arcadium, a complex of structures where in schools, gymnasiums, etc., are to be housed.

To carry out this project in its entirety will not require much—only $200,000,000 or so. That is a fair estimate made by Dr. Teed. For that amount he would guarantee to put up, brand new, this whole city of 8,000,000 souls. But yet even Dr. Teed feels that a word is here expected as to how he proposes to raise this trifling. This is how he puts it: "We are on the verge of the end of the old dispensation. The world is ripening up for the change that is coming. I propose to be on hand and take advantage of whatever conditions may develop out of that impending upheaval. I take it that we are now undergoing the three woes predicted in Revelation, consequent on the three curses spoken of in Genesis. These three woes—commercial wisdom (the curse of the serpent), destruction of the church (the disintegration is now very visible, the link of modern philosophy, the Salvation Army, theosophy, etc., etc., all signs of the times) and the conflict between capital and labor (the worst of the three), are now upon us, and the great cataclysm is sure to come soon. How'll I raise the money? The money will be forthcoming as I need it. It will be subscribed, donated, and I'll have only to go out and stir people up to obtain it. For a great portion of the 8,000,000 people I want to inhabit New Jerusalem I am looking to the colored race in America. One man by fishing can supply 100 persons with food in New Jerusalem, and a acre can supply 10,000. Then there is lots of phosphate in the soil there, and one man can dig out $5 worth in a day. If all the 8,000,000 people lead a celibate life there will be a new race of people."

IT MAY DO AS MUCH FOR YOU. Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so-called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began the use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to the cure of all kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50¢ for large bottle. At the drug stores of Williams & Bell, Hartford, and R. T. Taylor, Jr., Beaver Dam.

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE. The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Williams & Bell, Hartford, and R. T. Taylor, Jr., Beaver Dam.

A Foreigner's Opinion of America. (Continued.) It is a little unfortunate that so many foreigners visited Chicago last year and carried off from their impressions of what America is. Here is the idea formed by a gentleman who was prominently connected with the Swiss exhibit: "America is a land comparable with Europe only a peninsula; the United States form a country compared with which the European kingdoms are pigmies. America is the land of unmeasured distances and dimensions; the land of dollars and electricity; the land where the prairies are more extensive, the rivers mightier, the waterfalls deeper, the bridges longer, the lightning expresses faster, the catastrophes more terrible than in any other country in the world. It is the land where, in a railroad accident—once and once every few days—more people lose their lives than in Europe

THE GUERRILLA LEADER

TURNED OUT TO BE A YOUNG WOMAN IN DISGUISE.

"Jack Mason" is now a Happy Grandmother---A Strange, Romantic War Story and a Lawsuit.

A KENTUCKY HAPPENING

(Hartsville Ky.) cor. Atlanta Constitution.)

The preparations for the trial of a land suit, which is to come up at the approaching term of the Circuit Court, in this town, has revealed a singular story. The property in dispute is this land woods region—Burkville is 40 miles from the nearest railroad—was a debatable ground. It was harried alike by Federal and Confederate, and, worse than all, by the guerrillas, who claimed their flag, as it suited their convenience, and robbed the friends of both alike.

In the early days of the war a party of guerrillas, who were mainly Confederate sympathies, made their headquarters in Bennett township, in this county. From that vicinity they made many raids through the surrounding country, and often attacked detachments of Federal troops.

One of the boldest and most daring of the guerrillas was a young fellow named Jack Mason, who said he was from Tennessee. He of his family and antecedents he told his companions nothing. He was slender in form and effeminate in face and manner, but these circumstances were attributed to his extreme youth. His enterprise and bravery in battle prevented his companions from commenting upon his girlish appearance. One day a smart skirmish between the guerrillas and Federal troops was fought. Jack Mason was wounded in the shoulder and fell from his horse. His companions picked him up and carried him off with them. But he was so severely wounded that the rude surgery of the camp was not sufficient. A friendly farmer named John Orth took the wounded youth into his house and Mrs. Orth nursed him.

Mason had not been in the house of the Orths long before they discovered that their wounded guest was a girl in disguise. The girl's wound, though not serious, was painful and slow in healing. She was in bed several months, and in that time a baby girl was born.

When the mother became strong and well she suddenly disappeared from the home of the Orths, leaving the baby. She left also a considerable sum of money and some jewels and a note directing that they be used for the benefit of the baby.

The Orths adopted the little girl and she grew to womanhood, married a prosperous young farmer named Mayhew, and is now the mother of two children. Mayhew owned some land in this county, which he sold. Later a question of title came up and his wife was summoned as a witness. In the course of her testimony she told the strange story of her abandonment by her mother, the disguised soldier. Local newspapers printed the facts and they were printed in a paper at Knoxville, Tenn.

Such is the story that comes from the puzzled patrons of Michigan's famous health resort. Scientists have been sent for to investigate the strange case.

When, by reason of a cold or from other cause, the stomach, liver and kidneys become disordered, no time should be lost in stimulating them to action. Ayer's Pills act quickly, safely and surely. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

Why What is Low. An eminent authority writing upon this question says: "A new field in Africa has of late been heralded to the world. The extent of that field and area in South Africa suited to the cultivation of wheat is a problem of time. Ten years ago the export of wheat from the Argentine Republic was only 4,000,000. This year she had, according to Mr. Goodwin, 72,000,000 bushels ready for exportation. The increase of the wheat eating population of the world has not equalled the increase of wheat production, for the whole world are not consumers of wheat; although it is an important factor in the world's food economy, it is not as potential as we imagine. Rice and rice are nearly if not its equal in importance; corn and potatoes are not far behind. We must not forget that three-quarters of the people do not eat wheat; that one half of Europe have scarcely ever tasted of it. India has crossed the threshold of the '94 crop with a surplus of 70,000,000 bushels larger than she entered '93 with. There was then no exhaustion, no depletion of her stocks; she was in her normal condition. Her crop just harvested is reported equal to her last one. If so, she can export during the coming twelve months 163,000,000 bushels and go into her '95 crop with the same surplus on hand she had April 1, 1893. There seems to be a craze among production countries to cheapen wheat. Over-production is the principal cause of the low prices; the demand is not equal to the supply. The harvest of 1894 has already begun. The wheat crop of Australia has been harvested. Chili has gathered her crop and has 6,000,000 bushels in excess of her wants. The increase amount for export from the Argentine Republic is worthy of more than a passing notice. It is a notification to America that she has a

A Fathe Story.

(Hartsville Ky.) cor. Atlanta Constitution.)

John Darby, who has for many years been considered hopelessly insane, is once more in his right mind, and the return of reason enabled him to give the solution of his wife's death, which has long remained a mystery.

She was supposed to have been murdered, as her body was found badly mutilated and partly covered with earth, while her husband was caught roaming through the forest, with an ax on his shoulder, a raving maniac. The woman was killed and the man crazed, in a fight with a bear.

In detail it is perhaps the most pathetic story of life ever known, and would furnish a theme for a novelist's pen.

John Darby came to California when a boy, 30 years ago, traveling with his father and mother, the form of an invalid seeking a climate where he might be restored to health. He died suddenly in the little town of Grass Valley. His widow could not survive the shock and in a few days she rested by the side of her husband, leaving the son, then but 14 years of age, alone in the world without friends or money, all of their means having been exhausted in the expenses of the sickness and death of the parents.

The boy worked at anything he could find to do, drifting eventually into Nevada. Here he met a girl as poor as himself, and they were married, going to housekeeping in a small cabin with a few acres of cleared land around it. They prospered on the little place, and it used to be a common expression among the settlers of that community: "As happy as John and Mary Darby."

One day a young pig disappeared, then another, and another, and bear tracks were seen. The husband and wife started together to hunt the "varmint," he carrying an ax and she the rifle, with which she was an expert.

John in some way became separated from his wife, and was some distance ahead of her when he was suddenly confronted by a bear. It was at too close quarters for a fight with nothing but an ax as a weapon and he climbed a tree, calling to his wife to be careful, that the bear was there. In some way she misinterpreted him and thought that he wanted her.

Not suspecting that the bear was there, she was within a few feet of the animal before she saw him. Hastily raising the rifle the woman fired, but only succeeded in maddening the brute, and a moment later he was crushing her in his ponderous paws.

The husband when he saw his wife's fate jumped from the tree to get his ax, but the animal had carried his victim in to a thicket and the man, crazed with grief, could not find him.

It was noticed that the Darby house was open and yet no one appeared to be there and in a few days a search was made, resulting in finding the mutilated body of the woman in the thicket and the mark of the death struggle. The next day the husband was seen roaming through the woods with an ax upon his shoulder, alternately moaning and shrieking.

He was captured by strategy, several men appearing in front of him to attract his attention while others lassoed him from behind.

For five years he was a raving maniac but two years ago began to show signs of returning reason and is now cured, but he is a broken-down old man at the age of 45 years and will never again be fit for work. His recollection is vivid up to the moment that the bear seized his wife, while beyond that he remembers nothing.

Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey is different from all other cough remedies. It gives tone, strength, vigor and vitality to the respiratory organs. Guaranteed by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro., Hartford; Jno. X. Taylor, Cromwell; J. M. Hagland, Rosine; V. D. Fulkerson, Centroy; Dr. G. F. Chapman, Centertown; J. B. Maddox, Point Pleasant; A. S. All, Sulphur Springs; Renfro Bros., Narrows.

The Sixth Sins. (Chicago Tribune.) Mount Clemens, Mich., has found a subject for physical study in a girl described as beautiful in the superlative degree and gifted with a strange, incomprehensible power that places her at once far in advance of all others as a clairvoyant. Her identity is concealed under the suggestive name of Elfa, and it is said that she is indeed a veritable elf, her feats could excite no greater wonder. To add to the mystery surrounding her, a man also possessed of remarkable gifts, natural or supernatural, or both or neither, has just appeared in Mount Clemens, and the two are "attracted to each other by an irresistible force," and between them—he with fully developed hypnotic power and she by a projection of soul or spirit—they do things that can be classed with the miraculous.

A correspondent of the Tribune describes the man as a student in the occult sciences, and the girl as a psychic phenomenon. He says the man possesses a power that is as inexplicable as it is extraordinary. His mere touch frees others from pains and aches of almost every kind, and a mere look and a gentle touch on the forehead puts Elfa in a somnolent state. The man, whose name does not appear because "he shuns notoriety," is quoted as saying: "In Elfa I have found what hypnotists would call an extraordinary subject. Spiritualists would call her a wonderful medium; she is both and she is neither. She is simply developing what is at last acknowledged a possibility—the sixth sense."

Elfa is credited with having a dual personality. Being commanded to make an investigation at some remote place she will "project herself" and describe the course and manner of her progression, and report what she sees on the way. Her descriptions of places of which she had no previous knowledge are said to be accurate, and always from a point that affords what is known as a bird's eye view. When asked to give a more detailed description of some particular thing mentioned, she will say: "I will descend and examine it." If left at some distant point without an express command to return she is apt to go on a tour of observation and investigation on her own account. Being asked on such occasions, "Where are you?" she will give a description of the locality, and her comments upon what she sees are said to be philosophical and sometimes interspersed with an extraordinary flow of the keenest wit.

THE GUERRILLA LEADER

TURNED OUT TO BE A YOUNG WOMAN IN DISGUISE.

"Jack Mason" is now a Happy Grandmother---A Strange, Romantic War Story and a Lawsuit.

A KENTUCKY HAPPENING

(Hartsville Ky.) cor. Atlanta Constitution.)

The preparations for the trial of a land suit, which is to come up at the approaching term of the Circuit Court, in this town, has revealed a singular story. The property in dispute is this land woods region—Burkville is 40 miles from the nearest railroad—was a debatable ground. It was harried alike by Federal and Confederate, and, worse than all, by the guerrillas, who claimed their flag, as it suited their convenience, and robbed the friends of both alike.

In the early days of the war a party of guerrillas, who were mainly Confederate sympathies, made their headquarters in Bennett township, in this county. From that vicinity they made many raids through the surrounding country, and often attacked detachments of Federal troops.

One of the boldest and most daring of the guerrillas was a young fellow named Jack Mason, who said he was from Tennessee. He of his family and antecedents he told his companions nothing. He was slender in form and effeminate in face and manner, but these circumstances were attributed to his extreme youth. His enterprise and bravery in battle prevented his companions from commenting upon his girlish appearance. One day a smart skirmish between the guerrillas and Federal troops was fought. Jack Mason was wounded in the shoulder and fell from his horse. His companions picked him up and carried him off with them. But he was so severely wounded that the rude surgery of the camp was not sufficient. A friendly farmer named John Orth took the wounded youth into his house and Mrs. Orth nursed him.

Mason had not been in the house of the Orths long before they discovered that their wounded guest was a girl in disguise. The girl's wound, though not serious, was painful and slow in healing. She was in bed several months, and in that time a baby girl was born.

When the mother became strong and well she suddenly disappeared from the home of the Orths, leaving the baby. She left also a considerable sum of money and some jewels and a note directing that they be used for the benefit of the baby.

The Orths adopted the little girl and she grew to womanhood, married a prosperous young farmer named Mayhew, and is now the mother of two children. Mayhew owned some land in this county, which he sold. Later a question of title came up and his wife was summoned as a witness. In the course of her testimony she told the strange story of her abandonment by her mother, the disguised soldier. Local newspapers printed the facts and they were printed in a paper at Knoxville, Tenn.

Such is the story that comes from the puzzled patrons of Michigan's famous health resort. Scientists have been sent for to investigate the strange case.

When, by reason of a cold or from other cause, the stomach, liver and kidneys become disordered, no time should be lost in stimulating them to action. Ayer's Pills act quickly, safely and surely. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

Why What is Low. An eminent authority writing upon this question says: "A new field in Africa has of late been heralded to the world. The extent of that field and area in South Africa suited to the cultivation of wheat is a problem of time. Ten years ago the export of wheat from the Argentine Republic was only 4,000,000. This year she had, according to Mr. Goodwin, 72,000,000 bushels ready for exportation. The increase of the wheat eating population of the world has not equalled the increase of wheat production, for the whole world are not consumers of wheat; although it is an important factor in the world's food economy, it is not as potential as we imagine. Rice and rice are nearly if not its equal in importance; corn and potatoes are not far behind. We must not forget that three-quarters of the people do not eat wheat; that one half of Europe have scarcely ever tasted of it. India has crossed the threshold of the '94 crop with a surplus of 70,000,000 bushels larger than she entered '93 with. There was then no exhaustion, no depletion of her stocks; she was in her normal condition. Her crop just harvested is reported equal to her last one. If so, she can export during the coming twelve months 163,000,000 bushels and go into her '95 crop with the same surplus on hand she had April 1, 1893. There seems to be a craze among production countries to cheapen wheat. Over-production is the principal cause of the low prices; the demand is not equal to the supply. The harvest of 1894 has already begun. The wheat crop of Australia has been harvested. Chili has gathered her crop and has 6,000,000 bushels in excess of her wants. The increase amount for export from the Argentine Republic is worthy of more than a passing notice. It is a notification to America that she has a

When, by reason of a cold or from other cause, the stomach, liver and kidneys become disordered, no time should be lost in stimulating them to action. Ayer's Pills act quickly, safely and surely. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

Why What is Low. An eminent authority writing upon this question says: "A new field in Africa has of late been heralded to the world. The extent of that field and area in South Africa suited to the cultivation of wheat is a problem of time. Ten years ago the export of wheat from the Argentine Republic was only 4,000,000. This year she had, according to Mr. Goodwin, 72,000,000 bushels ready for exportation. The increase of the wheat eating population of the world has not equalled the increase of wheat production, for the whole world are not consumers of wheat; although it is an important factor in the world's food economy, it is not as potential as we imagine. Rice and rice are nearly if not its equal in importance; corn and potatoes are not far behind. We must not forget that three-quarters of the people do not eat wheat; that one half of Europe have scarcely ever tasted of it. India has crossed the threshold of the '94 crop with a surplus of 70,000,000 bushels larger than she entered '93 with. There was then no exhaustion, no depletion of her stocks; she was in her normal condition. Her crop just harvested is reported equal to her last one. If so, she can export during the coming twelve months 163,000,000 bushels and go into her '95 crop with the same surplus on hand she had April 1, 1893. There seems to be a craze among production countries to cheapen wheat. Over-production is the principal cause of the low prices; the demand is not equal to the supply. The harvest of 1894 has already begun. The wheat crop of Australia has been harvested. Chili has gathered her crop and has 6,000,000 bushels in excess of her wants. The increase amount for export from the Argentine Republic is worthy of more than a passing notice. It is a notification to America that she has a

When, by reason of a cold or from other cause, the stomach, liver and kidneys become disordered, no time should be lost in stimulating them to action. Ayer's Pills act quickly, safely and surely. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

Why What is Low. An eminent authority writing upon this question says: "A new field in Africa has of late been heralded to the world. The extent of that field and area in South Africa suited to the cultivation of wheat is a problem of time. Ten years ago the export of wheat from the Argentine Republic was only 4,000,000. This year she had, according to Mr. Goodwin, 72,000,000 bushels ready for exportation. The increase of the wheat eating population of the world has not equalled the increase of wheat production, for the whole world are not consumers of wheat; although it is an important factor in the world's food economy, it is not as potential as we imagine. Rice and rice are nearly if not its equal in importance; corn and potatoes are not far behind. We must not forget that three-quarters of the people do not eat wheat; that one half of Europe have scarcely ever tasted of it. India has crossed the threshold of the '94 crop with a surplus of 70,000,000 bushels larger than she entered '93 with. There was then no exhaustion, no depletion of her stocks; she was in her normal condition. Her crop just harvested is reported equal to her last one. If so, she can export during the coming twelve months 163,000,000 bushels and go into her '95 crop with the same surplus on hand she had April 1, 1893. There seems to be a craze among production countries to cheapen wheat. Over-production is the principal cause of the low prices; the demand is not equal to the supply. The harvest of 1894 has already begun. The wheat crop of Australia has been harvested. Chili has gathered her crop and has 6,000,000 bushels in excess of her wants. The increase amount for export from the Argentine Republic is worthy of more than a passing notice. It is a notification to America that she has a

When, by reason of a cold or from other cause, the stomach, liver and kidneys become disordered, no time should be lost in stimulating them to action. Ayer's Pills act quickly, safely and surely. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

THE GUERRILLA LEADER

TURNED OUT TO BE A YOUNG WOMAN IN DISGUISE.

"Jack Mason" is now a Happy Grandmother---A Strange, Romantic War Story and a Lawsuit.

A KENTUCKY HAPPENING

(Hartsville Ky.) cor. Atlanta Constitution.)

The preparations for the trial of a land suit, which is to come up at the approaching term of the Circuit Court, in this town, has revealed a singular story. The property in dispute is this land woods region—Burkville is 40 miles from the nearest railroad—was a debatable ground. It was harried alike by Federal and Confederate, and, worse than all, by the guerrillas, who claimed their flag, as it suited their convenience, and robbed the friends of both alike.

In the early days of the war a party of guerrillas, who were mainly Confederate sympathies, made their headquarters in Bennett township, in this county. From that vicinity they made many raids through the surrounding country, and often attacked detachments of Federal troops.

One of the boldest and most daring of the guerrillas was a young fellow named Jack Mason, who said he was from Tennessee. He of his family and antecedents he told his companions nothing. He was slender in form and effeminate in face and manner, but these circumstances were attributed to his extreme youth. His enterprise and bravery in battle prevented his companions from commenting upon his girlish appearance. One day a smart skirmish between the guerrillas and Federal troops was fought. Jack Mason was wounded in the shoulder and fell from his horse. His companions picked him up and carried him off with them. But he was so severely wounded that the rude surgery of the camp was not sufficient. A friendly farmer named John Orth took the wounded youth into his house and Mrs. Orth nursed him.

Mason had not been in the house of the Orths long before they discovered that their wounded guest was a girl in disguise. The girl's wound, though not serious, was painful and slow in healing. She was in bed several months, and in that time a baby girl was born.

When the mother became strong and well she suddenly disappeared from the home of the Orths, leaving the baby. She left also a considerable sum of money and some jewels and a note directing that they be used for the benefit of the baby.

The Orths adopted the little girl and she grew to womanhood, married a prosperous young farmer named Mayhew, and is now the mother of two children. Mayhew owned some land in this county, which he sold. Later a question of title came up and his wife was summoned as a witness. In the course of her testimony she told the strange story of her abandonment by her mother, the disguised soldier. Local newspapers printed the facts and they were printed in a paper at Knoxville, Tenn.

Such is the story that comes from the puzzled patrons of Michigan's famous health resort. Scientists have been sent for to investigate the strange case.

When, by reason of a cold or from other cause, the stomach, liver and kidneys become disordered, no time should be lost in stimulating them to action. Ayer's Pills act quickly, safely and surely. Sold by druggists and dealers in medicines.

Why What is Low. An eminent authority writing upon this question says: "A new field in Africa has of late been heralded to the world. The extent of that field and area in South Africa suited to the cultivation of wheat is a problem of time. Ten years ago the export of wheat from the Argentine Republic was only 4,000,000. This year she had, according to Mr. Goodwin, 72,000,000 bushels ready for