THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

The farms in the neighborhood of Brownsville, Tenn., are being devastated by grasshoppers.

The imports of the United States for the year ending June 30 were $22,673,016. The exports were $1,487,755,557.

The world's trotting record was broken Friday by Creseus. The stallion made the mile in 2:02 1/2 at the Cleveland track.

The Rev. Fred D. Hale, pastor of the Third Baptist church in Owensboro, has resigned to accept a call to Bale's Chapel Baptist church in Kansas City. His resignation will take effect August 31.

The drawing for homes on the Kiowa-Comanche reservation began in El Reno Monday, and is not expected to be finished until Thursday. There are 13,000 claims to be distributed, and the number of applicants is 165,865.

Collector Sapp went to Canton Monday to see the President and give his side of the fight being waged against him. He took the trip on the advice of Senator Deboe, who believes that the recent primary has weakened Mr. Sapp's chances for reappointment.

Among the applicants for the circuit judgeship, made vacant by the death of Judge L. H. Goodnight, are W. P. Sandidge and Samuel R. Crewdson, of Logan county, and J. J. Milikin, of Simpson county. Sandidge has announced that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the position, which will be filled at the election this fall.

The new State election Commissioners met in Frankfort Monday and organized. Mr. Allen E. Smith, of Louisville, who was Secretary of the old commission, was re-elected. The commissioners directed the Secretary to notify the State Central and County Committees of the two dominant parties to make recommendations for county commissioners.

Rain continues to fall in the corn belt, and nearly every portion of the drought-stricken district has been visited by good showers, with the exception of Kentucky, Southern Ohio and Southwestern Nebraska. The temperature has been reduced as a result of the rain, though it is still high. In this State, where there has been practically no relief, the crops are suffering.

News from the great corn belt of the South-west indicates that the forty days' drought has at last been broken. Copious showers have fallen in nearly all portions of the stricken section, and more rain is predicted. The late crops will receive the greatest benefit. With the break in the drought has come a general drop in temperature and a consequent decrease in the number of deaths and prostrations.

Notice to Voters.

I am an independent Republican candidate for the election of 1901, and solicit the support of all voters, and especially the colored vote. I think it is time that we (the colored voters) should try our strength. We are not respected by the people and are not given a chance to hold office—not even allowed to serve as election officers.

I wish to say that if I am elected, I will do everything in my power to elevate the colored race and relieve them from their destitute circumstances.

I tried to get the editor of the Hartford Republican to announce me in his paper, but he refused.

I want to assure my friends and the public generally that this is no Democratic trick. I am an independent Republican candidate, and I am out to stay until the November election of 1901 is over.

Respectfully,
PET RENDLER, (of color),
Rockport, Ky., July 29, 1901.

BEAVER DAM, KY.

(Special to THE HERALD.)

July 30.—The drought has greatly damaged crops around town. A good rain is reported in the Mason Taylor neighborhood Monday night, but none of it reached this place.

Mr. B. F. Gray has just completed a six foot brick pavement the entire length of his premises on Main street, which greatly adds to the appearance of the upper end of town. This about makes Main street walk solid brick on both sides of the street from the depot up to college building.

Mr. Harry Monroe has moved into his new residence near the college building.

Special Attractions never before seen on a fair ground will be exhibited free of charge. The "Owensboro Derby," one and one-fourth miles, the first day for $1,000, will be the greatest race ever run in Western Kentucky. The great American Band, of Chicago, will furnish the music during the fair. It is the greatest concert band in America. But the greatest feature of all is that of "Neronus," the bull wrestler, who will meet and defeat the wildest of bulls every day. The greatest exhibition of strength and skill, pitted against the brute strength of the animal, ever witnessed in all the world. This will be an entirely humane performance. Neronus goes into the ring without any kind of a weapon. He will forfeit $100 for any bull that he cannot subdue and that without injury to the animal. It is safe to predict that the Owensboro fair this year will have such crowds as was never dreamed of before. These famous little pills, DeWitt's Little Early Risers, compel your liver and bowels to do their duty, thus giving you pure, rich blood to regenerate your body. Are easy to take. Never gripe. J. H. Williams.

Drunken Man Shoots Davies County Girl.

OWENSBORO, Ky., July 27.—Mannie Wetzel, twenty-one years old, the daughter of Sebastian Wetzel, was shot while washing dishes at her home two miles from the city, on the Livermore road, at 8 o'clock to night, by Tom Clayton, of Pettit Station. Clayton and George Thompson had been to the city and left here in a buggy at 7 o'clock. Both were drinking heavily. They saw the girl standing at the window, and Clayton fired at her, the bullet hitting her in the face. She is said to be in a serious condition.

The men were immediately pursued by a posse, and were captured at 9 o'clock on an iron bridge near Pettit. Officers from this city have gone to take charge of them.

Ohio's Colored Candidate.

(Hawesville, Clarion.)

Ohio county has a negro candidate for Jailer. In Hancock county the negro gives the Republican majorities, but he is such a political serf and cat's-paw that he dare not ask for the very least place within his party's gift. The history of the county doesn't show where the Republican party—"the great friend of the colored man"—has so much as allowed one of its to serve as an election officer.

River Improvements.

In the report of the engineer officer on the improvement of Green river above the mouth of Big Barren river, it is stated that the amount of funds during the past fiscal year was too small to permit the work other than the completion of crib work and bank protection at the lock and near the abutment of the dam, and the construction of a cottage for the lock tender. The marked increase of traffic over this part of the river since the new lock operation is the most substantial evidence of benefit resulting from this part completion of the project, which provides for one more lock and dam to carry slack water navigation to Mammoth Cave. When the second lock, or proposed lock 6, is provided for and completed, water transportation will be possible throughout the rich mineral district bordering upon the river, and which heretofore had no conveniently accessible means of marketing its products. Work on proposed lock No. 6, can be commenced promptly after the money has been appropriated. The amount estimated by the engineer officer to complete the proposed project is $180,673.

On Rough river, the work outlined in the project has been completed with the exception of snagging, which class of work must be done from time to time as long as the source of snags is in existence. Operations on this river during the year consisted of the removal of two slides below Hartford, removing overhanging trees, snags, stumps, etc., in building and protecting a crib 45x1000 below the abutment of the dam at the lock, and grading and rip-rapping the banks below the abutment and lock. The funds available, are sufficient to keep the improved portion of the river clear of snags during the next fiscal year. The commerce during the fiscal year amounted to 29,666 tons.

He Thought He was Dead.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 27.—Adjutant General David R. Murray has just gone through one of the most novel sensations that can possibly befall a man. Mr. Murray has undergone practically all the experience of dying without having the vital spark leave his body. He thought he was dying, and then passed into a state he thought was death. Finally he came to and was greatly surprised to find himself still alive.

This experience was an incident of a recent illness of General Murray. He had left Frankfort for his home at Cloverport because he was not well. On the train he was seized with nervous prostration.

"My condition became serious," said General Murray, in describing the affair. "Friends came to my assistance, but could do little. I gradually lost consciousness. At first I thought I was dying. I thought I told my wife and children good-bye. The most beautiful stars scintillated before me. I did not suffer a particle, but on contrary felt fine. Then came the end. I thought I was dead. It was a most pleasant sensation. I saw and knew what all my friends were doing, but could not say a word to them. I was the most surprised person in the world when I was restored to consciousness and found I was not dead."

Wheat Crop Burned.

Sparks from the engine set fire to 500 bushels of wheat belonging to Mr. Scott Willett Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, near Stanley, while the crop was being threshed by Sauer Bros., says the Owensboro Messenger. But 100 bushels remained to be threshed and the work would have been completed in a short time when the blaze was discovered.

It spread rapidly and the separator was on fire before the workmen had time to extinguish it. The workmen had the hot, dry weather the wheat burned fiercely and the men could do practically nothing.

The entire crop, consisting of 300 bushels, was burned. The separator was a total loss and the engine was badly damaged. The loss to Sauer Bros. amounts to about $1,000 with no insurance. There was no insurance on the crop and the loss will fall heavily on Mr. Willett, owing to the short tobacco and corn crops.

CECALVO, KY.

(Special to THE HERALD.)

July 29, 1901.—Mrs. Monroe Bratcher died at her home near here on July 21, of heart trouble, and was buried at West Point on the following day. She leaves a husband, nine children and a host of friends and relatives to mourn her loss. She was a good christian woman and will be greatly missed.

Miss Price Garrett has been on the sick list.

Mr. C. E. Smith, of Hartford, visited his parents last Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Annie Tinsley and Mr. A. E. Orr, Central City, visited friends near here July 29th and 31st.

Mr. and Mrs. George Tinsley, of Centertown, visited relatives here last week.

Miss Mattie Sugart returned last week from a visit to friends in the Hopewell neighborhood.

Misses Pearl Nourse, Minda and Mattie Wood attended the institute at Hartford Friday.

Messrs. Everett Smith, J. H. Wood, W. S. Hill, E. M. Kimmel and L. L. Baker also attended the institute last week.

Mrs. W. I. Rowe, Centertown, visited relatives in this neighborhood Saturday and Sunday.

The match game of baseball between the Corvado and West Providence teams at the picnic, near here, last Saturday resulted in favor of the Corvado team.

Wonderful Gold Discovery in Georgia.

WASHINGTON, Ga., July 29.—The most wonderful discovery of gold the world has ever known has just been developed in a recent assay from a mine near Washington, Wilkes county, Ga. Practical results demonstrate that the output is simply marvelous if reports are true. The Superintendent of the Columbia Mining Company, after assaying the ore, makes affidavit that the samples showed a value of over $22,000 a ton. The property belongs to Luther W. Latimer, of this county, and he has given a syndicate an option on the property. The people in all this section are wild over the find and flock to the mine as to the Beaumont oil wells in Texas.
