

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Circuit Judge. We are authorized to announce T. P. BIRKHEAD, of Daviess county, as a candidate for Circuit Judge in the Sixth Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party, at the Primary Election, November 4, 1903.

For Commonwealth's Attorney. We are authorized to announce W. T. OWEN, of Daviess county, as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney for the Sixth Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the Primary Election, November 4, 1903.

It is estimated that there are no less than 3,262 different species of fish inhabiting the waters of North America. This does not include the famous American sucker that is said to get caught every day.

Just now we are reminded that a long while ago we heard—although we didn't believe it—that diamonds were some sort of product of coal. Seems like there is now some relative connection between the two articles.

ONE of the country's noted political writers, who is supposed to correctly size up the possibilities of a candidate, remarked a few days ago that no man could be elected President who is bald-headed. This edict certainly seals the doom (who said we were baldheaded?) of a number of Kentucky editors.

ETHERE Mr. Birkhead or Mr. Owen will—or ought to be—nominated by purely Democratic votes. No Republican has a part or any sort of interest in this contest. It is a contest between Democrats for a Democratic nomination, and any Republican found mixing in it should be shown outside the lines.

THE Earlington Bee thus solves a mooted question in a few words: "Why do country editors never grow rich?" asks an exchange. The reason is obvious. Subscribers don't pay up. If editors could get paper, ink and printers on eight or ten years credit, they might possibly have a dollar or two ahead sometimes.

JUDGING from the attitude of the Hartford Republican, whose editor has been open in espousing the cause of Judge Owen, one would think that the race for the nomination for Circuit Judge was a free-for-all contest. Such, however, is not the case. It is a Democratic shindy, and Republicans are not eligible to take part in it.

THERE is an eager interest among voters in the coming speeches of Judge Warner E. Settle, who will address the people of Ohio county at Fordsville Friday and Saturday—on Friday and Saturday night. The speaking will take place at night at two o'clock and at night at seven o'clock. These speaking should especially interest the Democrats, because the race for Judge of the Court of Appeals is the most important race now before them. Judge Settle should have a large crowd at each appointment.

NONE but known Democrats are eligible to take part in the Democratic primary on the 4th of next month for the selection of a candidate for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney of this district. It is purely a Democratic affair and no Republican has any voice in it. Only known Democrats and young men who will be 21 years of age before the November election 1903, who will pledge themselves to support the Democratic nominee, have a right to participate in the coming primary election.

It is tacitly understood in political circles that the decree has gone forth from the great money centers that Mr. Roosevelt must be turned down in his operations for a re-nomination to the Presidency. Wall Street and its influences, which stretch out in all directions, are believed to be behind the movement which has for its purpose the squelching of the strenuous President. They don't like his trust-busting ways, which, while having no tangible share and really containing no injury to the great corporations, are sufficient to frighten the money devil—a creature of both shady and timid aspect.

THERE can be no doubt that the Republican party is badly split up over the tariff. That the breach will grow wider as the days go by, is evidenced by events which occur almost daily. The rank and file of the Republican party is no longer solid for that species of protection which they at first understood was for the benefit of a creature of both shady and timid aspect.

A FRIEND asks us if the Constitution of the United States can be changed, and if so, how? Certainly our Constitution can be changed, but it is rather a long-drawn-out process and entails a long string of what is generally termed red tape. All that is necessary is to propose an amendment or change. This must first get a two-thirds majority in the House of Representatives and a subsequent two-thirds majority in the United States Senate. It must then be signed by the President. It is then in shape to go to the different State Legislatures. A three-fourths majority—at present thirty-four—must ratify it. That is to say, thirty-four separate State Houses of Legislature and thirty-four State Senates, or altogether sixty-eight separate legislative bodies, must concur in the amendment. If one out of these sixty-eight bodies should fail to give a majority for the change, the bill would fail, and our Constitution would remain as before.

We want to impress upon the Democratic voters of this section the importance of the race for Judge of the Court of Appeals. The election of Judge Settle overtops every other race, and should engage the best efforts of every Democrat. A vote for Judge Settle is a vote for the perpetuation of Democracy in Kentucky. His election means much to the Democratic party in this State. He is so well fitted for the place that it is not necessary to speak of his qualifications. There is no reason why any Democrat should fail to vote for Judge Settle, and the close vote in the District is sufficient to urge every voter to not fail to be at the polls on November 4.

AS TO who will have the right to take part in the Democratic primary to be held throughout this judicial district on the 4th of next month for the nomination of a Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, the following resolution, adopted by the Democratic Executive Committee explains:

Second.—That all known Democratic voters who will agree to support the nominee of said primary election, and who will agree to support the nominee of this primary shall be entitled to participate and vote at said primary election.

This is full and explicit, and no voter need be in ignorance as to his privileges in the premises.

THERE has been some inquiry and comment in regard to the speaking of Judges Warner E. Settle and B. L. D. Guffy in Hartford, as the appointments for each here is set for the same day—October 11. We want to say for Judge Settle that he made his appointments for Ohio county—which includes Hartford—without knowing that any of them would conflict with any date of Judge Guffy's. There need be no trouble, however, in this matter. The Democratic speaking will be an independent affair. It is true that Judge Settle would like to divide time with his opponent, but proposition Judge Guffy has declined to consider, but there is no intention to interfere in any way with the Republican speaking.

As a general proposition, anybody who gives expression to views in opposition to the popular idea that the man and not the woman is always the most to blame in differences between the sexes, has the nub end of the argument. Nevertheless, the old adage that there are always two sides to a matter, often finds apt illustration in revelations which sometimes discover the man as more sinned against than sinning. The fact is that, leaving out that disreputable male element who have no respect nor regard for that other sex which caused their existence, and giving woman her just due of superior chaste and modest accomplishments, man does not always deserve the inferior and ignoble stamp put upon him. Of course there are more female than male angels, but, like the mantle of charity, man's aversion to retaliation towards the gentler sex often covers a multitude of sins—not all his own.

$100 Reward, $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Railroad depot not a Place to Loaf. The Kentucky Court of Appeals, last week reversed the judgment of the Mulhensberg Circuit Court in the damage cases of the Illinois Central Railroad Company against Elizabeth Lalonde and Joseph Lalonde. The appellate court's judgment in the case allows for $1,300 and $900, respectively, for an alleged attack made on them in the depot at Central City by some drunken men while they were waiting for a train going to Paducah. The attack took place five hours before the train was due to arrive at the station and the reversal is on the ground that the railroad company is not required to furnish an inn for its passengers, but only a waiting room for thirty minutes before the train is due.

The Oldest Prisoner. George W. Johnson, an old white man confined in the Kentucky branch penitentiary here, has been confined inside the prison walls longer than any man now in either one of the prisons in this State, says the Eddyville Tale of Two Cities.

He was received at the Frankfort penitentiary December 9, 1881. He was sent to from Bell county for life for killing Joseph Owens. He was transferred from Frankfort here in August, 1896. His work here consists in waiting on the wall guards. Uncle George is now sixty-eight years old, and by his behavior has won the respect of both the officials and his fellow-prisoners. While in many respects he is a typical workman, yet he is indeed very quiet.

THE STRIKE MATTER

Was Considered by President and Conference—Secretary Shaw's Peculiar Rulings on finance.

(Special to THE HERALD.) WASHINGTON, D. C., October 8, 1902. There was intense interest in Washington in the matter of the conference which the President summoned, between the railway presidents, John Mitchell, president of the United States Mine Workers of America, and himself. The invitations to this conference were the outcome of several conferences which were attended by Attorney General Knox, Postmaster General Payne, Secretary of the Navy Moody and Governor Crane of Massachusetts. After carefully surveying the situation, in the light of the special report made by Labor Commissioner Wright, these gentlemen were unable to find any ground on which the Federal Government could interfere as private property and even if the right of eminent domain could be called into requisition, the state of Pennsylvania would have to take the initiative. On the other hand, every Republican politician coming to Washington has impressed it upon the administration officials that if the strike were not soon ended it would have a serious effect on Republican success at the fall elections. It has so long been a recognized fact that the Republican party stands for the capitalists and the vested interests, that the people naturally hold that party responsible for the present condition of affairs. This serious aspect of the situation has moved the President to take the action outlined and it is believed that the coal operators, while they are unwilling to yield in the slightest degree to the mine workers' union, will deem it judicious to do so when appealed to by the President. They can then claim that they have yielded to the President and not to the strikers.

The extraordinary methods pursued by the Secretary of the Treasury in his recent efforts to relieve the money stringency in Wall Street have won him the gratitude and support of that element, but have at the same time started the more conservative business men of the country. By his simple ipse dixit, Secretary Shaw has entirely departed from the spirit of the law under which government funds are placed in national banks and has completely changed their character. Heretofore they have been deposits simply. Under the recent ruling of the Secretary, whereby the banks are relieved from maintaining the 25 per cent reserve required in the case of private deposits, and here-to-for required in the case of government accounts, Mr. Shaw has practically changed these deposits into loans secured by collateral, consisting of U. S. bonds. Here-to-for, it has been the custom to require a deposit as further security of bonds to the amount of 100 per cent of the funds entrusted to the banks. Here-after, Mr. Shaw will accept securities consisting of state bonds, railway obligations, etc., at 65 per cent of their face value. By this means, not only is the security of the government possibly diminished in value, but the Federal Government is made party to various state, railroad and other enterprises. Only last January, President Roosevelt refused to accept from Mr. Carnegie bonds of the United States Steel company as endowment of the Carnegie Institution and now his Secretary of the Treasury is accepting similar, and perhaps far less valuable securities, as collateral for government loans. Apparently the rumor circulated by Wall Street, that Secretary Shaw was about to resign, was understood in the Treasury and produced the desired effect.

Senator Harris of Kansas, who has just returned from Europe where he went in the interest of the coming St. Louis fair, spent several days in Washington recently. Speaking of his trip Senator Harris pointed to his shoes which were American made and which he purchased in London for 30 per cent less than they can be bought for in this country. The Senator states that he found numerous instances where similar conditions prevailed and he emphatically denies that the goods sold abroad by American manufacturers are only the surplus products. He says that the American manufacturers are selling their goods at a fair and reasonable profit and that they are selling them in this country at an exorbitant profit. Senator Harris believes that the prospects of Democratic success are much better than they were a few months ago and speaks most confidently of the prospects for 1904. He thinks that the Democrats will win on the trust issue alone.

Rider, on the charge of grand larceny. He waived an examining trial and was held on a bond of $500 for his appearance at the Hardin Circuit Court. The warrant for his arrest charges that he went to one Jeremiah Brown, an ignorant old man of the lower part of this county, and claimed that he had authority to arrest him and take him to Louisville on the charge of moonshining, and that the only way he could escape punishment was to pay him $500.

Raising Babies in an Oven. DES MOINES, IOWA, Oct. 6.—That an oven may make a good baby incubator is proven by the fact that the twin babies of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Simmons have been put in an oven for a period of three weeks, during which their little lives seemed to hang by a thread. "The infants were born three weeks ago. One weighed three and a half pounds and the other three pounds, and each was twenty-six inches long. Both are girls. At the time of their birth the physicians said they thought it impossible for the frail bodies to be kept alive, although it might be possible with the aid of an incubator for several weeks to nurse them until they could gain more vitality. The oven of a large range was immediately converted into an incubator and the little girls' grandmother took charge of the funny baby house. With constant watching the heat was kept uniform. The infants were kept in a basket in the oven for three weeks, and are now in a healthy condition.

Old People Have Their Troubles. Mr. Francis Little, of Benton Harbor, Mich., is over eighty years of age. Since 1865 he has been troubled more or less with indigestion and constipation and has tried almost everything in use for those ailments. The Worst Form. Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat. J. H. Williams. m

Why. The American citizen is required to pay $10.25 per dozen for butchers' saws, and for hand saws $18.04, $14.57 and $12.30 per dozen. These same saws are sold by the American manufacturer to the foreigner for $8.50, $14.82, $11.97 and $10.88, respectively. Here is a difference of 29, 22 and 13 per cent in favor of the foreigner. This imposition upon the home consumer is made possible by a trust-breeding tariff, maintained by the Republican party, whose campaign funds are derived from the trusts.

Why should any American citizen, other than a trust magnate or a Republican office holder, vote with a party that is not only responsible for this imposition, but promise to maintain the policy that will perpetuate impositions of this character.
