REGARDING GROWING OF CORN IN OHIO COUNTY

This Man Says It Can Be Done as Well Here As Anywhere Else.

There is no reason why as fine a crop of corn, quality and quantity, can not be grown in Ohio county as is grown in any county in the State, or as to that matter, in any State in the Union. This has been thoroughly demonstrated by myself, who four years ago began farming a piece of Green river bottom land that had been planted to corn only for more than sixty years, and had in my thirty years acquaintance with it, produced, on an average, about twenty-five bushels of corn per acre.

In 1909 I prepared this ground as well as I could, not having had a chance at it the fall before. I used thoroughbred, acclimated, tested seed, and gathered sixty bushels of corn per acre. In 1910 I got off the same ground an average of seventy-four bushels of corn per acre. In 1911 I got off the same ground an average of seventy-six bushels per acre, and in nineteen twelve I got off the same ground an average of ninety bushels of corn per acre. Never in any year did my corn cost exceeding twenty-five cents per bushel, shucked in the crib, and in 1912 the cost was less than twenty cents per bushel, shucked in the crib. In no year was a pound of commercial fertilizer or barn yard manure used.

This reads like a lot of corn, but I have the proof of what I say and I have the corn. My acreage is no better than thousands of other acres in Ohio county, nor was it just one acre set apart and cultivated for a prize other than the corn grown.

I attribute my success in corn growing to fairly good ground, intelligently handled and thoroughly acclimated, tested seed.

If any young farmer cares to know exactly how this corn was grown, I will cheerfully give him the information. I specify young farmers, for the older ones know all about corn growing and are satisfied with their ten or fifteen bushels per acre, so I do not care to waste my time telling them, for they would not put the information into practice.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. THE MODERN PASSING OF THE DRUNKEN GENIUS

The rest of the world scarcely realizes what tremendous efforts China is making to free itself of the curse of the opium habit. Imported for commercial purposes, the hop got its grip on the empire generations ago, and to-day China is supposed to be so steeped in its effects that she does not care to reform. But the contrary is true. Even old slaves of the drug curse it and acclaim the efforts of others to banish it.

If other vindication is desired that the civilized world, old and new, is reforming along this line, one has but to study our present day attitude at home toward the man who gets drunk.

Not many years ago the drunken genius was a recognized member of society. The man who was so brilliant when he was not under the influence of liquor, was to be found in all of the professions.

Nowadays the man who gets drunk is up against an unsympathetic world.

A writer in the New York Times recently gave a striking point to this fact. Even in politics, he said, the booze fighter is no longer trusted. In the old days a man was in danger of being considered disloyal to his party if he kept sober throughout a campaign.

The number of business men who will decline to have in their employ a man who makes it a habit to get drunk, is becoming greater every day.

The day of the drunken genius has passed. The demand now is for workers who can be brilliant without necessity for artificial stimulant; for it is they who can maintain their power long after the others have burned out.—[Tuscaloosa Times-Gazette.]

PHYSICIAN BREATHES LIFE INTO DEAD BABY

After a family physician had pronounced dead a baby born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rafetz, of No. 339 East One Hundred and Nineteenth street, the husband telephoned Sydenham Hospital, and Dr. Harry Fried responded. He sought to induce respiration by various means and was unsuccessful after an hour's effort.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but I can do nothing."

The mother's tears roused him to renewed efforts. He breathed into the baby's lungs, and a half hour later, when the physician was almost exhausted, the baby began to cry. That was Thursday night. Last night Dr. Fried called at the Rafetz house, and both parents embraced him. The baby was squalling lustily.

Little Josephine will live, the physician assured them.—[New York Herald.]

A Hero in a Lighthouse.

For years J. S. Donahue, South Haven, Mich., a civil war captain, as a lighthouse keeper, averted awful wrecks, but a queer fact is, he might have been a wreck himself if Electric Bitters had not prevented. "They cured me of kidney trouble and chills," he writes, "after I had taken other so-called cures for years, without benefit and they also improved my sight. Now, at seventy, I am feeling fine." For dyspepsia, indigestion, all stomach, liver and kidney troubles, they're without equal. Try them. Only 50 cents at James H. Williams, Hartford.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Hartford Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This grateful citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed. Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. A. L. Alms, 607 Locust St., Owensboro, Ky., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results and consider them a superior kidney remedy. Doan's Kidney Pills promptly relieved backache, difficulty with the kidney secretions and pains in the back and top part of my head. We have every confidence in them."

The above statement was given May 9, 1907, and when Mrs. Alms was interviewed on February 29, 1912, she said: "I have not used Doan's Kidney Pills of late, as the cure they effected some time ago has been permanent. You are at liberty to continue publishing my statement."

BULLET FIRED TWENTY YEARS AGO PERFORMS

Its Mission of Vengeance By Killing the Man Who Then Escaped.

Ft. Worth, Tex., Jan. 10.—Nemesis, after following Henry Zeigland for 20 years, to-day wreaked vengeance in a remarkable manner. Twenty years ago, near Honey Grove, Texas, Zeigland, who was a wealthy young farmer, won the hand of Matilda Tichenor, but jilted her a few days before the day set for their marriage.

The girl, a celebrated beauty, became despondent and killed herself; then her brother Phil went to Zeigland's home, and, after denouncing him bitterly, fired at him, the bullet grazing Zeigland's cheek and burying itself in a nearby tree. Young Tichenor, supposing he killed the man who jilted his sister, put a bullet into his own head, dying instantly.

The two tragedies caused a big sensation over North Texas at the time, but was finally forgotten and Zeigland married a rich widow and had become immensely wealthy.

To-day one of his sons cut down the tree in which Tichenor's bullet had lodged 20 years ago. The tree proved too tough for splitting up, so a small charge of dynamite was used. The explosion, as fate would have it, discharged the long forgotten bullet with such force that it pierced Zeigland's head and he fell mortally wounded, dying an hour later. He explained the mysterious bullet to his son as he lay on his deathbed.

MILLENNIUM LONG WAY OFF FOR SOME PERSONS

Mr. Bryan, in his Commoner, says:

A person who has recently inherited a million and a half and has ten million more to come, has spent two-thirds of the amount in six months, and as the following would indicate, is looking forward longingly to the next distribution: "I am going to have the very best sort of a good time, for what is money for if it is not to give one access to real enjoyment? I have already started to have a good time. I'm having it and I'm going to have still more of it. I'm going to have all the good time that money can buy."

What an insipid prospect! We soon tire of dessert when we eat nothing else.

The millennium is a long way off if there are many who believe that no better use can be found for money than to "have all the good time that money can buy."

Cut the High Cost of Living.

W. H. Chapman, Winnebago, Neb., tells how he did it. "My two children had a very bad cough and the doctor's medicines did them no good. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and before it was all used the children were free and cured of their cough. I saved a doctor's bill for one 25c bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." A mean, stuffy cold, with hoarse, wheezy breathing is just the kind that runs into bronchitis or pneumonia. Don't trifle with such serious conditions but take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. Contains no opiates. Sold by all dealers.

Trouble About Grading. The Owensboro Inquirer of Friday says:

On account of the continued trouble in the dissatisfaction over the grading of the tobacco that has prevailed since the opening of the tobacco market on last Monday morning, the officials and members of the Board of Control of the Green River Tobacco Growers Association, at a meeting held on Thursday night, decided that there will be no further deliveries of tobacco after the close of business to-night until Tuesday, January 14.

No More Overdrafts. In view of the fact that the United States Supreme Court has held that the granting of overdrafts in banks is illegal, and that the Kentucky Court of Appeals has decided practically the same, the Comptroller of the Currency of the United States and the Banking Commission of the State have requested that all banks eliminate same from their books and discontinue the permission.

SOME DIRECTIONS AS TO HOW TO SAVE YOUR MEAT

A writer in an exchange offers the following suggestions as to preserving meat:

Some fear is entertained by those who butchered their hogs about two weeks since that the hams and shoulders are being injured by the exceedingly warm weather which has intervened. This is the simple plan we have pursued with good results: Remove the salt from the joints and wash them in water to which has been added two pounds of carbonate of soda to ten gallons of water. Allow them to dry and treat them again to fresh salt, and put them down in single layers only in a cool, well-aired place until ready to take up and smoke. Don't dip the joints, but pour the water on until the salt is all removed. In curing pork, if you want to make assurance doubly sure, cover joints in a brine strong enough to float an egg, for two weeks, then take up and smoke as the packers do, who never have tainted joints. Their bacon is made principally in warm weather by the use of refrigeration.

MODERN WILLIAM TELL WINS BET; KILLS VICTIM

Danville, Ky., Jan. 9.—Jack Coleman, a Harrodsburg, Ky., William Tell, bet Henry Marshall that he could put a rifle bullet through Marshall's hat without touching his scalp. Marshall accepted the wager and won it. The bullet went through the hat and Marshall's skull, killing him instantly. Coleman was arrested.

Loss From Sheep-Killing Dogs.

New Castle, Ky., Jan. 11.—The Fiscal Court allowed claims for sheep killing by dogs in Henry county during the last year amounting to $614.85. This sum, with the expense of appraising, $40.50, is payable out of the State Treasury. The State collected as dog tax in the county during the year $490, showing a loss of $165.35.

Escaped After Fifteen Years.

W. P. Broyles made a successful escape after fifteen years of suffering from kidney and bladder troubles. Foley Kidney Pills released him and will do just the same for others. He says: "They cured a most severe backache with painful bladder irregularities, and they do all you claim for them. Take the 'direct road' to health and strength by using Foley Kidney Pills for backache, rheumatism, weak, sore kidneys and bladder irregularities. They are the best medicine you can buy for kidney and bladder ailments. Sold by all dealers."
