

SOCIALISTS ARE SPLIT OVER WAR

Breach Seems Too Wide To Overcome.

WORK OF MANY GENERATIONS

Collapsed In a Day When One Section Deserted Former Ideals.

NOW WANT GERMANY CRUSHED

(By Frederick Werner.)
Berlin, Sept. 4.—The war has accomplished what neither the great Bismarck nor his minor successors were able to do—it has broken up the great Social Democratic party in Germany.

In the Chamber of Wuertemberg recently, the radical Socialists declared war to the knife against their old party when they formed the new independent party, the Socialist Union, whose actual program is peace—peace without any attempt of conquest or of subjugation of nationalities.

Perhaps the most tragic element in the breaking up of the great socialist world movement is that its downfall in Germany has been brought about by a question as typically national and imperialistic as this: Whether or not Germany is to profit by the war by extending her frontiers.

Here, at least, one was inclined to think, was a question on which all international Socialists must agree. It appeared so absolutely evident that, of course, one must not suppress people and nations when the foundation of one's program is freedom. But those who thought so were evidently mistaken, and the latter attempts that were made to bring about a reconciliation served only to widen the breach.

The fate that overtook the International Socialists when the war broke out was, indeed, a tragic one, and especially tragic to the German Socialists. Never had that party held a stronger or more proud position—with its 4,000,000 voters, the greatest party in Reichstag, and numerous representatives in the chambers of the various countries of the German Empire.

In one day the gigantic work of generations collapsed. The day when the German Socialists as a whole, like a flock of sheep, deserted their ideals and voted in favor of the war appropriations, they sealed their own doom.

In a single moment the powerful party became a nonentity—its ideas and its power were swept aside by a word of the Kaiser and the millions of voters who for generations had been taught to hate and detest war, embraced the guns, shouldered the rifles and went to war with a song on their lips.

It was seen then that there must have been a great unsuspected flow in the massive ingot of International Socialism. It has counted without taking into consideration that patriotism, old-fashioned love of country, love of the particular clan to which you happen to belong, though a most primitive and unmodern feeling, is still stronger than the more ideal love of all mankind in general.

Anybody could see that there was no sense in International Socialists going to war against those they used to call brethren, for no other reason

WORDS FROM HOME.

Statements That May Be Investigated. Testimony of Hartford Citizens.

When a Hartford citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Hartford resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

J. A. Baird, farmer, R. F. D. 5, Hartford, Ky., says: "I had been troubled with sharp twinges across my loins, together with kidney weakness. As I heard Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I got a supply from the Ohio County Drug Co. One box cured me."

than because they happened to live on the other side of a political frontier. When the leaders afterward have tried to prove that there was sense in this, it is small wonder that they have not succeeded.

So much has gone to pieces that the leaders of the French Socialists solemnly call for bitter and implacable war until Germany, with millions of German Socialist brethren, lies crushed and bleeding to death on the battlefield.

So much has gone to pieces that most of the German Socialist leaders see nothing repulsive in annexing Belgium, which the German Chancellor himself a year ago declared had been violated by Germany, in defense of her national existence.

So much has gone to pieces that German Socialist leaders calmly discuss "regulations of frontiers" as the result of a war in which millions of people have been murdered.

"How is it possible to get away from these facts?" asks Herr Liebnicht, the only German Socialist who from the first remained loyal to his ideals, which with him had become convictions. "How powerless are now even the most honeyed and cloyer phrases against these dreadful events, and what a bottomless pit of hypocrisy it is to pretend that they do not exist or that they mean nothing!"

NO INDICTMENTS FOR LEO FRANK'S LYNCHERS

Grand Jury Examined Many Witnesses But Failed To Get Evidence.

Marietta, Ga., Sept. 2.—The Cobb county grand jury reported late today that it had been unable to find enough evidence, after a two days' examination of witnesses, to indict anyone for the lynching of Leo M. Frank. The report stated:

"We have found several clues, but we have been unable to find anyone who could identify any party. We have done our best, under oath, and we regret to state that we have been unable to find enough evidence to indict anyone for this crime."

After it is stated that the jury had the active co-operation of Gov. Harris, the State Attorney General, Solicitor Herbert Clay and other officials of Cobb county, the report adds:

"We have been unable to connect anybody with the perpetration of this offense, or to identify anyone who was connected with it, although we have investigated the information furnished us by officers and other parties and have followed up letters, signed and unsigned, and to this end we have subpoenaed and examined many witnesses in an effort to disclose the perpetrators of this crime, but none of these witnesses could identify any of the parties."

"We find, from investigation, that the officers of the law and the citizens of our town and county knew nothing of this crime until they heard of the body being found near Frey's Gin in this county. The city of Marietta and the county of Cobb were quiet before this trouble, are quiet now and all reports to the contrary are untrue."

Upward of thirty-five witnesses were examined yesterday and today. They include the Chief of Police and other citizens of Atlanta and persons in every walk of life in Marietta. Anonymous letters, referred to in the report, still are being received by officials of Cobb county and others, but the tendency now is to ignore them.

"Marietta is not in the frenzied state of turmoil that has been pictured," said Solicitor Clay today.

His Answer.

A Sunday School teacher had been telling her class of little boys about crowns of glory and heavenly rewards for good people.

"Now, tell me," she said, at the close of the lesson, "who will get the biggest crown?"

There was silence for a minute or two, then a bright little chap piped out:

"Him wot's got th' biggest head."

Worth Their Weight in Gold.

DEMOCRATS ADOPT A FINE PLATFORM

At State Convention in Louisville.

PRESIDENT WILSON ENDORSED

As Standard Bearer Of Party In 1916—Favor County Unit Law.

BECKHAM ENTERS A PROTEST

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 31.—Declaring in favor of the county unit law as now on the statute books of the State, enactment of an anti-pass law, submission of a constitutional amendment permitting convicts to work public roads, elimination of the prison contract system, revision of the tax system, good roads, better schools, amendments perfecting the primary election law, including the power of the State Railroad Commission, the enactment of a workman's compensation law, anti-trust laws and corrupt practice act, Democrats of Kentucky in convention at Keith's theater to-night adopted unanimous a platform of principles that brought forth cheer after cheer.

The convention unanimously endorsed President Wilson as the standard bearer of the party in 1916. Kentucky was the first State to take such a step. The resolution said in part:

"We believe that his mastery of the situation (European) requires his renomination in 1916 and endorse him as the party's most efficient and trusted leader in the coming national election, believing that patriots without regard to party recognize Woodrow Wilson as the one man best suited to bear the burdens and perform the herculean tasks now confronting the President of the United States."

A thrill was injected into the proceedings when George G. Speer, a member of the committee on permanent organization, submitted a report, which was adopted without a dissenting voice, unseating Rufus H. Vansant, of Ashland; A. G. Rhea, of Russellville, and Bridges White, of Mt. Sterling, as members of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committees from the State-at-large, and naming as their successors Judge S. W. Hager, of Owensboro; James P. Edwards, of Louisville, and George B. Martin, of Boyd county, Judge Hager becoming chairman of the two committees; Mr. Edwards becoming a member of the State Executive Committee, and Mr. Martin becoming a member of the State Central Committee.

The convention also unseated Urey Woodson, of Owensboro, as National Democratic Committeeman from Kentucky, naming Gen. W. B. Halderman, of Louisville, in his stead.

The platform was drafted by a committee of which United States Senator Ollie M. James was chairman and he made a speech in advocacy of its adoption which brought the delegates to their feet repeatedly.

The convention endorsed the National and State administrations and went on record as opposing sweeping changes in school books and as favoring State aid for the farmers' associations of Kentucky. It also declared against lobbyists and in favor of continued co-operation on the part of the State Board of Health with the Federal health authorities with a view to preventing trachoma.

Senator J. C. W. Beckham in a speech late to-night offered a motion seeking to have the convention reconsider the ousting of Chairman Rufus H. Vansant, Committeemen A. G. Rhea, W. Bridges White and Urey Woodson, National Committeeman from Kentucky, Congressman Campbell Cantrill arose to a point or order and pointed out to Chairman Cherry that Senator Beckham was not in the hall at the time the original motion was voted upon and that under parliamentary procedure he could not offer the motion he sought to make. Chairman Cherry ruled that the point was well taken and Senator Beckham reluctantly left the stage.

WHAT LINCOLN WANTED MOST WHEN PRESIDENT

In the "Interesting People" department of the September American Magazine appears an article about Russell H. Conwell, the famous Philadelphia speaker who has delivered one lecture over five thousand times. In the course of the article Mr. Conwell tells as follows what Abraham Lincoln once said to him:

"No man ought to be ambitious to be President of the United States: when this war is over, and that won't be very long, I tell my Tad we will go back to the farm where I was happier as a boy when I dug potatoes at twenty-five cents per day than I am now. I tell him I will buy him a mule and a pony, and he shall have a little cart, and he shall make a little garden in a field of his own."

DARING ALPINE GUIDE IS KILLED IN BATTLE

From Lofty Height He Directed Effective Battle Against the Enemy.

Vienna, Sept. 2.—Sepp Innerkofler, a famous Tyrolean Alpine guide, who was known to many Americans, has been killed at the front on the Isonzo. Before an Italian bullet struck him down he accomplished many daring deeds.

In the course of the battles in the region of the Drei-Zinnen Mountains it became necessary to reconnoiter the positions of the Italian artillery and infantry. Innerkofler volunteered for this dangerous work. On a pitch dark night he climbed to a summit of the Kleine Zinne, a peak nearly 8,000 feet high.

He carried a telephone apparatus and in the morning, as soon as he could distinguish the Italian positions, he directed the fire of the Austrian artillery from his lofty post.

The Italians were thrown into a panic when a hail of shells struck them with deadly accuracy. After a fearful bombardment they were completely driven from the Patternosaddle by an attack of a battalion of Tyrolean sharpshooters.

Shortly before his death Innerkofler led a small scouting detachment which had been ordered to make a flank attack on a company of Italian Alpine troops. Under the cover of the night, after hours of dangerous climbing, the famous guide brought the detachment to the summit of Mount Elfers, one of the loftiest of the dolomite mountains in the Sexton region. About 4 o'clock in the morning, Innerkofler and his companions found a favorable position and opened fire.

The Italians brought their artillery into action and when they found that they could not reach the enemy with their shells they decided to cut off the retreat of the small band. Innerkofler was not to be caught, however. He descended on the Italian side of the mountain and then brought his detachment safely back to the Austrian lines over secret mountain paths that were only known to him.

A heavy fog aided him and his men in their escape and they had no losses, although they killed about 25 Italians.

None Equal to Chamberlain's. "I have tried most all of the cough cures and find that there is none that equals Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has never failed to give me prompt relief," writes W. V. Harner, Montpelier, Ind. When you have a cold give this remedy a trial and see for yourself what a splendid medicine it is. Obtainable everywhere. (Advertisement)

BRINGS DOWN ROOSTER WITH AUGUST SNOWBALL

LaCrosse, Wis., Sept. 1.—William Finn and his family, in their cozy farmhouse on Pine Creek, near here, to-day ate, perhaps, the first rooster ever killed with a snowball in August.

Rising early Farmer Finn found the frost so thick he easily gathered up a snowball and shied it at a crowing rooster, with fatal results.

Crows were not damaged seriously in this vicinity.

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill.
I wish every suffering woman would give
