J. R. LOSEY,

AGENT FOR THE
ELGIN WATCH!!

Travel is pleasant. The change of air and the change of scene are beneficial alike to body and mind. It is pleasant to meet so many agreeable people, and it is delightful to look upon the varying and often beautiful scenery. Travel too is instructive. It suggests new ideas, and gives one a knowledge of the world to be acquired in no other way. But after all there is nothing else so pleasant and so enjoyable as the independence and the luxury of one's own home at last. Travel is pleasant, but home is delightful!

All Nature's forces work together,
The winds and waters, sun and shade,
The change of seasons and the weather,
To aid to man of toil and trade;
Good luck and hope, birds of a feather, Sing near his cot their serenade.

Fair Nature is the loving mother,
Of all the race, though stained with sin;
The pleasant is the prince's brother,
The hekey to the King is kin; Parchments and titles cannot soothe, True manhood, deeper than the skin.

Overdressing is vulgar, especially in women, for the glare of the sun and eye-lit street. Toilet, even when tasteful as to color and style, denote, if habitually rich and showy, mental vulgarity, their transparent designs being by superficial material means to impress the beholder.
The refined beholder is unfavorably impressed, suspecting such out wardriches to be the mask of inward poverty. A prevalent fashion of costly dressing is a sign of general vulgarity. The finest type of la-dyhood would recoil offended from her mirror at seeing herself beset, and be-feathered, and bejeweled for a morning walk or drive. She will be as simply elegant in her attire indoors or out, as in her manner, and will not exhibit either in this one or the other the slightest effort to out-style her neighbor.

The cutting down the trees of our forests which is so constantly going forward in this country, is a common observation and our summers are becoming drier, and our streams smaller. Take the Cuyahoga as an illustration. Fifty years ago large barges loaded with goods went up and down the river. Now, in the ordinary stage of water, a canoe or skiff can hardly pass down the stream. Many a boat of fifty tons burden has been built and loaded in the Tusca rawas, at New Portage, and sailed to New Orleans without breaking bulk. Now the river hardly affords a supply of water at New Portage for the canal. The same may be said of other streams. They are drying up. And from the same cause—the destruction of our forests—our summers are becoming drier and our winters growing colder.

There are 1,100 young ladies in Nantucket, Massachusetts, and only one hundred young men—poor fellows.

It looks rather ir-religious to see an old man fill up a grave on a warm day, and to be forced to do so in a hurry while an audience waits on him. It matters not if he is paid. A helping hand or a little more would not be amiss.

I respectfully offer to the public, upon the most favorable terms, the following unprecedentedly Cheap Watches.

This is a handsome, Heavy Hunting Case Silver Watch—a guaranteed, limet, with first-class movements, and altogether such a Watch as will ordinarily command $15 to $20 retail prices. Its exceedingly cheap.

THE FIVE DOLLAR WATCH.

This is a neat, elegant, little Open-face Silver Watch—a real gem in itself. It is a correct time-piece, and recommends itself by its unique design no less than by its cheapness. It only needs to be seen to be admired; possessed to be appreciated.
Its cheapness is not a measure of its worth, for it is superior in all respects to many Watches of much greater cost. Order one, and if it does not suit you, you can dispose of it at a nice profit.

That country purchasers may act understandingly, I will send either of these Watches by Express, to be examined before purchasing, provided the applicant will remit with his order the sum of fifty cents, to cover charges. This is an offer which certainly no one who desires a nice cheap Watch can object to.

To persons who would like to engage in a very profitable business, the sale of these watches offer a rare opportunity. No discount is made to such, but nevertheless large profits can be realized.
All orders should be addressed to

What I Know About Trimming

Since the days of our grandmothers, there has never been such a rage for trimmings upon ladies' dresses and suits as this year; and the most popular is the so called French fold, made from bias material, put upon the dress in a variety of styles.
To trim dresses at the present day without the various Sewing Machine attachments would be an impossibility.

A young man in Chicago has just invented an improvement for all Sewing Machines, with which to put on the fold as fast and as easily as an ordinary hem can be made. The same implement is also a practical Binder and good Hemmer.

It is being made and sold by the Leslie Ruffler Company, and is a valuable addition to the Sewing Machine. It is called "Kodding's French Trimmer," and will be sold by all Sewing Machine Agents—

EDUCATIONAL COLUMN.

But few duties devolve on the heads of families more important, and to most persons, more difficult, than the selection of a family physician. This difficulty is greatly increased by the fact that people in general, though well educated, and intelligent on other subjects, know but little of the physiological laws underlying the whole subject of health. A physician should, first of all be possessed of a large endowment of common sense and moral honesty. To these indispensable qualities should be added a thorough knowledge of medical science in all its departments, and a well trained faculty of close observation and patient investigation of the phenomena of health and disease, as they will be presented to him in his daily routine of business. Firmness and decision are traits of character which will be largely in demand in his daily intercourse with the sick. The impudence of quackery, the ignorant officiousness of well-meaning friends, and the vacillating indecision of the sick, demand that, for the safety of the patient and the maintenance of his own good name and clear conscience, the physician should exercise an unflinching firmness.

There is a moral obligation resting on every individual, to preserve and maintain the highest health that is attainable, both of body and mind. God has created us for the discharge of important duties in life, and the fulfillment of this Divine purpose, depends on the health that will give an ability equal to the task. Within certain limits, the means of health are placed in our own hands, and we cannot, ignorantly or recklessly, disregard its conditions without incurring guilt.

We have no more right to render our life a failure, than we have to commit suicide. Moreover, the laws of life and health are Divine laws, emanating from the wisdom and benevolence of the Creator, and to violate them is rebellion against his authority. Our own happiness—the greatest good of society, and our regard for the Divine authority, all conspire to demand of us a thorough knowledge and faithful observance of the LAWS OF HEALTH.

Patrons of Husbandry.

This Order is designed to bind the farmers together in fraternity, and by encouraging education to advance to a higher state of perfection the science of agriculture. It aims to encourage the planting of fruit trees and flowers by which to enhance the value, and increase the attraction of the farmer's home, adorning them with those beauties so lavishly given us by the God of nature.

Its grand objects are not only general improvements in husbandry, but to develop the moral and mental faculties of its members and to increase the general happiness, wealth and prosperity of the country.

It proposes to reduce freights and passengers fare by railroads, believing that after such reductions are made, railroad companies will then realize more profits on the real capital invested. It seeks to bring between the producer and the rail road companies, a nearer proportion in the scale of dividends than now exists.

It is designed to promote the industrial interests of the producer.
Believing that to improve their condition and to ascertain certain rights, hus-bandmen individually are like one drop in the Ocean, but collectively might be the Ocean itself. This Order seeks to unite them into a grand and powerful organization.

Finding also that a large percentage of the legislation of the country is dictated, and controlled by various wealthy monopolies which as occasion presents itself, use all their persuasive power upon our representatives, and are thus enabled to battle all schemes which do not look directly to their particular interests. This Order by moral power, may give directions to public sentiments, and then make its influence felt upon the policies of this country.

In conclusion, its objects, as already indicated, are to advance education, to elevate and dignify the occupation of the farmer, and to protect its members against the numerous combinations by which their interests are injuriously affect-d.

Argos Correspondence.

BY BRIMSTONE.

ARGOS, IND., Sept. 1st, 1873.

MR. MILLIKAN:
A man by the name of Reed, near Knox, in Stark County, committed suicide one day last week by drowning—The act was undoubtedly premeditated, as Mr. R. arose in the night, selected and put on some old clothes, laid a package of money aside which he had about his person, and then disappeared. His continent absence beginning to create some uneasiness in the minds of his family, search was instituted, a d his body found in a lake somewhere in the vicinity.

A few farmers in this locality have commenced their fall seeding, and many others are only awaiting a little further advance of the season. Early wheat sowing as a general rule has proved the most successful in this part of the country, a luxuriant fall growth forming a protection against the winter frosts.

Matrimonial alliance seem to be the order of the day. Two weddings came off at Walnut, on Wednesday evening of last week.

Mr. John Swoceland to Miss Emeline Ciders. Mr. Elza Pearson to Miss Romania Ciders, Rev. Mr. officiating.

At Argos, on Thursday last, by Justice Bernier, Mr. Thos. Parish to Miss Rebecca Felts.

Present indications, warrant the belief that ere long a number of others in this vicinity will "follow suit." So note it be

Mr. Harvey Atkinson of the firm of Parker & Atkinson has just returned from Chicago, where he has been purchasing a large stock of goods for the fall trade. The citizens of Argos and vicinity may expect in a few days, to find the commodious store rooms occupied by these gentlemen well filled with a choice selection of goods, which they propose to sell cheap for cash, or exchange for country produce. This enterprising firm have also established a branch store at Walnut, where goods can be purchased at lower rates than have ever been offered in that place.

To-day we had the privilege of examining a fac-simile copy of the Baltimore American, published on the 20th of August, a century ago. Besides the local news, markets, &c., there are many other items of interest even at the present time.

As it may not be wholly uninteresting to the readers of the REPUBLICAN, we will give here a few quotations of one hundred years ago:

Wheat per bushel	6s 6d

The Centennial Anniversary of the above named paper, was celebrated in Baltimore, on the 20th ult.

MARMONT, September 1, 1873.
MR. EDITOR:—As you have not had a communication from our plate of late, we thought a few items would prove acceptable.

Thursday, August 28th, the officers and scholars of the M. E. Sunday School, had a picnic in a grove near the village. All enjoyed themselves well, and the occasion will long be remembered by those who participated. The Rev. O. R. Beebe and Mr. Van Schoick, favored us with good speeches.

We have now a fast sailing yacht on the Lake. It belongs to Mr. John Lopp, and is called the "Jennie Lind." It is a splendid affair—something that we should have had before this time, and reflects great credit on the enterprise of the owner.

The farmers are now very busy plowing and hauling their grain to market.
The health of the people of the vicinity is as good as usual.

The Eureka Tragedy—An Interview with T. C. Workman—He goes into Illinois to-morrow.

[From the LaFayette Courier of Wednesday.]
A Peoria, Illinois dispatch says a Grand Jury of Woodford county have found a bill against Mrs. Workman, for killing Mrs. Hodges near Eureka, Illinois, last Spring. A former Grand Jury, it will be remembered, failed to indict her. Mr.
Workman and his wife, immediately after the tragedy, removed to Lafayette, and have been living very quietly on the west side of the river. It is certainly very remarkable that a party indicted for murder should receive the first intimation of the fact through anybody save an officer of the law. Our reporter interviewed Mr.
Workman to-day. He found him in a buggy with his son riding to South Street depot.

Question—Have you seen the Peoria telegram announcing the indictment of your wife?
Answer—I have not; but I had a letter last week intimating that certain parties, who for reasons best known to themselves want to conceal the real culprits and are pushing the prosecution of my wife, would make another effort to get an indictment against her.

Question—Have they any new evidence?
Answer—None. I have a copy of all the evidence before the Coroner's Jury and the Grand Jury. The best lawyers in Lafayette have read it carefully and say there is nothing in it—no case.

Question—Will you go without a writ?
Answer—Certainly, and at once. We go to-morrow. We shall face the music. I wrote last week as soon as I heard of this last indictment, that we would come.
Answer—To whom did you write?
Answer—To the Prosecuting Attorney.
I told him he need not send a writ. We would come without
