Will Kemming brought fifteen hogs to market last Thursday, receiving for them $3.35, the top market price. He is evidently making a good farmer.

The Bulletin's semi-occasional bobtail wags again this week after a three weeks respite. As the Bulletin itself sagely remarks, however "it was not missed."

A number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Lingle gathered at their hospitable home on Saturday evening and celebrated the wedding of the happy couple.

A large and joyous company assembled at John Plunk's home in Hanover township last Sunday, to celebrate their host's birthday. We wish him many happy returns of the day.

Hon. Theo. Blume, wife and sister-in-law, Miss Girard, have been spending the week visiting in Woodbury county. They went overland and expect to stop at Storm Lake before returning.

The funeral of Mr. Hans Jensen, who died August 12th, was held at the Lutheran church on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Lothringer officiating. Mr. Jensen is quite well known, among Denison people, and all extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

The Baptist Sunday school picnic, which was postponed on account of Mr. Dunbar's death, will be held tomorrow at McHenry's grove south of his stock farm. If the weather is not favorable, the picnic will be held on Friday. Conveyances will be provided at the church at 1 o'clock.

The Bulletin wisely and cautiously takes a neutral position as to candidates. We wonder if this cautious wisdom extends to principles also? Will the Bulletin dare to state its position on the two term rule, a principle which has before this been incorporated into Crawford county democratic platforms?

The Misses Sewell entertained quite a large number of guests at their home on Locust street Saturday evening in honor of Mr. Hugo Kahler, of Traer, Ia., who is well known to Denison young people. An interesting program of music, recitations and games made the evening a very enjoyable one. The dainty refreshments were a feature of the evening.

J. H. Hall, of Buck Grove, who was injured quite severely about ten weeks ago in a runaway, is, we are pleased to say, getting along quite nicely, as he was able to be in Denison yesterday. This is the first time since the accident The Review acknowledges a call, and he says he would like the paper sent to him until 1900.

A very highly commended lecture on Persia, entitled "The Land of the Lion and the Sun" will be given by Mr. Joseph Kashoba, the distinguished Persian lecturer at the Presbyterian church in this city on Friday, August 19. Admission 25 cents, children 10 cents. Mr. Kashoba comes under the auspices of the Presbyterian Y. P. S. C. E., and a fine lecture is guaranteed. Please keep the date and event in mind.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Howorth, of Dow City, were Denison visitors yesterday. Uncle Edmund has just recovered from a severe illness and is still under the weather. He is thinking of going to Hot Springs, South Dakota, for his health. Mr. Howorth is one of the old settlers of Crawford county who has a strong hold upon the affections of both young and old. We wish him many years of life and happiness.

Our Catholic friends expect to have their new church bell in readiness and their new cement wall and walk completed by next Sunday. The Catholics of Denison and vicinity have every reason to be proud of the beautiful grounds and buildings they have erected here. The fact that but few of the parishioners are wealthy reflects all the more credit on the congregation as the money expended represents personal sacrifice on the part of those who have given so freely.

The Denison school board met last night and elected Miss Terry, of the college faculty, as musical instructor. Mr. Schuler was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Woodruff. It was also decided to enlarge the kindergarten by renting another room in McKim Hall. Prof. Faulor is now here and will spend the next three weeks in seeing that everything is in readiness for the opening of school which takes place Sept. 5th.

DENISON IN EVENING DRESS.

Doubtless the most brilliant and notable social event of the season was the large evening reception given by Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Romans, last Saturday evening, in honor of Mrs. Fannie E. Newberry, the authoress. The hundred and more guests were admitted by the Misses Garnett Romans and Jessie Weeks, and received by the host and hostess, with their guest in the parlor.

Each of the large suite of rooms was lavishly decorated, the drawing room with bowls of Jacque and tea roses, and the music room with masses of sweet peas, while the library and dining room were banked with palms, and festooned with delicate clematis and feathery asparagus. Frappe was served by the Misses Bertha Knaul and Edith Wygant in the former, and coffee was poured by Mrs. Young, and served, with sandwiches, to relays of guests by the Misses King, Marshall and Faulkner in the latter.

The polished surface of the undraped table, broken only by doilies in exquisite embroidery, reflected the magnificent cut-glass and china like a mirror, and repeated the beauty of a great Venetian cut vase of La France roses, whose fragrance filled the room.

Outside, the spacious veranda, bright with electricity and the lanterns of Japan, formed an extra reception room with its rugs, palms, and couches, and wooed many into the cool evening air. After both vocal and instrumental music, in which Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Philbrook, and Miss Garrison delighted all with charming selections, ices and cakes of several varieties were also served to the guests, wherever seated, under the supervision of Mrs. Wygant.

It was a most lively and enjoyable affair, and a new instance of that lavish hospitality for which Mr. and Mrs. Romans are justly noted.

The guests from out of town, in addition to Mrs. Newberry, were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Kahler, Traer, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cornwall, Chicago; Miss Mattie Miles, Chicago; Rev. H. C. Nash, Sac City College; Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Hamilton, Chickasaw, Oklahoma; Miss Florence Faulkner, Helena, Arkansas; Miss Clark, Sibley, Iowa; Mrs. Thomas Perkins, Bismarck, North Dakota; Mrs. A. H. McAhren, Denver, Colorado.

Mrs. Newberry, in whose honor the reception was given, is a woman not only of large literary attainments and reputation, but a woman of charming personality. Denison people have been delighted to form her acquaintance and at the close of her visit she leaves very many friends here. Mrs. Newberry was well known before her coming by her many beautiful and helpful books. She is the daughter of Prof. Stone of Harvard University and has devoted herself to literary work. Some of her popular writings are "The Wrestler Phillipi," a companion story to "Titus," "The Impress of a Gentlewoman," "Strange Conditions," "Bubbles," and "Comrades." She is an ever busy writer and has two books now in the press.

Mr. Newberry is at present at the front with a Michigan volunteer regiment, in one company of which he is captain. It is regretted that Mrs. Newberry's visit cannot be more extended, but we are glad that she has left to Denison something, written especially for Denison which can serve as a beautiful reminder of her visit. With Mrs. Romans' permission we publish some verses which Mrs. Newberry has contributed to her hostess' guest book. Those knowing Mrs. Romans will appreciate both the truth and beauty of Mrs. Newberry's lines.

To-night I feel with certainty
I'm not alone within this room—
Fair ghosts are walking to and fro;
With Heavenly light their faces glow,
And beautify the gloom.

This one is Hospitality:
See how she holds Lore by the hand;
There Friendship—paler, though so sweet—
Glides softly in on noiseless feet,
To take her quiet stand.

While, yet behind, more shining ones
Are clustered in the shadows deep—
Calm, Peace and Plenty, Tact and Care,
Large Generosity, so fair—
These watch that I may sleep.

And as I think how to-se attend
My hostess on her gracious way,
I understand why 'tis, tonight,
So hard to leave her presence bright
So hard "Farewell" to say.

Pray God these lovely ghosts remain
To aid her in her best best
To watch the bidding of her eyes
And make her home a Paradise
For every favored guest.

A CARD.

To my friends of Crawford county: Having announced myself as a candidate for the office of clerk of the district court, subject to the will of the democratic party, it is naturally supposed that I should see my friends, but owing to continued sickness in my family and being about to move in my new home I will be deprived of the pleasant privilege of meeting my friends personally. Therefore, I will especially appreciate any favors bestowed in assisting me to secure the nomination.
