LEAVES OMAHA BEHIND.

President, Accompanied by Members of His Cabinet, Goes to St. Louis.

DOESN'T GET AWAY WITHOUT A SPEECH

Thanks the People of Nebraska for Their Hearty Reception and Patriotism—Arrangements for a Grand Reception by Citizens of St. Louis.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 13.—Another perfect autumn day greeted the president Thursday morning—the morning of his departure from the great exposition city. Mr. McKinley arose at the Omaha club at eight o'clock and breakfasted with Secretary Bliss and his young nephew, James McKinley. The morning meal was taken in the breakfast room just off the main dining hall of the club rooms, where Secretaries Gage and Wilson, Postmaster General Smith and Assistant Secretary Melklejohn took breakfast at the same time.

At nine o'clock the president was driven to the station escorted by a platoon of police and mounted members of the Al Sar Pen. The ride to the depot was a repetition of the enthusiastic scenes of Wednesday, people lining the streets to obtain a glimpse of the president. A large delegation accompanied the party to the train, including Senators Allen and Thurston, Mayor Moores, President Wattles, Gov. Holcomb and many others.

The presidential train went over the Burlington road. General Manager Elliot Marshall, of St. Louis, is in the city, and has completed all arrangements for the trip. The train will make no more stops en route than is absolutely necessary, making a through run to St. Louis. The great reception at St. Louis will take place Friday.

The Northwestern party, that of Gen. Miles, will leave for Chicago. The party will include the diplomatic representatives and the army officials, Gen. Greely and the ladies.

His Parting Words.
President McKinley was not permitted to leave Omaha without making one more address to his western constituents who had gathered at the station to watch the departure of the train. Hundreds of eager people crowded about the rear platform, and just as the flyer pulled out the president said to them, his parting words: "I see that here in Nebraska, as in every other state of the union, everybody loves the government and everybody loves the flag, and I cannot tell you how hard it is for me this morning to bid you all good-by."

Another Speech.
Just across the river at Council Bluffs Mr. McKinley again responded to the cheers of a great crowd, and said:

"My Fellow Citizens, I am very much gratified at your reception. I have just come from the great city of the west and have witnessed a wonderful exhibition of your genius and skill, and industry, as shown at the trans-Mississippi exposition. Nothing has given me greater satisfaction as I have journeyed through the country than to look into the cheerful faces of the people and to be assured from their appearance that despair no longer hangs over the west, but that you are having a fair share of prosperity, and not only that, but you are having a baptism of patriotism in which we all rejoice." (Applause.)

The personnel of the party which left Omaha is as follows: The president, his nephew, James McKinley; Secretary and Mrs. Gage, Secretary and Miss Wilson, Postmaster General and Mrs. Smith, Secretary Bliss, Secretaries Porter and Cortelyou, Capt. and Mrs. La Fayette H. McWilliams, Col. Clark, E. Carr, of Illinois, and newspaper representatives.

Cheered by Crowds.
Corning, Ia., Oct. 13.—As the train proceeded eastward through Iowa the throngs of people seemed to increase at every point and the applause and enthusiasm for the president never abated. At some points after he had finished speaking Mr. McKinley presented to the people the members of the cabinet who are with him, and the cheers for Secretaries Bliss, Gage and Wilson and Postmaster-General Smith were almost as hearty as those given for the president.

Paris Strike Broken.
Paris, Oct. 13.—The number of men returning to work was greatly increased and the meetings of the strikers were poorly attended. In fact the strike of the laborers employed by the building trades is considered ended.

YIELD TO DEMANDS.

Spanish Officials at San Juan Signify Their Willingness to Turn Over Government.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The following cablegram has been received at the war department: "San Juan de Puerto Rico, Oct. 12, 1898.—Secretary of War, Washington: The United States commission has informed the Spanish commission that the United States expect to have complete possession of Puerto Rico on October 13. The Spanish commission assent to this and say that it is expected the evacuation will be complete on or before that day. If not, they will concede possession. The United States commission has practically completed the details of the evacuation and the joint commission has held its last session and adjourned without day. The United States troops will be placed in San Juan and the flag hoisted at noon October 13. (Signed) 'BROOKE, Major General.' This dispatch is very gratifying to the war department officials as it ends all contention regarding the possession of Puerto Rico. The details of the agreement reached by the commissioners have not been received by the war department, but as the negotiations seem to have progressed smoothly it is supposed that the instructions of the administration to the commissioners have been carried out.

TIME AND PATIENCE.

All That is Needed to Bring the Indian Troubles to a Peaceful Close.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The following dispatch about the Indian troubles, dated Walker, Minn., late at night, was received at the interior department Thursday morning: "Secretary Interior: I have just returned from the hostile camp about 25 miles from here, where I went this morning with Father Aloysius. About 50 Indians were present. I am firmly of the opinion that the trouble can be settled peaceably by a little time and patience. (Signed) 'W. A. JONES, Commissioner Indian Affairs.'"

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 13.—The twenty-sixth annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. of Illinois began its session here. The meetings will be held in the Presbyterian church. The state executive committee reported in the afternoon. Its annual statement is the most favorable ever made. More associations, larger membership, more buildings and better organization mark the close of the year. The success of the work done in the army camps was dwelt on.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Mrs. John Sherman, wife of the ex-secretary of state, was suddenly taken ill and Mrs. Johnson and Hyatt were summoned. The nature of her illness was not disclosed, but late in the afternoon it was stated at the residence that the physicians had not returned since morning, and that Mrs. Sherman was better.

Tangier, Morocco, Oct. 13.—Serious disturbances have taken place in Tafilet, which is one of the great subdivisions of the empire and is used as a place of banishment for political offenders. A large body of rioters have captured the uncle of the sultan, and, according to latest advices received, were attempting to seize the Sharifian treasure.

Select San Francisco.
Washington, Oct. 13.—San Francisco was Thursday definitely determined upon as the place for holding the next triennial council of the Episcopal church. The house of bishops took action in this direction Wednesday, but the house of deputies sent the question over until morning, when it was favorably acted upon.

QUIET AFTER THE BATTLE.

Militia Take Possession of Stockade at Virden and Seize All Arms.

THIRTEEN WERE KILLED IN THE FIGHT.

Long List of Wounded—Adj. Gen. Reece Reports to Governor That Evidence Shows That Firing Was Begun by the Deputies on the Train—Lukens' Statement.

Virden, Ill., Oct. 13.—The town is as quiet as a country churchyard. On the west side of the public square two Gatling guns of the Galesburg battery, and a blue-capped infantryman at each corner in the business district, are about the only evidences of Wednesday's riot outside of the O'Neill home. This place is just back of the Chicago & Alton passenger station, and is a story-and-a-half cottage. In the front yard stand five black-covered coffins, on each of which is a simple plate on which is engraved the words "At Rest." Under the lids are the mortal remains of five victims of Wednesday's battle at the stockade of the Chicago-Virden Coal company. They are: Ernest Kitterly, Mount Olive; Ellis Smith, Mount Olive; Ernest Keutner, Mount Olive; Ed. Wetz, Springfield; William Blue, Springfield.

Disarm the Guards.
When Adj. Gen. Reece went to the stockade and demanded the surrender of the arms of the guards, who have occupied that place for several weeks, the request was quickly complied with. At ten o'clock Capt. Craig, with a squad of 16 men and a wagon, marched to the stockade and took possession of the Winchester which had previously been packed in boxes, and brought them to army headquarters. The company's mines are now patrolled by soldiers under Capt. Craig's command. There are about 40 of the infantry on picket duty inside the inclosure, and no one is allowed to approach within 20 feet of the high board fence which encircles the company's property.

First Shots Were Signals.
St. Louis, Oct. 13.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Virden, Ill., says: M. Turner, one of the guards stationed in the yards south of the town to announce the approach of the train carrying the negroes, says he fired the first shot Wednesday as a signal to the main body of miners near the depot. The miners had agreed, he says, that ten shots in rapid succession should be the signal that the train was approaching. Turner says he fired the shots, shooting in the air, and that the men on the train answered with a volley into the crowd, whereupon the firing became general.

Men are swarming into Virden upon every train and highway. The most of them are miners, but those who came into the town are unarmed. The company's store, where the assault upon Eyster occurred, is constantly surrounded by a great throng of people. Every pane of glass in the windows and the red paint of the building is thickly covered with the white fleckings of bullet marks. The wagon in which Eyster drove from the stockade is riddled with bullets and buckshot.

Pitiable Scenes at Morgue.
Many of the scenes at the improvised morgue at O'Neill's house are most pitiable. All the men there had families, and members of these have come from their homes. Their grief is heartrending, intensifying the desperation and rage of the miners.

Angry at Mine Operators.
The citizens of Virden are bitter in their condemnation of the governor for not preventing the terrible doings of Wednesday, and their rage over the action of the mine operators' armed men on the train grows more fierce with every hour. Their sympathies are wholly with the miners.

The Casualties.
The following is the full list of casualties:

DEAD—Edward Walsh, miner, Springfield; Frank Blyen, miner, Springfield; Albert Smith, miner, Mount Olive; Joseph Kitterly, miner, Mount Olive; Ernest Kautner, miner, Mount Olive; A. H. Brannaman, miner, Girard; Ed Green, miner, Mount Olive; Ernest Long, miner, Mount Olive; William W. Carroll, deputy; B. H. Kiely, deputy detective, Chicago; Thomas Preston, deputy, Chicago; A. W. Smith, deputy, Chicago.

Will Harmon, miner, Girard, and Joseph Baston, miner, Mount Olive, at first reported among the dead, are at hospital at Springfield, the former being fatally wounded.

Held Miners in Check.
Ed Cahill is the president of the Virden miners' union, and is 33 years old, and he does not look as though he could hold an infuriated band of 1,500 determined men back from wreaking what they considered rightful vengeance. Yet this is what he did Wednesday afternoon.

A number of strike leaders were advocating the storming of the stockade after their companions had been killed and wounded. They knew the troops were coming and wanted to destroy the stockade before the soldiers arrived.

The mob was already collecting when Cahill appeared among them. He was cool and collected. He told them that if they precipitated the battle this time they would lose all they had gained. They had attained their object of keeping out the colored miners, though the cost was fearful.

Soldiers in Charge of Stockade.
Capt. Charles A. Fervier, commanding company B, Sons of Veterans, of Elgin, Ill., is in charge of the stockade built by the Chicago-Virden Coal company.

With part of his men he entered the stockade at eight a. m. and disarmed the Thiel detectives from St. Louis and the local deputies employed by the operators. The men within the stockade offered no objections to Capt. Fervier's command to lay down their arms. A Post-Dispatch reporter and an artist were met at the main gate of the stockade Thursday morning by F. W. Lukens, general manager of the mines; S. A. Peterson, of St. Louis, assistant general manager of the Thiel Detective Service company, and by Capt. Fervier. The newspaper men were escorted to Mr. Lukens' private office and were accorded an interview with him. Soldiers with bayonets patrolled the stockade and the detectives and deputy sheriffs, disarmed and without overcoats, walked around and shivered with the cold. In an ante-room to Mr. Lukens' office lay the body of Thomas Preston, the dead Thiel man, whose home is in Chicago.

Madrid, Oct. 13.—The cabinet at a meeting discussed the question bearing upon the return of the Spanish troops in the West Indies, and particularly the evacuation of Cuba. The ministers were very reticent in regard to the decisions arrived at. The council decided to release the Cuban prisoners confined in the Biscaya prisons and to permit them to return to Cuba.

DISMISSED THE SERVICE.

Charges Against Chaplain McIntyre of the Oregon Are Found Proven.

COURT-MARTIAL ENDS IN CONVICTION.

The Three Charges Made Against Him Are Based on His Criticism of His Superior Officers in a Lecture Delivered in Denver—Case Being Reviewed by Navy Department.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The navy department has made public the findings and sentence of the court-martial in the case of Chaplain McIntyre.

The chaplain was charged first, with scandalous conduct, tending to the destruction of good morals, with three specifications; second, conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, with four specifications; third, conduct unbecoming an officer of the navy, three specifications. All these charges were founded upon the chaplain's criticism of his superior officers in a lecture delivered in Denver. All the specifications were found proved as alleged; the accused was declared guilty under the three charges and he was sentenced to be dismissed from the United States naval service.

The case is now under review at the department.
