WEDDED THIRTY YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wilson Entertain Their Many Friends on Their Anniversary.

On Saturday evening the parlors of the Wilson House were thrown open to a happy throng of guests, who assembled at the bidding of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. That it was their wedding anniversary was not known until after the company had assembled. Miss Alice Wilson and Mary Shaw Van greeted the guests and soon the rooms were filled with life and animation. A bountiful lunch was served, Mr. Harry Luney having the serving in charge. During the evening Mrs. Bradley and Dr. Gibson favored the company with several well rendered selections. Every one was glad to extend the hand of congratulation to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. For nearly twenty years they have been residents of Denison. Our people know how true they have been to each other and to their friends in times of sorrow and of grief, how loyal they have been to all that is best, how their hearts have always turned with warmth and kindness to the needy and distressed. In all the varied circumstances of life they have proven themselves worthy, upright and generous. It is therefore not with idle words that their many friends congratulate them upon their thirtieth anniversary of wedded life, but with hearts full of affectionate kindness and with the earnest hope that they may pass the fiftieth mile stone together, as dearly beloved and as highly respected as they are to-day.

The Bulletin has just gotten around to printing the President's message. REVIEW readers had it a week ago.

Mr. Jackson Broadus has purchased five lots in block 51, in East Denison and intends building himself a home there in the spring. Jackson is an industrious, hard-working man and deserves a good home.

Mr. Enoch Tolson left on Monday night for Des Moines, where he will enter the employ of Governor Shaw. Mr. Tolson is a well-liked citizen of Denison and will surely do well in his new home. The REVIEW will keep him posted on Denison news during his stay in the Capitol city.

The REVIEW office has been in hard luck this week. Just with the rush of the Christmas edition two of our force were taken sick, leaving us very short handed. For this reason, although every nerve was strained to be prompt, our Christmas edition is a day late. We have no apologies to offer however, for our Holiday edition.

Miss Bessie Robertson has been quite ill for the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Meyers spent Sunday in Charter Oak.

Mr. Levi Green, of Arion, was a Denison visitor Saturday.

Rev. A. G. Martyn and wife spent Sunday at Charter Oak, participating in the dedication of the new Presbyterian church.

The clay pigeon reminds us of the Englishman who when asked if he was much of a joker, replied, "Oh Yes, I joke, but I joke with difficulty."

The complete novel "The Treasure of Santa Roosa Reef" which is published in this issue, is a very interesting and fascinating tale of love and adventure. Preserve the paper and read it at your leisure.

We wish to call special attention to our Charter Oak pages. The REVIEW now reaches more than 200 Charter Oak homes and the merchants feel that it pays them to advertise with us.

Yes, brother Bulletin, we met the fortune-teller and she became quite angry because we refused to advertise the fake in the REVIEW. She was probably hunting the Colonel so they could make a joint attack.

As will be seen from our Charter Oak correspondence the people of that enterprising town have sent a committee to Chicago, to try to persuade the Northwestern to go through their place. We hope they will succeed.

The council met last night but transacted little routine business. At the request of the Northwestern the railway ordinances were laid over until the January meeting. A number of bills were passed and some street grade ordinances considered.

Mr. J. C. Schnoor will this week open up a new harness shop, one door west of the Fargo House. Mr. Schnoor is well known to Denison people, being an old-time resident. For the past seven years he has been doing a good business at Manning, but came to Denison thinking it would afford a better field. The new firm is fully deserving of a share of your patronage.

W. A. McHenry went to Des Moines this week and purchased a fine pair of Hambletonian horses for family use. He extends his thanks to Gov. Shaw for his courtesy in sending his coachman and those Morgan steeds and his excellent turn-out to take him on a tour of the city and show him where carriage horses might be purchased. "Long live the Governor."

A BRAVE DEFENSE.

The Bulletin has come to Colonel Economy's defense. It prints his portrait with "concealed" weapons in full view. It states that the Colonel is receiving but $25.00 extra. This it knows to be untrue. It also congratulates the people that the Colonel did not make it an even thousand while he was about it. In this last we join with the Bulletin most heartily. It was mighty lucky for the taxpayers that the Colonel did not make more than a $225 raise.

But seriously, is this all the defense the Colonel's friends have to offer? It so they had better gloss it over with silence.

Just think of it. The Colonel and the board connive to get $225 per year more out of the tax payers, the defense is First. A pure lie—that the raise is but $25.00.

Second—that the county is lucky that they did not make it a $1,000. Such a defense will not wash.

COLLINS WINS.

A recount was made on Tuesday in the contest between McNertney and Collins over the election of Justice of the Peace in Nishnabotny township. Fred Jepsen acted for the board of supervisors. P. S. Peterson for McNertney and J. P. Jones for Collins. The result of the recount was Collins 157, McNertney 153, Gleiser 173. The count made just after election showed Collins 164, McNertney 157, Gleiser 169. Mr. Collins has been declared elected.

COURT CONVENES.

Court opened on Monday morning, Judge Z. A. Church presiding. The docket was called and many cases continued. Two were set for trial, Crow vs Crow for Thursday and Rogers vs Sprecher et al for Wednesday. The grand jury is in session today and the trial jury is called for next week. This week will be devoted chiefly to the hearing of motions, etc.
