Joseph Brogden starts this week for a month's visit with friends and relatives in and about Cleveland, Ohio. We trust that he will have a very pleasant time. He says that the reason Mrs. Brogden did not go was that she was afraid to leave her house plants.

W. W. Cashman of Charter Oak has filed a bill of sale on his store property for the benefit of his creditors. Cash is a whole-souled, good hearted man, and we more than suspect that it is his leniency with others that has caused his present business embarrassment. We hope he will soon be on his feet again.

Grandma Green of Kenwood has been sick for about two months and was recently taken to her son, Frank in Dow City, where a very complicated operation was performed. Her sons, Elsworth and Charlie, were summoned to her bedside. She is in a very critical condition at this writing. We wish her a complete recovery.

The interior of the First National Bank is undergoing some neat repairs in the shape of new frescoing, etc. The work is being done by Fauchs Bros., of Omaha, and when finished it will make one of the finest banking offices in this part of the state. This is the same firm which did the frescoing at the Baptist church and the First National will soon have an office worthy of its ever growing business.

M. A. Harding has sold his blacksmith shop to H. Estabrook of Dow City. Mr. Harding has done well in his business, and has made a host of friends in Denison who would be loathe to see him and his estimable family move away from Denison. Mr. Estabrook comes highly recommended as a workman and a citizen and we wish him abundant success.

Rev. Wm Wright, of Vail, is in Denison visiting his son, Dr. W. T. Wright. Rev. Mr. Wright is one of the most lovable men in Crawford county, his whole lifetime has been spent in good deeds, and many are the burdened hearts into which he has poured the balm of consolation. He has that old time courtesy and mildness of manner which is, alas, rare in this too positive day, but he is nevertheless, a clear, strong thinker and possesses a vast fund of information and a memory unimpaired by age. It is a pleasure thus to pay our respects to him and to wish him a happy, gracious new year.

VOLUME XXXIV.

On Tuesday [the REVIEW began its thirty-fourth year of existence. Ushered into life when Denison was but a struggling village in the pioneer days, it has kept pace with the growth of the city, and has always endeavored to do its share to promote the welfare of its native town and county. It has always been true to its constituency and to what it felt to be the just and the true. During the past year the REVIEW suffered an irreparable loss in the death of him who had been at its helm for almost a quarter of a century, and whose thought and ability gave it a reputation that was more than state-wide. The work has fallen onto younger and more inexperienced shoulders, but the present publishers are straining every effort to make the old REVIEW still more useful and interesting. To tell the truth, dear readers, publishing a county newspaper is to a great extent a thankless task. People demand more of their newspapers now than ever before. The amount of original home-set matter printed each week in the REVIEW of today would have sufficed for a month of REVIEW's in 1870. In the meantime we do not find that subscribers are any more prompt to pay up than they were a quarter of a century ago. It is the same old story of neglect and forgetfulness, and the paper, like the doctor, is expected to make its visits for nothing. The actual cost of running and maintaining the REVIEW averages not less than $10 every day in the year, including Sundays. This expense must be met before one cent is earned for the publishers. We are not discouraged however, we have faith that our subscribers appreciate the REVIEW and are willing to pay for it.

The year of 1899 promises to be full of good things for all, it will be a year full of interest in the world's history. History is made fastly in these days, and the REVIEW expects to keep its readers well posted on all that transpires both at home and abroad. We claim for the REVIEW that it gives the best and quickest news service in the county; that its local news is the newest and most reliable, that its county correspondence is by far the best; that its literary features are the most carefully edited; that it most thoroughly represents the interests of all the people; and that in enterprise and energy; in anxiety to please and satisfy its readers it is unsurpassed.

With your help the REVIEW will excel itself during 1899 and make its thirty-fourth year the best of all. You can help by contributing to its columns, by giving us the news, and paying for your subscription.

This may sound more like a dun than an anniversary article, but it is sometimes necessary to tell the plain facts, and the facts in this case are that in order to maintain the present high standard of the REVIEW it is necessary to have money. We are offering no premiums this year; we have been putting all our money into the REVIEW and we think our readers will better appreciate a good paper without a map than a poor paper with one. So help us if you can to make year 34 the best of all.

BAND CONCERT.

Bills are out announcing a band concert to be given by the Denison band at Germania hall on Wednesday evening January 11. The concert is to be under the direction of Mr. A. H. Brown which fact alone insures its success. The boys have spent a good many evenings in practice, and have reached that point of excellency so rare with amateur bands. The management has placed the price of admission within the reach of all—ten cents all over the house, and the hall should be well filled. If the concert meets the approval of the public arrangements will be perfected whereby the band will appear in concert every two or three weeks during the season.

I. V. JACKSON, ATTORNEY.

The many friends of Mr. I. V. Jackson will be glad to learn that having completed with much credit his law course at Drake University, he has decided to locate in Denison. Crawford county people have known him, man and boy, for many years, and they know he is honest, capable and upright. He has the determination to win and we believe he will. At present he has not been able to secure a suitable office room but he will soon do so and hang his shingle to the breeze.

The Penelope club spent a pleasant time at the home of Mrs. W. J. Scriver Tuesday. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Voss.

The advertisement of J. W. Horton contractor and builder appears in this issue. Mr Horton is thoroughly reliable and a good workman.

Rev. H. C. Nash has accepted the pastorate of the Baptist church at Eagle Grove. This is a good church and he will surely add to their success.

Mrs. A. W. Wiggins departed Thursday for a visit to her sisters in Dedham Mrs. Hoffman and Miss Robertson. Her mother, Mrs. A. Robertson, is spending the week in Denison during her absence.

Mr. C. Green offers some of his fine poultry for sale (see advertisement) and as his stock is well known and usually sells quickly we would advise you to write him as soon as possible if you wish to buy.

The Friday club will meet on next Friday evening at the home of Mrs. W. C. Van Ness. The gentlemen will be invited and the subject "Art" will be illustrated by stereoptical views by Professor Van Ness.

Mrs. Lee, who has so many warm friends in Denison, has secured a good position in the schools of New York City. In a severe competitive examination she was one of ten out of two hundred who passed.

Word has been received of the arrival of a fine, eight pound baby girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Wheeler, of Chicago. Mrs. Wheeler nee Nellie Johnson has many friends here who join in congratulations.

The Hub Clothing Store make an announcement of January bargains which is worth your attention. This firm is doing a good business and have already built up a first class reputation for reliable goods and low prices.

M. A. Harding was called to Camanche last week by the sad news of the death of Mrs. Spooner, Mrs. Harding's mother. Mrs. Harding was unable to make the journey herself. Mrs. Spooner was an estimable and much loved woman. She was 71 years of age at the time of her death.

On page three of this issue will be found an advertisement of the administrator's sale at the Robinson farm in Milford township. Mr. Robinson was one of our best farmers and his machinery and stock were always in the best possible condition. It will pay to attend this sale.

Mr. N. J. Wheeler has been elected manager of the Denison Electric Light Company, Mr. M. King retiring. Mr. Wheeler is a good business man and a fine practical electrician, in fact almost the first electrical apparatus in Denison was that which Mr. Wheeler had in his old brick store in the navy yard.

The thirteen reputable merchants who have joined with The REVIEW in the guessing contests will doubtless be pained to learn that they are running a lottery. We thought in a lottery some one had to lose, and that the advertisement of a lottery was not allowed in the mails. We would advise the disappointed failure who takes exception to the contests to cut the coupons out of his exchange and guess again.

Mr. Henry Klinker has bought out the furniture stock owned by Mr. P. H. Rank and will continue the business at the old stand. Mr. Klinker is an energetic, wide-awake young man who will push the business for all it is worth. He has many friends here and will undoubtedly be successful. Look for his business announcement in our next issue. Mr. Rank will remain in Denison and may re-enter into another business in the spring.

RAILROAD CASES ON.

(Special Review.)
Jefferson, Iowa, Jan. 6, 1899.—The railroad injunction cases are now being heard at this place. Yesterday was consumed in hearing testimony and it is now all in. This morning Judge J. F. Duncombe opened the case for the Fort Dodge & Omaha, N. M. Hubbard Jr. replied for the Northwestern, and is now making his affirmative speech. The trial has been very spirited throughout and the hearing will probably not be finished before tomorrow night. Judge J. P. Conner is here from Denison as counsel for the Ft. Dodge & Omaha. A large number of railroad officials are present, the Central people coming in a special car from Fort Dodge via Fonda.

NEPOTISM.

An effort is being made to arouse some feeling against Clerk Kruger because he has seen fit to install his sister-in-law as duty. It is not THE REVIEW's place to enter into a defense of Democratic officials, yet we feel that it is not upon Mr. Kruger, but upon the system of Democratic county campaign politics that the blame should fall.

It appears that it is customary among the Democrats of this county for the candidates to bear almost all of the expense of the campaign themselves. This reduces the campaign from a matter of principle to a mere selfish office grabbing scheme, in which the only people supposedly enough interested to contribute are the men who get the offices.

What do you suppose it costs a man in this Democratic county to be nominated and elected on the Democratic ticket? We do not know exactly, but we have enough information at hand to justify us in saying that it is appalling. We know that the bill for drinks etc., charged to one candidate to a large extent without his knowledge, on the day the Democratic nominating convention was $65. This was but the close of an ante-convention canvass which must easily have cost $100. After the convention the expense is but begun. The last democratic canvass was so expensive that an extra assessment was made. We learned of this and going to Mr. Kruger we asked him if it was true that his assessment was between $120 and $130. He said it was not that much. We asked if it was not more than $100 and he admitted that it was. If the assessment was made on the basis of salary, and it probably was, we find that Carey, Kruger and Criswell must have paid over $100 each. While the lesser candidates were bled for from $50 to $75. Aside from this must be taken into account all the personal expenses of the candidates, and we feel safe in saying that close upon $2,000 were spent in Crawford county last fall by Democratic candidates to secure their nomination and election. What this vast sum was spent for it is needless to inquire, but is it not a sad commentary that it is necessary for men to literally buy their way into office? Was this money spent by the "friends of the common people" to expound the principles of free silver, or was it merely a campaign of booze and boodle?

You can answer this question for yourselves, but it does appear strange that this "holier than thou" party should find it necessary to expend such sums in Democratic Crawford, and that no one of their so-called "patriots" feels called upon to contribute unless he has an office in view. Under these circumstances we do not wonder that democratic officials want to confine all the salaries to their own families.
