DEMOCRATIC POLITICS.

The democratic situation has developed a queer state of affairs. It seems now impossible for more than one Irishman to find a place on the ticket. The German element does not seem inclined to yield more, and barely that. This being the case both Jones for treasurer and O'Hare for attorney are posing as the special choice of the Irish democrats. They feel that both cannot win and it is now an open secret that the O'Hare delegates will oppose Jones' nomination through thick and thin.

Anyone but Jones is their sentiment on the treasurership and they make many statements as to Jones' weakness. It is probable therefore that the Jones supporters will not be overzealous in O'Hare's behalf should the vote in the convention corroborate the statement made above. Both candidates for attorney, for there are in reality but two since the gang went back on Goldschmidt, appear very confident. The O'Hare men predict that either Kemming or Kuehl will receive the treasurership but we are of the opinion that with them the wish is rather to the thought. Lorenzen's strength is the puzzle of the treasurership contest. There is a feeling that had Andy announced himself earlier he would have won. Even as it is Lorenzen may win. The REVIEW has endeavored to give the news of the democratic pre-convention fight with partiality toward none. We believe every candidate will say we have treated all with fairness. It remains next Wednesday for the republicans to nominate a ticket of superior men and if we mistake not they will do it.

A CHARACTERISTIC SPEECH.

The Sac Sun Gives an Account Roman's Speech Before Democratic Convention.

In its account of the Sac county democratic convention the Sun speaks as follows of the speech delivered by J. B. Romans:

Mr. J. B. Romans of Denison, was introduced by Rudolph Hiersche. He said that he came to tell why it was better for the farmer, the producer and the laboring man to vote for Fred White instead of the present incumbent. He said that Fred White, being a farmer, was more in sympathy with the producing classes than Mr. Shaw. He gave as one of the reasons for the good times the production of as much gold in 1898 as of gold and silver in any previous year. He said it makes no difference as to the color of money, whether it be white or yellow or both, if only the quantity is sufficient, and had the audacity to assert that such was the democratic contention in 1896. He denounced trusts as injurious as they stifle competition and extort exorbitant profits. He said he quit the republican party because protection fosters trusts, and he said not a word about the 16 to 1 monetary ratio which he advocated while professing to be a republican, and which he made his principal contention for three years. He said that he believed all governments derived their just powers from the consent of the governed. The United States, according to his view, would be an oppressor in the Philippines. He inquired, why the dark-skinned people of those islands should not have the same rights as the colored men of the south, as if the United States were not planning to give the Filipinos the same privileges as the negro. He declared that if he were a banker he would vote for Governor Shaw, but as a business man or farmer he would not do so. Mr. Romans did not say, though it is probable that he might truthfully have said, that he is a richer man than the man against whom he was trying to arouse a class prejudice, and Mr. Romans did not make his money as a producer either. He was glad to hear that the trusts had thrown 35,000 traveling men out of employment but he was glad, because they would not be out electioneering for McKinley in 1900. He declared Fred White a statesman, a philosopher, a farmer and a Christian gentleman.

Lacey speaks Wednesday afternoon.

DEATH OF D. P. DEWITT.

Again we are called upon to chronicle the taking from our midst one of the old land marks of Crawford county, Mr. D. P. DeWitt, at the age of 69 years, who died at his home on Monday evening, Sept. 25, 1899, at 8:15 o'clock. The cause of his death was kidney trouble and liver complaint.

The deceased was born in Watertown, New York, on Sept. 22, 1830. He was married to Sarah Lamb on Sept. 30, 1849. To them were born one son and one daughter. In 1869 the family moved to Clinton county, Iowa, where his wife died August 15, 1873. In 1876 he came to Crawford county and was married to Anna Laughridge on Sept. 23 of the same year. He leaves a wife, one son, Mr. D. D. DeWitt of West Side, and one daughter, Mrs. F. A. Smith of Stockholm, Iowa, three grandsons and three granddaughters besides numerous other relatives to mourn his loss.

The funeral was held at the M. E. church on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, and on account of the absence of Rev. W. A. Richards from the city, Rev. Maxwell of Vail delivered the sermon, and the remains were laid to rest in the West Side cemetery, followed by a large concourse of relatives and friends.—West Side Journal.

MOTHER.

Of all sweet words e'er tho't or spoken,
E'er penned by lord or beggar,
There's one to me more dear than all,
This simple word is mother.

But why should it so precious be?
'Tis made of but six small letters,
Yet bound within that narrow space
We find home's love in fetters.

When in childhood's sunny paths of joy
Strew'd all the way with flowers,
We oft' forget that for her joys
She's taken all our sorrows.

But past and gone are childhood's days,
Youth's sky is dark with trial,
But just beyond those darksome clouds
We see a mother's smile.

Oh! Call her friend? She's more than that,
She's dearer than any brother.
A friend is true when all is well,
But in sorrow there's none but mother.

Time flies. It lingers no longer,
She too, is growing old,
And from her wrinkled brow so white
The same old story is told.

'Tis this. 'Tis we who have caused them,
Those wrinkles so many, and deep,
That tottering step, that stooped shoulder;
What tales would they tell could they [speak:

We've caused them, we'll never dispute it,
But gone are those actions of yore,
There's one thing remains in our favor,
We'll treat her as never before.

Oh! scorn not that face, sad and weary,
That face oft' uplifted in prayer,
To our glorious Father in heaven,
To guide you and make you His care.

Oh! scorn not those hands hard and toil worn
They have gathered the thorns on life's

[way.
In memory fondly they'll linger
When earth's glories have faded away.

Hon. John F. Lacey,

The brilliant Congressman from the Sixth District will speak at the

OPERA HOUSE

In Denison on the afternoon of

October 4th,

Mr. Chas. Bullock is a candidate for representative. This will be a surprise to many, but not to those who have known how Charley has itched to get back into legislative halls all these years. Mr. Bullock would make a much better member than Mr. Blume however. He would be able to do something for the location of a State Normal school here, which Mr. Blume, who was positively unknown to a majority of the members of the last session, could never do. Mr. Blume's voice was never heard and his name was not known, save when the clerk read the roll.

The Bulletin is evidently trying to get into "juxtaposition" with its party. A lengthy editorial advises democrats to bring their brains with them to the county convention. We had supposed this was always done and are surprised that Mr. Caswell should find it necessary to warn his party associates to that effect. Perhaps if all follow his advice there will be enough on hand so that a little might be left in the Bulletin sanctum where it is badly needed. Mr. Caswell takes up the race question and handles it very delicately. The offices should be divided among Americans, Irish and Germans, but how? If the Bulletin article means anything it means that Jones' or O'Hare or both should be nominated.

As a sample of political narrowness we would state that the Bulletin makes no mention of Congressman Lacey's speech here next Wednesday—and the Bulletin pretends to be a newspaper.

Mr. Cook shows by his editorials that he knows as little about republican politics as he does about democratic politics. Perhaps he will stay in one party long enough some day to get fairly acquainted with it.

How do the other candidates who have paid their $5 for fair treatment like that? It's very nice to theorize, but who is to be sacrificed? Are Kuhl, Kemming and Lorenzen to lay down their ambitions? Or, if O'Hare is to be the Irishman what has become of Goldschmidt with whom Mr. Caswell went out campaigning about ten days ago? It looks as though Goldschmidt was to be lamb-led to the slaughter. The Bulletin is against Jones and thus, reduced to simple terms, its classic editorial means O'Hare and nothing more. This, again reduced to simple terms, means anything to beat Shaw Van. The REVIEW is not one of Shaw Van's backers, far from it, but we wonder that the Bulletin, the director-general of Crawford's democracy does not come out and say what it means. It will be noticed that the Bulletin is silent as to the turning down of Goldschmidt, silent in reply to accusations of opposing all its home candidates for treasurer and silent—by the way, as to juxtaposition.

The story is going the rounds of the state press that Gov. Shaw is to make his home in Denison next year, is incorrect. As his children will be away at school the Governor will give up his Des Moines residence and take rooms at an hotel, but he will not make his home in Denison until after the expiration of his second term as Governor.

Some democrats are wondering if the gang will win to-morrow. They are wondering if the newly converted and newly imported, who are, in the eloquent words of the father of the court house "a detarimint to the party", will be able to lord it over the old time democrats, who were fighting the battles of their party when the new bosses were either in opposition or swaddling clothes.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul wills returned this morning from a brief trip to Omaha for business and pleasure.

E. Gulick took in the exposition one day this week.
