THE TICKET.

It is recognized on all sides that the ticket nominated on Wednesday is, taken as a whole, the best ever brought before the people of Crawford county. There is no doubt but that if the coming election were a non-partisan one; if the decision were to rest wholly on the merit of the candidates, the ticket nominated on Wednesday would be elected by a thousand majority. One reason for the superiority of the ticket is that the democratic was simply the result of a combination of the strength of various candidates, it was a case of you tickle me and I'll tickle you. In such cases the qualifications of the man are apt to be lost sight of, the only question being if my township votes for him, his township will vote for me. The convention on Wednesday was a deliberate body, it was not handing out bouquets; it was not paying political debts; it was not looking toward future political "swaps"; it had but one object in view—to nominate such a ticket as should command the respect and confidence of every voter in the county. The result is a ticket worth working for, worth voting for, and if the necessity must be, worth being defeated for.

We ask every voter to compare the two tickets, man by man. Take into consideration the nature of the office to be filled, take into consideration the fitness of the man to fill the office and then decide—not on the strength of partisanship, or nationality or prejudice—but on straight forward business principles.

Dr. J. J. McWilliams, the candidate for Representative, is a pioneer son of Crawford, born where our college now stands, he has spent all his life in Crawford county. Himself the son of our first physician, he became a doctor, graduating from the Rush Medical College in Chicago. We shall publish his biography in another issue, we want the people to know all about him. Suffice it to say that in his practice at Charter Oak he has become a friend and counsellor in hundreds of homes. He has been a friend in need to many a poor person lying in the agonies of pain. His career as a physician has been an honest and honorable one. He is a man among men, a genial, wholesome man, a man not afraid to make up his own mind and not afraid to express it when occasion arises. He is a man who would make himself felt in legislative halls, a man capable of leading public thought, a man who will represent Crawford county not merely as a voting machine at roll call, but as an active, live factor in shaping events.

C. E. Price, of Vail, is the candidate for Treasurer. Down in Vail they call him Charley. He has been good enough for the democrats of Vail to vote for for many a time after time. He has been a banker, we suppose this crime (?) will be laid to his door. The democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor two years ago was a banker, the chairman of the last democratic county convention was a banker, but we suppose that is different. Mr. Price has been a banker. His bank was safe and reliable, democrats and republicans trusted their money to his charge, and he never betrayed a trust. Is he not a pretty safe man to handle the county's money? He is an expert accountant. Is that a bad qualification for a county treasurer? What kind of a man would you want to hire if you needed a treasurer for your own business? Would you not, if you could, employ a man whose honesty had been tried and proven; a man who knew about handling monies and accounts? How about it, now, just as a practical question?

For county attorney we offer you an ATTORNEY. Mr. Cyrus Beard, our candidate for county attorney, studied law two years in the law office of Hon. G. G. Bennett at Washington, Iowa, before entering the law department of the State University of Iowa from which he graduated in 1874 and has ever since been engaged in the active practice of his profession, giving his entire time to his practice. For many years he was a resident of Harlan, Shelby county, Iowa, where his record as a man and a lawyer can be investigated by any one wishing to look him up. In 1890 he moved to Wyoming on account of the health of his family, and became a partner with U. S. Senator Clark of that young state. He has always had as his clients men who sought a careful, conservative lawyer, who sought to keep his clients out of litigation. His record appears in the district and supreme courts of both Iowa and Wyoming and in the U. S. court. When Gov. Shaw was elected he was looking about for a man to take charge of the important law business of the firm of Shaw & Kuehnle, and selected Mr. Beard. He has been a resident of Denison since January 1, 1898, and if any one has doubts as to his qualifications for the office for which he has been nominated, let them inquire of the attorneys of Denison of either party or the judges before whom he has practiced.

How does the idea strike you to have a county attorney of such capacity and experience that when an important case arises it will not be the first duty of the board hire a lawyer.

Mr. E. S. Plimpton is the candidate for Superintendent of Schools, and few men in the county are better equipped than he to fill the position. If Mr. Plimpton, whom we all know as a man of sterling integrity and spotless character, has ever had a "fad" it has been that of education. For more than fifteen years he has been a member of the Denison school board. Much of the success of our local schools is due to his efforts. He has been treasurer of Denison for many years and his accounts have always been a model of accuracy and never has the town lost a penny of the monies entrusted to his care. There is hardly a man in the county who has a deeper affection for the children. His heart and hand have ever been open to them. He is the friend of every child who knows him because he takes an interest in them. He has been a friend of higher education. He has sent his children not only through the schools of Denison, but has given them a college education. The only surprise to those who know him is that he should accept the nomination; he did it because he loves the work, because he feels that if elected he could be of benefit to the children whom he loves so well. He has filled every capacity as a pupil, a teacher, and a director. Do not want such a man to oversee our schools? Do you think it would be a good thing to have an educated man to superintend the education of others?

It is the same way with Surveyor as it is with the rest of the ticket. With Uncle Morris McHenry on the ticket there is no question as to which man should be employed by the county. Whom do you employ for your private surveying? Answer that question and you have named the man for whom you should vote to have charge of the county business. Uncle Morris is too well known to need further introduction at our hands. All who know him like him and honor him and trust him.

For Coroner, Dr. W. B. Evans, another pioneer, is presented. For years it was considered best to select a physician for coroner. For a time the office became so unimportant that this custom was departed from and Mr. J. H. Clough was selected. He filled the office to the satisfaction of all. Upon his departure from the county Mr. M. N. Smith was appointed. As the county has grown in population, as the number of railroads have increased the office is becoming of more importance, and the people should see to it that a physician, a man who knows something about the matters pertaining to life and death, is elected. Dr. Evans was nominated on account of his being a physician and because his residence at the junction point of all the railroads makes him easily accessible to every part of the county. The office of coroner is of very little political importance and were the circumstances different but little stress would be laid upon this office. It makes little difference to the people whether the coroner is a republican, democrat, populist or prohibitionist, but the people are interested in having a man who is actuated by a due regard for humanity and decency. During the campaign THE REVIEW will take occasion to speak more explicitly on this subject which is to us a painful one; were it not for duty as publisher we would not make disclosures effecting the reputation of our present coroner. The statements we shall make, if not true, are libellous. We shall make them knowing this fact and shall state nothing which cannot be proven before a judge and jury.

For supervisors the ticket includes two of as honorable and substantial business men and farmers as can be found in the county. Mr. J. R. Brocklesby is the choice of his neighbors living in the end of the county; they have every confidence in him, he is one of our old settlers; is identified with the interests of the people of the east end of the county and they will give him a hearty support.

Mr. Gustav Rabe is one of our most prosperous and capable German farmers. He is a man of marked ability, his neighbors have shown their confidence in him by electing him treasurer of their mutual insurance company. Mr. Rabe is one of the many whom free silver has driven from democratic ranks. The two candidates will be splendid additions to the board. They are broad minded business men, capable of transacting any business that may come before them in a business like manner.

This is the ticket which we hope will be elected in Crawford county this fall. It is composed of good men and true. Every person, democrat or republican, whom we have heard speak of it remarks upon its great strength and suitability. It is a good ticket for republicans, a good ticket for democrats, a good ticket for every man who loves good government.

COLLEGE CULLINGS.

Mr. Frederick W. Eastman has been engaged to train the choir of the Methodist church in Dow City until January 1st. He will spend Saturday afternoon and evening there in teaching. Miss Terry and Miss Tuttle will teach there also.

The faculty of the conservatory have following concerts arranged for the ensuing week: Manila, October 6; Charter Oak, October 10; Dow City, October 13. Concerts are partially arranged in Carroll, Dunlap, Logan and Jefferson.

The following pupils have registered in the conservatory for the fall term: Mrs. J. N. Bradley, Misses Chapin, Craft, Kruger, Beatrice and Florence Kirkup, Garnett Romans, Grace Van Ness, and Messrs. Gable, Harthun, John Romans and Albert Rippen; Denison; Misses Hack and Latchaw, Corley, Iowa; Misses Ruth and Calla Richards, Arion; Mr. Roy Jordan, Battle Creek; Mr. John Wentzel, Giddien.

Mr. Eastman spent Thursday in Logan and Dunlap on business.

The Baptist church has engaged Mr. Eastman and Miss Terry to sing in the church during the next three months. Mr. Eastman will train the choir during this period.

Plans are being made by several of the singers in Denison, looking toward the formation of a mixed chorus of seventy voices. Such an organization would be a fine thing for Denison, and the sooner it is organized the better. Get it started and give the soldiers some good music when they return.

Mr. Jos. Dougherty of Vail has entered the shorthand department, also Mr. Chas. Hoffman.

Miss Mae Hoover is a new pupil in the bookkeeping course.

The football eleven is rejoicing in the possession of a new football. The past week has been spent in perfecting the signals and team-play.

The first number of the Star is positively promised for this week.

Mr. Kuehnle called at the college last week and arranged for the tickets for the lecture course this season.

Mr. Eastman has a fine selection of the better class of music at the studio in the college, especially of fine vocal solos. Any singers who wish to look over this music are welcome to do so.

The second half of the fall term of the conservatory opens Saturday, October 14.

Mr. Eastman has placed in the public library a selection of books on musical history from his private library. These books are for reference books to be used by the high school students in their musical history work. Any others who have occasion to consult such books are welcome to their use.

The Bulletin says the Arion editor "went up against a buzz-saw." Not on your life, Caswell! We not only know the difference between a real democrat and a make-believe but know the difference between a political ring and a buzz-saw. It was the "ring" we were up against. We have been agitated before, and we want to say right here, we have never yet seen one strong enough that the people did not eventually rise up and crush it out of existence.—Arion Herald.
