ORKIN BROTHERS, Denison, Iowa.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, NOVEMBER 2nd, 1899.

MY DEAR BROTHERS:—I have been in Cincinnati the past week and have just succeeded in getting the biggest bargain in fine winter cloaks that I have ever found in all my experience. I have purchased the entire stock of materials of H. Rosebaum & Co., the famous cloak house, and have had the goods made up with good workmanship and in the most up-to-date fashions. They are perfect garments and they have cost no more for the complete garment than is usually paid for the materials alone. I send you a consignment of 400 of these cloaks of all sizes, shapes and fashions. I know this is a large consignment, but I believe you can dispose of all of them as you can afford to retail them at what they would cost your competitors at wholesale. You are new in the cloak business in Denison and I would advise you to sell these cloaks on a low margin. You can absolutely undersell all competition and establish a reputation as the best and cheapest cloak house in your county. I am sure your customers will be delighted with the cloaks and at the ridiculously low prices for which you can sell them. I had to buy an extra large quantity in order to get such a low price, but I believe they are winners and will make us many friends, not only at Winterset, but at Denison and Carroll. They will not need much pushing after the people see the goods and compare the prices with those of other merchants. As I said before, I consider this the best bargain I have ever made and the garments ought to sell like hot cakes. With regards to all,

Your brother, A. LEVITT.

P. S.:—I have also secured a snap bargain in Infant's and Children's Coats, ladies' undershirts and collarettes. These consist of all kinds of children's coats, in eider downs, broadcloths, cloakings and boucles and are superior goods. You can afford to sell them cheap. A. L.

IOWA RETURNS ARE ALL IN.

Shaw Receives a Plurality of 56,500 and Almost Double Majority of 1897. DES MOINES, Nov. 10.—The last of the Iowa counties were heard from yesterday. The complete figures give Governor Shaw a plurality of 56,500. Shaw's plurality two years ago was 29,866, while this year it will be almost twice that figure. The Democratic party was victorious this year in but 14 out of 99 counties in Iowa, while two years ago Fred E. White carried 21 counties in the state. The most noticeable gains were made in Allamakee, Cerro Gordo, Crawford, Dallas, Floyd, Jackson, Polk, Scott, Story, Webster and Woodbury counties. In Crawford county, the home of Governor Shaw, the Democratic plurality of 729 of two years ago was reduced to 297, while in Keokuk county, the home of White, the Republican plurality of 289 was this year increased to 807. Fusion Majority in Nebraska, LINCOLN, Nov. 10.—Complete returns from 87 of the 90 counties in the state give Holcomb 109,951; Reese, 90,259, a fusion majority of 13,692. AFTER STATE BOARD.

Pacific Express Company Carries Its Case to the Supreme Court. LINCOLN, Nov. 10.—Another lawsuit involving the constitutionality of the various state boards was argued and submitted to the supreme court. In the case of the Nebraska Telephone company against the state, in which the points raised were practically the same as those argued today, the court handed down a decision favorable to the boards and evading the issue as to constitutionality on the ground that the petition did not state sufficient cause for equitable relief along that line. The case heard today was begun by the Pacific Express company and is, in brief, an action to prevent the state board of transportation from fixing, establishing or reducing express rates.
