M. W. A. RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS in the course of Divine Providence, a great and bitter sorrow has befallen upon the hearts of our beloved and esteemed neighbors, B. Alma Jordan, James S. Jordan, Myron Myres and J. G. Myers of this Camp and A. G. Myers of Denison Camp, No. 315 in the death of their beloved sister, Mrs. Olive Lentz, wife of Samuel Lentz, now there-fora

Be it resolved by Deloit Camp, No. 5881, M. W. A. that we extend to our sorrowing neighbors and to the weeping mother, stricken husband and motherless children of the deceased our most heartfelt sympathy and condolence, in this their hour of shadow and darkness; assuring them that we sorrow while they weep and suffer for their pain; mourning with them their irreparable loss. That we realize how futile any words that we might utter would be toward assuaging the bitterness of the terrible sorrow that bows them down, and which would become more bitter as time goes on, were it not for the hope that springs eternal in the human breast. To this hope, the hope that tells you mother, that your daughter lives; that bids you husband, know that yet again will your companion give to you the old time greeting; that gives to you, weeping children your mother once again; and that to you, brothers and sisters returns your dear departed sister a living reality in a better, purer and brighter sphere than this, where you shall all see and know her again, to this hope we commend you in this your hour of grief and wee

RESOLVED further that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this Camp and published in the Denison Review, Bulletin and Journal and Dow City Enterprise, and a copy be sent to the mother and husband of deceased and to each of the above named neighbors.

CARROLL'S SHERIFF A STAYER.

His Prisoner Jumps From a Moving Train and Mr. Sheriff Jumps Too.

Heard—Yesterday's Cedar Rapids Republican started a column article by saying:

"George S. Nestle, the Sheriff of Carroll county, is a hero in the eyes of the Cedar Rapids police force, but in the eyes of the people of Carroll and Carroll county do not give him a reception when he arrives home, they need never seek any favors of the big policeman of Cedar Rapids when they come to this city. Mr. Nestle showed pluck and determination, and faced dangers Monday afternoon that few men would, and succeeded in recapturing one of the worst criminals that ever infested Iowa."

It seems that the innocent looking McDonald who stole the goods from a car at Glidden and sentenced to six months in the penitentiary on the plea of guilty was in fact one of the worst crooks of the state. Sheriff Nestle left with his man for the Anamosa penitentiary on the Colorado Special Monday forenoon. The boy like fellow seemed all subsmissiveness and the sheriff did not handcuff him. All went well till the train pulled out of Belle Plaine when McDonald asked permission to go to the water closet, and the same was granted. But Sheriff Nestle went back with him but did not go in. As soon as the prisoner was inside he locked the door which act did not escape the vigilant sheriff. He was on the rear car and went to the back door to await developments. Only an instant after he saw his man tumbling off at the side while the train pounded along at a rapid rate. Nestle was left, the sheriff, if he captured his man, but to slide of from the rear, for the side rail was not accessible on account of the door to the vestibule. So off he threw himself and a minute later was rolling along the ballast as if shot out of a gun. He gathered himself together as soon as he could, but too late to see his traveling companion. The fellow was clear out of sight. George was not sure which way to go. But he started back toward town as fast as his legs could carry him and he is some what of a sprinter himself. He asked a farmer near by if he had seen the man who escaped from the train, but the farmer thought he and the prisoner were a pair of festive tramps and refused to take any hand in the sport. But soon Nestle located his man outside the right of way, hiding behind a telegraph pole and something else, motioning to the farmer not to give him away. But George leveled his gun on the object of his search and commanded the immediate surrender. He craned his man and soon had him on his way down the track for town. Arriving there he shoved him into the jail, where after some search for the marshal he secured a pair of handcuffs and placed him in a cell. There he waited till No. 8 came along in the evening, when he resumed his journey to Cedar Rapids. He was expected there by the police who had heard of the escape and recapture. And the interesting part of it was that the police at once recognized "McDonald" as "Reddy" Graves, a noted crook who had escaped from the jail in that city less than a month ago. They told sheriff Nestle that he had been dealing with one of the worst crooks in the state and congratulated him on the pluck and courage he showed in jumping from the train and coming back with his prisoner, especially such a noted character. The sheriff, the Republican said, was one of the worst torn up men seen in the Rapids for many a day. He looked as though he had been run through a threshing machine, and it took some time to get himself sewed together and patched up so that he could be of any use to anybody. He is spoken of as one of the gamiest little men ever seen in Cedar Rapids.

Yesterday he departed for Anamosa with the man and got him safely landed within the walls of the pen. As soon as he serves out his sentence imposed by Judge Elwood he will be re-arrested and brought to trial for grand larceny for which he was incarcerated when he made his escape a month ago.
