DO NOT FORGET.

May 11th is the date of the High School Glee Club concert. The young people of our schools have been working hard to perfect themselves for this event and they are going to give—unless all signs fail—one of the very best musical events Denison has ever witnessed. The training has been done by Prof. Eastman and Miss Terry. Denison always patronizes home institutions and the attendance at this concert should be exceptionally large.

Editorial Grief.

Owing to the absence of the editor the proofs of the editorial page were not read. We would call attention to a number of errors in order to assist our readers.

In line 3 first editorial read "gist" not "grist."

Line 24 read "do not" instead of "do."

Second line third editorial read "greatly" not "great."

In fourth editorial insert "as they" after "long" in line 11.

In line 24 read "rampant" not "rampart."

There are some other minor errors but we let them pass.

County Treasurer Theodore Kuhl was called to Elbridge, Scott county, on Thursday evening by news of the death of his father, Joachim Kuhl. Mr. Kuhl was one of the first German settlers in Iowa, and was an old friend of Mr. Claus Mundt of this city. We sympathize deeply with his son in his affliction.

A LARGE INVESTMENT

Denison Men Buy Thousands of Fertile Acres.

IN NORTH DAKOTA STATE

Land Experts Report that it is a Most Favorable Field for Location or Investment.

We have interviewed Mr. R. A. Romans, who in company with Mr. W. W. Cushman, returned last week from an extended trip in North Dakota, and we find him to be the best impressed with the possibilities of Burleigh and McLean counties, some distance north of Bismark, along the line of a new railroad now being constructed north along the Missouri river from Bismark. These gentlemen report that they believe it to be the best farming and grazing country that they have visited in North Dakota. They find that good small grain crops were produced there last year, which could be told from the growth of the old stubble, straw stacks, and grain in the country. The uplands produce the finest kind of grazing, and the creek bottoms and draws, fine hay lands. The soil is black loam, underlaid with a clay sub-soil, very similar to Crawford county, Iowa.

Fuel is practically free at the dweller's door, the whole country being underlaid with a good quality of lignite coal, which can be had at the mines which are open, for 90 cents per ton, or can be taken out free by the individuals themselves if desired, while upon nearly every quarter section similar mines could be opened up at small expense, the coal being near to the surface of the ground.

The rain fall in this particular locality appears to be the greatest west of the Red River valley. The country is well watered by creeks and springs. Some distance to the north and east of these lands, range for stock is almost limitless. Splendid opportunities are open for homesteading on good lands, close to the new towns laid out upon the new line of railroad before mentioned. It is claimed that this road will be in operation for a distance of twenty-five miles north of Bismark, by the middle of June. The country is rapidly settling up with the best class of settlers from all directions, especially from Iowa. These gentlemen believe that a splendid opportunity is open for new homes and investments in this country, and upon their representation after returning home a large tract of land was purchased by themselves and other prominent Denison parties, including County Auditor Carey, Cashier Voss, T. J. Garrison, Edgar Garrison, Judge Conner, N. L. Hunt and Nicholson Bros.

Church Notes.

BAPTIST.

The B. Y. P. U. held their regular business and consecration meeting on Monday night.

We are glad to have with us again sister Laura Brink, who has been absent for some time.

After the regular morning service the Lord's Supper was observed and the hand of fellowship was extended to a number.

We were glad to welcome home again brother Robert Plimpton, who has completed a course of medicine and is now a full-fledged M. D.

Miss Wiggins, of Dow City, was a welcome visitor at both services on Sabbath. Shewa is visiting at the home of Miss Susie Craft.

The pastor preached a very helpful sermon Sabbath morning on the subject "The Gentleness of God" and in the evening on "Sowing and Reaping."

The evening service was greatly enriched by a very pretty duet sung by Miss Grace Terry and Miss Lillian Garrison in an unusually pleasing manner.

M. E. NOTES.

The pastor will conduct the League devotional services during the month of May.

In the evening the congregation was favored with a vocal solo by a representative of Simpson college musical conservatory.

Next Sunday evening the League will give a public program in keeping with the eleventh anniversary of the founding of the society.

Sunday services at the Methodist church were well attended. The pastor gave a profitable sermon on "Justification" at the morning service.

Down at Harlan at the high school contest on Friday last the hall was crowded to its capacity; the Harlan people turned out to the tune of seven hundred. We would like to see a similar audience greet the high school quartet at the opera house on Friday evening. The occasion warrants an even larger attendance than stated. The boys and girls composing the quartets have been unusually hard at work practicing for the event, and only lack a large attendance to make it a success.

For brood sows Raven Food has no equal. The pigs will be strong and have plenty of milk. It cures scours in pigs and lambs. It removes worms from hogs, cures colds and fevers; prevents pneumonia and disease, and makes them do well. Try Dollar box; no cure, no pay and money refunded. JENNIE BAXTER, JOURNALIST.

Written by Robert Barr, Starts in This Issue.—It is Fascinating.

In Jennie Baxter, Robert Barr has painted a most interesting character. She is a brilliant girl, who, securing a position upon a London daily the managing editor of which is opposed to women journalists, proves that she can not only do the work as well but much better than the best man he has on his staff. Her triumphs are continuous and her experiences are exciting. Mr. Barr was himself a successful journalist and therefore knows how a story of newspaper work and newspaper people should be handled. The result is a serial story that is intensely fascinating and that, once begun, will hold the close interest of the reader to the end.

LEFT FOR AFRICA.

Dr. Hal. C. Simpson is Notified to Proceed to New Orleans.

Yesterday morning Dr. Simpson received word by wire to proceed at once to New Orleans where he will take charge professionally of 350 head of horses and mules bound for South Africa for the British government. The Doctor had previously made all necessary arrangements and was prepared to go this afternoon. He expects to be gone until about the first of September.

The Knights of Pythias of which Mr. Simpson is an honored member, had a sort of an impromptu reception in his honor, a farewell reception as it were. Coffee, sandwiches and cigars were freely partaken of, after which Chancellor Commander Brown in the capacity of toastmaster, called upon a number of the members for little speeches. The little talks were much enjoyed and appreciated by the doctor, but when Knight Cook arose and in a few, but appropriate remarks, presented him with a beautiful and handsomely engraved gold watch, he was completely taken off his feet. Knight Gibson, as a warm personal friend, presented a beautiful sick flag, and Dowdall Lodge No. 90, a Knight's Shield. To say that Mr. Simpson was surprised is but putting it mildly. He appreciated the fact that not every one contemplating a trip such as his, was thus protected. A knight's shield serves as a protection in case of sickness, accident or trouble of any kind. With the stars and stripes he can travel in any climate, under all conditions, and rest assured that he will not be molested.

As regards the voyage a person going as Mr. Simpson does, for what professional experience he may derive, will be greatly benefited. He will meet with many new ideas and new cases, and we trust he will return to Denison safely and with the thought that after all there is no place like home.

Read Brown's "ad." Artistically it is a beauty.

Dr. J. J. McWilliams made Denison a brief visit last week.

Mr. N. R. Wilder, of Arion, was a Thursday shopper in Denison.

Mr. Henry Stuck and lady, of Vail, attended the orchestra concert Friday night.

Mrs. Chas. Cooper and daughter, of Charter Oak, spent Monday in the county seat.

Adolph Stueber, the popular deputy auditor, went last Sunday for a visit with his mother in Lebanon, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Munro Black, of Charter Oak, visited last week with Mrs. Black's sister, Mrs. Herman Lorentzen.

Recent news from Washington to the editor indicates that Mrs. J. Fred Meyers and Miss Grace Meyers will soon return to this city.

Mis-Representative Blume seems to be fighting shy of his Denison friends—he has not been in town for weeks. Come in and visit us, Theodore. All Denison will be glad to see you.

Rev. J. B. Harris is in Chicago attending the General Conference. He will not return until next week and there will be no services at the Methodist church on next Sunday morning.

Halver Norman is having his house on the corner west of the REVIEW office moved to the northwest corner of the lot and on its old site it is reported that he will build a boarding house and hotel.

Mrs. and Mrs. B. Brodersen and children went into Chicago the last of the week. From there it is their intention to go farther east and to visit Niagara Falls and other places of interest.

Mr. Peter Watje is back from California. He has purchased a ranch in the western state. On Saturday he shipped his goods and he expects to return to the golden gate this evening or tomorrow.

Among Denison's many Saturday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shove, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dugan, Messrs. Jno. McDonnell and J. W. Brogan, of Vail; Mr. E. L. Thomas, of Paradise; Mr. and Mrs. Hershorn, Mrs. Bigelow and daughter, Mrs. Packard and Miss Allen, of Manila, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Jones, Mrs. Wood, Miss Wood and Miss Martha Bird, of Charter Oak.

A GRAND SUCCESS.

The Fifth Annual Concert the Best of All.

HAD A CROWDED HOUSE.

An Excellent Program was Carried Out—Orchestra More Popular Than Ever Before.

Again the Denison Orchestra has added new laurels to its wreath of glory. The attendance at the Fifth Annual Concert was all that could be desired. Every chair in the house was taken, and each and every person declared it was good to be there. May is an ideal month in which to give a musical entertainment; there is music in the air, the first budding of spring is announced. It was a beautiful sight to behold, looking down from the stage one's eyes were met by a sea of beautiful head adornment, the result of Denison's millinery ability—the really first opportunity of the season for the ladies to wear their new spring hats. Beautiful flowers and lovely faces were an inspiration to the musicians, who put extra effort in every movement in appreciation of the attendance. The program was of a high musical standard and was executed in a manner showing the ability of the performers. The success of the concert to a large degree is due to Director B. J. Sibbert. He is in close touch with each member of the orchestra and all were anxious to please him. Under his painstaking and careful training is the organization able to maintain its standard. As is known, the orchestra is not being run as a money making scheme, but simply to keep up in music and pass a few pleasant evenings during the winter. The members of the organization are B. J. Sibbert, 1st violin; W. P. Hover, 2nd violin; Fred Richards, 2nd violin; E. C. Chamberlin, viola; C. W. Hover, cello; W. A. Seemann, bass viol; A. H. Brown, 1st cornet; W. Hulch, 2nd cornet; W. C. Rollins, trombone; M. E. Lies, 1st clarinet; O. W. Wheeler, 2nd clarinet; E. F. Tucker, French Horn; C. S. Leech, pianist; Wm. Hagenow, drums and traps.

The program opened with a march "Honor Bright" by Brooks, showing plenty of snap and calling forth loud applause. The second number was a selection, "Il Provatore," by Verdi. This was a very difficult piece but was rendered in a manner reflecting great credit to the entire orchestra. In it were a number of taking solos and the harmony produced was fine. The third number was a beautiful waltz entitled "Robespierre" by Witt and it was with difficulty that some restrained themselves from dancing.

Next on the program was a vocal solo, "Hearts and Flowers" by Tabani, sung by Mrs. B. J. Sibbert. This lady is very popular with Denison audiences and her singing brought forth prolonged applause and an encore was necessary. She was accompanied by the orchestra, a pleasant feature.

A cornet obligato, "Nocturno", by Pflug was rendered by Mr. Brown in a most satisfactory manner. "Campin' on the Swanes" by the entire orchestra took the house by storm and was very descriptive.

Another hit of the evening was the singing of the quartette composed of Mesdames Sibbert, soprano, and Boynton as contralto, and Messrs. Boynton, bass, and Sears McHenry, tenor. The selection was a character or comic piece and was received with much mirth. An encore was given entitled "The Professor at Home," in which Mr. Boynton was the professor advertising for vocalists. Mrs. Sibbert applied for a position first, in keeping with her other solo work and then Sears McHenry in the character of a German, and Mrs. Boynton as an Irish singer created a stir that was well taken.

"Sounds from the Farm" by Lovenberg was a descriptive piece rendered by the orchestra. This represented life on a southern plantation in slavery times, opening with the dawn of day. The rooster crowing for daybreak; dawn of day; Dinah blows the horn; nigger sneaking out to the barnyard; dancing on the barn floor, etc.

The last selection was "Return of the Troops" by Eilenberg and was a fitting finale to the excellent program. All present were loud in praise of the entertainment and only wish such concerts were given oftener. After the concert those who desired remained and one of the best and most enjoyable social dances of the season was had.
