

THE WORLD IS THEIRS

Senior High School Class Has Right of Way.

AN EVENTFUL WEEK

For the Young People—Parties, Receptions and Commencements—The Program.

The High School graduates can say this week with Monte Cristo "The World is Mine." They are the biggest men and women in any town and we are glad of it and rejoice with them and do not begrudge them a bit of their taste of the joys and triumphs of life. The rest will come soon enough. The baccalaureate sermon preached last Sunday at the Baptist church was full of helpful and practical suggestions. The church was crowded and beautiful floral decorations added to the pleasure of the occasion. The Junior class entertained the seniors last Saturday at the home of Chas. Gable and in what proved to be one of the happy events of the commencement week.

The commencement exercises will take place on Friday evening. The speakers were elected by the class and without regard to class standing, but it is only fair to say that Miss Fanny Hays, one of the brightest and most thorough students ever graduated from our schools, is the ranking member of the class and graduates with the highest honors. After the commencement Supt. Failor will entertain the graduates at his home and as he says, "they need not go home until morning if they do not want to."

On Saturday evening the city hall will be the scene of a reception, given by Supt. Failor and the teachers of the high school. The invited guests include the teachers, the school board, the alumni and all those who have attended the high school during the past four years. There will be music, toasts, refreshments and a jolly good time. Among the speakers will be Geo. Morris, Horace Gregory, Irene Austin, Bessie Harris, Francis Gable, Faith Pierce and Will Meyers. Fred Soehl will give some readings and the glee clubs some of their fine selections. For the information of all we again print the program of the commencement for Friday evening:

COUNCIL IN SESSION.

The monthly meeting of the council was held last evening at which time all members were present. There was the usual grist of bills, all being allowed except one for $469 for excess pumping of water. This bill was referred to water committee for investigation.

Judd Gary asked to have a fill made at the intersection of Tremont and Washington ave., the street at this point being in a dangerous condition. After a brief discussion it was decided to employ Mr. Gary to fill the same allowing him sixteen cents per yard.

The office of special water collector was abandoned, the same to take effect July 1, and the duties of that office will fall upon the marshal.

After hearing the different reports read council adjourned.

REV. WRIGHT DEAD.

Plan of Saintly Character and Devoted Christianity.

MANY WILL MOURN HIM

Death Came This Afternoon as a Release From Months of Suffering—His Life a Noble Lesson.

Rev. Wm. Wright died at his home in Denison at half past 2 p. m., June 5th, 1900.

Mr. Wright was born in London, England, December 29th, 1824. He was educated as an architect and builder. As a young man he was employed for a few years in England after which he held a position as draughtsman in a railway construction office in Rouen, France. Here he became proficient in the French language. He came to the United States in 1848. For about three years he conducted a very successful business for himself as an architect and contractor in Baltimore. But the restlessness and yearning for something better which had driven him from home, soon led him to adopt the Christian ministry as his life's work. He graduated from the Episcopal Theological Seminary at Alexandria, Va., in 1852. In the same year he married in Philadelphia Miss Rachel Smith. Together they started after a few days in a sailing vessel for a mission field in Liberia, Africa. They were in the mission work for eighteen months, when they returned on account of sickness. Since that time Mr. Wright has held parishes or missions at Lewes, Delaware; Minersville, Pa.; Boston, Mass.; Waverly, Nashua, Denison, East Des Moines, Marengo, Grinnell, Carroll and Vail, Iowa. He has served continuously in this state from 1886 until two years ago.

While holding the parish in Pennsylvania he was quite active in the employ of the Christian Commission during the Civil War. Two years ago he was prostrated with the painful illness which caused his death. Truly may it be said of him his entire life was given to others without a thought of self.

Of five sons and a daughter, three sons and his loving wife survive. This notice would not be complete without a slightly extended reference to his work in Denison. He came here in the vigor of manhood twenty-five years ago. Soon after this was built the present Episcopal church. During the following three years he also established the Episcopal church in Vail where he again held charge from '92 to '98.

We find that words fail us in paying tribute to this good and holy man, whose whole life was a lesson of self-sacrifice and of charity and Christian devotion to all mankind. Gifted, finely educated, with brilliant prospects, he laid aside all the allurements of worldly comfort and ease to work in the vineyard of the Lord. Many are the lives made happier and better by his ministrations, many the hearts whose load of sorrow he has relieved, many the souls that have found comfort and strength and hope in his words and in his deeds. Surely, the reward of the Master is his, and he goes from earth to that place wherein his soul has for a long time lived. We cannot speak too highly of his character, nor dwell too lovingly upon his memory which he leaves as a blessed heritage to his loving wife and sons. His last years have been ones of suffering and intense pain which he bore with Christian fortitude. His loved ones can be comforted with the certain knowledge that for him death had no sting, the grave no bitterness. We regret that at this time we are unable to announce the time of his obsequies for we know that hundreds of his friends and neighbors will be anxious to be present to pay all the tribute to his memory that it is in their power to do.
