IOWA TO GAIN A CONGRESSMAN.

It is now said that the present basis of apportionment to Congress will not be changed. This would add 24 new members to congress. The states gaining representation would be as follows:
Arkansas 1 California 1 Colorado 1
Connecticut 1 Florida 1 Iowa 1
Louisiana 1 Mass. 1 Texas 2
Minnesota 2 New York 3 N. Dak. 1
Mississippi 1 New Jersey 2 N. Car. 1
Penn. 2 Wash. 1 W. Vir. 1
Total 24
Of these congressmen thirteen would probably be republican, three doubtful and eight democratic. If Iowa should receive an additional congressman it would greatly simplify the political situation in the state. It would enable each of the present congressmen to retain a district favorable to himself and open up another avenue for the ambitious men of north-western Iowa.

CAMPAIGN LESSONS.

Hon. Perry S. Heath writes for this month's issue of the "Forum" an article on the lessons of the campaign. Mr. Heath well states the facts when he says:
"The first and greatest lesson is in favor of frankness and fairness. No party can expect to win upon any other course. The next lesson is that the party must have a definite policy a charter of principles well defined and fairly laid upon actual history and not dependent upon simple prophecy, conception or unfounded utterance of an individual."

The Ladies' Aid society gave a Harvest Home supper in Hunt's hall Wednesday night of last week which was a success. The ladies arrived early in the day and with untiring efforts began making preparations for the evening. The hall was nicely lighted and the one stove made the room more than comfortably warm so that windows had to be raised. Two tables fairly groaned under their weight of good things fit to serve a king. Supper was served between the hours of 6 and 9 p. m., and there was plenty left as good as the first. We were informed that they cleared $20.

A program was rendered consisting of songs, prayer, recitations and speeches. The rumor that the hall was unsafe was thoroughly exploited Wednesday evening and no further fears need be entertained. The society was well pleased with its advantages for serving the people.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES.

The Senior-Junior society elected the following officers for the ensuing term: Pres., Horace Gregory, vice pres., Garnet Romans, Sec. and Treas., Winifred Poorman, critic, Mr. Savage, Executive committee, Garnet Romans, Winifred Poorman and Harry Morris.

Miss Lulu Bryan, a member of the Junior class, acted as teacher the first three days of last week in the room to which Miss Snell has been elected teacher.

The programs of the three high school societies may be seen on the bulletin boards in the west hall.
The senior geometry class has finished solid geometry and has taken up original work in plane.

Among the visitors last Friday afternoon were Grace Raine, Addie Randall, Bertha and Kate Kelly, Mrs. Garber, Miss Hulick, Mrs. Poorman and Levina Morris.

The grades are preparing Thanksgiving programs for next Wednesday afternoon.
The Sophomores held election of officers last Friday afternoon. They are as follows: Pres., Albert Riepen; Vice Pres., Ralph Norris; secretary, Lorenz Lorenzen; treasurer, Townsend Pearson; critic, Mr. Davies; executive committee, Tessa Fisher, George Hird and Bruce Rogers.

New pupils continue to seek admission to the already much over-crowded grammar grades and the teachers are much perplexed to know how to accommodate them. The need of another grammar grade teacher in our schools is very great.

Harry Morris has presented the schools with some handsome hand illuminated door signs bearing the name of the teachers of the various rooms with their respective grades.

Messrs. Knau and Romans were inspecting the schools Thursday and investigating the advisability of lighting a part of the high school building with electric lights. They are much needed by the janitor in caring for the building and will make possible any evening work that may be to the interest of the schools. The thoughtful interest of our school board, at all times, is a most potent element in the success of our schools.

GIBRALTER AND TENERIFFE.

Allen Rae of the United States Navy Writes Interestingly.

GIBRALTER, Nov. 17th, 1900.
DEAR FATHER: We arrived here yesterday at noon and of course our mail was awaiting us. I received four of your letters, dating up to Oct. 21, which makes this the quickest mail we have received since leaving the United States. I received also two bundles of papers.

We found the U. S. training ship Topeka here when we arrived and the Kentucky arrived here today, making the trip from New York in twelve days which is pretty good time. She is also enroute for Manila.

This afternoon we received the news of the result of election, which was that McKintley was elected by a large majority and that the largest vote was polled that had ever been cast. Of course the result was not much of a surprise as it was generally expected.

During our passage from St. Vincent here the same good weather accompanied us as we had from Pernambuco there. The weather was simply lovely and the sea very smooth, something we do not often meet with so of course we appreciate such conditions when we have them. We stopped only one day at Tenneriffe. These seemed to be very pretty islands and of course were of interest as they are the last of the Spanish possessions. The other points of interest are the scenery they present to view and the peak of Tenneriffe, a volcanic peak at the western end of the island and over twelve thousand feet high. We could see this peak for about one hundred and thirty miles, so you can easily imagine how high it is. The people of that place must be very industrious as the hills and mountains seem to be cultivated to their very tops and in places where they seemed almost inaccessible. The island must be very productive as it seemed to be quite densely populated, there being about one hundred thousand inhabitants and the island being a small one.

This is of course England's famed stronghold which commands the entrance of Mediterranean. The rock of Gibraltar which is a net work of fortifications, is at the end of a narrow neck of land which is the southern extremity of Spain. It rises on two sides almost perpendicular out of the sea to a height of twelve hundred feet. The town of Gibraltar is located right at the base of this rock on a very narrow strip of land. The territory England holds here is not more than three miles long and one wide but she has great strength massed in that small place. We are surrounded by the vine-clad hills of Spain of which we have heard so much. They are indeed a pretty sight being a fine green except the plowed fields which form a pretty contrast. And nestled quietly among them are many towns and villages bright with the many bright colors of paint one sees so much in the Spanish style of towns.
