

What is the QUESTION

If it is a question of a Chest Protector or Cough and Cold Remedies, choose the former every time. The latter may be effective, but there's the inconvenience. The Chest Protector prevents coughs and colds. It's a sort of insurance policy, and the rate isn't high. Not with the handsome chamomis and felt-lined Protectors which we are selling from 75c to $3.00. We are selling to ruin our cough medicine trade by selling everybody a Chest Protector.

One of the very pleasant social events of this social week was a party given on Tuesday evening by Miss Minnie Mill. About forty young people were present and all unite in saying that it was one of the most enjoyable parties they ever attended. The fun did not lag for an instant and the hostess had an admirable plan of entertainment for her guests. A "Spider Web" game was one of the features in which Mr. Alfred Larson and Miss Lizzie Temple were the winners. Another interesting game consisted in giving each guest a slip upon which were written ten letters, and the contest was to see who could compose the best telegram, commencing each word with one of the letters given on the slip. Bountiful refreshments were served and it was after midnight when the young people adjourned.

The New Year's ball given by the Germania society was not so largely attended as the Christmas ball. It was however, a most enjoyable affair, and those who attended were more than pleased by the efforts made by the management for their entertainment.

ARION NEWS LETTER

On Monday evening about the time the electric lights began to throw their rays over our little city, a number of people well known in this vicinity were seen to be about the home of L. M. Coon. The crowd swelled and the noise increased until finally, at about 8:30 when Marshall Widdowes arrived on the scene he found a task worthy of his bravery and experience. On pushing open the door he found that the house was full, even to the hall. Not only Arion individuals, but some from Dunlap, Dow City and even Nebraska, were mixed up in the affair. Even the Mayor and most of the town council were present, and at first were thought to be as much to blame as any one. It was finally learned that it was only a reception by the ladies of Union Aid Society in honor of their husbands. It was indeed a sight to behold to see those poor, care-worn husbands put through the ordeal of initiation into the order. Each was required to thread a cambric needle with No. 60 thread, and do the job in six seconds on penalty of being blackballed if he failed. He must solve cooking riddles and receipts, and lastly he must blow up a parlor balloon and hook it in a little ring and—well in fact go through such grief as only a married man knows. The husbands got even however by forming a joint resolution not to aid the society during the 20th century or thereafter, if any of the wives gave them away to the outside world. It was now nearing the 20th century so the ladies resorted to one of their old ruses, that always heals all of man's woes. They served out coffee, sandwiches, sweetmeats and sweet cakes, in fact every kind of cake even hoe cakes and "stomach aches" and each fellow took his same old girl out for home to keep her for the new century.
