

AMONG THE SICK.

Fine Weather Makes Much Improvement Among Sick Folks.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gould have both been confined to the house for the past week with the prevailing epidemic of grippe.

Mrs. J. D. Seagrave is recovering from a serious illness.

Mr. A. D. Randall has had a house full of sick ones for the past few weeks, but we are glad to hear that they are recovering.

Miss Alice Stephens has been unable to be at her work for the past week on account of illness.

Mrs. L. A. Sewall is recovering from a week's indisposition.

Mrs. A. D. Mahoney is quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Mahoney.

Miss Kate Kelly is now so much improved in health as to be up and about the house, and apparently has suffered but little from her attack of varioloid. In a few days all danger of infection will have been removed, and those living in the vicinity will breathe much easier.

Mrs. F. W. Ley has been quite ill with an attack of the grippe the past week.

Miss Sophia Guelk has been very ill with la grippe, but we are glad to note that she is now improving.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY

Mr. Voss' Home on Broadway the Scene of a Bold Attempt.

On Sunday evening a man by the name of Charles Myers, evidently attempted to make a burglarious entrance into the house of Mr. C. L. Voss on East Broadway. Prof. Savage heard the crash of glass and rushed out of his house next door, in time to see the miscreant endeavoring to make his escape when he found that he was discovered. John Muir was also close at hand and together they caught the man and questioned him severely as to the part he had played in the affair. Although he declared his innocence his story was too fishy to be believed and

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tabor spent today in Schleswig.

Mr. Hugo Gebert made a business trip to Omaha today.

Miss Maggie O'Donnell of Dunlap visited in Denison recently.

Mr. Theo. Holling has been in Denison the past few days visiting friends.

S. G. Wright came up from Omaha this afternoon to transact business matters.

Mrs. Wm. Huffman left on Sunday afternoon for a visit with relatives in Rodney.

Perry Marshall is rapidly on the mend. This is good news for all his many friends.

Born on Sunday, Jan. 27, to Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Lies, a daughter. We extend our hearty congratulations.

Mr. W. H. Woolston was the victim of sneak thieves recently, someone stealing the bragg robes from his barn.

Mr. John Harrison spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of his parents, coming from his college work in Omaha.

We regret to chronicle the death of infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schneider of East Boyer township on Saturday January 26th.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Grason returned on Saturday to their home in Jessup, Iowa, after a pleasant two weeks' visit with friends and relatives in Denison and vicinity.

Mr. T. E. Pearson has purchased the fine dray team of Nicholson Bros. The team is one of the finest in Denison, and under Tom's care they will be kept in prime condition and do a whole lot of good work.

The farmers' institute committee to decide on the place of holding the institute and other subjects will meet at the court house on next Saturday. Each member of the committee is requested to be present.

BIG FIRE AT DES MOINES.

Frankel Bros. Big Department Store Burns to the Ground.

DES MOINES, IA., JAN. 29.—Special to Review. A fire occurred in Des Moines this morning which totally destroyed the magnificent department store of Frankel Bros., one of the largest institutions of the kind in the state, and also did great damage to the Utica Clothing store, one of the largest clothing houses in the city. The building, while of a fine outward appearance, was in reality a frame structure, and burned like tinder. Des Moines has had particularly hard luck with its big stores; less than two years ago the Harris Emery Department store was burned to the ground. It is said that the Frankels were fully insured and it is supposed that they will rapidly re-build and re-stock their store.

HELP WANTED.

The editor of the Review has been invited to address the editors of North western Iowa on the subject of running a newspaper on the cash subscription basis. So far the Review has not lost a half dozen subscribers this year on account of its business methods and on nearly every hand its course has been commended by subscribers who prefer to have their attention called to the expiration of their subscription rather than to have a bill piled up on them. At this time there are perhaps a hundred subscribers whose time has expired within the present month who have not as yet paid for the coming year. We know that nearly if not quite all of these desire their paper continued to their address and we trust they will be prompt in their remittances so that we may not be obliged to discontinue their copies of the Review and so that we may be able to go before the editors with convincing proof that people like their newspapers like other institutions, to be run on business principles.

MRS. TIERNAN DEAD.

We learn this afternoon of the death of Mrs. Margaret Tiernan which occurred at the home of her son-in-law Mr. Wm. Buss of Union township, this morning at eleven o'clock. Mrs. Tiernan was about fifty-five years of age and leaves four children, Mrs. F. J. Branaka of Denison, Mrs. Will Buss of Union township, Mrs. W. R. Roseberry of Des Moines and Luke Tiernan of this county. The cause of her death was lung trouble and she has been a sufferer for several years past. Mrs. Branaka left for Dow City last night and was with her mother when she died. No arrangements for the funeral have as yet been made.

THE BULLETIN'S COURTESY.

Last Friday the Review met with an accident to its press which seriously delayed the publication of that evening. We wish to take this means of thanking the Bulletin for kindly granting us the use of its press. We hope we may never have a chance to reciprocate for we wish the Bulletin no such bad luck as befell us, but if an accident should befall it we will gladly avail ourselves of the opportunity to return the kindness.

HOW TO SET A TABLE.

An experienced newspaper man who recently had occasion to visit over one hundred towns in western Iowa, stated that the Nonpareil was more widely read in that territory than any other one publication. "How do you account for it?" was asked. "Because," he said, "the Nonpareil sets its table with a careful regard for the appetites and wants of its guests,"—and that's the secret of the success of the Nonpareil.

THE GUN CLUB.

On account of delays incident to the break-down of our press we are obliged to omit an account of the tournament now in progress under the auspices of the Denison Gun Club. The tournament is the most successful ever given by the Denison Club and has attracted a large number of experts from all over Iowa. Our next issue will tell all about the big meet.

Postponed.

The lecture on the song, "Love of Merrle England," announced to be given at the M. E. church on Wednesday evening of this week, is postponed to Tuesday of next week.

Mrs. Smythe, of the Chicago Quartette, who was to have presented it, has been called home by the death of her father.

THANKS.

DUNLAP, IOWA, JAN. 22, 1901. MEYERS & TECKER, Denison, Iowa. DEAR SIRS:—Enclosed please find a draft to pay another year's subscription to the Great and Only Review. You certainly print the best paper for the money anywhere in the country. Please send receipt and oblige. G. W. GREGG.

OBITUARY.

Miss Ethel Melissa Austin died this afternoon, Tuesday, Jan. 29th, at 1:30 o'clock.

Miss Austin has been a sufferer for the past year and a half, and during the past week her death has been daily, almost momentarily expected.

Death came as a relief from intense and hopeless suffering. Miss Austin was born in West Side township, Crawford county, Iowa, on February 11, 1874. She has resided the greater part of the time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Austin, although for the five years preceding her illness she taught school, first in Shelby county and later in Clay county. Her last school being in Everly, Iowa, which position she was obliged to resign on account of failing health. Physicians declare that for several years before, she had been struggling with dread disease, but like the brave, good and helpful girl she was, she continued her work until strength and health went and she was obliged to return to her home, sick and broken in body, but strong and cheerful and loving in spirit. Bravely she struggled against the encroachment of disease, hopeful almost to the end, and trying in every way to lighten the burden for her loved ones. Her life was singularly pure and beautiful in its goodness; she was a sincere Christian, helpful in all good works, and she did not forget that charity and kindness begin at home. For more than a year her parents and family have watched over her and cared for her, and many indeed are the sacrifices they have cheerfully made; that nothing might be neglected that might restore her to health.

Not long ago, Miss Austin was sent to Colorado, in the hope that the mountain air might prove a benefit. Her letters written from there were filled with bright hopefulness and words of cheer to the loved ones at home, whom she knew were watching every mail for better tidings; finally however, the physicians told her, that there was no room for hope and it was then that she returned to Denison to spend the last few days with those who had loved her so tenderly, and whose kindness and affection had brightened the dark hours of trial and pain. Our hearts bleed for the brave young life thus early called from earthly scenes, and for the loving father and mother and the sisters to whom she has been so dear, and who would have gladly suffered all themselves could they have spared her pain. We are wont to eulogize the great of earth; it is easy to find in them tremendous and over-shadowing virtues, and to minimize their shortcomings, but in the life of this young girl, devoted to her duty to her family and to her God, in the cheerfulness with which she bore her sufferings in order to alleviate the sorrows of those about her, and in the many sacrifices which her loved ones in turn made for her; there is a lesson which neither the lives of kings nor queens can teach: a lesson of simple love and faithfulness, a lesson of patience, and of kindness, a lesson that cannot fail to make its impress upon the hearts of all.

The funeral services will take place at the First Methodist church on Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, and interment will be made in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Add Morgan, of Manilla, advertises in this paper the sale of his thoroughbred Chester White Pigs. He has been in the business for the past thirteen years and has built up one of the best herds in the west. He is about to retire from business and will close out his entire herd. This should be a good opportunity for our farmers to improve their stock.

Mr. L. A. Sewell returned on Sunday from his long absence in Armour, S. D. Mr. Sewell reports that community as booming, and that he has been kept busy during his entire stay. He is now back ready for the spring campaign of building here, which he expects will be a lively one. He reports that all of Denison people in that vicinity as being well and prosperous.

A petition signed by nearly all the business men of Denison, has been forwarded to Manager Epperson of the Telephone Co., at Carroll, requesting the retention of Mrs. Allen at the central office of the Denison exchange. We understand that it has been decided to retain Mrs. Allen, and we believe that this will be for the best of the service here. Mrs. Allen can well be pleased over the confidence shown in her by the patrons of the exchange.

Much to the regret of the Woodmen of the World Mr. J. T. Carey has resigned his position as clerk to take effect on Feb. 1. Mr. Carey has made a splendid official for that body and has done much to build up the lodge. On last Saturday night the lodge elected Mr. W. R. Kirkup to fill the vacancy and as this caused a vacancy on the board of managers they showed their confidence in Mr. Carey by electing him to that position. Mr. Kirkup is a very good choice for the camp and we are sure that during his term of office the camp will not suffer by the change.

A HUSBAND'S MISTAKE

Or How a Denison Man's Heart Got the Better of His Memory.

Truly conjugal affection is a fine thing and Denison has recently afforded so excellent an example of real, genuine, fore-handed affection of the kind that we cannot refrain from mentioning it. That the evidence of this undying zeal was a trifle premature does not reflect upon the heart of the Denison man but rather indicates that in this case the heart outstripped the head. Not long ago a prominent resident went to a prominent merchant who does quite an extensive business in ordering out flowers on different occasions, and ordered some of the handsomest flowers he could get. He said he wanted the best on the market, that he did not care so much about the price but that they must be on hand and delivered early on the morning of Saturday the 26th. After the flowers were ordered, he inquired several times to know if they would surely be on hand the 26th. In order to make sure the merchant had them sent the evening before, but bright and early the next morning there came an angry query over the phone as to their whereabouts, and the merchant replied that he had them and would bring them to the house at once. They were delivered to the delighted husband and taken into the house in state. The astonished wife inquired what the package might contain but was vouchsafed no reply, as with great impressiveness the wrappings were removed. When the flowers were revealed in all their fragrant beauty the husband presented them with a flourish and a bow to his surprised and delighted better half. "Oh, how lovely they are, and how good of you," she said, "but what is the special occasion?" "Occasion? Why, isn't this the 26th?" asked the perplexed and somewhat annoyed husband. "Yes, it is the 26th, but what of that?" "What of that! Great Scott woman, have you forgotten that your birthday is on the 26th?" "No," she replied sweetly, "but husband dear, it was the 26th of February, not January." It is said that nothing less than a seal-skin sacque will fix matters in that household, and they also say that the Doctor is as sore as a bolt if you mention the matter to him.

A KINDLY LETTER.

Let Us Have Many More of Them from Our Subscribers.

DEAR SIR: Enclosed find money order for which please send the Review another year. I thank you for sending it right along. We appreciate the visits of the Review very much and do not want to be without it. I think the Review has improved during the past year and wish the editors continued success in their efforts to make the Review better. Yours truly, H. P. SIMMON, Oto, Iowa.

CHURCH NEWS.

BAPTIST CHURCH. The special meetings closed on last Sunday evening after continuing for three weeks. The meetings were well attended and a number of persons chose to live a better life.

The Womens Missionary circle will meet with Mrs. Beardsley at 2:30 on Wednesday afternoon. The regular covenant meeting of the church will be held on Thursday to which a cordial invitation is extended to all.

"A clever magazine for clever people" is the motto which the publishers of The Bohemian have adopted for their fascinating monthly. The Bohemian for February is strikingly original, both as to appearance and contents, and has been aptly styled by a well-known writer "the criterion of short stories and clever verse." It is for a leader, "As Happens for Unrest," a strong, subtle sketch by Stevens-Noble. Other features are, "Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata," by Maurice Baldwin, a reproduction in words of that exquisite musical masterpiece; "The Croque-Mort," and "Symphony for China," a satirical verse by Everett Bogert; Terrence and Edward Payson Jackson; "A Fool There Was," by F. Ernst Holman, and unique stories by several well-known authors. The Bohemian is entertaining from cover to cover.

at Mr. Voss' request he was taken into custody. Later he was taken before Justice Guelk and waived examination and he is now in jail to await the action of the grand jury. Sheriff Bell states that the man is an old offender and that he has already served time in the county jail and in the penitentiary. Mr. and Mrs. Voss are in the habit of spending Sunday afternoon and evening at the Guelk home and this was evidently known to the thief as he chose this time for his burglarious attempt.

RETURNS FROM PHILIPPINES.

Dr. Hal. C. Simpson Returned This Morning.

Dr. Hal. C. Simpson returned this morning from his long journey to the Philippines in the employ of the United States. Within the past year, Dr. Simpson has almost encircled the globe; his first trip being to South Africa as veterinarian, in charge of a cargo of mules for the British army, and his second trip being under the United States having charge of a large number of horses enroute for the Philippines. Both these positions were ones of trust and responsibility, and Dr. Simpson has failed in neither, but has proven himself among the leaders of his profession.

He returns to Denison with wide experience both in his profession and in the affairs of the world and he expects to make this place his home. We are glad to have him with us again as he is one of the most popular and well liked young men of the community. We would recommend him to the stockmen of the community, as one who has had experience with the diseases of animals such as rarely come to one so young in his profession. The Doctor informs us that he fell in love with Manila and has promised to write something concerning the Philippines for the benefit of Review readers at a near date.
