MINISTER CONGER WILL ACCEPT.

Des Moines Register.
That was what the Register said a week ago last Saturday, when it stated the belief of its editor that Major Conger will accept the Republican nomination for governor of Iowa if it is tendered to him, and here is the final proof, which was handed to the editor of The Register at 3 p. m. Saturday.

Des Moines, May 4.—Ed. Register: In reply to hundreds of letters from all over Iowa, which I cannot answer personally, urging me to accept the nomination for governor by the republican party, I ask The Register to say that I respect the statement first made that I cannot be a candidate, but will accept the nomination if it is tendered to me. Very respectfully submitted, E. H. CONGER.

That brief letter settles the whole problem, so far as the candidacy of Minister Conger is concerned, and it is now before the Republicans of the state for final decision. The letter is frank and characteristic of its author, and it was written from a high sense of duty to the state and the party. In addition to the hundreds of letters and telegrams received by Minister Conger, he has had the personal solicitation of many more thousands of friends since he arrived in San Francisco, and in his rooms and at the receptions tendered him in Des Moines he has been constantly told that he must accept the nomination. It has also been urged upon him that he must be an active candidate for the position, but he has unvaryingly answered that he cannot be a candidate and make a fight for a nomination while he is holding one of the most important positions under the United States government. All will realize the force and propriety of that statement, and all should be satisfied with the statement that he will accept the nomination if it is tendered to him, for that statement removes the last doubt that the people of Iowa can have Minister Conger for their next governor.

The frank letter included in this article does not change Minister Conger's position from that named in the cablegram to Congressman Hull last January, for it says, as the cablegram said: "I will accept, but cannot make a fight for the nomination." The whole matter is now in the hands of the Republicans of Iowa, and they will have the decision to make as to whether Minister Conger shall be the next governor of Iowa. The men and women who have urged him to be a candidate must now proceed to work for his nomination to prove their own good faith. No one has the slightest doubt that Minister Conger has the ability and the determination to maintain the governorship of Iowa at its highest standard, for he has accepted the call to duty of his state and Nation wherever and whenever he has been requested to devote his time and talents of official positions, and his record has not been excelled in any of the official positions he has been called to fill. The people of Iowa know his record as state treasurer and congressman, and they have still greater pride in the matchless record he has made as Minister to Brazil and to China. President McKinley knew his record as an official and as a reliable man when he selected him for Minister to Brazil, and he still further proved his faith in the ability and integrity of Major Conger when he requested him to accept the Chinese mission just as the war clouds were beginning to gather over that country. That call was accepted as a duty, and the whole world knows how fearlessly and competently that duty was performed, and how Minister Conger was both the power and the inspiration that enabled the foreign legation to withstand the siege of the Chinese Boxers until the allied armies arrived.

Minister Conger also has influence and power with the Chinese government, as fully stated by Gen. James H. Wilson to a representative of The Register in New York city a few weeks ago, in which Gen. Wilson said: "No man could have held a better or wiser course than Minister Conger did in Peking. His treatment of the complex and dangerous situation was both diplomatic and masterful. He not only represented the United States with sufficient ability, but he was the ablest and wisest minister of all the ministers there, and is entitled to the gratitude of his country." Gen. Wilson had just returned from China, which country he has visited several times, and is as thoroughly acquainted with the people and interests as any other American. He is also the author of a standard book on China and the Chinese outlook, which was published several years ago, after a long sojourn in that country. He was in China for a number of months after Minister Conger arrived there, therefore he speaks from personal knowledge as to Mr. Conger's official labors in that country, and the manner in which his labors were received by the Chinese people. It is also true that Gen. Wilson's statements are confirmed by every person who has knowledge as to Minister Conger's unique services in China.

It is the general opinion that Minister Conger and his family should have rest from the nerve and body destroying siege they were compelled to endure in Peking last year, and it is admitted that Iowa would be unequally honored by the governorship of a man who has represented the state in high official positions, and honored the American people in two of the most important foreign missions. They are both second class missions, it is true, but the American people have never been represented in a mission that was more important than that in Peking last year, and the hearts and minds of the American people were never centered on any mission, or other foreign object, so strongly as they were centered upon the Chinese mission last year. That is also true of all the world, and all the world is now singing the praises of Minister Conger—the eminent man whom the republicans of Iowa now have the opportunity to make the next governor of the state, and have the decision to make for themselves. What say the republicans of Iowa? Answer in your caucuses, primaries and convention.

CONGER TALKS OF CHINA.

Minister Conger furnishes an article under above caption which will appear in this week's Leslie's Weekly:

"Unless matters have changed very materially since I left China six weeks ago, the powers will reach some conclusion in regard to China soon. Of course, it is difficult for eleven men to agree on anything, especially when they have eleven governments, with differing views, behind them. China is perfectly willing to do anything that the powers agree upon—that is, anything within her ability to accomplish. She is only too anxious to expedite these matters and settle down to peaceful pursuits again.

"Of course, the powers must not demand an indemnity which China will be physically unable to pay. It is not certain that finally some nation may not demand territory of China in lieu of a money indemnity. It is perfectly certain that if any nation does make this demand the partition of China will follow, and this will inevitably cause much dissension between the powers. These difficulties and disputes would be long in settling, and would lead to terrible confusion in China.

"Russia has so far mitigated her demands that there is not now much danger of serious difficulty between her and Japan. Personally I am very much in favor of the continued existence of China as an empire, governed by her own emperor. It will save us and all the rest of the world lots of trouble if the integrity of the empire is maintained.

"As far as the punishment of Chinese officials goes, China has already done all that she could. Something out of the ordinary had to be demanded by the powers, for it takes a good deal of punishment to impress this people, and this was no ordinary offense. In some cases officials whose punishment was demanded were more powerful than the government, and then, of course, the punishment could not be enforced. Except in these cases everything was done as the powers demanded.

"At home I understand that I was thought blood-thirsty, but in China I was the most lenient of all the ministers, except one. We knew the conditions better than those who were not there could possibly know them. Drastic measures were demanded, but I do not think that we were cruel. What would seem a severe punishment to us at home would not impress the Chinese at all, for the reason that they indulge in so many cruel and unusual punishments. The reports of cruelty on the part of soldiers have been grossly exaggerated, though I am sure that there was plenty of brutality on the part of individual soldiers. As an army the allies were exceedingly well behaved. Nor were the stories of unrestricted looting true. In Peking the soldiers took what they needed, of course, just as we would have seized anything that we needed while we were caged up in the compound, had we been able to fasten upon anything that would help us to withstand the siege. As for the stories of missionary looting, they are undisputedly false. The missionaries did not loot."

The extremes to which fanaticism of a religious nature will carry some people is sometimes appalling. In Chicago recently an alleged Dowicite refused medical aid to his little daughter who had been horribly burned, until the police came to her rescue. The house in which the family were living was burned and the mother and child were quite badly burned, the child worse than the mother, her back was blistered and the bones of one hand were barren. Neighbors at once took charge of the injured ones and when a move was made to procure medical aid the father refused to permit anything of the kind—saying "the Lord would take care of his family." The brute was immediately and properly arrested and the injured ones received proper medical assistance. Such actions are of such magnitude as to justify the interference of others. The fanaticism of such fools is one of the things mankind has to contend with and while religious tolerance will permit a fool to act the part of a fool, it is the duty of society to see that the innocent and helpless are now not made victims.

"Take Back Your Gold" does not seem to create much enthusiasm from the Cudahy family. Did they ever lose it?
