

SUITS THAT SUIT!

It pays to sell a suit that suits. A marked individuality distinguishes our clothing from all other makes. You feel like a prince and look like a gentleman when clothed by Kemming. A perfect fit guaranteed. Our great experience in the clothing business makes it certain that we can suit you in anything. We first buy right and what you want, then when you call we size you up right in a minute and can thus strike what you like. This season the styles have changed so and such exceedingly swell new ideas are now embodied in the better grades of clothing that you do yourself an injustice to overlook this point. We're showing everything that's new; the swell form fitting suit with broad shoulders, the varsity style and other swagger cuts. One thing in overcoats—long coats are all the rage. We suit your pocketbook, too. That's a big point at

CHAS. C. KEMMING,

THE DENISON CLOTHING COMPANY.

Wedding in Paradise.

In the presence of half a hundred guests at the home of the bride's parents north of Dow City, George C. Powell was married to Lulu Mabel Bryan on the evening of Thanksgiving Day. Some friends drove out from Denison and together with the neighbors of the young people signalized the event in a most happy manner. Most inviting refreshments were served and useful presents received. Mr. Powell is one of the choice products of the country. A most upright, industrious and promising young man. The bride is the daughter of Daniel Frank Bryan, a lady of capability and beauty in character. The young couple will make their home on Mr. Powell's farm three miles west of Denison. Rev. D. Webster assisted Rev. F. W. Bateson in the ceremony.

About fifty guests had assembled to view the pretty ceremony, which occurred at 6 o'clock. Miss Maude Bryan acted as bridesmaid and Mr. H. A. Carpenter was best man. The bride was very prettily attired in a gown of white.

After congratulations the guests were served with a splendid two course luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Powell were the recipients of many beautiful gifts of silver, linen, painting, embroidery, glass and china ware.

Mrs. Powell is a woman of noble character and pleasing manner. Her friends are numbered by her acquaintances. For sometime she was a student in the Denison High School, and we unite our wishes for her future happiness with those of her teachers and numerous friends.

Coming Soon.

Angels Comedians will open their week's engagement at the opera house next Monday night. This company comes very highly recommended and they will no doubt do a good week's business. Ladies will be admitted free Monday night, that is two ladies or one lady accompanied by gentleman with one paid reserved seat ticket. These tickets, however, must be bought before 6 o'clock Monday evening. Admission 10, 20 and 30 cents.

FOR SALE CHEAP.—House and one lot near college. House has 5 rooms, good barn and the lot is a corner one. Plenty of fruit on place. Enquire of Elmer Mills, Denison. 81-5t.

With an elegance of diction which bespeaks his innate refinement, Mr. Caswell, in the last Bulletin, lashes himself into a frenzy of abuse against the Meyers family in general and the editor of the Review in particular. It was probably intended as a Thanksgiving offering; one of the "Lay Sermons" which are so popular with the press and which allow the editor to display the best that is in him. We judge that the soul of Mr. Caswell is perturbed, that there is unrest in his bosom and that the milk of human kindness has curdled in his veins. Evidently his mind has been in a state of suppurating for some time and now that it has opened and some of the matter has run off we trust that he will find relief. Mr. Barter in his palmist and most exhilarated days did not excel this last article of the present editor of the Bulletin either in lucidity of thought, clearness of expression or chasteness of language. Mr. Caswell's editorial is unique. It stands alone in the annals of the Iowa press. It stamps its writer as a man of pure thought and kindly temper. It breathes a wholesome respect for the departed, a kindly consideration, a breath of humanity, and a deep insight into public affairs which would do credit to a graduate of the state institution at Glenwood. Mr. Caswell sets precedent at naught. There is a rule among respectable journals that the printed language should be of such character that it can be taken into any home and read by the most innocent member of the family circle. There is precedent for a decent respect for the dead. There is precedent, even, for telling the truth, but Mr. Caswell rises above these precedents with a bound and enters a field where it is to be hoped that angels will fear to tread. We have no answer to make to Mr. Caswell's insane utterances. They are sufficient unto themselves. For those who like that sort of a thing they are just the sort of a thing they would like. The Review will continue at the old stand, loyal to its friends, steadfast to the interests of the tax-payers, helpful to every good and wholesome effort of the community, strongly republican and against every effort, whether by favoritism or fraud to cheat the people out of their hard-earned money. If the people took as much pains to protect their minds as they do their bodies the last issue of the Bulletin would be quarantined out of every decent home in Crawford county.

Married.

RANNELS-HUIE—At the Presbyterian parsonage, Wednesday evening, Nov. 27, 1901, Rev. A. G. Martyn officiating.

Though a very quiet wedding, yet it was a most pleasing matrimonial event, uniting as it did the hearts and lives of two of the most estimable young people of our neighboring town. The bride is an accomplished young lady, for some time a teacher in our county and a relative of the Kridler family once so prominent in Denison society, whom she frequently visited.

The groom is a young man of fine character and standing, the possessor of a farm near Dunlap on which he has erected an attractive home for his bride, and is a brother of the late Miss Flora Rannels, who was endeared to Denison people as a teacher in our city schools. The happy couple will have the best wishes of all for their wedded felicity.

MESERVEY IN TOWN.

On Wednesday we enjoyed a visit from Hon. S. T. Meservey, one of the most prominent, brainiest and best-hearted citizens of Fort Dodge. Mr. Meservey is the representative-elect from Webster county and he will be one of the strongest factors in the next Iowa assembly. To know him is to love him. He is true to his friends, resourceful, active, a man of his word and in fact the Tenth District does not grow any better man. It was a pleasure to meet him and to congratulate him upon his well-earned political honors.

The premier show herd of Aberdeen-Angus cattle started for the Fat Stock Show in Chicago on Wednesday in charge of Messrs. Cole and Johnson. Mr. W. A. McHenry leaves for Chicago on Sunday night and will take with him a very handsome souvenir of the herd for distribution among the visiting cattle breeders. The McHenry herd will surely be prize winners as usual.

Mrs. Faulkner and daughter, Miss Florence Faulkner, expect to start Monday for their home in Helena, Ark. They have been most welcome guests at the home of Mrs. J. G. Wygant, and their visit has been greatly enjoyed by many friends.

Thanksgiving Services.

The union services held at the Presbyterian church on the morning of Thanksgiving Day were largely attended. Short addresses were made by Rev. F. W. Bateson, Rev. E. M. Holmes and Rev. A. G. Martyn. The Presbyterian choir furnished music for the occasion and a beautiful solo was rendered by Mrs. B. F. Philbrook. The contribution for the poor of Denison was the largest ever given at a similar service and the efficient committee on distribution was continued.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES.

The kindergarten held afternoon sessions last Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. The purpose was to show the regular work. Invitations were sent to all the mothers and a large number responded.

The high school boys have organized an "Athletic Association" with William Lehfeldt as President, Lorenz Lorenzen Secretary and Albert Riepen Treasurer.

Mrs. Helsley was a grade visitor this week.

All the grades gave Thanksgiving programmes Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All parents and friends were invited.

Misses Edna Bagge and Olga Moeller visited the Emersonian Society last Friday afternoon.

Four new pictures, The Roman Forum, Angelus, Education of a Greek Youth and the Aurora, have been purchased for the high school room. They are greatly appreciated and enjoyed by all.

Mr. John Dunn Martin, of the College, will give a public recital at the College Chapel, Friday evening, Dec. 13. He will be assisted by Prof. M. C. Hover and Miss Polster, of the Music Department, and by the High School quartet. Admission 25c.

George Sprecher, postmaster at Denison, Iowa, was visiting Armour friends a few days this week—Chronicle.

Thankful... ...Thoughts.

Why Denison People Gave Thanks Yesterday.

Crawford County—That it is republican.

Denison—For a year of splendid prosperity.

Judge Conner—For that nice easy chair Dolliver left.

Senator-Elect Hogue—For the loyalty of Crawford republicans.

Hugh Langan—That the Bulletin has at last learned that he lives in West Side.

Hermann Grill—For his pull.

Sam O'Hare—That he did not run for office this year.

Chas. Bullock—That revenge is sweet.

The School Ma'ams—That the city superintendent does not live up to his name.

The Bowling Alleys—That there are no more of them.

The Bulletin—That the county printing is not let by contract.

The Turkeys—That there were enough to go round.

The College—For record breaking attendance.

The Cats—That they have escaped Caswell.

The Taxpayers—That John G. Smith will be a supervisor in January.

The Colonel—That he has not been in print recently.

Bert Stevers—That he was not his horse.

The Reading Public—For that fine new library.

The Merchants—That Christmas is coming.

The Buyers—That it comes but once a year.

The Hamburgers—That they beat Schuler's aggregation.

Miss ————, —That she caught the wedding bouquet.

Hal—That November is a good month for weddings.

The Farmers—For high prices, good times and a republican administration.

Iowans—That they live in Iowa.

Gov. L. M. Shaw—That four years of public service are nearly ended.

U. G. Johnson—That the forty days are almost over.

Little Fred Schlueter—For his automobile.

The Poor—That there are so few in Denison.

The Review—For its many loyal friends.

Uncle Jay Talks Again to "The Boys!"

Perhaps you don't all know Uncle Jay. We'll introduce him with much pleasure. He is a tall, portly, good hearted, jolly old fellow and we all love him dearly because he takes so much interest and pride in "The Boys" and scolds us every time we do something carelessly wrong. He comes to see us often and every time we surprise the good old fellow. This week he saw those three Haviland China 100-piece Sets, decorated in three different colors with gold trimmed knobs and handles at $29.50, $24.75 and $23.50. The old fox is posted and he scolded—said we would go to the wall and he hated to see it, etc. He saw our Salads at 25c to $3, plates from 5c to $1.50, cups and saucers from 5c to $1.50, Mugs at any price, Berry Sets, Sugars and Creams, Cake Plates, Cracker Jars, Celery Trays and the Tien-Sein assortment 25c and 50c articles. "My, oh, my, what good values you give this year. Don't see how you can do it, if you didn't work day and night and Sundays you couldn't, either." Think it mean of him to say we work day and night and Sundays because we don't unless we have to. When he saw the Lamps he just looked and looked and said he never saw the like. He always ends with "you'll go broke yet, but I hate to see it." He tells us confidentially the "he heard Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Brown say that we had the prettiest and cheapest dishes and lamps in Denison. Well, good-bye. You ought to see everyone of those lamps and china dishes, boys, at those prices. I'll tell everybody I can to come to see

"The Boys."
