The Denison Review

It is sometime since we have taken our type-writer in hand to enjoy a good editorial talk with our readers. Other duties have kept us busy so that it seems almost like coming back from a long journey to again resume editorial work in earnest.

Now that the city council has decided the important question of who shall clean and keep in repair our streets it is to be hoped that the work will be done. We like to talk of picturesque Denison, but if some man should take a kodak and faithfully present the appearance of Broadway or Main street as it is today, to say nothing of the miserable alleys and back doors of the up-town district, there would be a howl of indignation on all sides. The truth is that the sanitary conditions of the business portion of Denison are about as bad as they can be. In the crowded blocks where during the busy seasons hundreds of men, women and children transact business, there are almost no toilet accommodations and those that do exist are filthy beyond mention. These conditions are conducive to all sorts of ill health and form a positive menace to the welfare of our city. The tenants should take hold of the matter in earnest and insist that property owners provide suitable accommodations for both men and women and then the store-keepers should see to it that they are kept clean and healthful as possible. Of course this brings us to the question of sewage. This is the next thing for which Denison must go in debt as the city cannot wait until the indebtedness is paid off for the introduction of a sewage system. The question involves more than a matter of indebtedness, it involves the health and happiness and perhaps the very life of hundreds of our people. If it were a new road that would open up new trade it would be rapidly done and the money would be forthcoming. As it is only a question of health and perhaps of life and death it will probably be postponed.

If we were wealthy and wished to do Denison a public benefaction it should be the humble water-closet that should be the object of our benefaction, for cleanliness is next to Godliness.

Speaking of benefactions reminds us of the Carnegie library and the many blessings it will bring to Denison. Very wisely Mr. Carnegie asks that the city show its willingness and ability to suitably maintain the library after it is erected. It will be an easy matter to raise the $1,000 necessary each year to fulfill Mr. Carnegie's demands. The present library tax amounts to almost that much and instead of paying rent for a suitable room the surplus can be spent for additional books and periodicals so that the library shall keep increasing and shall be up-to-date at all times. It is estimated that out of the $1,000 from $300 to $400 can be expended each year for new books. The site of the new building is the question now bothering the heads of the library committee. It would do no good at present to mention the desirable sites, but it is a pleasure to record the generous offer recently made the committee by Denison's splendid and generous citizen, Mr. L. Cornwell. Mr. Cornwell is spending the winter in California, but immediately upon receiving his copy of the REVIEW announcing the Carnegie gift he wrote Mr. Chas. Tabor, saying that he believed the lots just east of his residence would make a desirable location, that he would sell them for that purpose at whatever was considered a fair price, without inflation of value, and that he would then give one-half the purchase price to the library. Whether the offer is accepted or not the people can but feel grateful to Mr. Cornwell for his liberality as those that know him know that the offer was made for no other purpose than to do his share for the up-building of his home city. There are one or two other desirable sites owned by wealthy and public-spirited citizens and it is hoped that among them some such generous offer may be made and accepted. In this way the taxpayers of Denison will have provided for them a magnificent library building erected on a site donated by the public spirited people of Denison and filled with choice books the majority of which will have come from private philanthropy and which will not have cost the taxpayers as such, a single cent. All that is asked is that Denison maintain this great and beneficent public institution. Naturally Denison will be only too glad to do its share. The offer made by Mr. Cornwell but adds another to the many public spirited and generous acts of "The man from Denison."

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Criswell visited at Charter Oak Monday evening.

Cecil Rhodes has furnished for the world another great sensation. His will is the most remarkable philanthropic scheme that the benevolent rich have yet invented. The will provides that scholarships be given to two young men from each state and territory of the United States, that a number be given to Germany and still others to young men of Canada and other British colonies. These scholarships are good for three years at Oxford University and carry with them the sum of $1500 a year each. Rhodes' evident purpose was the unification of the Anglo-Saxon race and his scheme is certainly the most practicable one ever presented. We hope that some plan will be arranged by which these scholarships will go to deserving and brainy young men and to young men who have the steadiness not only to adopt the best there is in English education and methods but also to give to the English good examples of the best that America can do.

The friends of Hon. J. P. Conner can but rejoice at the record he has made and at the very general approval which his course has met all over the district. The announcement of the congressional convention to be held at Fort Dodge on May 13th has been the occasion for many favorable newspaper comments and not a note of discord or lack of confidence has been sounded throughout the district. This means that Judge Conner will be nominated without opposition and elected practically in the same way. The Tenth district will thus again go on record as favorable to the idea of allowing good men to remain in Congress and there to grow into commanding influence. It was his continuous service and the splendid backing given him by his district which made Dooliver the statesman he is today, and we have every confidence that in Judge Conner the district has found a most worthy successor to its illustrious former representative. Years of experience on the bench have given to Judge Conner a fine judicial mind and have made him used to passing upon questions upon their merits and this fact has done much to add to his popularity among his present constituents. He has arrayed himself with no faction, has been fair and just to all elements of the republican party and his re-nomination will come as a fitting reward for good and faithful service.

The editor is his capacity of postmaster is pleased to announce that the new office fixtures will be here this week and that it is hoped to have them in place by next Monday morning. To do this means that the office force and carpenters will be obliged to work all of Sunday and Sunday night. The postoffice will be open next Sunday until 10 a. m. only. It will not be opened in the afternoon, but Mr. U. G. Johnson has kindly consented to handle the incoming Chicago papers for regular subscribers. The other mail will not be ready for delivery until Monday morning. After careful study of the problem presented by the installation of the new fixtures we are convinced that this plan will cause the least interruption possible to the regular mail service and we trust that the public will be indulgent over the mistakes which will undoubtedly occur at first.

It will be impossible for us to give the patrons their choice of boxes. The whole thing must be done in a night, the boxes set up, assigned, labelled and the mail redistributed.

Later, after we have become accustomed to the new outfit if we can make any change which will be more desirable to the individual we will be pleased to do so. So far as possible the box numbers will remain unchanged but this has been impossible in a great many instances. For instance the call boxes now begin with number 1. In the new outfit the first call box is number 500, thus every box from 1 to 500 will have to be changed in the new outfit. It would be much easier for the postoffice force if the same numbers could be used but it is not wise for many reasons and at present it is impossible. We hope that those who have had the same box for twenty years will forget their annoyance in being changed in pride over the bright and attractive new office of which Denison is soon to boast. There are two things we therefore would ask the public to bear in mind. First that the post office will not be open next Sunday afternoon and second, that it will be impossible to do anything but assign the boxes arbitrarily and that no changes can be made within the first month after the new fixtures are installed.

Will be located at the Fargo Hotel until he can find a more suitable location. Nervous disorders are mostly caused by eye strain and the only relief is to remove the cause. Eyes may be very defective and yet remain apparently perfect. Examinations free for a limited time.

Strikes and Spares

What the Bowlers are Doing.

The Tamm and Brown teams played the last game of the present league season on the Denison Bowling Co's alleys last night. The Brown team won two out of the three games and by 134 pins. The games were poorly contested, the work of the Tamm team being exceptionally poor. The absence of Jackson and Luney of the Tamm aggregation was undoubtedly the main cause of the team's defeat. This gives the Brown team second place in the percentage column.

Score by games is as follows:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

We understand that Captain Tamm is going to "blanket" several of the members of his team for the summer.

Seaman's poor work after the amount of practice he has had, goes to prove that the old saying, "practice makes perfect" is quite incorrect.

The president of the bowling league will call a meeting for tonight to order the distribution of the prizes. We have been informed that all the prize money will go towards a grand banquet to be given the latter part of this week. All members will be invited.

Captain Brown is organizing a second team to bowl a series of games with the Denison first team, or all-star bowlers in the near future. The members of the all-star team are: T. J. Kelly, J. P. Schuler, James Luney, Willard Cramer and I. V. Jackson. Mr. Brown has not completed his team as yet.

We understand the local bowling alley proprietors are going to offer a purse to the members of the Denison bowling team to help defray their expenses to the State Bowling Tournament to be held in Dubuque, May 6 to 8th.

We will publish in a later edition a complete table showing the general standing of the Denison Bowling League teams, also, the individual averages.

How About It?

We are desirous of learning the method of figuring as adopted by the Dunlap papers. The following account of the bowling game between Denison and Dunlap appears in the Dunlap papers. We do not quite "catch on" but supposed it that Harrison county water:

The Dunlap bowlers took a sweet revenge out of Denison on the Denison alleys last night, beating them by 153 pins on their own battle ground. Dunlap rolled a total score of 2642 against 2489 for Denison. This makes the towns even again as far as contests won are concerned. Every one of the Dunlap boys bowled over 200 in at least one game during the series.

The result of the game was right the reverse, from that stated above. Denison beat the Dunlap boys three straight games and total pins. The boys from Harrison are all right fellows but they were up against it when in Denison the last time. Our boys rolled a total of 2469 and the Dunlapers 2255. This does look like Dunlap was victorious.

The latest folder issued by the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad shows the extension from Storm Lake to Denison connecting here with the Illinois Central with which it is in close touch in its passenger and freight departments. We are informed that the road will be built this summer and that Denison will be the practical terminus of the M. & St. L. This undoubtedly means a division, at least a freight division and will add greatly to Denison both as to its population and as to its importance as a railroad center and shipping point. The new road will cross the North-Western at Odebolt and in the vicinity of Kiron and will undoubtedly mean a second road for both of these towns. The M. & St. L. folder also shows a separate line from this place to Council Bluffs but we understand that it is the intention to double track the Central instead of building a new line. All this means that hundreds of men will be at work in this vicinity this year and it should mean a splendid year for our merchants in every line. This with the erection of the library and the hundreds of private improvements now under contract will give to Denison one of the best years in its history.
