SIGHT PROBLEM IS SOLVED

J. P. MILLER DONATES
A MOST DESIRABLE LOT

Carnegie Library Will Be Just East of Presbyterian Church. History of Mr. Miller's Generous Offer.

Almost in the exact center of Denison both territorially and from the point of population, on a quiet street, opposite three beautiful churches, mid way between the school buildings and but two blocks from the business center of our city the Carnegie library has found a home. From the first those interested in the library proposition have cast longing eyes upon this lot and have believed it to be the ideal location. A number of very liberal offers were made by Denison property owners and Denison should feel grateful not only to Mr. Miller whose gift has been accepted, but to those others who with generous impulse offered their property either in whole or in part for the good of our city. So impressed was the committee with the desirability of the site in question that it was finally decided to write Mr. Miller concerning the matter. Mr. J. B. Romans accordingly wrote Mr. Miller who is residing at Los Angeles California and promptly on Saturday last a reply was received in which Mr. Miller stated that he was willing to donate the lot providing the location was entirely satisfactory to the people of Denison and that if not he wished to be one of those to contribute toward the purchase of a site elsewhere. Mr. Miller's letter was eminently characteristic of the man in its modesty, simplicity and thoughtfulness for the wishes of others. Mr. Miller wrote that if the committee could assure him that the site was perfectly satisfactory to the people he would gladly donate it for use of the library, that although compelled to reside in another climate he always thought of Denison as home and that he could never cease to be interested in all that would be of benefit to Denison people.

Those who are posted in real estate values here say the lot would easily bring $1000 as it is one of the most desirable residence lots in the city. It is located on the corner of Sweet and Chestnut street and is 50X150 in size. At present the front of the lot is occupied by the residence of Mr. Harry Grummons while the Miller & Co. warehouse occupies the rear. All that remains now is for the formalities to be concluded both with Mr. Miller and Mr. Carnegie, the present buildings to be removed, the architects plans to be made and the work of building begun. All of this can easily be accomplished before the snow flies and by another Fourth of July Denison should be in full enjoyment of a splendid library, splendidly housed, centrally located and supported by a sufficient income to guarantee its perpetuity. The library as it will stand will be the joint product of the generosity of many public spirited men. It will cost the city of Denison nothing but its annual support, a sum but slightly in advance of the present library tax. It was about a year ago, through the instrumentality of Prof. H. H. Savage that the gift of $1000 for library purposes was announced as coming from a well known philanthropist of northern Iowa. It was the condition of this gift that $2500 additional should be subscribed by the citizens of Denison. This amount was quickly raised by a limited number of the wealthier citizens. About this time the Friday club through its enterprise raised another $150. With this surplus from the library tax Denison then had nearly $1000 to expend in books. The question of a permanent home was naturally the next considered and much credit is due the committee in that they so presented the claims of Denison that Mr. Carnegie was induced to expand his princely generosity to us and to donate $1000 to the erection of a library building. The gift was conditional upon the raising of $1000 for annual support and the providing of a site for the building. This gift was accepted by the citizens and the council pledged the honor of Denison that the $1000 per annum would be forth coming. At this time a site committee was appointed and as a result of their efforts we are enabled to make announcement of the magnificent gift by the old-time Denison merchant J. P. Miller.

With the large library already owned by the town Denison now has in sight the best and most complete public library of any owned by a city of its size in Iowa.

Mr. J. P. Miller, the last in this line of generous givers who have made all this possible, is the head of the J. P. Miller & Co firm which has to its credit one of the largest general retail businesses in western Iowa. Mr. Miller came to Denison a little more than thirty-years ago. He was possessed of about $500 and brains and honesty. He came just a little ahead of the great wave of German immigration which reached Denison from 1875 to 1880. He catered largely to the German trade and provided for them just the things they were accustomed to and earned their friendship and esteem. We remember one incident often related by Mr. J. Fred Meyers to illustrate one of the causes of Mr. Miller's early success. In those early days before our Germans became Americanized there were a good many of the older people, especially whose memories dwelt with delight upon the comforts of the Fatherland. Among those comforts were the old-fashioned, ungainly but easy wooden shoes. The Germans asked for them at the stores but the American merchants laughingly told them that they did not wear wooden shoes in this country. Mr. Miller quietly said to himself, "if they want wooden shoes they shall have them," and just as quickly as possible there arrived, direct from Germany an invoice of wooden shoes and the hearts and "soles" of the Germans were delighted. The life of Mr. Miller is well known to us all. He has been straight-forward, unobtrusively kind and just and generous. We know of no one who does not feel that he has richly deserved the business success that has come to him and it is with double pleasure that Denison accepts the noble gift from one who has been so identified with its growth and up-building. We believe that we but voice the universal sentiment of the people of Denison when we thank Mr. Miller for his goodness of heart and express the hope that the public library will long remain as a monument, not only to Mr. Carnegie but to Mr. Miller and to all the public spirited men who have made its presence possible.

SOCIAL NOTES.

Mrs. E. W. Pierce entertained about a score of her lady friends at a party on Friday afternoon. The guests passed a most delightful afternoon with fancy work and chat and they all took advantage of their turn to have a little visit with Mrs. C. K. Meyers of Mason City in whose honor the party was given. Miss Faith Pierce assisted the hostess in the entertaining of her guests and in serving a most delicious luncheon.

Mrs. W. J. Scrivner has issued invitations for a party on Wednesday afternoon.

The Womans Club held its last meeting for this year, Monday afternoon with Mrs. Norman Nash.

SUCCESS IS NOW ASSURED

FINANCIAL END OF DENISON CARNIVAL PROVIDED FOR.

Business Men Contribute $1,500 to $2,000. Means the Greatest Carnival in Western Iowa This Fall.

The finance committee appointed by the business men to solicit funds for the Carnival has been at work with the most gratifying results. As predicted by the REVIEW, everyone, whether at first favorable to the idea or not, turned in and did their share and as a result a handsome sum has been raised which together with the other sources of income places funds at the disposal of the committee to enable Denison to give the greatest show ever given in a western Iowa town. It is figured that Denison will have a total of nearly three thousand dollars to spend during the four days of the carnival and this sum will provide dozens of attractions, parades, illuminations, decorations and all the other appurtenances of a giddy round of pleasure. The next step is the appointment of committees; this should be done at once. There should be a general management and a number of committees, each charged with a particular branch of the work. There is much to be done and the work cannot be commenced too early. We wish it understood that this carnival will be worth going miles to see. It is going to be the gemholloper of the west, to set the pace for all the street carnivals of the future and to knock the spots off of everything that has gone before.

Final Effort to Save Rice.

Toronto, July 1.—A last effort is being made to save the life of Lee Rice, awaiting execution for the murder of Constable William Boyd. One of Rice's companions was killed in the fight for liberty in which Boyd lost his life and another committed suicide in jail. The Rice family live in Champaign county, Illinois. F. C. Robinette, counsel for the condemned man, has placed himself in communication with Senator Mason of Illinois and Representative Cannon of Illinois. He hopes that they can be induced to interest themselves in the case.

Moro Murderers Slain.

Manila, July 1.—Two of the Moros who murdered Private Lewis have been killed while resisting arrest. Dato Adta Adma promised Colonel Frank D. Baldwin of the Twenty-seventh infantry, who is in Mindanao, that he would deliver the murderers of Lewis when they were captured. The mutilated bodies of the two Moros were consequently brought into the American camp suspended from poles.
