CRAWFORD AT DES MOINES.

Crawford county has nothing to regret from its conduct at the recent state convention. The platform suited it, it was just what had been advocated here in the past and no Crawford county republican will have to "side step" to get on to the platform. There were but three contests before the convention for nominations. On the ballot for Clerk the vote of this county was divided according to the individual preferences of the members of the delegation present. Later the vote was divided between Mr. Jones the present incumbent whose excellent service has endeared him to the hearts of those who have had dealings with his office, and Mr. J. C. Crockett, the energetic young republican of the Tenth district who comes from a county in many ways closely allied with the interests of the Tenth. Later Crawford gave its entire vote to Mr. Crockett who was clearly the choice of the Tenth district. In the contest for Reporter, Crawford gave its entire vote to Mr. B. I. Sallinger of Carroll county. This was prompted partly through friendship to our near neighbor and partly by the fact that Crawford has always advocated district unity. For many years it has adopted the policy of standing by district candidates whenever possible. This course is sometimes criticised when personal interests conflict but it has surely been shown to be a rule which works both ways and one that in the main is beneficial in maintaining and perpetuating harmony throughout the district. While not wishing to criticize those who did not see fit for any reason to vote for the district candidate in this or in any other instance, we still maintain that the policy of Crawford county in standing by its district is the correct one and the only one which can eventually make the Tenth district take the place in the affairs of the state to which it is justly entitled. Any other course is apt to be provocative of a revengeful spirit and to make the counties of the district distrustful of each other. We do not maintain that a bad candidate should be supported solely for the reason that he comes from the district, but we believe that the question of fitness can be largely left to the county presenting the candidate and that other things being nearly equal it is best to support those men presented by the people of the counties in this district.

It must indeed be pleasing to the republican leaders of the Tenth District to know that at least as great a degree of harmony exists in the big Tenth as in any district in the state. A careful analysis of the situation shows that with the exception of a very few local disputes the utmost harmony prevails throughout the district. The situation must be particularly gratifying to Judge Conner and his friends. While there are evidences of smouldering fires in other districts, the Tenth is a unit in support of its candidate.

His course has been devoid of factionalism, he has truly represented the wishes of his district and from the Minnesota line to this the most westerly and southern county of the district there seems to be unanimous approval of his course. We congratulate the Tenth district upon its freedom from strifes and jealousies and we congratulate Judge Conner that he has come so near to meeting the demands of all his constituents.

The state executive council has just finished the railroad assessment. The total amount has been fixed at something over fifty-one millions of dollars. We believe the assessment to be a fair and honest one and one that will be accepted both by the railroads and the people as reasonable, equitable and just. It has been stated by the Register and Leader of Des Moines that the advance made is a trifle over one percent. If this is true it would seem that the agitation last year over the corrupt railroad assessment contained a good deal of buncombe. When we consider the rise in the value of all other property, the increased railroad assessment can be considered only in the light of a normal growth in values and not as an extraordinary revolution in assessment methods. It would seem to us that the railroad assessment of this year fully bears out the contention of Gov. Shaw and his friends that the former manner of assessment was based at least upon an honest purpose to deal fairly with the railroads and the people alike.

THE TARIFF PLANK.

The attempt of Mr. Lefe Young to gain personal prominence at the expense of republican harmony throughout the state ended as it should have ended in complete and humiliating defeat. The state platform of last year fully met the approval of the people. It had the endorsement not only of righteousness but of success. Charity may cover a multitude of sins but because of that fact no man has had the temerity to wish the milk of human kindness driven from the human breast. The protective tariff may have in the course of commercial and industrial changes become a cloak for monopoly in some specific instances. No one should, for this reason, wish the great protective system wiped from the statute books. Rather is it the part of wisdom to reduce the schedules where they are found to be inflicting a hardship upon the people and to retain or even to raise the schedules where it is found that such changes would inure to the benefit of the American working people. Such a protective tariff would be popular because it would be right. The people do not want free trade, they have had all the experience they wish in that line. They want a protective tariff, but they do not wish that great instrument of good to be made a shelter for monopolistic greed. The republicans of Iowa propose to give the people just the right kind of protection and we are heartily glad that the republicans had the courage to reiterate the stand taken a year ago.

That the country and the laboring classes would not benefit by the deconstruction of the protective tariff is whole is evidenced by the conditions existing in the present coal strike. There are in America two great regions for the production of anthracite coal. One is in the United States in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the other is in Nova Scotia in the British possessions. At present the miners of the United States are engaged in a fierce contest with their employers. While they are on strike it is only the protective tariff wall which prevents them from being overcome by competition with the workmen of these British mines. Remove the protection and the market would be flooded with foreign coal, the miners would be forced to return to work at whatever wages the coal barons might offer or else see the coal industry wiped from off the list of American industries. The coal industry has grown to be almost a monopoly in this country but as the Nova Scotia mines are owned largely by the same parties who own the American mines the effect of the democratic policy of free trade would be to rob American workmen of employment unless they would accept the lower wages prevailing in Nova Scotia, and at the same time no relief would be offered the people from the exactions of the coal trust. The republican idea is that the tariff problem must be approached with careful consideration, that the protection idea must be fully maintained, but that where it is simply a shelter for corporate greed it must be removed. The revision of the tariff must be in the hands of the friends of the protective system, not its enemies, otherwise the end of our era of prosperity has come. This is the doctrine of the republicans of Iowa, we see no reason why they should be afraid to announce their position boldly and we are glad that the Cedar Rapids platform was endorsed and reiterated.

IOWA'S GREAT PAPER--A TESTIMONIAL.

The Register and Leader, that so completely takes the place of the Chicago paper in Iowa, gave its readers a real literary feast in its Sunday issue. It is no wonder that the enterprising Indianapolis news dealer has ordered ten extra copies and that the Record-Herald is said to be about to go into the hands of a receiver. Among the topics of present moment discussed on the editorial page were the following: "Helen Gould Rejects Victor Hugo," "Poor Hugo." It is gathered from the article that Helen said she would be a sister to him, but that her did not respond with a real affection such as etc. etc. "Church Membership Today" "An American Race," "The Unspeaking Scot" (having reference to the difficulty experienced by the R and L force in mastering the vocabulary of golf) are the other leaders. It is understood that there is nothing in these editorials calculated to stir of factional strife, although the article on Church Membership has a distinctly pro-Church bias according to the Sioux City Journal. Glancing over the other pages we find interesting and moral articles concerning gambling on the Mississippi, the untimely death of "Billy the Kid" "The Sharks of Australia" and other topics of intense present day interest. As a competitor with Mr. Aldrich in his excellent publications of Iowa historical annals the Register and Leader is a dangerous rival and it promises to drive the Iowa Health Bulletin out of the field entirely. We shall be greatly disappointed if our feeble tribute to its greatness is not published in large type on the front page of the Des Moines consolidation along with the testimonials from the Indianola gentlemen and other well known literary critics.

A FOURTH TERM PROPOSITION.

It is not surprising that there is a good deal of feeling among the democrats of the county over the proposal of Mr. O. M. Criswell's friends to insist upon his nomination for a fourth term as recorder. For many years there was a bitter struggle in the democratic party of the county for and against the two term rule. The popularity and strength of several of the office holders finally served to break down the two term rule solemnly declared for at a democratic convention. Up to this time, however, no one has had the temerity to ask for more than three terms. Even such popular men as John Carey and Emil Kruger stopped down and out when their three terms had expired. Mr. Criswell has made a good officer, but no better than Carey or Kruger or Lorenzen. He is not popular with the rank and file of democracy from whom he has always held aloof. His election has always been with the aid of republican votes. It is possible that should he be nominated he would again secure enough republican votes to pull him through, though it is a question if even the republicans who have formed the Criswell habit would not feel that they had voted for him often enough at the expense of their party. Naturally Crawford county is still a democratic county. While the republicans have been making steady gains it would be unwarranted to claim the county because Mr. Cummins received a small plurality last fall. It is not therefore necessary that the democrats should nominate a man simply to pull republican votes. They are strong enough to elect their own choice if they are united and in harmony. The REVIEW has no personal feeling against Mr. Criswell and is willing to acknowledge that he has been an efficient officer but it believes the democrats will make a serious mistake if they now, after abandoning the two term rule, abandon the three term rule also. We are moved to say this not for party reasons but because we believe it for the best interests of the county that an office-holding clique should not be built up. We understand that James McKim of Deloit, A. A. Fishel of Dow City and Dr. Fitzgerald of Vail are already in the field for this office. None of these men are very strong candidates and it is possible that Criswell may break the rule and land his fourth nomination. If so he may be elected by republican votes but there is a very large number of democrats in the county who will not vote for him.

Dr. W. M. Beardshear lies at the point of death at his home at Ames. He has been at the head of the State Agricultural College for many years and has made an ideal executive of that great institution. He was most robust in appearance and certainly looked as though he had many more years in store for him. Iowa's educational interests will lose one of their strongest and most able leaders should the hand of death strike President Beardshear.

In the death of Hon. John F. Duncombe, Fort Dodge has lost one of the coterie of great men who have given to that city such eminence in the affairs of state and nation. Mr. Duncombe was one of the greatest lawyers of Iowa. He bore a spotless reputation, and though a hearty partisan he had the friendship of very many of those whom he opposed in principle. We mourn with Fort Dodge over a loss which we feel that we share in common with all of western Iowa.

Mrs. A. Bohlander of Manilla, spent a few days of last week with her husband who is employed with J. P. Miller & Co. Mrs. Bohlander will soon make Denison her permanent home.

Cuba to Raise Loan.
Havana, Aug. 5.—The senate has discussed and approved in part a bill to empower the executive to raise a loan of $4,000,000 at the maximum rate of interest of 5 per cent, payable in thirty years, to be used to assist the sugar cane growers of the island. This money is to be repaid by the cane growers in February, March and April of 1903 at 6 per cent interest.

Philanthropist is Injured.
Paris, Aug. 5.—M. Deutsch, donor of the prize of 100,000 francs offered for the inventor of a dirigible balloon, which was won by Santos-Dumont, was seriously hurt in an automobile accident in a suburb of Paris yesterday. Several of his ribs were broken and he was otherwise injured.

Beardshear Slowly Sinks.
Ames, Ia., Aug. 5.—Dr. William M. Beardshear, president of the Iowa agricultural college, is slowly sinking and the end cannot be far off. During the night the patient had a sinking spell and the attending physician is now working with him in the hope of prolonging life. Oxygen gas is being used.

The two Annas of the Miller firm, Miss Schumaker and Miss Peterson spent Sunday with a delightful outing at Wall Lake.

Mr. Carl Moenk is now taking his summer vacation. He will visit in Dubuque, Maquoketa, Davenport and other eastern Iowa cities during the two weeks allotted him.

The Denison colony at Wall Lake is reduced in numbers this week by the return of Dr. and Mrs. Philbrook, Mr. W. W. Ferguson and Miss Grace August of Clinton, Miss Alice Knall, Miss Schumaker and Mr. George Tillinghast.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kott entertained a number of their friends at progressive whist on Saturday evening. The hostess was assisted by her sister Miss Ella Cook of Fort Dodge in entertaining her guests and serving a most appetizing luncheon after the contest at whist.

Mr. John Cook announces that he will be a candidate for the democratic nomination for Supervisor. Although chairman of the democratic committee Mr. Cook is not in high favor with the Bulletin and radical free silver element of the county. John is a bitter partisan when questions of politics arise and takes himself perhaps a trifle too serious but he is honest and practical and perhaps as good a man as the democrats are likely to nominate.

THE CLUMSY MAN.

You Can Never Be Sure of What His Next Break Will Be.

The great virtue about the really clumsy man is that he never exhausts his capabilities. When you think that the brook is reached, there is still a lower depth. If a detrimental relative should exist, the clumsy man asks after his health with great particularity and will not be satisfied until he receives a full and detailed reply. Should there be any incident in your past which everybody has generously agreed to forget it is the clumsy man who seizes the one, the inevitable opportunity, when the club is at its fullest and says loudly: "Somebody was talking the other day about that unfortunate little affair of yours in '95. Now tell me!"

When on meeting him you say casually and with no desire for information, "How are you?" he insists on giving you complete data, and he is as full of small complaints as a refractory pauper. It is only fair to add that he will ask affectionately after the colds of yesterday, and his favorite locale for this is at the corner of a drafty street. He might be subsidized by influenza or he might get a commission on sore throats from his eagerness to pin you into the most dangerous position that can be discovered.

One desires an adequate amount of sympathy in distress, but our man always goes a little beyond this point. You are growing thin, and he says that you are wasting away to a shadow. You are growing stout, and he tells an amusing anecdote about apoplexy. He can be more critical than a hair-dresser if occasion gives the least excuse.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Plan to Check Cholera.
Manilla, July 18.—The municipal health board of Manilla has decided to remove 40,000 natives from the slums to suburban camps in an effort to check the spread of cholera here. The object is to clean and disinfect the disease centers. The camps will be sanitariously conducted. The municipality rents the grounds, builds the camps and feeds the indigent persons.
