We have no desire in this campaign to say anything personally against the character of John Holland the democratic candidate for supervisor from the east end. The trouble with John is that he has been hungry for office for a good many years. His short term as supervisor only served to whet his appetite. In order to carry out his ambitions he has been obliged to step on a good many corns. He has set himself up as the political boss of Jackson township democracy and this naturally has not made him friends. He has been too active a political wire-puller and some of the fellows whom he has wire-pulled out of office are going to get back at him this year. Mr. Dieter is a man who is well known and liked and trusted by all. He has never figured as an aspirant for office before except at the wish of his neighbors. He is clean, upright and honest and he should be elected. The east end of the county will give him a large vote and it would appear that the rest of the county should be willing to abide the decision of the east end as to whom they want for supervisor.

Dave has been reinstated and his name will appear for slaughter on the democratic ticket. There was no disposition on the part either of the state officers or of the republicans of this county to take advantage of State Secretary Cook's blunder. It was felt that it was in the interest of fair politics, and while an arbitrary ruling might have been asked, no attempt was made in this direction. When Mr. Dave and Mr. Romans and district committeeman Rebok rushed to Des Moines they found that a republican officer was willing to do the fair thing by them, and that Dr. J. I. Gibson had made no effort to obtain advantage by the misfortune of his opponent. This was the fair and manly course for Dr. Gibson and the republicans of the county to pursue. What cannot be won in fair fight, they do not want. Dr. Gibson will be elected and it will be a much greater victory for him than had his opponent been thrown out on technical grounds. As we said last week, we think the affair was the hardest on the experienced business man, State Secretary Cook.

Mr. Herman Koenkamp is making a strong fight for election for supervisor. Mr. Koenkamp wants to be elected, not because he has an itch for office, for this is the first time he has ever entertained any ambition in this line, but because he believes he can do much good for the people of the county as a whole and for those of his locality in particular. All the older residents of the county know him well and favorably as an honorable, able and upright man. He will carry his full party vote in Union and then some. He will also make an extra strong showing among his old German friends who have been his neighbors and friends for many years. He is not a scheming politician but a plain honest man of the people and he should be elected.

It would be much better for the county if it were divided into supervisor districts. In this way no chance of politics could deprive a section of the county of its representation on the board as would be the case were the democratic candidates elected this year. Every four townships should be entitled to a supervisor and these four townships should elect their own member. This is the case in the city council of Denison. Each ward elects its own members of the council and these while representing the whole city are supposed to pay particular attention to the needs of their ward.

According to the Bulletin, the renters of the county, and there are hundreds of them, pay no taxes and are therefore not eligible for county office. Since when has there been a property qualification in Iowa? Does not the renter pay taxes indirectly and does he not pay taxes on his personal property? The many good farmers, who are working hard and who expect to own their own farms as soon as they are able to get hold of a piece of real estate should resent the impudence of the Bulletin in proclaiming that they are not worthy of the confidence of the people because they are not rich.

Mr. Koenkamp is too good a man to be slandered by the Bulletin. He is just as good an English scholar as Charlie Molter, Fred Jepsen, Fred Gigax, Henry Schroeder and any number of other supervisors in the past. We believe the Germans of the county will resent the insinuation that they are not fit to be on the board simply because they have been forced to learn English after having attained manhood and are therefore not as conversant with it as American born people.

The voters of Soldier, Charter Oak, Willow and the northwestern townships who do not vote for Berry Goin are neglecting their own interests. No large section of the county should be unrepresented on the board. There is an intimate knowledge of local conditions which comes to a man whose daily affairs take him over the roads and bridges of a township that can not be gained by one living in another part of the county.

During these republican times all classes of workmen are hard to find.

The "ridiculous" school house campaign will make the democrats lots of trouble just the same.

The Charter Oak Times says the Brathauer bridge is fixed. It takes a campaign to get a move on some of the supervisors.

If Jim McKim can prove that the REVIEW has lied about him why don't he say so. Surely the columns of the Bulletin are open to him.

With a candidate who cannot correctly direct an envelope to the Secretary of State it does not become the Bulletin to twit about the educational accomplishments of republicans.

John Cook is a peculiar character, one day he tells that a certain candidate is a disgrace to the democratic ticket and ought not to be elected and the next day he goes out campaigning with that candidate.

Hermann Koenkamp may be a German and this may disqualify him in the eyes of the Bulletin, but we will wager that he can direct a set of nomination papers so that they will reach their destination without confusion or delay.

The Bulletin wants to know if Hon. Hugh Langan was really and truly elected. We thought the Bulletin had been in a rather comatose condition since its defeat last year, but surely it is time that it woke up for another and a harder blow will befall it the first week in November.

Charter Oak is the natural center for the people of the northwestern part of the county and they should have a supervisor living there whom they can easily see if anything should go wrong. If Berry Goin is not elected the people of those townships must go to Morgan, Union or Denison if they wish personally to report a defective bridge to any supervisor.

Next week the REVIEW will issue a neat four page supplement containing the portraits of the republican candidates for county office and also three illustrations of the principal floats in the Carnival parade. This supplement will be printed on good paper so that the illustrations will print finely and it will be well worth preserving both as a souvenir of the fair and as an account of the lives of the men who are to be elected to office this fall.

The Bulletin speaks of the republican school house campaign as being "ridiculous." Yet in other days when there was something for democrats to talk about, they too have had school house campaigns. The fact is that democracy concedes that they have no issues and that their whole campaign must be based upon a still hunt, the only object of which is to put a few office seekers in positions they are not qualified to fill.

TELLS OF HIS CASE.

Dr. L. M. Coon Tells of Remarkable Operation Performed on Himself. "ARION, Iowa, Oct. 16.—Editors REVIEW: Feeling that the general public will be interested in my case from a scientific standpoint and that my friends will be glad to know the cause of my years of illness and to know how I am at present, I address you this letter for publication in the old "Reliable," the REVIEW. On Sept. 15, I went to Rochester, Minn., to consult Drs. Wm. J. and Charles Mayo. Wm. J. Mayo although but 40 years of age has performed more operations on the stomach, liver and internal organs, than any surgeon in America, and with two exceptions in Europe, more than any surgeon on earth. In the small town of Rochester he and his brother perform about 2,000 operations yearly, most of all of which are capital operations and on the inside of the body. On Sept. 19th I was placed on the table and the abdomen opened. Extensive adhesions between the stomach, pancreas, duodenum and gall bladder, causing a kink in the duodenum preventing the exit of food from the stomach were found. A portion of the duodenum had to be removed and an opening three inches long was cut in the end of stomach through the pylorus and stomach wall below it, and sutured to this making new opening. One lobe of pancreas was removed and the gall bladder had to be cut out and removed to a point four inches away to prevent future adhesions. Following all this operation I had no shock and had at no time a temperature or pulse which would be called abnormal. On the 18th day I got up and dressed and went to a hotel having lost only eight and a half pounds and so far as the operation is concerned out of danger. Certainly this reads like a romance and I should most certainly have died without the operation. Such is modern surgery and such are the results being accomplished daily by these two wizards of the scalpel, Drs. Wm. and Chas. Mayo; both as unassuming and quiet and friendly as our own Dr. Wright. It is certainly marvelous that God in His wisdom has permitted man to do such wonderful things. Sincerely and Gratefully yours,

LOUIS M. COON.
