Crawford County State Bank
DENISON, IOWA.

The Best Security for Depositors. Farm Loans at Five Per Cent Interest.

This Bank is incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa. This gives the best security to all depositors, not only to the amount of stock, but the personal property of each share holder is held to the amount of his share for any loss to the bank. Incorporated banks are under the control of the State Auditor, who can at any time examine the business, and according to his investigation the published statements are made. Depositors in an incorporated bank have more security than the confidence imposed in the offices. They have the best security, because the capital stock can not be used at pleasure for outside speculation and investment. The Crawford County State Bank is the best incorporated banking institution in the County. A general banking business done.

IT IS SETTING THE PACE.

Hackney-Boynnton Company the Largest and Most Successful of Land Firms.

The Hackney-Boynnton Land Company of St. Paul continues to set the pace in the matter of locating settlers, transferring soil and developing the Northwest. The company was the pioneer in the great land movement. It has persistently held out the fact that all cheap lands in the Northwest will soon be settled up, and that just as much can be raised from these lands as on land in Iowa or Illinois selling at $100 an acre. All that it has said or claimed is being more than borne out. The movement is permanent. No less a judge and authority than James J. Hill says it is bound to continue. He adds: "The movement into the Northwest is in accord with the general law. It is a normal and substantial fact."

During the past eighteen months the Hackney-Boynnton Company has sold over $2,000,000 worth of land. It has bought $2,000,000 invested in cattle and was two cattle ranches in Burleigh county, North Dakota. It has about 50,000 acres of land yet for sale. Almost one-half of the big tract purchased by the company from the Northern Pacific in February, 1901, has been closed out, the great bulk going to actual tillers of the soil. The company is nothing if not enterprising. It had a very attractive display in the agricultural building at the Minnesota State Fair. There was a splendid collection of all varieties of grains and vegetables grown in the territory owned and exploited by the company. These included all the common products of the northern farms and many varieties of grasses and plants indigenous to the soil. Just the other day it shipped a car load of its fat cattle to the state fair at Springfield, Ill. Here it also had a booth showing samples of grains, grasses, vegetables, etc. raised on its lands. It has neglected no opportunity to advertise its properties and to make the way easy for the man of small means to make one in the Northwest and lay the foundation for a future competency. He thousands of acres it has sold and is being today by prosperous, satisfied settlers, and there is room for many more with a not every advantage of the thick populated section of older states without their crowding, killing competition and many discomforts.

That was a narrow view taken by a Minneapolis paper recently, when it asserted that certain land companies west of the Missouri river were checking the movement of land seekers by the high prices placed on lands. Land values are normal and will remain so. No one has been carried away by the boom. If land in Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois has increased in value in the last decade to $100 or thereabouts an acre, is it not reasonable and is it not a good investment to buy in the Dakotas and elsewhere at from $6 to $10 an acre, even though the company handling the land bought it at $1 to $2 an acre, if the purchaser can in a few years time sell out for $20 to $25 an acre? The home-seeker and investor can make his own stake by buying new. The land is never cheaper or the prospect better.

No greater inducements are offered anywhere than by the Hackney-Boynnton Land Company in North Dakota lands. Its offices are in the Germania building, rooms 103 to 611, St. Paul.

Mr. D. L. Boynton, of Denison, is the great company's Crawford representative and he will give any information requested. He personally conducts cheap excursions.

Life in the Northwest

If you have any idea of changing your location go to the northwest where life is worth living. It is the coming empire of this country. Climate and elevation are found in great variety and land will never be as low priced again as it is now. For farming, fruit raising and grazing no portion of our country equals it. Irrigation makes the farmer independent where irrigation is practiced and the finest irrigable parts of our country are in Montana and Washington. The towns and cities are all rapidly growing in the northwest. There are all sorts of places and kinds of lands in the Northwestern states through which the Northern Pacific runs. Don't wait until too late to go. Low settlers' rates during September and October.
