Here's a Proposition for You.

I have employed an expert watchmaker, with 20 years experience. It has cost me a lot of money to get him—the fact is it has cost me more money to get him than I am able to pay, but I must have a man that can do the very best of work, so will be safe when you leave your watch to be repaired, and I may retain the fine repair trade that I have built up with care. You can rest assured that I will not keep a man that is not the very best. Thanking you for your kind patronage, and asking you to still remember us, we are yours for business.

DON'T BE DECEIVED

BY
Catch-Penny Advertisements

Which claim to furnish without cost to the afflicted, some appliance or method of treatment that will cure diseases. When the patient calls in response to such advertisements, he invariably finds that the SHREWD "TRICKSTER" has a string to this free offer—that you must pay dearly for medicines, advice, or something which was not mentioned in his generous (?) offer, but which is absolutely necessary "in your case" to effectually cure.

These are Tricks that have long been practiced by Unscrupulous Men Who seek to palm off their so-called medical service to the innocent. Surely no one, with any practical knowledge of human nature, can be duped in any such a way. Is it Reasonable to Expect something for Nothing?

Dr. STOCKDALE

Who makes regular monthly visits to Denison, Ia., is an educated specialist, has diplomas from the best medical colleges, and is endorsed by the Iowa State Board. He employs no irresponsible men to see his patients, but sees each one himself. He is thereby personally responsible for his progress made by each one under his care.

Dr. Stockdale makes no offer or agreements which he does not or cannot fulfill. He does not claim to have something to give away. He believes it far better to begin without any false representations. Honest labor should always have a fair reward. Dr. Stockdale's fees are reasonable, and within the reach of all. He will be at the Wilson House, Denison, IOWA, TUESDAY NOV. 11

Returning monthly. Dr. Stockdale is thoroughly responsible and would be glad to have you investigate his standing and method of treatment. He positively cures every case taken or will refund the money.

He cures chronic catarrh, diseases of the eye, ear, nose, throat, lungs, and kidneys, dyspepsia, constipation and rheumatism. Young and middle aged men suffering from nervous or physical debility, lost vigor, decline of powers, a positive guarantee to cure. Blood and skin diseases, and diseases of women. Examination and consultation free and confidential. Address: Dr. B. A. Stockdale Council Bluffs, Iowa First National Bank Bldg.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

With the last week of the political battle there is naturally a summing up of accounts among those interested to form some opinion of the probable outcome. Personally, the republican ticket is conceded stronger than the democratic. There is hardly a democrat in the county who believes that any person on their ticket will run ahead. Democratic hopes are based therefore not upon the strength of the county ticket but upon the advantage of a majority of party followers. In the last twenty years Crawford has given a republican majority but once and the democrats count upon this fact to elect their candidates whether they are fit men or not. It is claimed by democrats that the dissatisfaction existing at the time of their convention has been largely quieted and it is a fact that any number of promises have been made, promises which if judged by the past, will never be fulfilled. They also believe that the very fact that the republicans carried some of the county officers last year will place the democrats on their guard so that there will be a full vote. While conceding that some of their candidates have weaknesses of character which ought not to exist among men holding responsible positions, they claim that the average voter does not care, that he will vote for a weak candidate as quickly as he will a strong one if he is only on his ticket. Whether or not this is true remains to be seen. In the campaign the first evidence of democratic alarm was when they called a meeting and reversed their plan of a still hunt and commenced a campaign of school house meetings. This was a confession that the work of the republicans was beginning to count.

The republicans look with much satisfaction upon the work of the past few years. They have seen the democratic majority reduced from between seven and eight hundred and even a thousand, to a point where it may now be fairly considered debatable ground. While knowing that the fact that they carried the county does not guarantee victory this year, it has at least inspired them with hopefulness and will prevent discouragement even should the majority be against them at the coming election. They have confidence that sooner or later the intelligence of the people of this county will lead them to break over the lines of partisanship, stop being seared with democratic bugaboos and join the ranks of the progressive people all over the north. Added to this feeling of confidence in the ultimate outcome is the knowledge that the republican ticket is much stronger and better in all its parts than is the democratic ticket.

Dr. Gibson will receive much more than his party vote. He has developed into a first-class speaker and there is no reason why he should not receive every republican vote. His opponent has made very few new friends since he was beaten last year. Most men would have been content with such a threshing, but he was not. The same democrats who voted against him last year will do so again and many of the personal friends of Hon. Hugh Langan feel that they would hate to see his place taken by the man who treated him so arrogantly a year ago. We know of no place in the county where Dr. Gibson will run behind his ticket and there are many places where he will run ahead.

The republicans have recognized the wishes of the Irish voters, and have placed no one in opposition to Mr. M. J. Collins. He has made a good officer and there has been no desire for a change at this time. This move on the part of the republicans has shown their good will and makes the Bulletin's cry about the lack of Irish on the republican ticket of no avail.

For clerk the democrats have elected and renominated Mr. Frank Paul whose only recommendation is or was, that he runs a bitterly partisan newspaper in which no republican, no matter what his merits, ever received one word of support. This being the case Mr. Paul will receive no republican votes save from such few intimate and personal friends as every man who is at all reputable is bound to have. The republican candidate while he has made no general campaign of the county is sure to receive a large vote from the townships in which he is best known.

There is every indication that C. M. Russell will be successful in the splendid campaign he is making for the recordership. His opponent is distinctly unpopular. He is just the reverse of the free and generous disposition of Charlie Russell. He has been a close, penurious man all his life and his clumsy efforts to be sociable at this time remind one of the elephant in the china shop. Mr. McKim will run behind in nearly every precinct in the county and this in spite of the fact that nearly all the other candidates' interests have been neglected by democratic managers in order to boost him. Mr. Russell will have a large vote on account of his personal popularity not only in the township in which he lives, but also in Denison and in his old home at West Side.

discuss in plain terms, on account of its friendship for the democratic candidate.

Bitter are the lessons of adversity and hard are the uses of criticism, but often they are the only things which will bring men to their senses. How often is the advice and counsel of friends disregarded, how often do we inflict injury and humiliation on those we love and wait and wait and never mend our ways until adversity comes, or the sharp sting of public criticism brings us face to face with our faults. The part of the critic is not a pleasant one. The medicine may do good, but it does not taste good, and the giver is seldom forgiven. If the voters shall cause a bright young man to see the folly of his ways and to mend them before it is too late, the very defeat may turn out for the best. If the criticism of the REVIEW shall accomplish such reformation, even though it inspire personal hatred, it will not have been in vain. Perhaps some will become very angry with us. Perhaps they will feel that we have not acted the part of the personal friend and that we have caused grief to others. We would point out that the part of a true friend is often a most unpleasant one and does not consist in encouraging a course which leads to sure destruction, and that the sorrow inflicted upon others is not due to the publicity, but to the fact. If the fact does not exist, it would cause no grief to any save the critic.

Mr. Klinker has made a wonderful campaign. His friends as well as his opponents have been surprised at the way he has proven his true worth. He is bright, earnest, indefatigable in his activity, intelligent, sober, and without just the sort of a young man to be encouraged and helped. He perhaps is not so sophisticated as his opponent, but very decidedly there is such a thing as being too "wise."

As to the supervisor situation, we could have had what we wished pointed to many ways in which the money of the people of the county has been squandered, chiefly because we have had a partisan board. We could point to the two idle, approachless bridges on the telephone road to Charter Oak. We could point to a bridge for which the board paid $975 to its favorite when an equally responsible party offered to do the same work for about $300 less, and when an exactly similar bridge had been built for much less money. If we had a non-partisan board the county printing might be let by contract instead of by favoritism and an item of perhaps $1000 per year be saved to the people.

The republicans present three clean, good candidates, all whom will receive the hearty support of those who know them best. Mr. Dieter is one of the most popular men of the eastern part of the county; he was nominated not at his own solicitation, but because prominent democrats and republicans of the eastern part of the county asked his nomination. His opponent is not popular at home or among those who know him. We are told that he is considered unreliable in his political dealings. We do not know this ourselves, but it seems to be the opinion of the majority of the people of the eastern part of the county.

Mr. Goin is so located at Charter Oak that he is easily accessible to a large part of the county. He is a thorough going business man and is needed on the board. Denison would like to have a supervisor. Had either party nominated a man like U. G. Johnson, or R. Knaul, or Albert Helsley, or John Carey, the people might have felt like voting for him, regardless of politics. Mr. Cook does not appeal to the people in this way. He is not a representative business man of Denison. If so, in what business is he engaged? Where is his office? What is he doing? He is perhaps the most bitter partisan in Denison. He would not vote for the angel Gabriel if that saint appeared on the republican ticket, as he undoubtedly would if he entered politics. He has declared prior to being a candidate himself, that were he a candidate he would not want republican votes. That if he could not be elected without them he would not want to be elected. Under these circumstances we see no particular reason why republicans should not give him the chance.

Mr. Herman Koenekamp has proven himself one of the strongest candidates on the republican ticket. He has appealed to the solid sense of the Germans of the county. He represents them, he represents their thrift and industry, their careful business judgment. The Germans are proud of such men, they are types of all and the very sneers of the democratic press have been a decided help to him.

Our resume of the campaign is, therefore that there is no reason for the republicans to be either discouraged or over confident. On one hand is the influence of the old time democratic majority, on the other is the awakening, which has surely taken place and the fact that the ticket presented is superior in every way. Republicans should work without ceasing and with utmost harmony. If the victory is won it will not be entirely one of party, but it will be a victory for good county government and a warning to both

The fact that at this late date the democrats have not announced who will occupy the opera house on the two nights on which they engaged it for the sole purpose of preventing the people of Denison from hearing Secretary Shaw, shows plainly that the trick was only a trick and as contemptible as characterized by the REVIEW. The Bulletin publishes the coming attractions at the opera house as far ahead as November 18, but contains not a single announcement as to who will speak on next Saturday and Monday evenings. It is true that they may be able to corral someone to occupy the hall for them, but the fact that the meetings are unadvertised up-to-date shows that the trick was but a trick. The democrats might get up a dance in order to draw a crowd as they have done at Schleswig, or they might get Mr. Romans to answer some of Secretary Shaw's rot. These suggestions are offered gratis and need not be accepted. However there is every warrant for branding the action of the democratic leaders in engaging the hall without any purpose save to prevent Secretary Shaw from speaking in Denison, as a low-down contemptible trick, unworthy of men who are fighting for great principles, and worthy only of demagogues and shysters.
