

THE DENISON REVIEW

MARKETS
HOGS.....	5'60
CORN.....	35c
WHEAT.....	54c
OATS.....	25c
EGGS.....	20
BUTTER.....	17

A TWICE A WEEK PAPER.

DENISON, IOWA, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1902.

VOLUME XXXVII—NO. 94

CHRISTMAS CIGARS.

The old joke don't go if you buy your Christmas Cigars here. We cater to the best cigar trade in Denison and know just what will suit the taste of Husband or Friend.

Presentation Boxes.
25 Cigars.

"My Coco," The best of 5c. Cigars.

"New York Special,"
A Fine 10 Cent Cigar. Well Known to Fastidious Smokers,
And Many Others of the Best Brands.

Ph. A. Schlumberger,
THE PURE DRUGS MAN.
Broadway, Denison, Iowa

WEDDING SURPRISES DENISON

Dr. Robert Plimpton Returns With Lovely Bride.

Many Denison Friends Extend Congratulations to Happy Couple.

Dr. Robert Plimpton surprised his many friends by returning to Denison this week with a fair and charming bride. Congratulations are many and heartfelt, especially among those who have known Dr. Plimpton since his boyhood days, and who knew what a fine, manly and upright life he has led. He is one of the young men of whom Denison is justly proud, and in whose future happiness and well being all have a most friendly concern. It is therefore with pleasure that they greet the beautiful bride, and wish for her many happy days and a happy home in Denison. The ceremony which united Dr. Plimpton and Miss Etta Walker took place at Orient, Iowa, on Wednesday Dec. 10th at the home of the brides parents.

Mrs. Plimpton graduated at Des Moines college in 1897, being a classmate and friend of Miss Emma Rollinson, afterward she took a year of post graduate work in Chicago University. She has been an instructor in Gorman at the Sac City Institute and is thus thoroughly equipped to make a most admirable help-mate for this promising young physician. Dr. and Mrs. Plimpton came to Denison on Saturday evening after a pleasant visit with Dr. Wm Plimpton at Glenwood, Iowa. They are now at home at their residence on Broadway. The REVIEW joins in heartfelt and hearty congratulations.

It is now just a year ago since the spirit of Mrs. J. Fred Meyers departed to its eternal reward. The days have been sad ones to us, and the year since we have been denied her daily love and guidance has been the longest of our lives. There is little that we care to say in this public manner, save to note the anniversary of her death.

While not aggressive or self assertive, her influence for good pervaded many homes in this community and it is a consolation to know that the memory of her love and kindness lives in many hearts besides our own.

Mr. Edgar Garrison of Logan was visiting Denison people Sunday.

The German Odd Fellows of Denison have decided on Jan. 2nd as their day for installation of officers.

FUNERAL OBSEQUIES.

The funeral obsequies of the lamented Andrew Stewart were held at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and notwithstanding the severe snow storm raging without the large church was crowded with the gathered audience. It was a spontaneous and touching tribute to manly nobility and true excellence of character. His brethren of Dowdall Lodge "Knights of Pythias" and Hawkeye Camp "Woodmen of the World" were present in a body, as well as the members of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society. His pastor, Rev. A. G. Martyn, who had been so intimately associated with the deceased for nearly eight years paid a loving and fitting tribute to his life and memory. He spoke of the mystery of the sad providence that so suddenly cut down and removed from the ranks of the living a young man so fully equipped with the essentials of manly character upon the threshold of earnest manhood. Our only solace is in the Divine compensations to be found in the integrity of the life that he lived—a bright and noble example of devotion to God and consecration to His service, the influence of a Christian character with its uplifting and beneficent power. His entire life was a constant witness for truth and the right. He had a mind of high natural intelligence cultured by extensive reading, thought and travel. He had extensive knowledge of God's word as given in the Holy Scriptures and his character was anchored in the eternal principles of righteousness and truth. Courteous and companionable, he knitted himself as with hoops of steel a friendship as with his acquaintance. He had a retentive memory and a storehouse he could often recall many gems of poetry and prose, so that it was a pleasure and profit to converse with him upon literary themes and matters of general intelligence. The fraternal societies often enjoyed and received the stimulus of the efforts of his speech and pen. This was all the more marked by reason of his genuine unassuming modesty. But in a high degree the crown of all these natural and acquired gifts as a young man were the strength and savor of his consecrated and faithful Christian life. A child of covenant consecration, he was trained in the knowledge of Christian faith in a Christian home, and very early took upon himself the vows of God's service and united with the Presbyterian church of which he was a most faithful member and communicant. He witnessed a good confession of his faith in every department of Christian activity, being steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord.

The pastor spoke fully of his efficient helpfulness in the work of the kingdom as a teacher in the Sabbath school, as member and president of the Christian Endeavor Society, as a helper in the worship of the prayer service. The spiritual motto of his life was the text so often quoted by him, "Wherewith shall a young man cleanse his ways? by taking heed thereto according to thy word." Every impulse and inspiration of his life were loyal to the demands of Christ and the Church. His was a symmetrical character in moral excellence and Christian grace. He was in every way a model young man, an example in character and life conduct worthy of the earnest emulation by the scores of young with whom he was associated in this community. His rule of action was the unerring guide of Christian integrity.

His last illness with attendant extreme suffering at times was endured with Christian fortitude, though little thinking that the end of mortal life had come, yet like a faithful sentinel at the post of duty pursuing his steadfast round, his light was burning and he was ready for his Lord's coming and call. In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, he had been translated from the limitations of earth to the abundant welcome among the spirits of the just made perfect. The gain is his the great loss is ours.

We are the infinitely poorer by reason of the absence of his loved and honored presence from our midst. How can we fittingly speak of this loss when our mutual grief is so poignant? How our thoughts go out to the father and brothers beyond the seas when the sad tidings shall come to them as well as the bereft brother here with us in grief.

In diversified form it brings crushing, irreparable grief and sorrow to the loved family circle. How many ways he had so long been identified and to one of whose members—Miss Jennie Rollins, a most estimable young lady of the highest type of true womanly character—he was betrothed by the holiest ties of affection, enshrining most sacredly the ideal thought of future hearthstone and happiness in the journey of life. The profoundest emotions of tender sympathy are extended to her in the lonely vigils of a desolation too great for words to express.

What an entailment of bereavement comes to the church in which he so long found a Christian home and an active sphere for Christian living and labor! How illy can such an earnest Christian young man be spared from the depleted ranks! And we may well ask upon whose shoulders will his mantle of Christian living fall? And then the fraternal societies of Pythians and Woodmen are here present to pay loving tribute to a brother beloved whose life exemplified every philanthropic virtue and inspired emulation in every thing that bespoke true manhood and the uplifting of humanity. He rests from his labors and his works do follow him, wherefore comfort yourselves with these words.

Appropriate hymns were rendered by the church choir, and the floral emblems and offerings from friends and from the Pythian, Woodmen and Christian Endeavor societies were beautiful and expressive of loving remembrance of the blessed dead. The interment at the Oakland cemetery was peculiarly pathetic as the loved ones clustered around the open grave and the brethren of the mystic orders sang most touchingly songs full of the resurrection hope typified by the beautiful sprays of evergreen that symbolize immortality. Sacred be his memory.

Card of Thanks.

To the family of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Rollins, the Knights of Pythias, Woodmen of the World and the many friends who did everything willing hands could do during the illness and death of brother Andrew I desire to express to you all my heartfelt thanks.
SAMUEL STEWART.

Mrs. M. E. Jones wishes to announce to those who are looking for neat tasty Xmas presents for relatives and friends that she has a first class collection of paintings of fruit and flowers done in water-colors and pastels. These pictures are all painted from nature. Prices reasonable.

PICTURES FRAMED TO ORDER.

Christmas all the Year.

By the purchase of some Handsome piece of Furniture you bring Christmas to your home all the year--Long after the cheap gew gaws are broken and forgotten.

We invite your inspection and believe that by purchasing here you can most happily combine Christmas joys with Christmas common sense.

We offer this year the Finest Line of Handsome Parlor Sets, Bed:room Sets, Rockers, Tables, Tabarets, Pictures, Chiffoniers, Bookcases, Sideboards, Carpets, Rugs, Carpet Sweepers, Etc.

These goods were bought before the recent rise in prices and we are getting the people the benefit. The prices are lower than you expect. Yours,

C. J. SOLOMON,
FURNITURE DEALER,

Broadway, Denison, Iowa.

CLUB HOUSE BEING PLANNED

General Social Club for Men of Denison.

Hoped That Plan to Rent and Furnish Club House Will Succeed.

The men about town are now being invited to join a social club which shall be worthy of Denison. While card playing will be one of the amusements it will by no means be the only feature. It is planned to rent a suitable residence and to employ a resident janitor and porter. There will be reading and smoking rooms, the chess and checker players will be provided for, lunches will be served to order, bath rooms will be at the disposal of the members and a reputable and comfortable place will be provided for social amusements. No gambling of any description will be allowed and in all respects the club will conform to the demands of the best citizenship. Should the project go through the Denison Club will doubtless be a great influence for good. It will afford a meeting place for the exchange of ideas on the many matters of public moment to Denison and will be a center from which many projects for the good of the city will emanate. The initiation fee has been fixed at $10.00 and the monthly dues at $1.00, this will enable the club to furnish its home, to make comfortable and cosy and to maintain it as a club room. It is to be hoped that the plan will be a success.

Additional local news on last page.

For the Christmas Tree

Beautiful, but inexpensive ornaments, the prettiest and most artistic you have seen. Christmas Dainties, all Kinds

We have the best pastry cook in the county. His cakes maccaroons, patties etc., are known in every home in the city,

Candies, the purest and freshest. Beautiful presentation boxes. Mixed Nuts, Fruits and other seasonable goods.

The Model Bakery

Across from the Wilson House.

Chas. D. Young, Prop.

THE FARGO HOTEL

Denison, Iowa.

J. W. WEDMORE, Proprietor.

First Class Commercial Accommodations.

Under New Management

This Hotel Has been Completely Renovated and Will be Run in First Class

Style Only

Special Rates to Crawford County People

Fine Sample Rooms. Rates Reasonable.

Grand Christmas Ball

By the Germania Society

At their Opera House in Denison

Friday Evening, Dec. 26th.

SEE THE REVIEW ADVERTISEMENTS