

Blue Grass, Stock and Grain Farm

One of the best improved farms in Harrison County, Iowa, comprising 316 acres, on Rural Daily Mail Route, seven miles south of Logan, eleven miles east of Missouri Valley, one and three-quarter miles to a country church, two and three-quarter miles to a country store and a creamery.

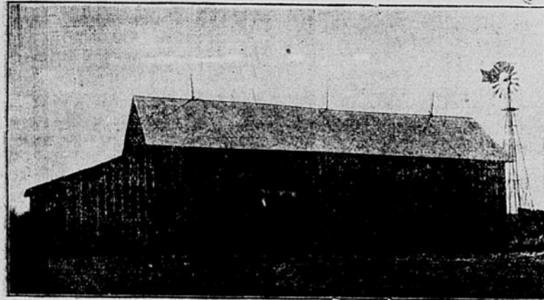

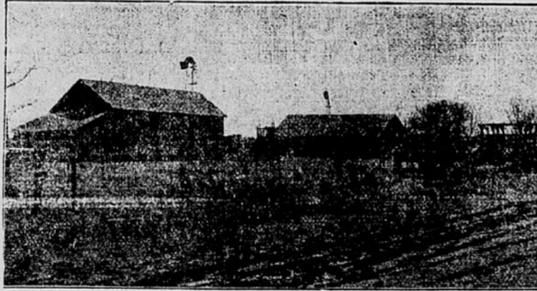

Land rolling with good soil. One hundred and eighty acres under cultivation; one hundred and thirty-six acres in fine blue grass pasture with scattering young oak, black walnut and elm timber.

Two-story frame house of eight rooms, a cellar, cistern and well, machine shed, hog sheds, cattle sheds, granary, cribs, hen house, wagon scales, two windmills, with running water in pasture. Possession of property may be had March 1, 1903. An abstract will be furnished showing perfect title. The rate of taxation on this farm is about twenty-three mills on a one-fourth valuation.

There is a mortgage of $6,000 on this farm which will be due June 1, 1905, but which is payable at any interest pay day, so that it may be paid off soon if desired.

Price $63.00 per acre, on easy terms. Will take eighty or one hundred and twenty acres of good land or some good town property at its actual value in part payment for the same.

Western League Meeting.
 Kansas City, Jan. 21.—The decision to make no changes in the circuit and the election of officers for next year constituted the most important business transacted by the Western league magnates at the annual meeting of the league in this city yesterday. M. H. Sexton was elected president and W. T. Van Brunt vice president.

Cruiser Disabled at Sea.
 Berlin, Jan. 21.—The cruiser Ppeler, bound for Venezuela to join the German fleet under Commodore Scheder, became disabled at sea and will be docked at Vigo for repairs before continuing its journey. It is thought that the injury must be serious if it necessitates going into dry dock.

Police Sue Preacher for Slander.
 Topeka, Kan., Jan. 21.—Suit will be filed against Rev. J. D. McFarland by the police force of Topeka, alleging slander. Dr. McFarland is pastor of the First Methodist church of this city and made the alleged slanderous charge in a pulpit sermon.

TEA ROOT CARVINGS.

Fantastic Wooden Objects That Are Fashioned in the Orient.
 The fantastic wooden objects which come from the far east and are known as tea root carvings have long been the basis of a prosperous industry in the populous city of Fuchau. Strictly speaking, the name is a misnomer. Some of the carvings are made from old tea roots and tea trunks, but the vast majority, nine-tenths at least, are made from the roots and trunks of hardwood trees.

The carvings are almost invariably made in two parts, a pedestal and one or more human figures fitted to the latter by pegs and holes. The former is made from a root and the latter from a trunk. The roots are selected with considerable care. They must be comparatively free from dry rot, decay and worm holes and must possess a rude symmetry. They are cleaned, scrubbed and scraped and sawed to about the desired size; then the artist with chisel, gouge, knife and pinchers removes rootlets and roots until the figure is completed.

The simplest design is a three legged pedestal, of which the base is a rough cylinder of wens and knobs. Any number of legs may be used. A curious specimen seen by the writer in the Grand hotel, Yokohama, has fifty legs, while the body has been so treated as to suggest a horny centiped. A second type of pedestal is the mushroom. A third type is an animal form, such as the buffalo, tiger, unicorn, elephant or dragon.

Nearly always the chisel is guided by humor or satire. If it be a saint who is depicted, the look of piety or suffering is replaced by a leer or drunken grimace; if it be a warrior, every limb and muscle is molded so as to suggest decrepitude or a desire to run away. Quang Ti, the invincible soldier prince, is frequently portrayed standing on one leg, with the other extended like a professional rope balancer.—New York Post.

WATERFALLS IN JAPAN.

They Are Almost Countless and Are Used as Shrines.

The waterfalls of Japan are almost countless. There is one at every turn, and where there was not one in the beginning the Japs have made one, for it is their passion. Every little garden has a fall or two, and it would not be considered a garden at all without it. There are many very beautiful ones in various parts of the country, and they are all of them shrines visited by thousands of pilgrims every year. They do not pray to them as to a statue of Buddha, but they first pass up a little paper prayer on a convenient rock and then sit down in rapt attention and gaze at the falling water for hours, taking an occasional cup of tea at a little teahouse which always stands close at hand.

The Japs are great at making pilgrimages anyway. When a man has reached the age of forty-five, he is supposed to have raised a family which will in the future take care of him. About the first thing he does on retiring is to start on a series of pilgrimages. Sometimes he joins a band of fellow pilgrims, or, if comparatively wealthy, he sometimes takes his wife and a minor child and makes the pilgrimages by himself. These pilgrim bands can always be seen moving about the country. They carry little banners with the name of their city and district marked on them, and when they have received good entertainment at a teahouse or hotel they hang one of their banners up in a conspicuous place as a testimonial. Often a band of pilgrims will travel from one end of the country to the other, visiting every temple and waterfall in the land.

Lavish Entertainments.
 In the palmy days of the French monarchy sumptuous entertainments, of royalty were not uncommon. To entertain a queen for a week the Comte d'Artois rebuilt, rearranged and refurbished his castle from threshold to turret, employing 900 workmen day and night. The Marshal de Soubise, deigned Louis XV. as his guest for day and night at a cost of $20,000, "hear," said his majesty to the marquis who owned millions, "that you are in debt." "I will inquire of my steward and inform your majesty," replied the host, hiding a yawn behind his hand.

A Rigid Hotel Law.
 More than 200 years ago the Dutch rulers of Ceylon, anxious to retain their monopoly of the precious spice which that island is famous, enacted a law which made it a capital offense to buy or sell the wild jungle cinnamon then the only sort known. The plantation, wherever found, were held to be the property of the state. If a scribe chanced to spring up in a man's doorway, he could neither destroy nor use it under severe penalties. Things are happily different now.

Where He Located.
 Stuffer (at the end of Simpkins' bed)—Do you know, I can't find my overcoat anywhere.
 Simpkins—Have you looked in the freshmen room?
 Stuffer—Why, no! How could it be there?
 Simpkins—You haven't been anywhere else during the evening, have you?

Fate's Injustice.
 Nocash (disconsolately)—The rich getting richer and the poor poorer.
 Friend—What's wrong now?
 Nocash—Miss Fullpurse has refused and is going to marry Mr. Co.

 If you are fat, be good natured people just naturally expect it.—son Globe.
