The Whist Club enjoyed a splendid meeting at the home of Miss Alys Knaut on Thursday evening. The Whist Club is a most enjoyable institution and Miss Knaut proved herself a model hostess.

—John Schnoor, the harness man south of the court house is making a specialty of quick and reliable harness repairing.

The court house should face to the south. It would be a serious mistake to have it face to the east. A handsome side entrance should be made, but the show front should be where it can be seen and appreciated.

—Phor e 114 for all meat, lard, game and poultry.

—A big shipment of the famous No. 39 Horse Collars guaranteed not to break in the throat, has just been received at John Schnoor's Harness Shop South of the court house.

The REVIEW editor responded to a request to address the students of the Denison college Friday morning. It was a real pleasure to get away from work and worry even for a short time and look into the faces of the bright and happy students. If they enjoyed the occasion as greatly as we did the talk was a success.

—Elegant Line of Valentines at Johnsons.

W. W. Wallace a young man representing the World Herald of Omaha is under arrest in Denison charged with drunkenness. He has entered a plea of not guilty and the case has been set for trial before Justice Gullick at 9 o'clock to-morrow. The facts out of which this charge grows are sad ones. It would appear that Wallace took a young girl out sleigh riding on Wednesday evening. They obtained a bottle of whisky and wine mixed and the next that is known of them it is stated that both were intoxicated, the girl being unconscious and near to death's door. After much work she was brought to consciousness. Wallace was arrested on a more serious charge but the case was afterwards dismissed and he was rearrested on the charge of drunkenness. The entire affair is profoundly sad and a sorrow and a disgrace not only to the participants but to the community.

—See the splendid stock of Valentines at Johnsons.

The REVIEW is rather proud of the fact that it has never failed to give due credit for an act of faithful public service whether rendered by a republican or a democrat. In connection with the selection of an architect for the new court house, the REVIEW wishes to say that it believes the board acted with honesty, good judgement and fairness. The board was careful and deliberate, giving every man a chance, and acted without a sign of favoritism. The second step in the court house erection has been as careful and painstaking and businesslike as the first step—the bond sale—was shabby, ill advised and unbusinesslike. The REVIEW wishes to congratulate the board sincerely and heartily and without partisanship. From every source come good reports of the architect selected and there is every reason to believe he will do his work faithfully and well.

DIED FROM EXPOSURE

Gustav Flemerling Died In Nebraska Monday.

The Funeral Services Over the Remains Were Held in Hanover Township on Wednesday.

(Charter Oak Times.)

A message reached here Monday telling that Gustav Flemerling had died that morning in Lyons, Neb., from exposure. He is well known in and around Charter Oak, having lived here for a number of years. He was a brother of Mrs. Wm. Brathauer and Mrs. Carl Scheim.

Mr. Scheim went to Nebraska Monday afternoon and returned Tuesday evening with the remains of his unfortunate brother.

The misfortune occurred in that cold blustering day we had last week. Farther west that was a hard storm and a more severe day than we experienced.

He had started on a long walk, and the next known of him he was found lying by the roadside, frozen stiff. He was apparently dead, but was revived, and it was found necessary to amputate a hand and both feet. From the first the effort to save him seemed almost hopeless.

Mr. Flemerling was a man of about fifty years, and had seen much of the world. For six years he served as an army officer in the Germany army. Four years more he served in the Dutch army in the orient. He has been in America for a number of years.

The funeral was from the Hanover church.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Irene Austin visited the Chemistry class Thursday if last week.

Miss Sewall was absent one day last week on account of illness and Helen Hayes of the High School took her place.

The Societies of the High School gave their programs last Friday.

The teachers are preparing for their annual "At Home," which this year occurs on the sixth and seventh of March. All patrons of the schools will be entertained and given an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the work of the schools.

Monday morning Mr. Savage gave an interesting talk on Boston the second of the series. He described Christ Church, Old North Church and Faneuil Hall.

Friday night is the time set for the Preliminary Contest. In the Oratorical department are Clifford Merrill, Helen Hayes, Anna Aebischer and Lorenz Lorenzen, in the E-say, Mary Burch, Myrtle Ingram, Leonard Luney and Anna Jurgensen, the Declaimers are Hazel Laub, Ethel Orr, Fred Soehl, Alton Thow, Hilda Broderson, Marion Scriver, Mamie Bell and Mable Smith.

The class in Book-keeping is engaged in the various transactions of a wholesale jobbing business. The course calls for the handling of all business papers, as notes, checks, receipts etc. used in actual business. Each student started his business with an investment of $5000, in school currency. The merchandise is handled in the form of cards. Much interest is taken in this course and most practical benefit will result from the training received.

The storm Wednesday greatly reduced the attendance especially in the lower grades.

Brett Tribune:—"Word comes from Rockford that Joe Trigg has succeeded in grafting a watermelon on a pound lily root and now has a melon floating on the mill pond that is over thirty feet in diameter and still growing. His idea is to grow them until cold weather comes, when they will be cut loose and fires put in them. The hot water and steam will melt the ice as they float south and the river can thus be kept navigable all winter. He will now try grafting a corn stalk on the melon vine and expects next year to raise a hundred bushels of shelled corn in place of the useless seeds. It will solve the transportation problem. The melon can be cut loose in the fall and the crop floated to New Orleans, when the rind can be opened and the corn can be raised to the elevator. It may make Rockford a seaport."
