THE CAT AND THE KING

Given sufficient rope and a certain class of intellect and the suicide is only a matter of time. The REVIEW has been giving the Bulletin any quantity of rope lately and as a consequence that paper has rushed headlong into undignified, uncalled for and untrue reference to the President of the United States. We suppose that if it be true that a cat may look at a king, it follows that an ass may kick at a President. If this presumption is correct the recent attacks of the Bulletin are explainable. That organ states that the President came here on a political mission, but it fails to point out a single utterance of a political nature made by the President while here. Had the President made a political speech, had he taken advantage of a non-partisan reception to advance his political theories we might discover some ground for criticism. It has remained for the Bulletin to endeavor to give a political tinge to the affair. No republican did this. Prominent democrats were invited to places of honor, were shown every consideration and we have yet to find the republican who by word or deed sought to make political capital out of the President's visit. Had the President's visit been the dreary boomerang pictured by the Bulletin, we believe that the paper would gladly have passed the matter by in silence, trusting to the good sense of the people to know whether they liked the President or not. It is the fact that the President did make a good impression, that this non-partisan and patriotic speech did open the eyes of many to a broader view, beyond mere party strife, it is the fact that the people of this vicinity did admire the great and fearless President, that has driven the Bulletin, as the organ of a party to such frenzy. We greeted the President to Denison not only as the Nation's chief but as a man who had conferred upon our city the greatest honor it has ever received; an honor which is in itself enough to make Denison the envy of every other city in Iowa. We greeted him as the man who appointed Leslie M. Shaw, to be Secretary of the Treasury. The greeting and the welcome has, with most of us, lasted longer than until the moment the guest was outside our gates.

President Roosevelt needs no defense at the hands of the REVIEW or of any citizen of Denison. His record as a soldier and statesman; as champion of the flag and of the people, is without spot or blemish. In all the years of its puny existence the Bulletin has not accomplished a thousandth part of the great deeds of any single week of the President's busy life.

Mr. Roosevelt is a doer of great deeds rather than a talker of big words. He is a man of strength and conviction. The winds and rains of the plains; the days and nights on the field of battle; the hours of thought and mental conflict for the good of his city, his state and his nation have left lines in his face; have made him rugged and purposeful, but not unpleasing to those who admire strength and visibility and honesty. He is not a lady's man perhaps, he poses neither as a Beau Brummel, nor a sophomore orator, but as President of the United States he has conducted the affairs of the most difficult and the greatest office on earth in a manner which has called forth the respect and admiration of all honest men who have sufficient intellect to appreciate great deeds.

While in Denison Secretary Shaw told a pleasing story of what Senator Spooner once said of Arthur Pue Gorman the distinguished Maryland democrat. Speaking of Senator Gorman the Wisconsin republican said "I have seen him throw party to the dogs and walk the mountain ranges." This is exactly what Denison did during the President's reception, and it is to be regretted that the Bulletin has seen fit to spoil the era of good feeling, and put a bad taste in the mouth by unwarranted and ill-natured personal criticism of the city's guest. No one expected or asked the Bulletin to change its political convictions on account of the President's visit, but continued gentlemanly treatment both during the visit and after the President had been our guest is the course that would suggest itself to the gentlemanly minded. It is almost unnecessary to state that the Bulletin's statement did not voice any sentiment of any but itself and possibly those of a few democrats so new to their party that they feel constant protestations of loyalty necessary to keep them in good standing. Such old time democrats as Mayor Carey, Chas. Bullock, Ph. A. Schlumberger and hosts of others had naught but words of praise for the President.

OPEN THEIR NEW HALL

Militarische Bruderschaft Dedicate New Home.

SPEECHES AND DANCING.

Mayor Carey Makes Opening Address Followed by Others. Society Proud of New Home

On Tuesday night of last week the Militarische Bruderschaft dedicated their new hall in North Denison with dancing, speech making and supper. The Schleswig Band furnished excellent music and the jollity lasted until dawn. About ten o'clock Mr. Herman Grill called the merry makers to order and introduced Mayor J. T. Carey whose pleasing and well worded address was well received and aroused much applause. Mr. F. W. Meyers was called on and he spoke briefly in behalf of the younger generation of German Americans. Prof. J. H. Hartman received the symbolic key to the new hall and made an eloquent speech in German in which he dwelt upon the objects of the society and the good it had accomplished in keeping alive the ways and customs of the Fatherland, while strengthening the love and patriotic feeling for the land of their adoption.

Later in the evening Mr. Carl Kuehle was called for and he responded with a bright and characteristic speech. An excellent supper was served at midnight and the many present enjoyed themselves hugely. We congratulate the Bruderschaft upon the auspicious opening of their new hall. The building is commodious and well adapted for its purposes. The music gallery occupies the space over the entry and cloak rooms, while the basement contains kitchen, dining and refreshment rooms. The crowd on Tuesday was jolly but orderly and nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the evening which was enjoyed with that simplicity and whole-heartedness that few Germans can attain.

Below we give the dedicatory speech as delivered by Mayor Carey.

It is, I assure you gentlemen, a pleasure to be with you to-night and to extend you my congratulations on the successful completion of this hall. While I especially speak for myself every citizen feels that you are entitled to great praise for the enterprise you have shown in building such a splendid building, a credit to your society and to the town in which you have your residence. While I am not thoroughly familiar with all the objects of your brotherhood, yet, having a personal acquaintance with all its membership I feel certain that it cannot help but be beneficial not only to yourselves but also to your friends and neighbors. Its very name—brotherhood—carries with it the feeling that it is a social organization where all its members meet on the common plain of good fellowship and where each and every one is the friend and brother of all. In this day, when the hearts of men are to a certain extent hardened and made selfish by the desire for wealth and gain, it is a splendid object lesson to see an association such as this, founded and carried on in a spirit of friendship, good fellowship and benevolence. It is a common complaint in this age of the world that there is not any more the feeling of friendliness, charity and love for our neighbor and few men that formerly existed in our own welfare that we have no time for sociability with others, and it is to the peculiar credit of the German people that they more I think than any other nationality, have proven this feeling wrong, and have by means of clubs and other organizations kept alive the neighborly, hospitable and friendly spirit, I am as I said in the beginning, glad that it is my privilege to assist in the opening of your new hall and I sincerely trust that the future of your society may be bright and cloudless, that you may increase in prosperity and never have a single cloud to darken your future. While I am not able to be a member of your society, owing to my birth and nationality, other than of course I had no control, yet I can assure you that I am one of you in spirit to-night, and wish as heartily for your future welfare as does any member here.

I am with you in the desire to promote good feeling among all our people, with you in the desire to do what is best for the advancement of our common city and country, one with you in my wishes and feelings, personal beliefs and to a certain extent my appetite. It is also a very encouraging feature to see here to-night, so many ladies and it speaks well for the future of this hall, for after all, while men may build this ward the advance of the race is my brother."

The graduating class was presented by Prof. Van Ness. He recalled the fact that it was the tenth year in the life of the school and the tenth class he had presented to the board.

Mr. J. B. Romans in behalf of the board congratulated the class. He reminded them of the peculiar situation of the school, not a high school but a school to put an education within reach of every young person in the county. He advised them to continue their studies at college if possible, at home if not. It is a good thing to get an education under difficulties. The diplomas were then presented to the following graduates.

CLASS ROLL.
Normal—Edward Joyce, George William Newcom, John Sherman Potevin, Chas. Eric West.
Commercial—Ora Ella Ainsworth, Curtis Blaine Gilbreath, Catharine Gaffey, James S. Hartigan, Wright King Jordan, Michael Leo Houlihan, Emma Peters, August Edward Schultz, George J. Thieman.

Shorthand—Ora Ella Ainsworth, Anna Ellithorpe, Catharine Gaffey, William Joseph McCullough, Bertha Elizabeth Newcom, Alma Olinda Olson.
Music—Florence Mary Kirkup, Edith Pearl Ley, Essie Smith, Grace Emily Selander.

Prof. Van Ness invited all the alumni and former students to the dormitory at the close of the program, where in the course of time about 75 assembled. After a short program by graduates of the music department an adjournment was taken to the dining room.

When the good things had been disposed of Mr. Woodruff called the meeting to order, and called on Miss Hope Smith for the first toast, a welcome to the class of '03. Mr. George Newcom responded in behalf of the class. Mr. Foderberg responded to "Auld Lang Syne" and ended by inviting the guests to join in singing the song. Prof. Van Ness responded to the last toast "The Aftermath." He spoke of the pleasure that comes to the teacher as the result of his work and of the great influence that one school may have.

Mr. B. F. Foderberg was chosen president and Miss Effie Miller Secretary of the Alumni Association for the coming year. The meeting then adjourned after singing "God be With You Till We Meet Again."

COLLEGE MUSIC RECITAL.

One of the Best Given in Denison in Recent Years.

Tuesday evening the music department of the Denison college gave its ninth annual music recital at the Germania hall. It was a decided success from beginning to end. The stage was beautifully decorated with potted flowering plants and presented a pleasing effect. The music department of the college has been in charge of Prof. M. C. Hover, a very talented instructor and musician who has taken the utmost pains with his pupils, and the evening program proved that his efforts had been rewarded in the highest degree. The graduates were Misses Pearl Ley, Florence Kirkup, Grace Selander and Essie Smith, four talented young ladies in whom all Denison takes a just pride. The ladies were assisted by Miss Allie Sewell, Prof. Hover, and Messrs. Sibbert Chamberlin and W. P. Hover.

The first on the program was a march, the instrumentation being the string quartet and two piano. This was handled in a way to reflect credit upon the participants.

Miss Selander showed herself possessed of rare skill and ability to execute, and to have complete control of the piano; the rendering of the difficult music by the old masters, seemed as easily handled as if 'twere but a simple two-step.

Miss Pearl Ley gained new laurels by her manner of execution. Her efforts before many Denison audiences have placed her in the front ranks of our local musicians, and the hearty applause with which she was greeted was ample proof of the appreciation in which her music was received.

Miss Florence Kirkup's playing was such as to leave little room for doubt as to her ability as a musician. She has spent considerable time in study and is now reaping her reward. Her selections were very classical, but she was equal to the occasion and her friends were delighted.

that encores would not be responded to, Miss Allie Sewell was compelled to appear a second time. Her vocal selections with string accompaniment were fine and won much applause from the audience.

Prof. Hover delighted the audience with a violin selection, showing that he was complete master of the violin. He has the delicacy of touch and grace of movement so seldom found, and was heartily congratulated.

Miss Essie Smith is destined to become a musician of rare merit. The apparent ease with which she played was most gratifying to those present, and many are the predictions as to her future. The audience was a musical one and capable of judging, and all pronounce the evening's entertainment one of the best of the season. Prof. Hover, the director, intends spending his vacation in Chicago where he will further pursue his studies.

THE SERBIAN TRAGEDY

The civilized world has been shocked by the fearful tragedy in Serbia, where a weak king and a wicked queen together with their intimates, were murdered in a night. While the crime is abhorred the victims are not greatly to be pitied. The story of the tragedy reads like a Bluebeard tale, and it is almost impossible to believe that it happened in 1903.

There are many evidences however, that the boasted civilization of to-day is not so far removed from savagery as we would gladly think. The Russian massacre, the Serbian assassinations, the Armenian atrocities and the Southern outrages all show that man is very much brute after all.

The Serbian tragedy may force a European crisis in the Balkans. In the meantime, it is but another illustration that the wages of sin is death.

Twice Larger Than Before

The possible list of how big a trained animal show may have been absolutely designated by the consolidation of Gentry Bros. Famous Shows for this traveling season. For almost two score years Gentry Bros. several Shows have been traveling as distinct exhibitions, this season the Shows have been consolidated and will exhibit all their numerous attractions under one canvas for a single admission. During the many years that success has greeted Gentry Bros. exhibitions they have kept a carefully compiled list of the cities and towns where their various Shows were the most liberally patronized. This city has proven to be one of the banner towns consequently, in laying out the itinerary for the consolidated Shows a date of exhibition has been ordered to our city and the little folks can prepare for a holiday on that date when Gentry Bros. Famous Shows United will exhibit here, which will be Monday June 22.

Mrs. Iva Smith gave a parcel shower Saturday evening complimentary to Miss Kate Kelly who is to be one of our June brides. The party was a surprise to Miss Kelly and she received a number of useful and pretty gifts. Miss Hope Smith assisted her sister in entertaining.

Mrs. Shaw has received a great deal of attention during her visit to Denison and has been warmly greeted by her friends and all who know her are her friends. Beside the gem of a tea given in her honor and Mr. and Mrs. Harris by Mrs. R. A. Romans, a very elegant luncheon given by Mrs. Ley on Friday Mrs. John Campbell Mrs. Ley's daughter was also a guest of honor. A four course luncheon was served and greatly enjoyed by about a score of ladies. Mrs. Ley always entertains charmingly and her guests were given a very enjoyable party.

Mrs. W. H. Laub gave a most charming party on Wednesday complimentary to the federated clubs of Denison, this was the first social function given in their honor and was a delightful innovation. Mrs. Austin of Jefferson who is a P. E. O. was the guest of honor. Mrs. Shaw who is an honorary member of the Woman's club was also present. The ladies were given material for paper flower making. Mrs. Johnson received the prize, a very handsome bouquet of roses while Mrs. Harris of Boone was consoled by receiving the entire output of flowers made by the guests. Our people were delighted to have Mrs. Harris with them again. Mrs. Laub's home has been remodeled and redecorated and is very artistic and beautiful.

J. A. Halberg of Deloit was a pleasant visitor in Denison Monday and left a nice order for printing at the Review office.

Jess McAhren of Denison was in the city Wednesday as a deputy U. S. Marshal and took Roy Zimmer to Des Moines on a charge of misappropriation of funds in his capacity as mail carrier. J. E. Taylor, A. J. Embody and John Davis and wife went along as witnesses. Mr. Zimmer says the case is simply a piece of personal spite and that he can easily prove his innocence of the charge. We hope so. LATTER: Mr. Zimmer was bound over to appear before the federal grand jury in Council Bluffs next September. Bond was placed at $300, failing to secure which he will remain in jail in Council Bluffs until time for trial.—Dunlap Herald.
