Mr. and Mrs. B. Evans, of Missouri Valley, visited with their daughters, Misses Maggie and Lillie, in Denison on Sunday last. Mr. Evans has been in the Northwestern upholstering shop at the Valley for nineteen years, and has just resigned his position with the company. He says that most of the repair work is being done in Chicago, and as a result the shops at the Valley are not being used. While the company does not say that they intend to abandon them, yet every indication is they will. They have given a number of the older employees an opportunity to go to Chicago, and some of them have accepted. All this has a tendency to hurt Missouri Valley. The citizens are not doing any improving as the town would be "dead" if the shops were removed.

A man of means can get along nicely in Oregon; the climate is fine, there is plenty of fruit, etc. but for a laboring man Mr. Orem is of the opinion that that state is not the place for him. An experienced man can get $3.50 felling trees, but it requires about five years to gain this experience. Mr. I. O. Orem is still in Oregon, and has taken up some land. He is located about 150 miles from where Robert stopped.

The committees will soon make a thorough canvass of the city, securing articles of clothing, furniture, all kinds of novelties, toys, fancy work, bric-a-brac and machinery. These donations, some perfectly new, other second hand goods, will be sold in Mr. Carey's store on the days mentioned. There will be on sale everything from a trimmed hat to a lawn mower.
