The next attraction at the opera will be Lawrence Russell's, "The Pumpkin Huskers." Many will remember Mr. Russell as the gentleman who gave the home talent play "Aberdeen" in Denison some years ago. Mr. T. J. Kelly spent Saturday and Monday at Lake City, where he was looking at a stock of shoes with a view to purchasing the same. He purchased a fine stock of shoes, and will undoubtedly remain there the remainder of this week getting the stock in good shape. Just what he will do regarding a permanent store has not as yet been decided. To say that Kelly is getting a monopoly on the shoe business is but putting it mildly.

A good crowd witnessed the performance, "A Royal Slave" at the opera house Thursday evening. While the company advertised thirty people there were only fourteen, it being necessary for the different members of the company to double on a number of the parts. The special scenery was good, but was shown at a great disadvantage owing to the size of the stage. The play as a whole was good, and should the company decide on a return date with a new piece they would undoubtedly be accorded good patronage. It is these kind of shows that deserve patronage, and if the management continues to book them he will make the Germania a popular amusement house.

The veteran auctioneer W. J. McAhren made a record breaker of a sale down at Mr. Birkhoefer's on the 26th. Mr. Birkhoefer had a good big sale. Mr. McAhren was told that he would be there after dark, selling stuff by moonlight, but he wasn't. He started in at one o'clock, and at 4:30 had everything sold and was on his way home. Included in the sale was a number of horses, cattle and hogs, besides a lot of machinery, and farm utensils. Jess is one of the best auctioneers in this part of Iowa, he always gets the very best price for an article, and is always fair to the bidder. No one can accuse him of not dealing otherwise.

Messrs. C. L. Voss and J. I. Gibson have disposed of the Denison Drug Co., store to Messrs. McGuire & Cowser, of Jefferson, and an invoice is now being taken. The new firm expect to open the store for business today (Wednesday). Both men are experienced business men, and come very highly recommended. They will thoroughly renovate the store, and it is their intention to run a first-class and up-to-date drug store. We welcome both gentlemen to Denison business circles, and bespeak for them a liberal patronage. Dr. Gibson has not yet decided just what he will do. He has a number of very flattering offers, among them one at Sioux City. Should he decide to locate at that place he will enter the practice of his profession. We regret exceedingly that the doctor anticipates removing from our city, as he will be greatly missed in numerous ways. During his residence in Denison he has won the hearts of many, and particularly the members of the M. E. church choir to which he has rendered such valuable assistance.
