The pathetic domestic tragedy presented when the husband in the pride of his own judgment and the joy of generosity buys some article for the house which the surprised, yet disappointed wife does not approve, is the theme of Mary Stewart Cutting's story, "At the Sign of the Rubber Plant," in the June McClure's. The love and tact of the wife finally win the battle, but it is a sad little struggle they have, fraught with all sorts of heart wrenchings. It ends so bright and happily that you feel that even family jars have their proper place in the domestic economy.

RUTH THE MOABITISS

Sacred Cantata Well Rendered by High School Pupils.
CROWDED HOUSE DESPITE THE WEATHER
Pupils Under Miss Polster's Instruction do Exceptionally Well. Special Scenery and Fine Costumes add to Production.
In spite of the rainy weather last Wednesday the opera house was well filled in the evening, when the pupils of the high school, under the direction of Miss Polster, represented in song the beautiful bible story of the sorrowful Naomi and her faithful daughter-in-law, Ruth. Constant rehearsals for this cantata have been held for some time and the entertainment had reached a state of perfection when it was put upon the stage Wednesday evening. There were nearly fifty voices in the choruses. The principal parts were taken by pupils of the high school, excepting Fred Soehl and Leora Luney, who graduated last year, and Miss Allie Sewell, who graduated four years ago and is now a teacher in the grade.
Elaborate costumes were worn by the characters and the beauty of the entertainment was greatly enhanced by the special scenery. For the harvest scene a field of ripened grain had been painted on a curtain and several sheaves of wheat had been secured.
The choruses were very pretty and seemed to be well liked by the audience. Most of the soloists were not at their best on that evening, on account of colds and hoarseness from which they had hardly recovered at the time the program was given. Everything considered, however, the solo parts were as much as could be expected under the circumstances and were much appreciated by the listeners.
The opening scene showing a famine in Bethlehem was a very pretty one. The music of this cantata cannot be excelled in beauty and harmony by any similar production ever presented in this city, and this, together with the simple but pretty costumes of the singers, produced a pleasing effect upon the audience from the outset. Two solo parts of minor importance were brought out in this scene, that of John Maloney, the messenger, and Genevieve Lally, a Jewish maiden. Both of these singers performed their parts with pleasing effect and also sang well later on in the program.
The second scene showed Naomi and her two daughters-in-law, Ruth and Orpha, in the land of Moab. This was the most beautiful scene in the entire cantata. Miss Allie Sewell, as Naomi, was easily the best character on the program and on this occasion maintained the high standard as a singer which she holds among Denison people. The part of Ruth was a difficult one, there being much heavy work for that character throughout the entire program. This character was well impersonated by Miss Leora Luney, who has a beautiful contralto voice of excellent quality and wonderful range, which promises much if given training. Miss Marion Seriver also sang with credit as Orpha, the sister of Ruth.

The joy chorus at the opening of the third scene was one of the best of the entire program. In this scene Naomi and Ruth returned from Moab to the land of Bethlehem. At this point, Fred Soehl, who assumed the leading tenor role, made his first appearance. As a singer, Fred is well known to a Denison audience. He has a beautiful tenor voice of excellent pitch and on this particular occasion he was at his best. His voice blended well with that of Miss Sewell in their duet parts, which was very pleasing to the audience.
Luke Weeks as Boaz, was the principal male character of the evening. The bass solo parts assigned to him were mostly difficult ones. Luke, however, is a young man who has entire confidence in himself, and he enacted his part with perfect ease. Temple Kirkup also had a part as assistant reaper and sang a baritone solo with pleasing effect. "Temp" has a very fine baritone voice which should be cultivated. Grace Bamford sang a very difficult soprano solo. She has a sweet voice, but is not very strong. However, she is but a girl and as she grows older it will undoubtedly become stronger.
Another pretty scene was the moonlight scene in which Ruth sang the gleaming song followed by the slumber song by Boaz. In fact, the entire program was almost an excellent one. The Denison high school has some excellent material for good music and the progress of the pupils along this line since Miss Polster has had charge of the musical instruction is a matter of favorable comment. The event was patronized by the people of Denison, and the city is to be congratulated upon the excellence of our public schools and the interest taken in them by its patrons.

Prospects for Full Corn Crib.
Marshalltown Times-Republican: There is hope in the hearts of the northern Iowa farmers; whose lot for the past two or three seasons has been a hard one. His corn has been planted and is peering through the ground, strong rooted and dark green in color, with the promise of full cribs for next fall. The stand is good, and there will be little replanting. Small grain, while it has been checked by the chilly spring, is green and healthy, and a fortnight of sun will set it waving. The ponds have disappeared. There have been no blooming freshets to cover the bottom land and spoil the pastures. The weeping that has endured over the lower lands of Iowa through three disastrous seasons has ceased, and joy has come with the morning. The prospects are for a splendid crop, and the prosperity that is brought by abundance. It is time. There have been thousands of acres of 80 land in Iowa that failed to pay 1 per cent to the owner and threatened the farmer with ruin during the past thirty-six months. It is these conditions that have made empty store rooms in thriving Iowa towns. Times have been hard in certain spots of the state despite the prosperous general conditions that have obtained. The entire state may congratulate itself along with the northern Iowa farmer in the reversal of the situation and the prospect of a magnificent crop in every section of Iowa. A full corn crib maketh a fat pocket-book.
Weak Hearts
Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased. Mr. D. Knuble, of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."
Kodol Digests What You Eat and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure. Bottles only $1.00 Size holding 2 1/2 times the trial size, which sells for 50c. Prepared by E. C. DeWITT & CO., CHICAGO.

For a Hundred Years.
For a hundred years or more Witch Hazel has been recognized as a superior remedy but it remained for E. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago to discover how to combine the virtues of Witch Hazel with other antiseptics in the form of a salve. DeWitt's Hazel Salve is the best in the world for sores, cuts, bruises and piles. The high standing of this salve has given rise to counterfeiters and the public is advised to look for the name "DeWitt" on the package and accept no other. Sold by RUDOLPH KNAUL CASSADAY & CO.
