

THE DENISON REVIEW.

E. F. TUCKER, Publisher.

Official Paper of Crawford County and City of Denison.

Published every Wednesday morning.
Entered at the Postoffice in Denison, Iowa, as second-class mail matter.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
ONE YEAR.....$1.50
SIX MONTHS......75

DISPLAY ADVERTISING RATES.
Per Inch, 1 time.....$.30
Per Inch, 2 times......55
Per Inch, 3 times......75
Per Inch, 4 times......90
Per Inch, 5 times.....1.00
All Bills Payable Monthly.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Grace Bamford is visiting with friends in Boone this week.

Mrs. J. C. Kott received a beautiful parrot by express last Saturday.

Mrs. J. M. Potter went to Cedar Rapids Saturday for a visit with friends.

Miss Lucy Orr went to Iowa Saturday for a visit with Mrs. C. W. Nellis.

Mr. John Newcom, of Stockholm township, was at Denison visiting Saturday.

Mrs. A. Haynes, of Hartington, Neb., visited last week with the family of Geo. Rhedenbaugh.

Miss Rose Smutney, of Vail spent the Fourth in Denison visiting at the home of Mrs. Chris Lorenzen.

At the centennial commencement of the University of Vermont last week the degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon L. M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Chris Lorenzen enjoyed a visit from his mother last week, who also visited at the home of Mr. Joe White. He left the latter part of the week for her home in El Reno, Oklahoma.

The City Council was out in a body Saturday morning making an inspection of the sanitary condition of our business district. Dr. H. A. Boyle the city physician accompanied them.

J. I. Gibson is at home this week. He informs us that the company for which he has been traveling has discontinued handling the dipping preparation and he is not at present connected with the house. Just what he will do has not been decided.

Dr. E. O. McConaughy the new dentist, has been moving his new furniture into his suite of rooms over the Barbasse music store this week. He has very nice and attractive quarters when he is once settled, and will undoubtedly get his share of the business.

The Odd Fellows held installation at their hall on last Thursday night at which time the following officers were installed: Theo. Kuhl, N. G.; John Wiese, V. G.; Peter Krauth, Secretary; S. M. Thew, Treasurer. After the installation ceremonies were over the Rebekahs surprised the Odd Fellows by bringing in a fine lunch and the remainder of the evening was spent in visiting and enjoying the lunch.

Mr. John Reimers has recently returned from a stay at Colfax where he went for the benefit of his health. We are pleased to be able to state that he greatly improved and while he is yet under a local physician's care he is so much better that he only carries a cane from force of habit. Mr. Reimers is one of our best citizens and his many friends trust that he will entirely recover.

TRUSTEE ARND SUSTAINED.

Demurrers to His Petition of Intervention in the Green Bankruptcy Overruled by Judge.

(Nonpareil, July 7.)
Judge Smith McPherson yesterday overruled the demurrers filed by the creditors of H. S. Green, president of the Dow City and Buck Grove banks, and the leading member of the Green Cattle Co., the petition of intervention of William Arnd, trustee in bankruptcy therefor standing. The arguments were held at the special session of the federal court here yesterday.

It was claimed by Mr. Arnd that Green had conveyed to a number of his creditors various amounts in notes, and he filed a petition of intervention to have them returned to the assets. The overruling of the demurrers does not provide for the return of the notes, but opens the way for the question to be gone into further. The matter was referred to W. S. Mayne, who was instructed to report his findings August 15.

The creditors who filed demurrers are as follows: Bank of Denison, Thompson Tipton, Chicago; Des Moines State Saving Bank; Smith Carey & Co., Chicago; Central Trust Co., Chicago; State Bank, Chicago; Century Trust Co., Des Moines; Merchants National Bank, Omaha.

Before adjourning the court audited and approved the accounts of the various officers.

—An enjoyable smoke is the "Cahadura," for sale at
C. OTTO'S.

MUST PAY INSURANCE STOCK

Judgment Entered Against Old Subscribers of Nebraska. Fire Insurance Co. Denison Man Named.

(Nonpareil, July 7.)
Judgment was rendered yesterday by Judge McPherson in the federal court in favor of Albert H. Wyman receiver for the defunct Nebraska Fire Insurance company of Omaha, against ten Iowa defendants, seven of whom reside in Council Bluffs, for amounts aggregating about $3,500. The decree was entered on a mandate from the United States circuit court of appeals, reversing a prior ruling by Judge McPherson.

The suit was brought to collect unpaid amounts on stock subscriptions to the plaintiff company, being 50 per cent of what was originally subscribed. The defendants are Thomas Sowerman, M. F. Rohrer, F. O. Gleason, E. L. Shugart, J. J. Russell, J. M. Campbell and Christian Straub of Council Bluffs, John Y. Stone of Glenwood, Henry C. Laub of Denison and George W. Kingsnorth of Sioux City.

The company was organized over twenty years ago and the defendants in this action were among its original subscribers. The stock later went into different hands and ten years ago a receiver was appointed for the company, who distributed the assets and then began suit to recover on the stock subscriptions not fully paid in.

It is provided in the state laws of Nebraska that subscribers for stock in a corporation are liable for the full amount of their subscriptions. Another provision is that the liability follows the stock when it is sold, but that the prior holders are not thereby released. The law is that all become guarantors of the unpaid amounts.

HONORS DEPARTING PASTOR.

Members of St. Patrick's Parish of Dunlap Give Reception to Father White Who Removes.

We have been requested to reprint the following article relative to Rev. Father White, of Dunlap. The article appeared in the Nonpareil of July the 5th. Father White had many admirers in Crawford County who regret exceedingly to hear he is to leave Dunlap.

A few days ago the members of the St. Patrick's parish held a reception for their pastor, Rev. J. C. White, who left the following Thursday for Avoca, his new field of labor.

The reception was held at the parsonage and was attended by fully 500 people who came to pay their respects and bid a God-speed to their priest, the citizen and friend.

The occasion brought together many of the representative people of Harrison and adjoining counties, irrespective of creed.

A bevy of ladies, with deft and artistic fingers, converted the parsonage into a veritable tropical garden. During the evening there were recitations, vocal and instrumental music and addresses.

The occasion brought out many testimonials of the esteem in which Father White is held by all classes of the community. The Rev. Ewart Kent, pastor of the Congregational church and just home from the international Sunday school convention at Jerusalem, was present and paid a heartfelt and touching tribute to the departing pastor as a man and citizen. Before coming to Dunlap Rev. Kent had labored in the same territory as Father White and told of his influence and triumph over evil in high places, even to the unseating of a prominent but unjust official.

Perhaps the most impressive feature of the evening was carried out by the youngest members of the Sunday school. A little tot told in childish language the love of the little ones and their sorrow at parting with their beloved pastor and presented him with a sheaf of American beauty roses, quite as large as herself. This tribute from the little ones effected him deeply and brought a response never to be forgotten.

There were a large number from the Sacred Heart parish, Woodbine, present to bid him a reluctant farewell. It is due to his influence and personal effort that they worship in one of the prettiest churches in the state.

When Father White came to Dunlap from Williamsburg eight years ago he found the parish sadly in need of a strong hand and unerring judgment. He paid debts of long standing and made extensive improvements on the church property, but his work was not finished.

One project which lay close to his heart was the reopening of the parochial school which was to be free to all. The money was pledged for this purpose and the school was to be opened in September.

Father White is a brilliant and forceful speaker, a leader in the cause of temperance and good citizenship and every movement for the betterment of society received his hearty approval and support.

He was the recipient of many handsome presents including a set of rare books. The Knights of Columbus presented him with an elegant gold-headed cane, the ladies of the parish gave him a library desk, the young people gave a box of altar linens, an ink well, gold pen and other useful articles.

Light refreshments were served throughout the evening.

THE GOLDEN STATE.

Interesting Letter on California Written by Rev. Morgan.

VISITS MANY PLACES OF NOTE

Los Angeles, the Most Important City of Its Size, in The Country. Perfect Climate, Beautiful Scenery.

In this letter I shall not attempt to describe those things which are generally known but give only a brief description of a few of the principle points of interest that we had the pleasure of seeing.

California is certainly a great state. It has every variety of climate, varying with the locality. No one can fail to find the climate to suit him, he may go to his desired climate, while in the east, one must wait for the climate to come to him. Good weather, all the time, in abundance is the boast of California. But what do they raise in California? I presume that no state or territory in the Union raises as great variety of valuable products as California. In this land of eternal summer both the temperate and semi tropical products are raised. The principle fruit crop raised in profusion and perfection are the orange, lemon, grape, prune, peach, apricot, cherry, pear, strawberry, blackberry, raspberry, loganberry, nectarine, pineapple, figs, olives, apples, plums, grapefruit, guava, currants, loquats, and in some localities the banana. The English walnut is the easiest raised and one of the most profitable crop in California. The orchards are not generally small as they are in the East but are usually very large. It is a common thing to see hundreds of acres in one orchard.

But fruit and nuts are not the only thing raised extensively in California. All varieties of garden products grow the year round. The gardens are generally very extensive. We have often seen over 600 acres in one field of white beans and over 1000 acres in one field of sugar beets. It is not uncommon to see over 100 acres in one field of celery. The alfalfa is the principle hay crop, oats, barley and corn are raised, but the wheat crop is enormous the quality being first grade and it is shipped to all parts of the world.

The ornamental trees such as the fan palm, the date palm, the pepper tree, eucalyptus, the banana, the sycamore, the live oak, the greville and yucca palm line the walks, streets and boulevards. But that for which California is famous is the perfect profusion of the choicest of flowers. Twelve months in the year western California is blessed with all variety of flowers, the choicest and most numerous of which are the rose and calli-lily.

I shall now give a brief account of some of the important places of interest that we had the pleasure of visiting. It was a wonderful inspiration to attend the General Conference. To look over that great audience of about 6000 people from all over the United States, and at the large delegated body, the legislators of the Methodist Episcopal church, and from every country on earth, was a privilege of a life time. The audience room was beautifully decorated, the music was such as only a great city would produce, and the lectures, sermons and addresses were the best that the greatest protestant church on earth could give. One thing seemed to impress every one, how wonderfully has God prospered Methodism. Its an honor to be a member of such a denomination. Through the generosity of the local churches, lemonade, oranges and flowers were served gratis, the entire month of May to all delegates and visitors in the annex of the pavilion in which the conference was held. It is estimated that over 20,000 visitors were attracted to Los Angeles by the General Conference.

There is probably no American city of equal size that is so widely known throughout the United States, and even in foreign countries as Los Angeles. This is partly due, no doubt, to the perfect climate, beautiful scenery, and persistent advertising, by the enterprising people of the city. The charms and attractions can only be known by seeing it. It has the best street car system and is the most brilliantly lighted of any city of its size in the United States if not in the world. It's a city of fine residences, many of which have large yards where neither money nor pains were spared to aid nature in making it the most beautiful possible. In the land of eternal summer, the possibilities of producing a little paradise, is fully shown in their beautiful parks. There is no city that we have seen like Los Angeles.

We took a number of side trips from Los Angeles. We first took the side trip to Santa Monica where we had the pleasure of a sea bath in the surf. Hollywood, a suburban town to Los Angeles is one of the prettiest spots Southern in California. Every one is attracted by its charms. The Sunset boulevard, ten miles in length, passing through this place, will soon be a close rival to the famous Euclid Avenue of Cleveland Ohio. We also visited the

THE EDUCATION AND SOCIAL ECONOMY BUILDING AT THE WORLD'S FAIR, ST. LOUIS—WEST VIEW.

The Education and Social Economy Building of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is of the Corinthian order of architecture. It is situated to the left of the main lagoon, and this and the Electricity Building are the only two buildings facing the Grand Basin with the cascades and approaches to the terrace crowning the hill on which the Art Building stands. While not the largest in area, its position makes it one of the most conspicuous buildings in what has been called the main picture of the Exposition. Eames & Young, of St. Louis, are the architects of the structure.

The building fronts 525 feet on the main thoroughfare of the Exposition. The principal entrances are on the axes of the building, and somewhat resemble the well known form of the triumphal arch. At each angle of the building is a pavilion, forming a supplementary entrance, and these are connected by a colonnade of monumental proportions. The four elevations are similar in character, varying only as required to accommodate the design to the irregular shape of the ground plan. A liberal use of architectural sculpture lends a festive character to the otherwise somewhat severely classical exterior. The screen wall back of the colonnade gives opportunity for a liberal display of color as a background for the classic outlines of the Corinthian columns, affording liberal scope for the mural decorating.

The interior court follows the general outline of the building in form and style and is laid out in the form of a plaiance or garden of a formal type. It is also suggested that this building, the roof of which is practically on a level with the terrace of the Art Building, could be successfully utilized as a promenade, with a roof garden and restaurant attachment.

The contract price of the building was $319,399, and its builder was Jno. J. Dunnavant & Co. It was completed by Dedication Day, was occupied at that time by the U. S. regular troops and later was used as a sculpture shop.

Howard J. Rogers, Chief of the departments of Education and Social Economy has charge of the exhibits to be placed in this building.

building, and somewhat resemble the well known form of the triumphal arch. At each angle of the building is a pavilion, forming a supplementary entrance, and these are connected by a colonnade of monumental proportions. The four elevations are similar in character, varying only as required to accommodate the design to the irregular shape of the ground plan. A liberal use of architectural sculpture lends a festive character to the otherwise somewhat severely classical exterior. The screen wall back of the colonnade gives opportunity for a liberal display of color as a background for the classic outlines of the Corinthian columns, affording liberal scope for the mural decorating.

The interior court follows the general outline of the building in form and style and is laid out in the form of a plaiance or garden of a formal type. It is also suggested that this building, the roof of which is practically on a level with the terrace of the Art Building, could be successfully utilized as a promenade, with a roof garden and restaurant attachment.

The contract price of the building was $319,399, and its builder was Jno. J. Dunnavant & Co. It was completed by Dedication Day, was occupied at that time by the U. S. regular troops and later was used as a sculpture shop.

Howard J. Rogers, Chief of the departments of Education and Social Economy has charge of the exhibits to be placed in this building.

building, and somewhat resemble the well known form of the triumphal arch. At each angle of the building is a pavilion, forming a supplementary entrance, and these are connected by a colonnade of monumental proportions. The four elevations are similar in character, varying only as required to accommodate the design to the irregular shape of the ground plan. A liberal use of architectural sculpture lends a festive character to the otherwise somewhat severely classical exterior. The screen wall back of the colonnade gives opportunity for a liberal display of color as a background for the classic outlines of the Corinthian columns, affording liberal scope for the mural decorating.

The interior court follows the general outline of the building in form and style and is laid out in the form of a plaiance or garden of a formal type. It is also suggested that this building, the roof of which is practically on a level with the terrace of the Art Building, could be successfully utilized as a promenade, with a roof garden and restaurant attachment.

The contract price of the building was $319,399, and its builder was Jno. J. Dunnavant & Co. It was completed by Dedication Day, was occupied at that time by the U. S. regular troops and later was used as a sculpture shop.

Howard J. Rogers, Chief of the departments of Education and Social Economy has charge of the exhibits to be placed in this building.

Howard J. Rogers, Chief of the departments of Education and Social Economy has charge of the exhibits to be placed in this building.

NEW BANKRUPTCY DISTRICT.

Referee W. S. Mayne of Council Bluffs, Has His District Enlarged, Giving Him Seven Counties.

The number of referees in bankruptcy for Iowa has been reduced from twenty-two to eight, and Judge Smith McPherson has retained W. S. Mayne of Council Bluffs for this district. Heretofore, Referee Mayne had only three counties Pottawattamie, Harrison and Shelby. To these have been added four more—Audubon, Crawford, Carroll and Greene. This will bring all bankruptcy matters in the seven counties to Council Bluffs for adjudication.

P. E. C. LALLY AT JEFFERSON.

His Fourth of July Speech Held The Immense Crowd Spell-Bound Says the Jefferson Bee.

Jefferson Bee.

The speech of Hon. P. E. C. Lally of Denison, was lacking neither in quality nor quantity. Mr. Lally, who has for years possessed a great name among the people of Greene county as a thinker and an orator, heightened that reputation very materially on Monday, when for nearly an hour he held all who could crowd within range of his voice spell-bound by his keen wit, his flashing oratory and his wealth of historical revelation. The address gave evidence of very careful preparation, and it found ample appreciation among the thousands who heard it.

To the World's Fair, St. Louis, Mo., Via the North-Western Line. Very low rates now in effect to St. Louis and return, from all points. Excellent train service and liberal return limits. Ask Ticket Agents, Chicago & North-Western R'y for full particulars.