

The Kiron Chronicle

Lydia Benson spent a three days vacation and rest from her assisting postoffice work and took in the carnival at Odebolt.

August Lundberg came down from Odebolt Friday to conduct the business at the Boyer Valley bank, while temporary cashier took in the sights at the Odebolt carnival.

Rev. J. A. Benander and wife and the Misses Gertrude Baker and Anna Anderson and Herber Linden were the delegates to the Sioux City Lutheran League who held their conference at Gowrie last week.

Mr. Joseph Edling and Miss Ada Louise Phelps were married at Kansas City, Mo. on Wednesday evening last week. Joe was born and reared in this settlement and his large number of old school mates and friends here will learn with interest of his marriage.

Republican voters of the Kiron precinct should not forget that on Wednesday evening Sept. 7th a caucus will be held to select a delegation of five to attend the county convention at Denison on Sept. 9. Let there be a full house and let our precinct be represented in full at the convention. The caucus will be held at the Farmers Lumber office.

Nels Winkquist returned on Thursday from Des Moines where he attended the State fair and visited.

Peter Peterson and the Misses Edith Flodin and Elsie Swanson from Buck Grove visited at A. G. Sjogren's home south of Kiron last week.

A. Youngberg has commenced the erection of his house on the old Nels Olson's corner one mile south of Kiron. P. M. and Mauritz Sjogren are the builders.

Frank C. Goodman from Milwaukee, Wis., representing the Netow Piano Co. is spending a week or more with the company's local agents, Clauson Bros. at this place.

Mrs. Amy Engleking and daughter from Denver, Colo. is visiting at her childhood home near Kiron. She has a host of old friends who are reminded now when they see her of the good old time.

The meetings conducted at the Baptist church by Rev. Houser from Topeka, Kan., are well attended. His song service at the beginning is very entertaining and sermons have been enjoyed. He is a quick and easy speaker, plain and outspoken.

Albert Mauritz arrived on Wednesday from St. Louis being suddenly called home by the death of his mother. He will return this week to St. Louis.

A. M. Larson who resides just west of town received a letter Saturday from the Swedish consulate at San Francisco confirming the drowning of his brother in the Honolulu harbor July 28.

The Mengis band furnished the music at the Odebolt carnival last week and covered themselves with new glory. Their service for the Harvest excursion last week was appreciated and they did all they could with a will to help make an enjoyable time. Numerous comments for their fine music were given them at the lake. Kiron has a brass band that it can be justly proud of and our people should do more than they have done to encourage it. Under the leadership of Prof. Joe Mengis the band has fast advanced and before long it will be at the head of the bands in Iowa.

The Harvest excursion to Lake View on Wednesday last was a successful one. Over two hundred made up the party. Had not the carnival at Odebolt followed and several threshing crews been in operation in the neighborhood a much larger crowd would have turned out. In spite of this and other disappointments the committee in charge had to meet, they worked hard to make it a success. The trip to the lake and the steamer ride was enjoyed and a large number found great sport bathing and sliding down the slide into the water. The music furnished by the Mengis band was number one and assisted greatly in making the time more enjoyable.

Like a thunderbolt from a clear sky the news was spread on Tuesday morning that Mrs. Elsie Mauritz had passed away on that morning at 7:40. As her illness did not last over twenty-four hours many of her acquaintances had not learned of it and most surprised and saddened they became when the news was received. The evening before she had a slight attack of bowel trouble and in the morning was feeling fairly well but on arising suddenly fell dead. Mrs. Mauritz was born in Hismassa Torup Socken Skane Sweden on Jan. 26, 1836 and was married to P. S. Mauritz in 1859. In 1881 they located in Kiron and during the following year she was called upon to bury her husband. In 1886 she united with the Baptist church and has been a most faithful member of that church up to the time of her death. The night before she died she told a friend who was at the house that she was ready to go when the summons came. Her desire was to go quickly when her time came so as not to be a burden for anyone and her desire was fulfilled. She leaves a family of seven children, six sons and one daughter all residing here except one son who resides in Sweden, a number of other relatives and a large circle of friends to mourn her departure. The funeral service was held from the Baptist church on Thursday afternoon where a large number had gathered to pay their last tributes and to look at the remains of their departed friend. Rev. C. Nyquist and A. Berglund preached the funeral sermons whereafter the remains were followed to their last resting place in the Kiron cemetery. Thus another pioneer has gone on to the other shore and our community has lost another good woman who has won and retained the respect, honor and love of all who came in contact with her, a kind and devoted mother and a good neighbor and always had a willing heart and hand to minister and help all charitable undertakings. Peace be to her memory.

Daylight fireworks manipulated by Japanese experts is one of the free attractions the Main Circus exhibits on show day after the parade. Of recent times the Japanese have attained a proficiency in displays of daylight fireworks heretofore unequalled, and it evinces a progressive spirit on the part of the Main Circus in presenting this pleasing exhibition. Show day if you see the horizon apparently inhabited with illuminated objects of all descriptions, you may know there is something doing at the circus grounds, Denison, Sept. 7th.

And Mrs. Blankington Made It One More

FIRST GIGGLING GIRL—Te, he! The Russians were defeated yesterday.

Second Giggling Girl—Well, for pity's sake!

F. G. G.—Papa says that the integrity of China is in grave and imminent danger.

S. G. G.—Well, for pity's sake!

F. G. G.—I'm going to have my new waist made of maize peau de cygne, with a berth of cream venetian over white mousseline.

S. G. G.—Well, for pity's sake!

This scene got, as the saying is, on Mr. Blankington's nerves.

"Mary," he shouted as soon as he opened the front door of his home, "I heard a young female on the car this afternoon use the expression 'For pity's sake!' 13,864 times by actual count. This is no exaggeration, and if you doubt the accuracy of my figures I'll go before a notary and make affidavit—just 13,864 times by actual, painstaking count!"

Mrs. Blankington carefully set down the lamp she had been carrying.

"Well," she ejaculated, "for pity's sake!"—Houston Chronicle.

Inspiration.

The iceman stops his horses with a yell at the back gate of the home of the plodding humorist.

"Is the boss in?" he asks the cook.

"He is," answers the ruler of the kitchen.

"Ask him to step out a minute."

The plodding humorist lays aside the diagram and specifications of a joke on the summer hotel which was built on a bluff and made good and comes to the back door.

"What is it?" he asks of the iceman.

"Are you the fellow that's always writing these things about us icemen giving short weight?"

"Not always. Sometimes I write things about the coal men not giving any weight at all."

This fails to mollify the iceman.

"Well," he says, slamming a ten pound chunk of ice against the back steps, "there's fifty pounds of ideas for you."

"Hold on!" cries the plodding humorist as the iceman is leaving. "This is light weight."

"So's the ideas. Giddap, Bill!"—Chicago Tribune.

"He reminds me of the going part of a round trip ticket."

"Why?" asked a bystander.

"Because he would be void if detached."—Baltimore American.

His Mistake.

"How has Bluffton been doing?" asked the man who had been away from his native community for some time.

His Romance.

A stunning girl once passed my way; My ardor I could not restrain. Said I, "It is a pleasant day."

Said she, "I fear it's going to rain." (And that was all I said, And that was all she said.)

Her beauty troubled my repose, And when she passed again my way Said I, "With you accept this rose?"

Said she, "Oh, what a sweet bouquet!" (And that was all I said, And that was all she said.)

Two days passed, and again we met. I never saw a maid so fair. Said she, "Your flowers aren't withered yet."

Said I, "I envy them your care." (And that was all she said, And that was all I said.)

Then I resolved, so sweet was she, That I would have her for my wife. Said I, "Oh, will you marry me?"

Said she, "What, I? Not on your life!" (And that was all I said, And that was all she said.)

(No occasion for any further conversation, was there?)

CONCERTS BY MASSES BANDS

Prizes Aggregating $30,000 to Be Distributed at the World's Fair.

Never were musical events in America planned upon such an elaborate scale as those of the World's Fair. A series of concerts will be given by competing bands in contest for prizes offered by the World's Fair. These contests will take place in Festival Hall, Sept. 12 to 17.

Nine cash prizes, aggregating $30,000, are offered for the successful bands. The prizes are divided so as to give to the organization scoring the highest number of points $3,250; $2,500 will be given to the band scoring the second highest number of points and $1,500 to the one getting the third highest number.

The above division is made for bands in Class A, which consist of twenty members. In the B class $10,000 will be given in prizes—first, $4,500; second, $3,500; third, $2,000.

Class C, which includes bands of thirty-five members, will enjoy the division of $12,750. For the organization scoring the highest number of points a prize of $6,000 has been named. The second prize is $4,000 and the third $2,700.

Bands employed by the Exposition are not permitted to contest. All players must be bona fide members, and each musician must have been enrolled at least three months prior to the date of the contest. Each band must send to the bureau the name of its members and a nominal entrance fee.

Festival Hall concerts by massed bands will be given at 7:30 each day during the contest, in which all contesting bands will take part under the direction of a distinguished conductor. All bands entering must agree to play one concert in addition to the competing concert and massed concerts.

A separate programme has been prepared by the Bureau of Music for each class, and each band will play through the full programme of its class. The numbers in all three programmes are by eminent composers and are chosen with the view of bringing out the qualities of the bands performing them. The list of composers includes Wagner, Gounod, Offenbach, Verdi, Saint-Saens, Bizet, Strauss and Leoncavallo.

WEATHER AT WORLD'S FAIR.

Cool Nights and Delightful Indian Summer to Be Expected at St. Louis.

Usually the warmest month of the year, July proved to be one of the most pleasant of the World's Fair season, the average temperature being 67 degrees, a record lower than that made by either Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati or Chicago.

The weather bureau records show that the temperatures in St. Louis during July were just between the extremes recorded at New Orleans and St. Paul, cities located at great variance.

August in St. Louis is a month of cool nights, and September and October are the most delightful months of the year. It is that period known as Indian summer, when the foliage and birds linger to challenge the coming winter. Nowhere on the American continent is there a spot more delightful than the World's Fair city, a garden of blooming flowers and spraying fountains.

St. Louis, like all cities, experienced several hot days during July, but her highest temperature recorded was 93 degrees against 94 degrees registered by the thermometer at Chicago. On the same day the mercury rose to 96 degrees in Philadelphia, and scores of heat prostrations were reported from New York and Boston.

The relative humidity shows St. Louis to be about normal. Assuming absolutely no moisture in the atmosphere to be zero and absolute wetness to be 100, the relative humidities for July, taken from the records of more than twenty years, Boston shows 70.6, New York 72.2, Philadelphia 68.6, Cincinnati 64.0, Chicago 60.9 and St. Louis 66.3. The same degree of heat in two places, with different degrees of humidity, would cause it to seem the hotter at the point of greater density.

St. Louis may therefore rightly claim to be a summer resort this summer, positively one of the most comfortable and delightful places on the map.

Insurance in Russia.

In Russia the native insurance companies, which do the major portion of the country's business, insure the lives of single women and widows, but at a higher rate than those of men, and married women only are accepted in case their husbands are also insured.

Bibliotheca.

During the most of the sixteenth century the English people called the Bible the Bibliotheca, or the library, the word being limited in its application to the Scriptural writings.

"Gorgeous."

"Gorgeous" came to have its present meaning in the sixteenth century. "Gorget" was the name applied to the high Elizabethan ruff, so an elaborate dress was called gorgeous, and elaboration of any sort came to be called gorgeousness.

A Short Name.

Among the many queer French proper names that of D'O is said to be derived from the village of O, in Normandy.

The Gleaners.

The Jewish law ordered that the grain fields should not be gleaned and that the wheat in the corners of the fences or walls should not be gathered, in order that something might be left for the poor. No farmer might forbid poor persons from entering his fields and glean after the reapers.

Bread Success. Women who use Yeast Foam are always successful in the art of bread-making. Their bread is light, toothsome, sweet as a nut, and full of nutriment. Their families have well-nourished bodies and good digestion. Nine times out of ten when bread goes wrong the fault is in the yeast. If you seem to have lost the knack of good bread, or are anxious to improve, try YEAST FOAM. The yeast that's made of wholesome and healthful malt, hops and corn; the yeast that's free from brewery waste or other harmful ingredients; the yeast that smells different, tastes different and never grows stale; the yeast that holds the secret of the best bread you ever tasted. Remember—The secret is in the yeast. Yeast Foam is sold by all grocers at 5c a package. Each package contains 7 cakes—enough to make 40 loaves. "How to Make Bread," free. Just a postal.
