DENISON, IOWA.

Farm Loans at Five Per Cent Interest

This Bank is incorporated under the laws of the State of Iowa. This gives the best security to all depositors, not only to the amount of stock, but the personal property of each share holder is held to the amount of his share to any loss to the bank. Incorporated banks are under the control of the State Auditor, who can at any time examine the business, and according to his investigation the published statements are made. Depositors in an incorporated bank have more security than the confidence imposed in the offices. They have the best security, because the capital stock can not be used at pleasure for outside speculation and investment. THAT SPECIAL TRAIN.

 He comes to Crawford county and gets to Denison AT NOON—in plenty of time to drive to Schleswig for an evening or afternoon speech—but does he drive? No. A special train is easy and he gets it. Who pays for special trains for governors and congressmen and vice-presidential candidates, anyway? Can the tax payers imagine? —Bulletin.

The above speaks for itself. It was just what was anticipated from the consciousness, lying p-u-p. Who paid for that train? Caswell knew perfectly well who paid for that train. It was a business transaction pure and simple. There was no favor about it to anyone. The republicans of Denison hired the train and paid for it. It was purely a business transaction as the hiring of a livery team would have been. The railroad is in the business of transporting people for hire either by regular train or by special train if enough patronage is guaranteed. Their trains are for hire to democrats or republicans or lodges or theatrical companies or anyone else who will pay for them. In this case the republicans of Denison found that a number of people wished to go to Schleswig to hear the Governor speak. It was thought that the trip could be made more conveniently and just as cheaply by a special train. The Northwestern was asked its price for such service. The answer was that the minimum charge for a special train was $1.50 per train mile. This figured up $85.00 for the republicans of Denison purchased 100 tickets at 85 cents each and sold them to individuals. Such men as Chas. Tabor, P. E. C. Lally, C. C. Kemming, J. D. Sievers, Carl F. Kuehnle and forty to fifty others were on the guarantee. The fact of this guarantee, the amount paid and all the details were matters of common knowledge in Denison. That they were known to the editor of the Bulletin is evidenced by the fact that on its first page the Bulletin tells of the efforts of republicans to sell tickets for the excursion. In the light of these facts and with the certainty of the knowledge of the facts on the part of the editor of the Bulletin have we not put it with sufficient mildness when at the beginning of this article we called attention to the further well established fact that the editor of the Bulletin is a consciousness, lying p-u-p?

THE REVIEW only stated the truth when it said that O'Connor bolted Emil Kruger, John Carey, Swasey, Pieper, Davis Bell and others. We might have added that in 1896 when the rest of the democrats were whooping it up for Bryan, O'Connor was out shouting for Palmer and Buckner. It is perhaps true that some of these men are, for political reasons giving O'Connor their outward support now but there is no question but that he did all he could against them and when they were nominees of the democratic party.

What do you think of a party or a paper that seeks to bolster up its cause by the common lying resorted to in the last issue of the Bulletin? Is it not enough to make any decent, fair-minded democrat blush for the company he keeps and wish he was out of it?

In another column we publish a statement from Agent J. H. Mahoney of the Northwestern line at Denison relative to the special train service hired by the republicans of Denison for the Schleswig meeting. Every man in Denison knows Mr. Mahoney and knows that he tells the truth. Just one word further as to the Schleswig special. Governor Cummins did not know that a special train had been secured until so informed by the republicans of Denison after his arrival here on the day of the meeting.

The bible tells us of the man who sold his birthright for a mess of pottage. It does not applaud the deed. To-day the democrats are openly and repeatedly urged to sell their birthright in the great American republic, to lay aside their convictions and their honest opinions on National questions, for the very cheap mess of pottage of a few county offices. The Bulletin states in effect that the democrats of the county are so ignorant that they cannot scratch their ticket without spilling it. That if they vote for Roosevelt and prosperity they will not know enough to mark their ticket correctly and will thus lose their vote. It is a great compliment the Bulletin thus pays the members of its own party. They should thank the Bulletin. It is of importance to every citizen of Crawford county that the prosperous conditions of to-day continue, it is important to every man to be honest with himself and to vote as his conscience dictates. It is of very minor importance to the individual voter however as to whether Jim McKim or Mike Houlihan is elected county Recorder. It will neither increase nor decrease his taxes, for the salary will remain the same. It will not effect the price of his corn or hogs.

The fact that Houlihan for instance is the more competent of the two is some thing for the voter to consider, and desire to have the records of the county in good hands will impel the voters to vote for Houlihan. But in a larger sense, it makes but little difference to the individual voters as to the officers of the county so long as they are honest men. The question of the principle is of a distinctly higher and more important order. It is a question for every man to decide personally and according to his best knowledge. To urge any voter to do anything else than his honest duty is to insult his intelligence and his manhood.

The meeting arranged for Caswell and Shaw Van has been called off Shaw Van may be prevailed upon to go out with O'Connor but he says that speaking with Caswell is asking too much of a gentleman.

Regardless of the results of the present campaign, if the republicans are ever to hope for victory, after naming a good ticket they must support it. All we get from the democratic leaders is abuse, and cajollary, abuse three hundred and sixty-four days out of the year and cajollary on the single day when they want the votes. Let come what will, defeat or victory, there is no man on the democratic ticket this year who is the superior of his opponent or who deserves republican votes.

No, Henry Maynard is not his brother, but he is just as good, just as capable and just as honest. The people know that he would make a much better supervisor than John Holland and they are in earnest about believing that the board should be bi-partisan.

Mr. Ed Theobald, republican candidate for Auditor, had the misfortune to have his barn and his fine horse burned on Wednesday morning. This has prevented his getting around to see as many of the voters as he had wished this week. Mr. Theobald is putting up a vigorous fight, however, and will make a splendid run. We are making no boastful claims, but there are a few surprises awaiting our democratic friends, and one of them is Theobald.

The lie that Houlihan changed his politics for the sake of office having failed to stick, the Bulletin now says he is a "traitor" for daring to be a republican at all. So. A man should vote as his father votes regardless of what he thinks himself? If he does not he is a traitor. Well, young Houlihan's father has not disowned the boy yet and neither have his other friends and relatives throughout the country, although the Bulletin would like to make the people believe so.

Among the many falsehoods in the last Bulletin, was what purported to be the remarks of a republican speaker at a schoolhouse meeting. Perhaps the Bulletin did not intend anyone to take this seriously, but lest they should we would brand the paragraph as another Bulletin lie.

The best informed political judges of the land, predict a walk-away for Roosevelt and that he will be elected with the largest electoral and popular vote ever given a candidate for president. The New York Herald concedes Roosevelt's election, Hearst's New York American, admits that the Herald is probably correct. The betting odds in New York City are about 7 to 3 in favor of Roosevelt carrying New York, and no democratic money is in sight to bet on general results. Among the New York sports betting is not a matter of sentiment but of judgment and this is the way they have the election sized up at present. It is time that Crawford county lined up with the rest of the intelligent North and declared its belief in protection, sound money, Roosevelt and prosperity.

Why do we say the Bulletin lies? Consarn it, we hate to say it just as bad as you hate to read it, perhaps, but the trouble is that the Bulletin does lie so that no other word fills the bill. We might say falsehood or prevarication, but these are weak words and too long for the frequent use made necessary by the Bulletin's statements. You see the Bulletin not only does not tell the truth, but, the intent of its untruths is so apparently malicious that the word "LIE" is the only one that touches the spot. We will agree, gladly agree, to stop calling the Bulletin a liar if it will stop it lying. That's a fair proposition.

THE REVIEW of next week will be issued one day later in order to announce the glad news of Roosevelt's election.

Republicans, do you see how the democrats are prepared to sacrifice everything to save their county ticket? Do you see how they are willing to lie about republicans at every turn of the road? Do you see how the democratic organ would prosecute an honest and sincere young man because he has the temerity to vote the republican ticket even if his father does not? Is not all this abuse enough to make the republicans stick together this year at least? We may get licked all along the line; the odds are against republican victory in Crawford, but at least let us all get licked together, standing by our principles and by our ticket.

The Bulletin would give the impression that any Irishman voting the republican ticket is a "traitor" to his friends. We had supposed that it was only in the "Solid South" that a man was to be ostracised and reviled for voting the republican ticket. We would have the Bulletin to know that there are hundreds of such "traitors" in Crawford county and that they will be more of them this year than ever before. The Bulletin seems to presume that Irish and democrat are synonymous terms. They are not. There is no good reason why any Irishman should vote for Parker, and there are hundreds of reasons why they should vote for the man who has been fair, fairer than any other man has dared to be, in dealing with the vexed questions in which the Catholic church was involved.

Things have certainly come to a pretty pass when an Irishman cannot vote the republican ticket without being branded as a traitor by the contemptible Bulletin.

The Bulletin seems to think it a great joke that such men as Sears McHenry, W. J. Scriber, U. G. Johnson and others, business men who have no selfish interests in politics are ready to go out night after night in this county to talk with the voters. It is true they make no claim to "oratory" although the reports from their listeners is that they are giving fine meetings, but they are earnest, honest business men, urging the people to vote the right way this year. The Bulletin will not strengthen its cause by emphasizing the fact that the good solid business men of the county are taking such an interest in the cause of Roosevelt and prosperity. It cannot be urged that these men are looking for office, for favors or for pay. It is certain that they speak with conviction and absolute honesty and are not trying to fool the people.

A SENSIBLE FURNITURE MAN.

A wide-awake furniture dealer in a Howard county town has begun a campaign of advertising in which he should have many imitators. Farmers adjacent to the small town in which the dealer referred to does business, have fallen into the catalogue habit, to the detriment of the local trade. The furniture man takes advantage of the columns of his local paper to make comparisons of value and prices between his goods and those of the catalogue houses.

He prints a list of articles in the furniture line, including chairs, rockers, tables, bookcases, beds, couches, etc., and in parallel columns places his prices on these articles with those of popular mail order houses. After adding freight, he shows that his prices are on the average as low as the prices of the mail order houses—in some cases a few cents higher and in others a few cents lower, but there is not a difference of $1 on any article enumerated.

The furniture dealer at Elma has struck the proper note to attract the buyer. Instead of claiming trade on an abstract principle, he bids for it as a strictly business proposition. There is no doubt that he can sell in competition with the Chicago store. He knows it. He is going the right way to get trade when he lets others know it. He has the right idea of a sensible campaign against outside trade aggression.

What is true in furniture is true in other lines. It is simply a question of putting home prices against those of the outsider of hammering at the home trade as the catalogue house hammers it. Seven sacks of catalogues came into one little town in northern Iowa on one mail. They went to hundreds of homes and insisted that the Chicago house that issued them sold goods cheaper than the home merchant. What is there left for the local dealer but to go into the home with the other side of the story?
