The art exhibit to be given in the Carnegie club room will comprise a collection of paintings in oil and water colors of real artistic value. One of the greatest privations of living in a small town is the rare opportunity afforded to see really good pictures. Next Friday and Saturday at the Carnegie club room everyone is invited to inspect a high class art exhibit. Be sure and come, you will always regret it if you don't.
Mr. F. L. Wilber of Boyer township brought in the hides of two wolves receiving the bounty of $5.00 per. The county auditor tells us that he has drawn bounty warrants for 73 wolves during the past two weeks. The peach crop may fail but the crop of wolves goes merrily on.
The P. E. O.'s made aprons during the social part of their meeting and there were as many different styles as there were people present. After the aprons were finished the hostesses for the day, Mesdames Voss and Romans and Miss King served very dainty, light refreshments. Mrs. R. A. Romans then took the floor and acted as auctioneer, simply covering herself with glory, her wit and repartee would be difficult to surpass. The aprons, it is needless to say, went like the traditional "hot cakes." The honored guest of the club was Miss Alice Tyler of Des Moines, who greatly enjoyed the afternoon.
Little George Andrew Mahoney had a narrow escape from death on Friday. He was taken sick with vomiting spells while at kindergarten. After he got home he became rapidly worse and for two hours there was a battle between life and death, at times the little heart seeming to have stopped beating. Science and nursing finally brought him through, however, and on Saturday he was quite recovered. It would seem that the child had been poisoned in some unknown way. George is a bright, cheery little fellow and we are all glad that he is well again. Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney were both ill by the poison but they were not so seriously affected as their little boy.
One of the most delightful features of club life in Denison is the friendly good will that exists in the sister clubs. A charming example of this was shown in the reception tendered the Federation clubs by the Womans club on Monday. Mrs. Plimpton read a fine paper on the literature of Holland, Mrs. Martin and Miss Garnet Romans charmed every one by their solos. Mrs. J. B. Romans who as a reader is in a class by herself gave two numbers. Mesdames Scriver, Caswell, Laub, R. A. Romans and Gulick were the menu committee and they served very tempting refreshments. The club colors white and yellow were used in the form of a May pole and were very pretty. The sister clubs are much indebted for their afternoon pleasure to the Womans club.

When buying loose coffee or anything your grocer happens to have in his bin, how do you know what you are getting? Some queer stories about coffee that is sold in bulk, could be told, if the people who handle it (grocers), cared to speak out.
Could any amount of mere talk have persuaded millions of housekeepers to use
