Mr. Blackman and Lloyd left last week and are there to receive them. All join in wishing them happiness and prosperity in all their future undertakings.

On Tuesday evening of last week occurred the sad death of Conrad Schressler at the age of 89 years. Although Mr. Schressler had been in poor health for some time, his immediate death was not expected, and was a great surprise to the family. The funeral services were held at the German Lutheran church on Saturday afternoon. The deceased leaves a widow and five children, his son Henry and daughter Anna are residents of West Side.

A very pretty wedding took place at Cottonwood farm Wednesday noon, when Miss Alice Woolhiser, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Woolhiser was married to Mr. Lester B. Lows of Carroll, Nebraska, Rev. W. J. Todd officiating. Only relatives and intimate friends witnessed the simple, but beautiful ceremony. Pink and white roses and peonies nestling among the foliage, breathed their message of sweetness and beauty. The bride was attired in a dainty gown of white silk mull over white silk and carried roses. The going-away gown was of blue silk with hat of the same color. After the ceremony a three course wedding breakfast was served which was perfect in every respect. The bridal couple left on the afternoon train for Grand Junction, where, after a short stay, they will leave for Lake View, thence to their home in Carroll, Nebraska, where they will be tendered a reception by the parents of the bridegroom. The bride has lived near West Side all her life and is highly esteemed and beloved by all who knew her. After graduating from the public schools she perfected her education at Morning-side college, Sioux City. Being a delightful singer she was much sought after in social circles. In the work of the church especially, did she give of her time and talents freely and unselfishly. With an attractive personality, a beautiful character and lovely disposition, it is no wonder that she has endeared herself to the people of this community. Mr. Bellows, the groom is not personally known to many people in West Side. He is a prosperous business man of sterling worth, good family, with the best of prospects in life. The good wishes of the people of this town will surely attend Mr. and Mrs. Bellows, who have chosen the "long road together." The out of town guests present at the wedding were T. C. Marse of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Mallette of Lake View, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Linn, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bellows of Carroll Neb.
